COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1941. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 25. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JULY 9, 1941. No. 83.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, July 9, 1941.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain prayer was offered by the gentleman from Butler, Senator CARR.

For our country, our Father, for the beauty of the day, for our religion and all it means unto us, and for the opportunity to do service for mankind, we return thanks unto Thee. We would ask Thee, our Heavenly Father, that Thy spirit might guide each one of us that we may bear the responsibilities that rest upon us and discharge our duties to the satisfaction of our people and of Thee Our God. We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BECKER and Mr. GELTZ, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PRESENTATION TO HONORABLE JAMES A. GELTZ

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I do not address the President directly, but our Honorable Senate Floor Leader, James A. Geltz.

Senator Geltz, Lieutenant-Governor Lewis, President Pro Tempore Ealy, members on the Republican side, stepbrothers on the Democratic side, ladies and lobbyists: this is the 135th session of the General Assembly. In all these weeks of sweet and bitter we have learned several things. Among them we have learned to strive mightily, and to eat and drink as friends.

Twenty-six weeks is or are several things—I will choose is and if I am wrong Miss O'Hara may correct the grammar—twenty-six weeks is several things; to any casual observer it is half a year; to the so-called flatheels, the social workers, it marks the high water mark that is always aimed at for unemployment compensation.

We, during those twenty-six weeks, have not been unemployed, but where is the compensation? We have had some but the only thing in sight is six hundred dollars. I argue that we are underpaid and underprivileged. We do not have an eight hour day; we have an eight hour day and an eight hour night. We do not have a forty hour week; we do not have a vacation with pay. My knowledge of mathematics is not as flamboyant as that of Harry Shapiro, but even in my simple mind I can estimate that if there are three thousand bills to be considered in the General Assembly and our salary is three thousand dollars, it makes the price of each bill one dollar. I suggest a revision, that we have a graded rate, that for every bill we pass we receive one dollar and for every bill that we reject we receive ten dollars.

Our Chaplain—he is often A. W. O. L., which means, according to Senator Miller, absent without leave; I am not sure whether it is customary to split prayer commissions with substitutes, but Doctor Ruth and Senator Carr have been very worthy substitutes and, if you ask me, I like their prayers better than the prayers of the Chaplain.

All these weeks have been weeks that have tried our souls, our minds, our bodies and our pocketbooks. This ship of state might be likened to an airplane; of course it is model 1874, and a little creaky in the joints, but we do have two pilots. Pilot No. 1 is our honored President Pro Tempore, who is known to us familiarly as "Mr. Honest"; in the Commonwealth he is known as Charlie Ealy. There seems to be no present for him at this present time; that will come later: I have had the honor of sitting next to our President Pro Tempore for, oh well, about, I do not know, a hundred years, something like that, and he has confided to me various things, and I find that he has only one weakness and that weakness is an ardent desire to preside over the Senate. We have such a healthy Lieutenant-Governor and he seems to have so few dates that he is always here, and of course we like to see him and like to hear him. In fact, I said, "Charlie, your voice is not much good anyway, you know," and our President Pro Tempore came back and said, "No, perhaps not, but," he said, "you know there is the mike." I said "there was a microphone, but since Brother Chapman has started his campaign for Congress by reading historical documents over the microphone it is not what it used to be."

Pilot No. 2—two pilots, on this airplane—pilot No. 2 has to do the dirty work. That is the reason he is getting a present. He has to be not only the pilot but he has to be the mechanic, he has to be the telephone operator, the radio operator, and he has to read the altimeter, and especially he has to read the lowdown meter. He has to have all the qualities, he has to have sagacity and poise and patience, and subtlety, and it is because we feel that he has those qualities that we are giving him this present today.

You may remember that I pride myself on setting up four canons in order to be a great man; if you can fulfill those four canons you are a great man. I do not say that any of us can fulfill those four canons, not even Jim Geltz, but still we think he approximates them—and if you will kindly remember these canons and strive you may be great one day.

The first canon is emotional stability; the second canon is intellectual honesty; the third canon is consummate tact and the fourth canon is physical endurance. It is because we believe that our floor leader possesses these qualities, somewhat, that we desire to present to him the silver which is now on my desk, and which I will not keep on my desk permanently, and we hope he will enjoy the present, and also his wife, Mrs. Geltz.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, Dr. Woodward and my colleagues, it was not necessary that the suggestion be made that I get up and make a speech, because I am always very anxious to do that; that is, what I call a speech, which may not be considered a speech by others.

I do, Mr. President, consider this quite an honor, not the receiving of the present alone, but the very kind remarks made by our good colleague, Dr. Woodward, for I have had for him a great respect ever since I have known him and I consider his judgment—at least I did up until he talked about me—as being very worthwhile. I am not so sure now.

I do, however, want at this time to express my appreciation for both the present and also the kind words, and I want to say that the work has been a tough job, as I think my colleague, Senator Shapiro, will very readily admit, but it has had its pleasant parts too.

I want to thank all of my colleagues, not only those on the Republican side but also those on the Democratic side of the Senate, and also our very good President, for the splendid co-operation which has been shown to me all during this session.

I also want to express my appreciation—because this will eliminate the necessity of making the remarks at a later time—to all those others here in the Senate who have given such splendid service and co-operation, which has to an immeasurable extent made the load that much easier. Thank you.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. EDMONDS, from Montgomery County, asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for Monday, July 14, if the General Assembly shall be in session on that date, on account of professional duties.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STIEFEL, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 914, (House Bill No. 53), entitled:

An Act providing for the acquisition of the Admiral Peary Memorial Park, and for its management and development by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission; and making an appropriation.

EXECUTIVE BOARD TO GIVE CAREFUL CONSIDERATION TO SALARIES AND CLASSIFICATION OF ADMINISTRATIVE EMPLOYES OF COMMONWEALTH

Mr. EDMONDS, on behalf of the Senator from Somerset and himself. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EDMONDS, offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 9, 1941.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its administrative departments, exclusive of the Auditor General and State Treasurer, gives employment to approximately 20,118 men and women whose services are utilized by the Commonwealth, and whose loyalty and efficiency are great assets to the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Administrative Code of 1929 created an Executive Board consisting of the Governor and six other heads of administrative departments to be designated from time to time by the Governor; and

Whereas, The said Code entrusts the following duties to the said Board as set forth in the language of the Code:

"Section 709. Executive Board—Subject to the provisions of this act, the Executive Board shall have the power:

(a) To standardize the qualifications for employment, and all titles, salaries, and wages, of persons employed by the administrative departments, boards, and commissions, except the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department. In establishing such standards the board may:

(1) Take into consideration the location of the work and the conditions under which the service is rendered,

(2) Establishing different standards for different kinds. grades and classes of similar work or service, etc.;" and

Whereas, It is evident from economic and social statistics that a shift is occurring in the cost of living which will affect all of the employes of the State and particularly those whose salaries are in the lower brackets; and

Whereas, The revision of the said salaries is an administrative function to be performed by the Executive Board as set forth in the Act of Assembly above cited; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Executive Board of the Commonwealth be and it is hereby requested to give careful consideration to the salaries and classification of employes in the administrative departments with reference to changes in the cost of living in this Commonwealth, and that the said Executive Board be and it is hereby requested to provide at all times such salaries as will insure just compensation for the service performed, and the maintenance of the American standard of living.

Mr. EDMONDS. I ask immediate consideration of the resolution, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections?

RESOLUTION LAID ON TABLE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not want to object to immediate consideration or delay consideration of this resolution, but I would like to have the resolution laid on the table temporarily, for the time being.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that the resolution be laid on the table temporarily? The Chair hears none. It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to make a statement with reference to a bill which now appears to be pickled in committee.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President. and gentlemen of the Senate, on January 13th I introduced in this body Senate Bill No. 15. The bill is very short so I might read the contents of it.

It reads as follows: "No public body or public agency shall accept a bond or a judgment note from an indigent person as security for or to facilitate the future collection of expenses for his support, maintenance, assistance or burial before such expenses have actually been incurred by the public body or public agency."

Mr. President, that bill was referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions on January 13th and up until this time it has received no consideration. In the meantime, I made certain that a bill of the same nature would be introduced in the House of Repressentatives, so on February 4th Representatives Schwab and Malloy introduced an identical bill. The history shows that on May 12, 1941, this bill passed the lower house by a vote of 196 to 0. It came to the Senate, where it became Senate Bill No. 857 and was referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions on may 13th. Up until this time I have no knowledge that this bill has received any consideration.

Now, Mr. President, we are definitely planning to adjourn. I think this is a very, very important piece of legislation, in fact, I might say, one of the most important pieces of legislation offered to this body that will affect the rank and file of this Commonwealth.

I have a brief memorandum here and I desire to point out just what has taken place in other states. The reason I wish to point this out is that throughout this entire session I have listened to many members arise on this floor and state that a piece of legislation in which they were interested was very important because neighboring states had adopted similar legislation. They pointed with pride to New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Virginia and other states, and because those states, have adopted certain legislation, we here in Pennsylvania should follow.

Permit me now to point out briefly what has taken place in a number of states in the 1941 sessions of their legislatures. The following states have raised their old age benefits during 1941 from thirty to forty dollars per month: Arizona, Indiana, Oregon and Rhode Island. In fact, more than a dozen other states have taken advantage of the federal grant which pays twenty dollars per month to indigents, providing, of course, that those states will match that with an equal amount.

Let me say that the maximum limits for aid to the blind in 1941 were increased from thirty to forty dollars per month in the following states: Arizona, Colorado, Iowa, Indiana, Montana, North Dakota and Wyoming.

This next paragraph is very important, referring directly to the bill I am speaking of: state liens against property of those receiving public assistance were released in a number of states in 1941, including Kansas, New Mexico, Nebraska, Indiana and Minnesota.

Medical care provisions in public assistance were liberalized by the states of Indiana, Iowa, Maine, and Washington, which have stipulated that forty dollars a month pensioners should receive when necessary, additional to the amount they receive as pensions, medical, dental, surgical, optical, hospital and nursing care and artificial limbs.

Mr. President, in Pennsylvania we have done nothing this year to liberalize our old age assistance plan, neither have we raised the maximum, neither have we liberalized our laws relative to the aged of our Commonwealth who are indigent and must apply for relief or public assistance, and who now must assign their worldly goods to this Commonwealth before relief will be granted to them. I want to point out very briefly those men and women, whom I might term as worn out farmers, broken down miners, worn out mill workers, the men who have made this Commonwealth just what it is, men who have sacrificed and now are old and feeble, and know full well never again will they have an opportunity to get back into private industry, they must come to this government and ask for some kind of subsistance. We say to them, if you have been conservative, if you have any property, if you have insurance, you must sign a bond before we can give you any assistance, but in the same breath we say to the drone, the public drone, the men and women that care not for our community, who take no part in civic or social affairs, spend all their money, loaf around pool rooms and bar rooms, if they apply for assistance, we ask nothing back, we give them the maximum amount, because we know full well they have nothing.

What are we doing? I have heard so much about Communism, Naziism, Hitlerism, and what not: Mr. President, and gentlemen, I believe we are creating that condition right in this chamber, because we are telling the youth of our land not to be conservative, not to build, not to accomplish anything, because in their old age, if they should by some means be unfortunate and apply for aid, our first act shall be to take from you what you have accomplished and our first question is, do you have a property, and if you have, sign on the dotted line. If you have no property, do you have life insurance? If you have no life insurance, do you have any children, relatives, grandchildren? Where do they work? Give us their addresses and we will compel them to assign part of their wages to keep you. Well, that might not be so bad. I do not say we should not have some liability as children. I think we all owe it to our parents to maintain them, but I do say it is wrong to tell the aged of our Commonwealth that before they receive any aid they must assign their property for repayment of any aid they receive.

It was for that reason, Mr. President, that I introduced Senate Bill No. 15 and for that same reason, Mr. President, two members of the House introduced House Bill No. 174, now Senate Bill No. 857, giving those people who have been conservative the same right to receive aid as those who have nothing. Certainly it is unfair, it is not human, it is un-American to penalize the thrifty but give freely to those who have nothing.

Now, other states had the same type of legislation upon their statute books but they have seen their mistake, as I read into the record a moment ago, and they have liberalized their laws in 1941 by amending their present laws and releasing the properties. I say we owe the people of Pennsylvania the same courtesy, the same decency.

Therefore, Mr. President, while I dislike very much to create any animosity and I dislike very much to offer a resolution to discharge a committee, that is my only alternative and therefore at this time, Mr. President, I offer the following resolution and move its immediate adoption.

RESOLUTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON WELFARE, PUBLIC ASSISTANCE AND PENSIONS

Mr. HALUSKA offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 9, 1941.

I move that the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 857, (House Bill No. 174), and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, so far as this motion is concerned, I will personally stand by the old time traditions of this Senate in refusing to vote to discharge a committee that has given careful consideration to a bill, but I want to say something with reference to the implication of the address which the gentleman from Cambria gave us, because he spoke of the sorrow among the needy and the distressed, and intimated we had done nothing at this session to grant them relief.

While the gentleman from Cambria was speaking I held in my hand a report of the Department of Public Assistance for May, which shows in a sort of statistical form the amount of assistance which was required in this Commonwealth in January of 1939 and the amount of assistance that is required now. The figures are: 885,000 persons, or 49 per cent below the total of 1, 817,000 in February of 1939, when the rolls had climbed to a six year peak, following the business recession of 1937 and 1938. In other words, Mr. President, there are 885,000 people in this Commonwealth who are supported by honest labor in independent positions who were not so supported in 1939. Is that nothing to the gentleman from Cambria? To my mind, if I were one of those workers, I would say very frankly, "Yes," give me an opportunity to earn my own living in a position of independence where I could grow with my work; that means far more to me than the assistance given to me by the state in a period of emergency.

The gentleman from Cambria does not yet seem to understand what is the philosophy under which we are working at the present time. What we are trying to do is to establish normal business in the hope that everyone who is able to take hold of a job may get back to it. I recognize, Mr. President, that in that same period the number of those on old age assistance and those on pensions for the blind and mothers with dependent children, that outlay has increased, and I recognize that is a permanent outlay that the state must make, but as far as this general assistance is concerned, I rejoice that there are 885,000 fewer than there were a year and a half ago, and I think the gentleman from Cambria ought to rejoice with me.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Montgomery, down in his own heart, think we should penalize those who have been thrifty while we are giving them aid, and in the same breath not penalize those who have not been thrifty.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, that is a general question which is rather hard to answer either yes or no. I have seen nothing in the administration of relief which seemed to me to be unfair, in penalizing the thrifty, and most of those that I know that are on relief rejoice in the opportunity to give some form of guaranty or to have some form of hope that eventually their debt will be repaid. Therefore, Mr. President, I am not in sympathy with any criticism of that point of view.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Montgomery said a moment ago he could not vote for this resolution because of a tradition, but permit me to say a lot of old people can not live on a tradition or eat a tradition. They certainly must break a tradition to eat, and I do not care how far the rolls have declined, I am still maintaining my position that those who are aged, especially, and who the gentleman from Montgomery knows well never again will have an opportunity of going back to private industry, and because they have a home certainly they should not have to assign that home to the government for repayment of the meager sum they may have received. True enough those who are able to work, able men, should be taken from the relief rolls, I have no brief for those who are able to work, but when a man is unable to work because of his declining years, because of his health, and just because—I am repeating—he has a home and paid cash for it years upon years now you say to him he must assign that home, to us, otherwise he shall starve.

Well, if that is tradition you may have it; I do not care for it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this question of the bond and bond signature is one is that a little more serious than quite a few members of the Senate deem it to be. We did not start to compel relief recipients to sign bonds until 1938. Those who received relief prior to 1938 have no mortgage or lien against them, but those who received relief after 1938 have a lien against their property or against themselves, their future earnings, against their children's earnings, and their children's children's earnings.

Only those who have some tangible assets are compelled to pay back to the Commonwealth the amount of money they received during the time they were unfortunately out of employment. We must also take into consideration that the taxpayers of the State of Pennsylvania were taxed to the extent of the amount that was given to the persons who were unemployed. There is nothing in the bond signature, or the requirement for the bond signature, to give to you and to me and to the other taxpayers of Pennsylvania a refund on monies that were paid for relief expenditures.

In other words, Mr. President, we who were fortunate enough to be working were fortunate enough to be in a position to have money to pay taxes and we were paying taxes for our unfortunate brothers and sisters who were unemployed. Now, we say, those of you who were unemployed and received relief must pay it back, but you do not say to the taxpayer, when you get this money back, that you are going to return it to them. I do not complain about paying taxes for helping to pay the unemployment load in the State of Pennsylvania during the years of the depression, and no man in the Senate here should complain, because we were in a more fortunate position of having money or having positions and enough wealth to pay taxes, and we certainly should be considerate of those who were not. I think the fact that they were on relief is penalty enough, being unemployed through no fault of their own, and I do not believe this bond provision is fair.

I do not believe it is fair to say to a man because he has some tangible assets he must pay back to the Commonwealth any amount he might have received. Remember this too, he has no check, he has absolutely no way under the sun to check upon the amount that they charge him.

I called your attention to the fact of a person who received eighteen dollars relief, and he went to pay the eighteen dollars in order to be relieved of the bond, and in order to be able to make a loan at a bank to build a home, and he was told he could not pay the eighteen dollars because sometime in 1931 or 1932 his family—not him but his family—had received a basket of food or something which they now value at $137.

I want to say to the members of this Senate that I certainly hope the people of Pennsylvania vote for a Democratic majority in the Senate and the House and a Democratic Governor, because I for one can say to you here and now, and to the people of Pennsylvania, that when the Democratic Party gets control of the General Assembly and the office of the Chief Executive, I promise, as a Democrat, that they will be relieved of the bond requirement in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, in favor of the motion, I wish to relate a case of which I have personal knowledge, because it is a case I represented as attorney, the person involved. This man and his wife and six children were the owners of a small home and about a quarter acre of land. They had lived on this property for quite a number of years and when this depression came on the country he was forced to borrow money on his property and he borrowed two thousand dollars and a mortgage was placed on it.

Then, after that money was used up, he borrowed some money from a friend of his. The money on the mortgage was borrowed from the bank and the second borrowing was from a friend of his, who loaned him a thousand dollars, and the man gave a judgment note for the thousand dollars. That judgment note was also entered and became a second lien on the man's property.

He remained unfortunate, without employment, because he was a man over fifty years of age, and the time came when the bank, the holder of the first lien, the holder of the mortgage, wanted pay on the mortgage and they gave notice that unless he paid they were going to foreclose. This man did not want his home sold, so he went to the man that had loaned him the thousand dollars, to see if he would not loan him two thousand dollars to take up the mortgage, but in the meanwhile the Department of Public Assistance had entered their bond as a judgment against the man, and it required the release of that judgment before the first lien could be preserved for this man.

Mr. President, we tried very desperately to get the Department of Public Assistance to go along, but when that knowledge came to the Department of Public Assistance that this man was seeking to borrow two thousand dollars to pay off the mortgage, they immediately threw that man and his wife and his six children off the relief roll and they are not on yet, and his property was sold and the bank became the owner of the real estate, all because of this bond of the Department of Public Assistance and because of these social welfare workers who—I do not know where they got the idea that if this man could borrow two thousand dollars to pay off the mortgage he ought to borrow that two thousand dollars to live on, not taking into consideration that he was borrowing the money in order to pay the mortgage off.

I think the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, is right in insisting that this body do something in the way of legislation to correct that situation. Therefore, that is the reason why I think the motion is well made and that that bill ought to be forced on to the floor of the Senate.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I have learned that during the depression period not only the man who had a little home or the man who had a small insurance policy was in dire need of assistance; I have learned that there were many big people during that depression period that had to go to banks and elsewhere to get money.

This depression did not only hit the little man; it hit also the big man of that time. Now, the little man who had a home which he had acquired through toil back through the years, is required to either sign a bond or stand suit for the money that he got during that depression period, while the big man went to the bank and through friends or other authority that he held in that institution, he borrowed money, not one thousand dollars, not two thousand dollars, but in dozen of cases in the State of Pennsylvania, one hundred thousand dollars, three hundred thousand dollars, even a million dollars. Many of those institutions closed due to the weight of those excessive loans, and for other unlawful causes, and many of those institutions are being liquidated today.

Mr. President, if the people of this Commonwealth, if the depositors of many of those closed institutions were permitted to look behind the scenes they would see things there that would astound them to a superlative degree, they would find loans in those banks by big people running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, and now today, while the little man with a home, with a small claim against it that was made during the depression, is required to pay back or to have his home sold, these people who borrowed so extensively from the banks are getting their loans paid off, that were made during the depression period, six cents on the dollar, twelve cents on the dollar, ten cents on the dollar, while the little man keeps on paying to the full extent of the claim.

There was a resolution concerning that, which, I am sorry to say, was killed in committee. I tried to get it out, I appeared before the Banking Committee, but the Banking Committee refused to let it out, and now I repeat, those people who borrowed hundreds of thousands of dollars of the depositors' money from the banks during the depression period are getting those loans canceled by the payment of a few cents on the dollar, and the men and women that the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, has been speaking about are required either to lose their property or else pay their claims in full. There is not anything equitable, there is not anything right about that kind of supposed justice in Pennsylvania. We should tear the lid off and let the people see what really went on in Pennsylvania during that depression period, and if it is necessary later, Mr. President, I will name names, because I can go to the records, but that is a very burdensome procedure to go to the records in the various counties and get names, but they are there and they should be exposed to the view of the people of this Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HALUSKA, Roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Crider, voted?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Franklin is not recorded as having voted.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Northumberland, Dr. Deitrick, voted.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northumberland is not recorded as having voted.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, voted.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I voted "no" and I desire to be so recorded.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher, voted.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I voted "no."

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be verified.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those voting in the affirmative.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the affirmative as follows:

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Dent,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The affirmative roll stands as verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those voting in the negative.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the negative as follows:

Bartlett,	Geltz,	Miller,	Wade,
Becker,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Ealy,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,
Edmonds,	Letzler,	Thomas,	Woodward,
Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,	Ziesenheim,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The negative roll stands as verified.

Yeas—17; Nays—28.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Cox,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Dent,

NAYS—28

Bartlett,	Geltz,	Miller,	Wade,
Becker,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Ealy,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,
Edmonds,	Letzler,	Thomas,	Woodward,
Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,	Ziesenheim,

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I wish to take this opportunity of thanking my colleagues on this side of the House for voting with me on this motion. The issue now is clear cut, and I notice party lines were kept. I am sorry party lines were kept again.

I heard throughout this session men like Senator Walker speak of how liberal they were, how their hearts were bleeding for the poor people, and now when an issue is met fairly and squarely, they stand up on party lines, they think more of their party than they think of the people back home. So I am satisfied now, the issue has been met and we shall carry this issue back to the people of the Commonwealth in 1942 and give them an opportunity to find out just who have been their friends in the 1941 Legislature.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I notice that party lines were kept on the other side also, and I only want to say that some of those who voted "aye" on the motion were recorded in committee as voting against reporting the bill out.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to say to the gentleman from Cambria that I do not believe in getting up and speeling on the floor of the Senate about bleeding hearts, but I might say to him we are just as deeply interested in the welfare of the people back home in our districts as he is concerned about the people in his district, and may I suggest to him there is something in this age old tradition, whether he believes in it or not, about the discharge of a committee. I would like to go back several years, Mr. President, when there was a resolution on this floor asking for the resignation of a member of this Senate, and that resolution was in a committee of this Senate, and there was a motion made to discharge the committee, and a number of people who are still members of this Senate were members then, and they voted "no" on the motion to discharge that committee from further consideration of the resolution calling for the resignation of Senator McClure, and the people that voted no at that time stated they were in sympathy with the resolution but they would not vote to discharge a committee. A precedent was set then by some of the gentlemen who reside on the left side of the aisle, and I see no harm in preserving a tradition governing this Commonwealth for over a hundred years. That certainly does not mean, Mr. President, that we do not have the interests of the people at heart; the Republican Party is just as deeply interested in the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth as are the gentlemen on the left.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I just want to say that I agree with the Senator from Cambria County, Mr. Haluska, that the issue is clean cut in so far as the vote is concerned, only he and I see different issues. The issue which I see that is clean cut is that some of the gentlemen on the other side of the House vote one way under cover and another way in the open.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, in view of the remarks just made and also the remarks of the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Bartlett, I want the record to show that I am a member of that committee, but did not vote to pickle that bill in committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria rise?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, for the purpose of interrogating the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, to say that sometimes a member might be in sympathy with a certain bill or resolution, but because of tradition he might vote otherwise? Do I interpret from that that the gentleman from Allegheny is in sympathy with my motion?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry my articulation is so bad; I am repeatedly misunderstood by the gentleman from Cambria. I was quoting from the resolution to discharge the committe that had the McClure resolution in its keeping, about 1933, I think it was, or 1935, and the reasons assigned then, according to my recollection, were that some of the members who voted "no" on the motion to discharge the committee then were in sympathy with the resolution but were preserving a tradition. I did not state my own personal opinion on the bill that is in the Committee of Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions which was the subject of the resolution or the subject of the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny further?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not at any time throughout this session he has stated openly that he was in favor of the elimination of the so-called bond for relief recipients.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have repeatedly, not only on the floor of this Senate but at other times I have attempted desperately to stop the use of these bonds. I am opposed to them and the gentleman from Cambria knows I am opposed to them. I think it is a silly practice and should be stopped. I am not a member of the committee that has that bill or I would have very cheerfully voted to report it out. The point is, this is a question of whether or not the committee should be discharged, and on that motion I voted "no."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I expect before the week is out to make a few motions myself to discharge committees and I am going to make them in spite of the fact that certain members hide behind so-called traditions. Traditions are not constant, traditions change, and as time goes on you will find that poor people can not eat traditions, they are not digestible.

Mr. President, I want to say one of the worst traditions is that of hiding behind a so-called tradition of refusing to bring out on the Senate floor legislation that is pertinent to the welfare of the common people of the Commonwealth. I want to say that the best way to hide good legislation is to give it to some chairman of a committee, who may take a trip to Bermuda; those things have happened in the past and will happen again in the future, that a chairman of a committee takes a trip with a bill, and then the bill is dead. I have voted for three years in this Senate to discharge committees holding good legislation. I voted with the gentleman from Fayette to discharge a committee which was holding a bill although if the bill came out on the floor I would have voted against the bill. I believe in the democratic process of bringing a bill out on the floor and there let is stand or fall. You can not say to me you are for a bill and then refuse to give yourself the opportunity of voting for that bill, when you know it is dead in committee and you know you are hiding behind a subterfuge when you say, "I am for the bill but I will not vote to discharge the committee considering the bill." How else can you get a vote on the bill? There is no other way.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I urgently request the gentleman from Westmoreland to see if he can not get somebody over in the House to repeat that speech. I have a lot or bills that are dead in House committees and I would like to get them out on the floor for a vote.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not think that is quite a fair proposition to make to me, but I will make this proposition to the gentleman from Allegheny, for every bill that is pickled in a House committee, I venture to say there are two bills pickled in Senate committees.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am a member of the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, but I did not vote to pickle the resolution presented by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

CALENDAR

SENATE BILL No. 1313 ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE CALLED UP

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 1313, on third reading and final passage, page 12 of the Calendar.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1313, as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ADOPTED ON SENATE BILL No. 418

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to consideration of the Report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 418.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Report was read as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 418

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 418, entitled:

"An act requiring the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue a proclamation setting apart September thirteenth of each year as Commodore John Barry Day."

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 700, (House Bill No. 99), entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 806) entitled "An act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities" by exempting certain clubs from such limitation and by providing that retail dispenser's licenses may be exchanged or surrendered for liquor licenses without violating the limits upon the number of licenses imposed by such act; and authorizing the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to effect such exchange or substitution upon compliance with certain conditions

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I wish to say to the Senators before the vote is taken on House Bill No. 99, (Senate Bill No. 700), I feel there is a duty resting upon me, which I would be unfaithful to my constituents and to the people of Pennsylvania if I failed to perform at this time.

I remember a number of years ago, when the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment was under consideration, there were very definite assurances given that certain conditions which had prevailed prior to the enactment of the eighteenth amendment would never be permitted to return if that amendment were repealed, and I recall very distinctly reading at that time that a very distinguished citizen of the nation had promised that by no means, by no manner, under no guise whatever, should the old-fashioned saloons be permitted to return. What has transpired since has reminded me frequently of an old fable or poem that I learned when I was a child, about the camel that came to a blacksmith shop:

"My nose is cold he meekly cried,
"Oh, let me warm it by thy side.
"Since no denial word was said
"In came the nose, in came the head;
"And just as sermon follows text
"The long and scrawny neck came next,
"And then like sunshine after storm
"In leaped the whole ungainly form.

Mr. President, I think that has been exemplified in what has been done with regard to bringing back the old conditions which were promised never to return.

We have here today a bill upon which we have worked with considerable diligence in an effort to try to find the answer to some of the problems that were confronting certain individuals and certain organizations. The bill that has come out of that has come out, in my opinion, in such a state that a question has to be answered by every gentleman who votes here today on this bill. That question has to do with whether or not we believe in increasing the number of liquor licensees beyond the quota which has been established.

The quota was established at one per thousand. There is some intimation that a mistake was made in passing that bill, whereby clubs were included in that quota instead of being excluded from it, but my impression has been that the people of Pennsylvania were very largely satisfied with the quota as it had been interpreted by the courts. One thing I want to call to the attention of the Senators, as we vote on this bill at this time, is this: there are two groups of people in this state who will object to the enactment of this piece of legislation. First of those groups are the people who are ardently, earnestly and sincerely convinced that the liquor business is wrong and ought to be eliminated. The second group, and I call particular attention to this, is that group of men who are in what is commonly called the legitimate business of dispensing liquor as retail liquor dealers, and I am calling your attention to the fact that these gentlemen will not care very much about your voting for this kind of legislation.

I am not pleading with any one to change their vote on this bill. I presume we have all made up our minds as to how we are going to vote, but I am calling these things to your attention as an indication of the trend of events, and I am calling the attention of those who are interested in this line of business to the fact that a constant repetition of requests for the enactment of liberalizing legislature this nature is driving this country rapidly back to a conclusion that will eventually result in the reenactment of similar legislation to that of the eighteenth amendment. Unless those concerned with this business take warning and put their house in order, it seems to me we are certainly headed for that time when the wrath of the mothers of this nation will again be extended toward them and they will find themselves again on the outside trying to get back in.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I request that this bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. EALY. We expect to adjourn this session either Friday or Saturday, and if this bill is to receive action it will have to pass the Senate today. I just received a call from a gentleman in Pittsburgh who states that he is coming down here to discuss the subject of this bill with the Department of Agriculture. I have no interest in this bill, although I think it is very desirable that there be some regulatory measure under which the Department of Agriculture may act, and I shall ask the Senator from Lackawanna to withdraw his request that this bill go over and permit it to pass the Senate at this time. If he has any objections he may take them up with the Department or with the House Committee and see what amendments can be made, if any are necessary.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, since the President Pro Tempore has indicated that a delay of one legislative day might jeopardize the passage of this bill, I shall be delighted to withdraw my objection, but I call to the attention of the Senate that we expect the same courtesies on other Senate bills that are on the Calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 399, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Treasury Department for the use of the Board of Finance and Revenue in granting refunds of "store and theatre" tax

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated out of the General Fund to the Treasury Department for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-one for the use of the Board of Finance and Revenue in making payment of approved claims for refunds of store and theatre tax paid under the provisions of the act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1656), entitled "An act imposing an annual license tax for the privilege of operating maintaining or controlling within this Commonwealth a store or stores theatre or theatres as herein defined prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax and its disposition including an appropriation for the purpose of administering this act and providing penalties" and subsequently declared by the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be unconstitutional

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections?

Mr. COLEMAN. I have no objection to unanimous consent, merely for the conservation of time, but I do want to talk on the amendments.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 1 of title, by striking out the word "Making" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Requiring the Commonwealth and the political subdivisions thereof to refund taxes and license fees erroneously and inadvertently paid thereto and giving a right of appeal in claims against the Commonwealth and a right of action against such political subdivision for the recovery of such taxes and fees upon their failure to make such refunds; making the provisions of the act retroactive; repealing existing laws and making"; amend title, page 1, line 3 of title, by inserting after the word "granting" the following: "such"; amend title, page 1, line 3 of title, by striking out after the word "refunds" the following: "of 'store and theatre' tax"; amend bill, page 1, by inserting after the enacting clause and before line 1, the following:

Section 1. Whenever any person or corporation of this Commonwealth has erroneously or inadvertently paid or caused to be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision directly or indirectly, any tax or taxes on real or personal property or any license fee or fees under an assumption that such taxes or license fees were due and owing when in fact such taxes or license fees or a part thereof were not due and owing to the Commonwealth or political subdivision, then in such cases the authorities of the political subdivision or the Board of Finance and Revenue acting for the Commonwealth, upon due proof of any such erroneous or inadvertent tax or license fee payments are hereby directed to draw their warrant on the treasurer of such political subdivision or of the Commonwealth in favor of such person or corporation to make refund out of the public funds of such tax or taxes or license fee or fees to which the political subdivision or the Commonwealth has no valid claim.

The provisions of this act shall be construed to include taxes paid upon real estate assessments which erroneously contained buildings which had been previously destroyed or torn down but whose destruction was not noted by the assessors and was included in the assessment.

Section 2. In the event of refusal or failure on the part of the authorities of any political subdivision involved to make any such refund of taxes or fees so erroneously paid into the treasury thereof, then the aggrieved person or corporation shall have the right to recover the sum involved by instituting an action in assumpsit in any court of competent jurisdiction within the county wherein such political subdivision is located.

Section 3. In the event of refusal or failure on the part of the Board of Finance and Revenue to make any such refund of taxes or fees so erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, the claimant therefor may appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from an adverse decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue which court shall thereupon hear such testimony as may be offered in support of the claim and determine whether or not the claimant is entitled to any refund and if so, the amount thereof. If the court finds that he is so entitled it shall report its findings to the board and order the making of a refund of the proper amount. Thereupon the refund shall be made in the manner hereinbefore provided. No such appeal shall be entertained, however, unless the claimant shall file with his petition an affidavit that all the proof which he proposes to offer in support of his claim had been presented to the Board of Finance and Revenue before that board acted adversely upon his claim.

Section 4. The provisions of this act shall be retroactive and effective as to any and all taxes and fees heretofore erroneously or inadvertently paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision.

Section 5. The act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 786), entitled "An act authorizing county commissioners to refund taxes and license fees erroneously and inadvertently paid by persons and corporations into the county treasury and limiting the time within which claims for refunds must be made," and the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1211), entitled "An act to further amend the title and section one of the act, approved the eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1656), entitled 'An act authorizing county commissioners to refund taxes erroneously and inadvertently paid by persons and corporations into the county treasury' extending said act to all political subdivisions" are hereby repealed absolutely.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out after the word "Section" the numeral "1" and inserting in lieu thereof: "6"; amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 8 to 12, both inclusive, by striking out after the word "of" in line 8, the following: "store and theatre tax paid under the pro-," all of lines 9, 10, 11 and 12; amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 to 5, both inclusive, by striking out all of lines 1, 2, 3, and 4, and the following in line 5: "and providing penalties" and," and inserting in lieu thereof: "taxes or license fees paid under the provisions of any act which is,"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Thomas B. Wilson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from McKean if he will boil down into a terse and pithy sentence or two what the amendment does to the bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the bill introduced by the gentleman from Lackawanna provides for the refunding of certain taxes that have been paid to the Commonwealth, the payment of which has been held unnecessary by the courts of Pennsylvania. There is in the House a bill introduced by Mr. Weiss which provides for the refunding of taxes in all cases where taxes had been paid where the liability was not on the taxpayer, over payments or payments of taxes that were not due either to the Commonwealth or a district or a municipality. That bill has remained in a committee of the House and is still there. The bill in the House not only provides for the refunding of taxes, which would take care of those taxes, but provides a system by which persons who paid taxes that were not due could get them back, provides a legal system or machine by which, if the tax payment was refused, they could go into court and get their money, where a determination could be made as to whether or not any money was due and legal procedure taken so that there could be judicial determination. These amendments place the bill of the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, in the same shape that the bill was in the House, which provides a complete system for a taxpayer to recover money which he had paid and which was not due.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean further.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from McKean whether he does not think the insertion of his amendments render the bill of doubtful constitutionality.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not know but my judgment would be no, and I do not know that anybody in the Senate would agree, but I think it is not. I will be honest enough to say to the gentleman from Lackawanna and the Senate that the same question occurred to me that now occurs to him.

The bill of the gentleman from Lackawanna provided for the refunding of certain taxes paid by storekeepers and by theatres. The amendments now provide a general system of refunding taxes that were paid when they were not due. If I were a constitutional lawyer—I am greatly complimented by being asked that question—it I were a constitutional lawyer, there might be some suggestion or suspicion come in my mind, the same as with the gentleman who asked me the question.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from McKean if he shares the apprehension of his colleagues about the possibility of defeat of the bill immediately preceding this one which I asked to have go over in order.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Well, Mr. President, I share the apprehension of both Democrats and Republicans when a bill is put over in order at this late stage, because I hope those gentlemen whom we laughingly call our leaders are correct when they tell us they will let us adjourn the last of the week.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from McKean, in view of his answer to my interrogation, how he reconciles his position on the bill immediately preceding, and then asks to insert amendments which will put the bill over for another legislative day.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. The only way I can answer that, Mr. President, is to say the gentleman who is interrogating me is a very important and highly thought of member of the Democratic party, and when a bill passes the Republican Senate and goes over to the House, he is in a position to bring that bill out of committee as though it was shot out of a gun, while we Republicans, who have legislation of merit, men who have served in the Legislature for more than five terms have bills in there that nobody disputes and nobody can see anything wrong with, and no power on earth would get them out until the morning of the resurrection.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I am going to eagerly await the vote of the members of the Senate on the insertion of the amendments offered by the gentlman from McKean, Mr. Thomas B. Wilson. I am going to hazard the guess Mr. President as a practical fellow, that the amendments will probably be included in the bill. I have learned in this legislative game, through experience that we only gain on the job on the floor that all you need in this particular legislative game is to have the votes, and I suppose I ought to assume a defeatist attitude, because if they want the amendments in there they are going in, except, however, that if these amendments are inserted in the bill, I think it will be the most glaring example of inconsistency of my six years in the General Assembly.

Mr. President, I had a purpose in asking that Senator Ealy's bill go over in order, because I had anticipated that these amendments were to be offered. As a matter of fact, the gentleman who offered the amendments was kind and considerate enough to advise me what he expected to do. Then I find that immediately six or seven gentlemen on the opposite side get up and express grave fears about the number of legislative days remaining to have Senator Ealy's bill enacted into law.

In 1937, Mr. President, there was enacted in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a chain store tax. When the chain store tax passed the House of Representatives and came into the Senate somebody in the Senate broadened the scope of the bill to also include theatres. I happened to have been a member of the House and served on the conference committee to adjust the difference existing between the House and the Senate. There was also passed a bill which would appropriate money derived from this particular tax to increase the pay of teachers in fourth class school districts.

The two major chain stores, which paid the tax under protest, or at least announced they were paying it under protest but actually paid nothing, contested the bill, and the bill of course was later declared unconstitutional, and the companion act, due to the fact that there was no money available for appropriation purposes, became inoperative.

In the number of years that this General Assembly has been in existence, we have breathed legislative life into bills that would permit various departments of the Commonwealth to get back money illegally held by corporations, associations and individuals in this Commonwealth, and now we find ourselves in the inconsistent position of jeopardizing the passage of a bill that would ask the Commonwealth to give back to people who have paid a tax something to which they are morally, and definitely legally entitled.

Here we find that in the closing days of the session an amendment has been introduced which will definitely kill the bill, and I want to go on record now, Mr. President. as entering my protest against the inclusion of these amendments. If you are sincere in your belief that these chain stores and chain theatres are entitled to a refund of the taxes they paid, which was later held to be unconstitutional, then you ought to vote against this amendment.

I find that the Department of Revenue takes the position that they will accept from the chain stores or chain theatres a refund on any tax obligation. That in itself, Mr. President, is an admission that the Commonwealth, the Department of Revenue and the Department of Justice, feel that these people have a legal right to have this money returned, and I ask my colleagues on both sides of the Senate to vote down these amendments and then support the bill without the amendments on final passage.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like first to ask the gentleman from McKean if he will be good enough to tell us how much it would cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania if all of the refunds that are permitted under this bill were granted?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lackawanna has made an appropriation of three hundred thousand dollars in the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I mean, Mr. President, the refund, the possible refund under the amendments. I would like the gentleman to say whether he knows how much money it would take.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not think anybody in the world could have that information.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does the gentleman from McKean know whether or not there has been any appropriation made to refund that money.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON, I do not, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. As a matter of fact, if the gentleman does not know how much and what tax refund might be covered, there can be no appropriation, is that not correct?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Now Mr. President, I should like to suggest that this Senate passed Senate Bill No. 177, a Republican sponsored bill, which provided for the refund of what I think was a just refund of a tax unlawfully paid, which was a refund of monies paid under the liquor floor tax. I do not understand why this amendment could not have been put into that bill, which was Senate Bill No. 177, at a time when if it was justified, there was sufficient time to discuss it. I think it is extremely unfair to both the persons who paid the tax and the financial structure of the Commonwealth to insert in this bill, a bill which everybody must agree is a just bill, to return monies to people taxed for a specific purpose, a purpose declared to be unconstitutional, or at least the method of accomplishing the purpose was declared to be unconstitutional, the money secured for that sole purpose, the money now in the treasury of the Commonwealth, that money does not belong to the treasury and rightfully therefore belongs to those persons who paid it. I think it is unfair to them, in the first place, to propose this amendment which might endanger either the passage or the constitutionality of the bill.

Secondly, Mr. President, I think it is highly bad politics—and I mean politics in the sense not of political activities, but highly bad politics in the sense of the governmental function of this Commonwealth, at a time when the Governor of the Commonwealth says he is in a dire situation if any further burdens are put upon him his budget will be unbalanced—he will be unable to meet the hospital appropriation anyway, to pass a bill which is as far reaching in its effect as this is, to give anybody in any city or any location, the right to come in and say by virtue of this general bill, this omnibus bill giving the right to claim a refund of taxes paid on a building that had been destroyed, upon which they no longer had to pay taxes—on the land and not on the building—they can now come in and nobody knows how far-reaching it may be, and you do not know whether you may be imposing upon the Commonwealth a burden which may reach into millions of dollars and that to me is unwise, and the presentation of that kind of an amendment can only lead to the conclusion that this is an effort to destroy or kill this bill.

You can tell me we can take it out in the House, but this is not the time, this is no time to pass amendments that should be taken out, if they should be taken out in the House. If you have the bill sent over there it may not be taken out in the House, and I am afraid that it will not be taken out, and if this bill passes now and the House members do not take it out, who will answer as to how much money the Commonwealth will be obliged to pay under this bill? Where will the money come from and who will provide it? I think that is a very serious question.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I think it is only fair to say on this bill that the members on this side of the House, where these amendments originated, feel that if there is money in the hands of municipalities of the Commonwealth that does not belong to them, but belongs to somebody else, and that money is to be paid back to one person, that it is better legislation to provide a system by which those who have paid money when they did not owe it, should have a way of having that amount determined and a method by which they can present their claims, and if they are not approved it will open the courts to them so they can get relief.

Now, Mr. President, if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has money that belongs to people, if the municipalities have money that belongs to people, that money should be paid back to them, and the members on this side of the aisle thought, instead of passing a bill to pay certain people their money, that we should pass a general bill, scientifically drawn, which would give everybody in the Commonwealth who had money coming to them a method by which they could get it back. Most of this, probably, would come from the Commonwealth, if the Commonwealth has it, and if in the determination of the courts it belongs to somebody else, I think they should have their money; I even think the Commonwealth should levy a tax to pay it if they have somebody else's money and it does not belong to them. It is hard enough for the taxpayer to pay the taxes they say without having to pay money that does not belong to the Commonwealth.

I want to say one thing more, while the gentleman from Lackawanna is ready to speak and that is this, in his bill as we looked at it we saw no way of determining who had money coming in this particular class, no way of liquidating the claim and no machinery; it simply makes an appropriation and says the department shall draw an order for it. We did not think the bill was drawn carefully, and we did not think it was a bill that we cared to put our approval on.

I do say this, and I say it in all friendship to the gentleman from Lackawanna, because he and I have very pleasant relations, that we wish he would not be so insinuating once in a while. Maybe I am a poor person to say it, but I do not think there is any place on the floor of this Senate for anyone to make sarcastic and insinuating remarks about those who differ with him. I do not think it produces results, and as one who never makes a sarcastic remark or says anything disagreeable, I make that suggestion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I have been disturbed slightly by the remarks that I have heard this afternoon. To me the proposition before us is not the merits of the amendments as much as the proposition that we established on a previous bill here, where because of the shortness of time the gentleman from Lackawanna was asked, if he had any objections to Senator Ealy's bill, to present them to the Department of Agriculture and to the Committee of the House, and that was asked because of the shortness of time. If we do not pass a Senate bill today, it goes over until tomorrow, and there is only one way we can pass a bill and that is if we come back next week. That is the principle involved here as far as I am concerned.

I was disturbed at the remarks of the gentleman from Lackawanna, that the only thing that motivates the gentleman on the other side is the fact that they have the number of votes. Now, Mr. President, I would hate to think that, especially in view of the splendid remarks made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, just a short time ago, when he extolled the intellectual honesty and ability and the honor of one of your members, and I would hate to believe that from your mere consciousness of having the votes, that you would sacrifice honor, you would sacrifice fair dealing, that you would sacrifice intellectual honesty in this matter. I think that it is plain, and the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson, ought to see it, that if these amendments are placed in this bill, the bill must go over until tomorrow, and tomorrow is Thursday and there are only two remaining days, and the House can never act on it. I would say if there is intellectual honesty, if there is honor amongst us, why not pursue the same principles that we did in the previous bill? I went along with that proposition, because I felt it was my intellectual honest duty to go along with your argument, because your argument is just as sound, and if we do not pass a Senate bill today we can not adjourn this week, and I would recommend in order to keep our score cards clear, if the gentlemen on the other side are not purely motivated by the fact that you have twenty-six votes, let us show some honor, some intellectual honesty, the kind that Dr. Woodward so picturesquely and justly illustrated a short time ago.

(The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE, the gentleman from Somerset, Senator EALY, in the Chair).

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, first I want to appeal to the intellectual honesty of my colleague from Fayette County. I do not think he needs to be so much concerned as to whether or not there is sincerity on this side of the Senate, or whether there is intellectual honesty or not, as he needs to be with his own side, because the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, made the admission that the only reason he asked that Senate Bill No. 1308 go over was to lay a trap, as he thought, for the Republican side of the Senate, so that he would be able to bargain concerning the bill which he sponsored, Senate Bill No. 399. In connection with the appeal to intellectual honesty made by the gentleman from Fayette, Senator Cavalcante, I just want to suggest we are going to do the best we can and make every attempt, if these amendments are adopted, to have the bill printed with the amendments therein available in time for the session tonight, so that the bill can be passed today and no day be lost. That, I think, Mr. President, ought to assure those on the other side, who have some question in their minds, particularly our colleague from Philadelphia, when he said that he could conclude there was only one purpose for offering the amendments, if we persisted in them, and that was so that the bill would be defeated, because Senator Shapiro well knew before he made his statement that was not the purpose, since both Senator Wilson and I had discussed it with him, and he knew we were sincere in believing these amendments would do a better job and a more proper job than the bill as it was originally introduced.

For that reason, Mr. President, I ask our colleagues to vote to adopt these amendments and we will do everything that is possible to have the bill with the amendments here on the desks of the Senators for tonight's session.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Majority Floor Leader if I understood him to say that the bill with the amendments inserted therein will be ready for passage tonight.

Mr. GELTZ. That is what we hope to have, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman how we can vote on it as amended today, if we are still on the same legislative day; unless the gentleman from Allegheny proposes to have an after midnight session?

Mr. GELTZ. I do not think that is necessary, Mr.

President; I do not think there is any constitutional prohibition against voting on this bill tonight, on the same day. It is on the Calendar, and the printed bill in the amended form will be on our desks.

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The ruling of the Chair heretofore has been that if a bill is on third reading and is amended, the amendments are printed and placed upon the desks with the bill, in order that the bill may be voted upon the same day. The present occupant of the Chair will also so rule.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I do not want to get into a controversy with the Majority Floor Leader as to what constitutes intellectual honesty or dishonesty. I resorted to what I do not think should come under the broad classification of intellectual dishonesty; I resorted to what might best be termed a legislative trick. I had anticipated that the gentlemen would find themselves in the position of being a trifle inconsistent. I want to again emphasize the importance of this particular bill. I always have a suspicion of a bill being amended, putting more into a bill so that we have five times as much language in the bill now as the original bill contained.

This is a very important bill in my opinion, Mr. President. The commercial associations in every county of the Commonwealth, every store owner, every theatre owner, are wondering whether or not the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is going to take care of what is definitely its obligation, and I am inclined to think, Mr. President, that if this bill fails of passage in the General Assembly, that it is serving notice on the people of the Commonwealth, taxpayers who may have paid a tax that subsequently was declared unconstitutional, that they can expect no refund from the Commonwealth, and I am inclined to think that these amendments, Mr. President, will definitely render the bill unconstitutional, and I think back in the mind of the gentleman who introduced the bill there is some grave doubt—he has indicated in his speech on the floor that he is not definitely certain —and I do not think anything ought to be inserted in the bill that would raise any iota of doubt as to the ultimate constitutionality of the bill, and I again ask my colleagues to vote against these particular amendments.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, just to keep the record on intellectual honesty straight, there is no difficulty at all, as a parliamentary procedure, in getting this bill passed if the Democratic House wants to pass it. They know perfectly well how to pass this bill, if we pass it tomorrow. The Majority Leader has said that we will try to act on it this afternoon or tonight, but I say further than that, even if we do not act on it until tomorrow, the gentleman from Lackawanna knows from his experience how to get it passed in three days in the House. He can ask the very kind hearted officer who presides over this Senate to message it over to the House as soon as it is passed here and get it read for the first time. If it were a Republican bill that could not be done in the House, but I do say to the Senate that the House of Representatives of this Legislature has a whole batch of bills, a mass of bills, that they expect to bring out on the Calendar tomorrow for first reading and to have passed during the remainder of this session, and if the gentleman from Lackawanna gets his bill acted on tomorrow and sent to the House, he will not have any difficulty in getting it enacted. With the skill that he has in manipulating and twisting the Republican members on this side of the aisle, I have no doubt he will have no trouble with this bill; if he can handle these thirty-two votes the way he handled them all through this session, fooling them, turning them around, and twisting them, he will not have any difficulty at all in the Democratic side of the Assembly. That is too silly to talk about.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it would appear that wonders never cease. In this bill we have some amendments offered by a Republican Senator which would take care of all the taxpayers in the Commonwealth who happen to be faced with this situation, and now we find Democratic Senators fighting, it appears, for what is special interest. It just does not seem possible. They are the ones, the ones who stand here complaining about special interests being taken care of by the Republican Party, and now they stand up in the Senate in connection with this bill and argue against amendments which would take care of all taxpayers, instead of special interests.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I suggest we are wasting a great deal of time in discussing what I might call for want of a better phrase at the moment, "bunk," designated as intellectual honesty and dishonesty, when we are dealing with a problem which is of serious importance.

I want to read to you what this bill does, and whether it takes care of special interests or not. Let me direct your attention to these words dealing with the kind of taxes that are to be refunded and by the persons and by the persons who are to refund the money. These are the amendments suggested to this bill:

"Whenever any person or corporation (that is both private and special interest) of this Commonwealth has erroneously or inadvertently paid or caused to be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth or of any political sub-division directly or indirectly, any tax or taxes on real or personal property or any license fee or fees under an assumption that such taxes or license fees were due and owing when in fact such taxes or license fees or a part thereof were not due and owing to the Commonwealth or political sub-divisions, then in such cases the authorities of the political sub-divisions or the Board of Finance and Revenue acting for the Commonwealth, upon due proof of any such erroneous or inadvertent tax or license fee payments are hereby directed to draw their warrant on the treasurer of such political sub-division or of the Commonwealth in favor of such persons," and so forth.

Will some one tell me what kind of a moral that is for us, the Legislature, to tell the City of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, or Allegheny now when they have their budgets completed, when they do not know how far reaching this may be, when they may not even know whether or not a tax paid was valid or invalid, will someone tell me how much money it will cost the City of Philadelphia, how they will ascertain that amount, how far back these claims may go, whether some one twenty years ago who having paid a considerable amount of money as taxes inadvertently, will not be able to ask the Commonwealth or the County to pay him. Will someone tell me whether or not it will not become obvious to the Supreme Court that they made a mistake in the Dorrance estate or some other estate tax matter more recently, or maybe further back, that may have been paid by virtue of a mistake of law, by virtue of any inadvertency, will some one tell me whether there is any guarantee that this bill does not or may not require the Commonwealth to pay that back, and I would like to know whether or not the Revenue Department and the administrative officers of this Commonwealth have been consulted, and whether we have the right now at this late date to say to the City of Philadelphia or any other city which has not the money and which operates now only from taxation from year to year, to say to them that their treasury, irrespective of the situation of their budget, must pay back money which they thought they had the right to use and did use.

If you call that good legislation, I must disagree with you; I do not think it is good legislation. You may say that a person who paid the money wrongfully ought to get it back, while an individual who pays the money wrongfully, by mistake of law can not get it back, and when he pays it even not by mistake of law he can not get it back unless he brings action within a certain statutory period. There is a limitation upon the liability. An individual can close his books at the end of six years and say, "now, I know I have no more liability". The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the City of Philadelphia can not close its books under this bill for twenty years, maybe, and they might find themselves in the position where they have collected money unlawfully, illegally or through mistake, and be obliged to pay it back. If you call that good legislation, then I disagree and do not know what good legislation is.

Now, let us strip this proposition of the arguments that have been injected about intellectual dishonesty and whether this bill can pass or whether it can be licked. Let us suppose the bill does pass; that is what I am concerned about, not whether it does not pass. Passage of this amendment concerns me because it involves money to an extent of which I have no indication and the effect of which I do not understand or know, and therefore I suggest that these amendments should be voted down.

RECESS

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 399, RESUMED

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, considerable discussion has taken place as to this bill. The Republican majority of this Senate pride ourselves on the fact that we are always ready to listen to arguments or reason or any fact which will bear upon legislation.

This matter has been discussed back and forth here. We want to be entirely fair, not only to our members but to the Democratic members. Some question arises in our minds as to whether or not the gentleman from Lackawanna could get his bill through and we do not want to be responsible for having it said on the floor that these amendments were put in and then it turned out he could not get the bill through.

For that reason, Mr. President, acting for the members on this side, I am going to ask permission to withdraw the amendments, but we do say to the members on the other side of the Senate that the Republican members feel there should be a system, some systematic system, of allowing those who have paid taxes that were not due to get them back, not only these people but others, and that, in withdrawing these amendments, we do say to them we think in the House they should take some cognizance of the fact that the Republican members have felt this way and that the sense, at least, of these amendments should be considered in the House by the House.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask permission to withdraw the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. Agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 500, (House Bill No. 708), entitled:

An Act enabling city county poor institution district ward school borough and township tax collectors their executors and administrators if they are deceased or either surety or sureties to collect taxes for the payment of which they have become personally liable without having collected the same by the expiration of the authority of their respective warrants or by the expiration of their terms of office extending the time for the collection of the same for a period of two years from the passage of this act and validating collections and proceedings for collections made or commenced without previous authority

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 1, page 2, line 2, after the word "have" and before the word "expired," by taking out the word "heretofore."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 510, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections 504 A, 607 and 608 A of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under circumstances, to examine corporations, associations, or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations, or persons, authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, register of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act; providing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by providing for the taking of possession of the business and property of building and loan associations and savings and loan associations the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 512, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation and for the administration by a State Building and Loan Insurance Board created in this act, of a state fund for the insurance of shares in building and loan associations and savings and loan associations; and prescribing penalties

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

All fines collected under this act shall be paid to the secretary and by him into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue

Section 19 The Attorney General may at the instance of the secretary in the name of the Commonwealth institute proceedings in equity in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County for the purpose of enjoining any person from offering milk or milk products for sale without a permit as provided in this act and for such purpose jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon said court In such case the Attorney General shall not be required to give bond

Section 20 It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that if this act cannot take effect in its entirety because of the decision of any court holding unconstitutional any part thereof the remaining provisions of the act shall be given full force and effect as completely as if the part held unconstitutional had not been included herein

Section 21 The act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 589) entitled "An act to safeguard human health and life by providing for the issuance of permits to and regulation of persons and entities selling milk and milk products conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Health the Advisory Health Board and otherwise providing for the administration of the act and imposing penalties" is hereby repealed All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 22 The permits and certificates of approval granted by the Secretary of Health under the terms of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 589) shall remain in full force and effect under this act until such time as they respectively by their terms expire or until the secretary shall revoke and suspend the same in accordance with his powers hereunder

Section 23 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 598, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to add section two thousand two and one-tenth to the act approved the eigtheenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue: and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for cooperation with other agencies in furthering national defense programs and activities go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 774, (House Bill No. 1282), on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing that taxes on unseated lands shall be collected and returned in the same manner and at the same time as taxes on seated lands

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 890, (House Bill No. 139), as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act which became effective on the seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (P. L. 194) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of peace and regulating the fees of constables making sales under this act" further enlarging the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and extending the provisions of said act to aldermen

Section 1 Section one of the act which became effective on the seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine (P. L. 194) entitled "An act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of peace and regulating the fees of constables making sales under this act" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the aldermen magistrates and justices of the peace in this Commonwealth shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of common pleas of all actions arising from contract either express or implied and of all actions of trespass [and of trover and conversion] wherein the sum demanded does not exceed three hundred dollars except in cases of real contract where the title to lands or tenements may come in question [or action upon promise of marriage]

The jurisdiction herein conferred in actions of trespass shall include all actions arising from claims for damages recoverable at the common law in actions of trespass trover and conversion or trespass on the case except slander and libel and distinctions heretofore existing are hereby abolished and such claims shall hereafter be sued for and recovered in one form of action to be called an action in trespass

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not want to bore the life out of the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania on this bill. I think everybody appreciates the only reason I say anything is because I feel so deeply about it. Back in my background are many incidents in connection with friends and matters that have arisen in courts, lawyers, law suits and other things that are very vivid in my life and in my memory, and I would not feel that I were justified in sitting in this Senate if I did not take a kick at this bill every time it came up.

I want to just say this, this bill has received more respectability than it is entitled to from a class and kind of men that have gotten on this floor to defend it, they have shed respectability on it, Senator Becker and Senator Cox by their standing with their colleagues in the Senate. It has made the bill look as if it was respectable. Senator Dent has also taken an interest in it and he has given it a respectability to an extent to which it was not entitled, by his standing.

I want to ask if any member of this Senate has received any request from the ordinary people of Pennsylvania to vote for this bill. The only people on earth, the only reason it is here, is to make fees and costs for justices of the peace and constables. There is not another reason for the bill except that. I have never heard of any member of the Senate or the House receiving statements from these common people that they speak of, as to being benefited by this bill. Certainly some of them would come here if they were to get such benefits. May I again, at the expense of being tedious, may I again call the attention of the Senate to the fact that in passing this bill you are reversing the policy of the courts of Pennsylvania since we have had a Commonwealth, you are entrusting to untrained minds and untrained justices of the peace a power that you have not given to Common Pleas Judges nor Orphans' Judges nor Justices of the Supreme Court, or Justices of the Superior Court.

Now, may I apologize to you, Mr. President, and members of the Senate for speaking on this bill as I have, and may I say to you I only do so because I feel so strongly on it. May I also take this opportunity to express to my colleagues of the Senate, as we near the end of the session, my great pride in having been a member of the Senate with them. I think it has been pretty difficult sometimes for them to put up with me, but I want to say that no member of this Senate has any greater pride in the membership and the kind of men in the Senate of Pennsylvania than has the Senator from the Twenty-Fifth District who sometimes speaks quite sharply and sarcastically about what we are doing. I have been very proud to be a member. They have a beautiful sentiment in Harrisburg expressed in the song "Old Soldiers Never Die" and as the session closes may I say I hope that none of the older soldiers of the Senate die in the interval before we meet again, and may we in the next session have the same fine high class membership we have now. May I say one other thing, Mr. President, because I have had long legislative experience I have great pride in the kind of men who are in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I think it is very promising for the Commonwealth to see these young men that sit in the back rows, on both the Democratic and Republican sides of the aisle. I think we are going to have as fine a Senate, and have one now, as they have ever had in the State of Pennsylvania. I am very proud to be a member of it.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill. I think it is a good bill and one that we need badly. I am sorry the Senate has wasted so much time, but it seems that the Senators are getting more long-winded all the time. If we would get down to business and pass a little good legislation we would get along much better. Mr. President, I ask all my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in presenting amendments yesterday I voiced by opposition to this bill, but I forgot to mention one feature which in my opinion militates against this measure. The learned gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker, stressed and underscored the fact that by passage of this bill we would eliminate litigation. In my opinion, that would multiply litigation, because appeals will be taken from judgments rendered by justices of the peace, and the case will finally reach the Common Pleas Court or the Municipal Court.

I would be in favor of this bill if it would be administered by people learned in the law, but mere diletantes, persons who are engaged in many pursuits, will be unable to render justice. For that reason, Mr. President, I appeal to my colleagues to vote against this bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not want to say anything about the bill but I do say it comes with rather bad grace from a Senator from Philadelphia, whose district is not affected by this at all, to say we are long winded when we are a little bit interested in the fundamental rights of the people of Pennsylvania to have their litigation tried in the way they are used to and the way other matters are handled. I resent the statement we are long winded, because this is one of the vital things that effects the ordinary man of Pennsylvania. I resent the statement we are long winded, because I have not been long winded in legislation. I think the gentleman has been treated pretty fair in the legislation he has wanted. He is another genius for twisting the Republican majority around.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(The following occurred during the calling of the roll.)

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those voting in the affirmative.

The Clerk called the names of the affirmative roll as follows:

Barr,	Geltz,	McCreesh,	Tallman,
Bartlett,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Taylor,
Becker,	Heyburn,	McQuiddy,	Thomas,

Cox,	James,	Mundy,	Walker,
Deitrick,	Lanius,	Ruth,	Watkins,
Dent	Letzler,	Stevenson,	Ziesenheim,
Frey,	Mallery,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk called the names of the negative roll as follows:

Cavalcante,	Ealy,	Kephart,	Stiefel,
Chapman,	Edmonds,	Reed,	Tyler,
Crider,	Farrell,	Shapiro,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Jaspan,	Snowden,	Wilson, T. B.,
			Woodward,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any correction? The Chair hears none.

The negative roll stands as verified.

The Clerk called the names of those voting present as follows:

Carr—voting "Present."

Yeas—30; nays—17; Present—1.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

PRESENT—1

Carr,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 966, (House Bill No. 955), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section ninety-five of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" further regulating use of gill-nets in boundary lakes

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1043, (House Bill No. 571), on third reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also by the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or the majority thereof

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1105, (House Bill No. 94), as follows:

An Act to amend section fifteen hundred and nine of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by providing that the board of directors of any school district may appropriate funds to pay for medical examinations for tuberculosis for pupils teachers janitors or other employees

Section 1 Section fifteen hundred and nine of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1509 No person having tuberculosis of the lungs shall be a pupil teacher janitor or other employe in any public school unless it be a special school carried on under the regulations made for such schools by the Commissioner of Health The board of directors of any school district may appropriate such funds as may be necessary to pay for X-ray or other medical examinations to determine the presence or absence of tuberculosis in any pupil teacher janitor or other employe of the district

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Stevenson,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Stiefel,

Dent,	Kephart,	Snowden,	Ziesenheim,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1121, (House Bill No. 909), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred three of and to add section three hundred seven of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale manufacture possession transportation importation traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents the Department of Public Instruction other officers of the State government courts and district attorneys authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others providing for the forfeiture of certain property making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties" by providing for the appointment of assistant managers in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores and by establishing minimum salaries for certain employes of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board working in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman from Allegheny tell me once again why he is asking to have this bill go over in order.

Mr. GELTZ. I will be glad to tell my colleague once again, Mr. President, why I ask that the bill go over in order is for further consideration, the same reason as we gave when we asked that it go over in order before. In the meantime, however, there has been introduced a resolution which we would like to have studied by our colleague from Cambria County, as well as our other colleagues, and have it considered in connection with this bill before action is taken on this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny told me several days ago one of the reasons why the bill went over in order was that a sub-committee was chosen to study the merits of the bill and to report back. I should like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny now whether or not that sub-committee has reported its findings to the original committee.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the sub-committee did make a report, and I might add that they did a better job than that; they prepared a resolution which was introduced today.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, is that resolution in committee now?

Mr. GELTZ. The resolution, I believe, Mr. President, is on the table as a result of a motion by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, could we have that resolution read or may I see a copy of it for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, could ask unanimous consent to do that after the Senate has concluded consideration of this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in order, but I ask unanimous consent to have that resolution read for the benefit of the members of this Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I would be glad to join in that request, because I think it is such a good resolution it will bear reading another time.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 67 CALLED FROM TABLE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to call from the table and have read for the information of the Senators, Resolution Serial No. 67, introduced today by the gentleman from Montgomery, which was laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was read as follows:

EXECUTIVE BOARD TO GIVE CAREFUL CONSIDERATION TO SALARIES AND CLASSIFICATION OF ADMINISTRATIVE EMPLOYES OF COMMONWEALTH

In the Senate, July 9, 1941.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its administrative departments, exclusive of the Auditor General and State Treasurer, gives employment to approximately 20,118 men and women whose services are utilized by the Commonwealth, and whose loyalty and efficiency are great assets to the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The Administrative Code of 1929 created an Executive Board consisting of the Governor and six other heads of administrative departments to be designated from time to time by the Governor; and

Whereas, The said Code entrusts the following duties to the said Board as set forth in the language of the Code:

"Section 709. Executive Board—Subject to the provisions of this act, the Executive Board shall have the power:

(a) To standardize the qualications for employment, and all titles, salaries, and wages, of persons employed by the administrative departments, boards and commissions, except the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department. In establishing such standards the board may:

(1) Take into consideration the location of the work and the conditions under which the service is rendered,

(2) Establishing different standards for different kinds, grades and classes of similar work or service, etc."; and

Whereas, It is evident from economic and social statistics that a shift is occurring in the cost of living which will affect all of the employes of the State, and particularly those whose salaries are in the lower brackets; and

Whereas, The revision of the said salaries in an administrative function to be performed by the Executive Board as set forth in the Act of Assembly above cited; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the Executive Board of the Commonwealth be and it is hereby requested to give careful consideratian to the salaries and classification of employes in the administrative departments with reference to changes in the cost of living in this Commonwealth, and that the said Executive Board be and it is hereby requested to provide at all times such salaries as will insure just compensation for the service performed, and the maintenance of the American standard of living.

(The following occurred during the reading of the resolution)

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, may I request that the gentleman from Cambria listen to the reading of the resolution so that it will not have to be read again.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria requested that the resolution be read and it is being read.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I say a few words on that resolution? May I make a few remarks?

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has been read only by unanimous consent. The resolution is not before the Senate at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to ask the consent of the Senate to make a few brief remarks.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the reason I want to make a few remarks on this resolution is that just yesterday or the day before I brought to the attention of my colleagues a resolution with reference to insurance bonds. I have been informed by my colleagues that the resolution has no bearing, it is only a request; you may ask someone but it means nothing.

I am hopeful that this body will be consistent. If the resolution introduced by my colleague from Cumberland, Mr. Wade and myself, had no effect upon the Department of Public Assistance, let us not be fooled once again, and try to make these boys working in these liquor stores believe that they are getting something. This is only a smoke screen. If my resolution had no bearing, this has none, but we have a bill before us that would authentically compel the department to increase wages, if signed by the Governor, and since we have such a bill, I trust we will act upon that bill, defeat the bill or pass it, and forget about the smoke screen being put up by this resolution. It reminds me of fooling a kid by putting a piece of paper between two pieces of bread and telling him he has a sandwich.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1199, (House Bill No. 1420), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 507) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" as amended by imposing the tax upon personal property held and managed in this Commonwealth owned held or possessed by residents as trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact jointly with one or more trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact domiciled in another state and by imposing the tax upon equitable interests of residents in personal property held and managed in another state where the legal title to such personal property is held by more than one trustee agent or attorney-in-fact one or more of whom are domiciled in another state and one or more of whom are domiciled within this Commonwealth and exempting casualty insurance companies having no capital stock from the tax imposed by this act

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1206, (House Bill No. 1621), as follows:

An Act to add section forty-three to the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521) entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" authorizing compromise of tax claims in cases where there is a dispute as to the domicile of the decedent

Section 1 The act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521) entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" is hereby amended by adding immediately after section forty-two thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 43 Where the Department of Revenue claims that a decedent was domiciled in this State at the time of his death and the taxing authorities of another state or states make a similar claim with respect to their state or states and the facts are such as to give rise to a reasonable doubt as to the domicile of the decedent the department may with the approval of the Department of Justice enter into a written agreement with such taxing officials and with the personal representatives that a certain sum shall be accepted in full payment of the tax imposed by this act and the supplement thereto Provided That said agreement also fixes the amount to be paid to such other state or states in full payment of the death taxes thereof Full power and authority is hereby conferred upon the personal representatives to enter into the agreement providd for herein Such agreemnt shall finally and conclusivly fix and determine the amount of tax imposed by this act and the supplement thereto without regard to any other provision of the laws of this State In the event the aggregate amount payable under such agreement to the states involved is less than the maximum credit allowable to the estate against the United States estate tax imposed with respect thereto the personal representatives forthwith shall also pay to the department so much of the difference between such aggregate amount and the amount of such credit as the amount payable to the department under the agreement bears to such aggregate amount A copy of any such agreement shall be filed in the office of the proper register of wills and any existing appraisement shall be deemed modified according to said agreement in the event no appraisment has been made and filed prior to said agreement the Department of Revenue shall direct an appraisement to be made and filed in the office of the proper register of wills in accordance with said agreement

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall apply to estates of decedents dying before or after the enactment of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1263, (House Bill No. 846), on third reading, entitled:

An Act requiring school boards in all school districts to grant leaves of absence to all school employes who shall volunteer or be called for military or naval service in time of war or during a state of national emergency preserving certain contracts salaries increments retirement rights seniority State contributions and grants to local school boards eligibility lists re-employment authorizing school boards to employ substitutes in place of such employes reserving all rights and privileges of employes granted leaves of absence under the provisions herein superseding or repealing all contrary laws.

go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1310, (House Bill No. 602), entitled:

An Act to amend sections eight hundred one and nine hundred seventy-six of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333) entitled "An act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates primary and election expenses and election contests, creating and defining membership of county boards of elections imposing upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth courts county boards of elections county commissioners imposing penalties for violation of the act and codifying revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections" by further defining parties and political bodies providing procedure for rejection of nomination petitions papers or certificates in certain cases imposing duties on the Governor and the Attorney General and imposing additional duties on county boards of elections the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the courts

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this bill, House Bill No. 602, is practically word for word identical with Senate Bill No. 172, which we have already passed in the Senate, and which has been over in the House for quite some months. This House bill is another illustration of the way that this Legislature has been working. We pass bills here in the Senate and send them over to the House, and then instead of acting on our bills, they take the provisions of the bills and put them in their own bills, with their own names on them, thinking sponsorship means something, and they send them over here for us to pass all over again.

I really think on a point of order we ought to be sustained that we have already passed this bill. We have already taken one vote on a bill of this kind and we ought not to vote on the House bill.

However, I do not want to do that, because I want to see legislation of this character pass, but I do want to call the attention of those who sponsored the House bill—they are not here, of course—but I do call certain matters to the attention of my colleagues here in the Senate, that the bill we passed, Senate Bill No. 172, is by far the more complete bill and there are no mistakes or errors in that bill, but the bill we are now asked to pass upon contains an omission here that I think I ought to call to your attention. If you have the bill before you, I call your attention to page 6, of House Bill No. 602, Printer's No. 1102. That is where the big amendment starts, and as you will see on line 12, it states, "provided further that no nomination petition, nomination paper or nomination certificate shall be permitted," and so forth. Those are three distinct documents that are referred to, the nomination petition, the nomination paper and the nomination certificate.

Then you come down, on the same page 6, to lines 21 and 22, and there you have the same thing, "The authority to reject such nomination, petition, paper or certificate," and so forth. Then, at the bottom of that page, on the last line, line 29, you will find, "acceptance of such nomination petition, paper or certificate should be refused." There are always three. Then, you come to page 7, right at the top, lines 1 and 2, and you again have, "such nomination, petition, paper or certificate." On lines 12 and 13, on page 7, you have the same phraseology, "said nomination petition, paper or certificate." On line 17, on page 7, you have the same thing, "nomination petition, paper or certificate." On lines 19 and 20, you have the same. Now, on page 8, line 14, they have omitted one of them. They say, "accept and file the nomination paper or certificate." They have left out the nomination petition, which shows whoever prepared this bill over in the House did not prepare it as carefully as my colleague, Senator Walker, prepared his bill, and on which I appear as sponsor with him.

Mr. President, I think that omission ought to be inserted if we are going to vote on this bill. Of course, it is up to the members of the Senate. If you want to leave that omission in it, it is all right, but I think we ought to include that, we ought to include nomination petitions also, instead of just nomination papers or nomination certificate, and we ought to have nomination petition also included.

I just wanted to call your attention to that omission in the bill and I think it ought to be inserted before we pass the bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to join with my colleague from Fayette, Senator Cavalcante, in commenting on the sudden appearance of this bill on our calendar. In remarking on the coincidence of the exactness of the bill, I want to first say to our very distinguished President Pro Tempore that I have deeply appreciated the honor he conferred upon me early in the session when he appointed me Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General; it has been a task that was beyond my ability, but I did the best I could with the tools I had. During the course of my duties as chairman of the committee, we introduced the bill which Senator Cavalcante has discussed, and we had a public hearing on that bill. For seven hours, Mr. President, the committee—and I will say most of them stuck it out—sat there and listened to the expositions of the proponents as well as the opponents of the bill, and in oder not to be accused of unfairness, we heard the opponents of the bill first, and for hours we listened to this group of people, who admitted truthfully enough they belong to the Communist Party, attempt to tell us what was wrong with the bill.

Now, Mr. President, before we held that hearing I was full of a spirit of cooperation and I went over to the Speaker of the House and advised him that we were going to hold this hearing, and I asked the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia, who is Speaker of the House if he would appoint several members as a committee from the House to come over and sit with us in this public hearing so that they could get the benefit of all of this information and misinformation that would be supplied to us. He appointed a committee, Mr. President, and incidently, that is where I made a mistake—he appointed a committee and they came over and got all the information and they got the same ideas we had gotten, because they all appear in the bill.

I have a perfect record this year, Mr. President. I introduced a number of bills—some good and some bad; some of them got through the Senate and some of them never got out of committee. Those that managed to escape the eagle eye of the Senate and passed here are languishing in committees in the House. Not one bill bearing the name of Walker has been able to get through a House Committee. Part of that is probably due to the fact that in my vaults in the Judiciary General Committee room are a large number of House bills which are peacefully sleeping, and with any kind of luck will stay there, and in reciprocation, all the Walker bills are being sidetracked in House committees. Rather than pass a bill, Mr. President, that bears the name of Walker, or the name of Cavalcante, over in the House they took our bill and re-wrote and re-copied it and put a new name on it, a name that will appear to all of us, and sent it over to us and asked us to pass, in amended form, what we passed in the Senate as Senate Bill No. 172.

Now, Mr. President, I want to urge my colleagues not to feel pride, but to vote for this bill, because as the gentleman from Fayette has said, we are interested in putting these subversive elements off the ballot, and we have no pride of authorship, and we are not going off in a corner and pout because the House refused to pass the Cavalcante-Walker bill. We want this bill passed so we can suppress these subversive elements, and I urge all my colleagues to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. BARR. I wish to remind my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, that his memory is a little short. It seems to me one of his bills recently passed.

Mr. COLEMAN. Every now and then, Mr. President, in debate on the Senate floor there are things said, clothed in terms of ambiguity, that may be misunderstood. The Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General has made a remark, and in order to have any element of doubt removed, I desire to interrogate him.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman whether or not when he was telling about the very nice assignment he got as chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, and he said that he did the best job he could with the tools he had, I desire to know whether or not he referred to the members of that committee.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, that shows that the gentleman from Lackawanna is not on that committee. In answer to my distinguished colleague from Allegheny, my step-brother Senator Barr, may I suggest to him when Senate Bill No. 24, which bears my name, came back from the House there were only two things in the bill that were in the bill when it left the Senate, one was the number 24, and the other was the name Walker.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I feel that I would be remiss in my duty if I did not make some comment in connection with this bill, and to further advise the Senate that this body not only passed one bill of this nature but that it passed two bills of this nature, and they are both reposing in a committee of the House, Senate Bill No. 78, incidentally, passed this body and went over to the House, so that with both bills in their possession, they certainly had plenty of favorable information in drawing up a bill.

I want to vote for this bill, but I really feel we should take cognizance of the fact, as brought out by the gentleman from Fayette, and we should amend this bill to include the word "petition."

Therefore, Mr. President, I would like to ask that this bill go over, I might say, temporarily, and ask the Senator from Fayette if he would not be kind enough to prepare an amendment and have it inserted.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to call attention of the Senators to the fact that the reason this bill came over, instead of the Walker Bill, has been disclosed; in order to clear up any misapprehension on the record, the House was required to choose between two bills of a similar nature, they had to choose between the Miller Bill and the Walker-Cavalcante Bill, and they decided to bring out a bill of their own in order not to hurt the feelings of either of these gentlemen.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask uninamous consent that Senate Bill No. 1310, (House Bill No. 602), on third reading go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1311, as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, this bill and the bill following are very important ones. This bill, No. 1311, is a bill to change the law relating to public assistance. In 1937 and prior thereto, running back to the time of the beginning of relief assistance, those who were in favor of legislation along that line told the people at all times that it would be a temporary arrangement, and just as soon as times got better, the law would be changed or repealed.

Now, Mr. President, in the mind of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, that time is now here. He believes, and many other members in this body also believe, that if relief as we have it today is going to be curtailed or rooted out, no time is better than the present. We have today in the nation, and likewise in the state, a beehive of activity; everywhere industry is running full time. I saw in the paper the other evening where industry in the nation is at its high for all times.

Now, Mr. President, if we can not get rid of a certain part of our relief burden at the present time, it seems to me that the nation will never find a time when we can get rid of it. Everywhere today in the nation those who are in control of government are asking the people to do their part. Industry is calling for men and also many other lines of activities are asking for men. With those conditions prevailing, I believe that a bill of this kind should be enacted. The only people that I see today who would be employable and who would be agaisnt this bill or would be in favor of continuing relief as it is today, are those who never worked or never intend to work, and we should today, before we leave this session, pass a bill that will be the beginning at least of the rooting out of all idleness and indolence in this Commonwealth. I know in my activities in an endeavor to curtail relief I have received communications from different organizations relative to such activity; I have traced some of those down and find that those people belong to a group that do not intend to work. Pennsylvania is giving to thousands of people of that brand food, clothing, milk and money, and at the same time, Mr. President, those same people are doing everything in their power to overthrow our present democratic form of government. I have no sympathy for those people, I would give them no relief, because they are people who are able to work and they do not intend to work, they are here to get what they can while they at the same time are trying to wreck our system of government.

The reports furnished today by the Department of Public Assistance show that our relief rolls are going down daily and we are at a place where we only have, relatively speaking, a few million employables on relief. If that is the case, under this arrangement of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, we can find employment for those who are able to work in this beehive of activity today, and if we do that, the gentleman from Cambria will perhaps have money, at least more money than we have today to take care of that group that he represents, consisting of the worthy aged, the blind, the widow and the maimed. Unquestionably our government must take care of those people, because they are worthy, but to take care of the group of people in this state and in this nation that I have referred to as being of employable age and who do not intend to work, will take a process such as we have here today, courageous action on the part of the Legislature of this great state.

Relief as we know it is absolutely inconsistent with the Democratic process of government and I am glad that our President, just a few days ago, has advocated that philosophy. I saw in the paper this morning a clipping that was given to the press at a press conference yesterday or the day before by the President, bearing on this very important subject, and with the indulgence of the Senate I wish to read that into the record. Some portions of it may not be of interest, but there are certain parts of it that the Senate should have, and with your indulgence, I wish now to carefully read this into the record.

That article, Mr. President, reads as follows:

"MISSOURI WORKMAN DISCOVERS AMERICA

"Washington, July 8.—President Roosevelt today gave the American press an idea of what he means by true Americanism.

"At his press conference the President set correspondents guessing by declaring that he receives, from time to time, items in his mail which are appealing from the human interest point of view.

"And then, without further ado, the President sat back comfortably in his swivel chair and, with apparent pleasure, read a lengthy letter written with a simplicity and sincerity of an obscure Missouri foundry worker. It read:

"Dear President Roosevelt:

"I am a married man, 28-years-old; a boy 3, a girl 1. Here's how I feel about being an American.

"My ancestors were Czechosolovakians, my wife's English; but we're Americans.

"I look at my refrigerator, my heater, and my radio. I'm glad I'm an American.

"My children get cod liver oil, nourishing food, and a doctor's watchful care. They'll be glad they're Americans.

"This morning, I went to church. Amongst my neighbors, unafraid and unmolested. I thanked God for giving us America.

"I went home to my wife and kiddies. My little boy, Douglas, came running and said, 'Hi, Pop. You gonna take me to see the ribber.'

"And I said, 'Sure, Doug. I'll take you to see the river.'

"And we'll stand on the bridge, and see the cars. Pop.'

" 'Sure Doug.'

" 'Pop, see the sun. Look see, Pop. It shine in the car cars windows.'

" 'Yes, Doug, the sun's shining on all America.'

"After our walk, we came home and sat down to veal chops, baked potatoes, fresh green beans and corn on the cob. I said Grace with tears in my eyes. I'm so happy I'm an American.

"This afternoon, we listened to a radio rebroadcast of British children, here in America, talking to their parents in England, and I was proud to be an American.

"Tomorrow, I'll go to work. I work in an electrotype foundry, and I love my job. I made it in fact, from errand boy to production manager in two years. I had ideas and I told the boss about them. He's an American.

"Tonight, before going to bed, I told my wife, 'Honey, I'm going to buy a large flag and hang it out the window Friday. The President wants everyone to pledge allegiance to a new and united America. And, Honey, I'm going to do my part, because I'd rather be an American, than anything else on earth.'

"The President did not reveal the name of the writer, but said the letter was written June 29. He had the letter mimeographed and distributed to assembled correspondents, indicating his appreciation for the Missourian's simple expression of patriotism."

Mr. President, this article is headed "Missouri Workman Discovers America." That is a misstatement. This is not a new doctrine, it is an old doctrine, an old American doctrine upon which this Republic was long since founded; this is a rededication of that doctrine and the bill we have before us is in line with that philosophy.

This man certainly has expressed the American Philosophy. I quote: "and I love my job." Mr. President, you may ask where lies the seal of American democracy and I would reply in the hearts of contented American workmen. That is the philosophy upon which the Republic was built and that is the philosophy that will preserve this Republic, and it would be inconsistent to continue a state form of relief if we are to perpetuate this high and fine philosophy that the President certainly must believe in, in giving such a report to the newspaper men on July 8th.

Now, Mr. President, you may say who is going to preserve America. I say it will not be those who are indolent and lazy. I will say it will not even be the froth of American society at the top. We can dispense with that part of society and our democracy will still live. I will say we can dispense with the dregs at the bottom, the vice and the crime at the bottom, but I tell you, Mr. President and members of the Senate, we can not dispense with that fine, strong, powerful middle class in America and preserve democracy and that is why, Mr. President, it is so essential at this time to endeavor to begin a process, followed by education that will teach and instruct our young people that this relief system is not going to be with us always, that we are going back and refortify America with the old philosophy that thrift is one of the fundamentals of this great American democracy, and were this bill of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, to pass, I think we would be taking a step in that direction. It must be done sometime or our democracy falls and vanishes and it seems that now is an appropriate time to teach our young people at least that in America and in Pennsylvania we are not going to continue a philosophy which says that we need not work, that the government of your nation and the government of your state will keep you.

So, my friends, I am glad to know that we have a Senator in this body who has the courage to introduce such a bill as this, and I sincerely hope we have enough Senators in this body with American fortitude and courage sufficient to pass this bill this afternoon.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, we have heard a great deal of discussion in this session against Communists and communism and subversive activities. I believe that most of the members of this body are definitely opposed to subversive activities, I hope all the members of this body are opposed to subversive activities. We are opposed to communism and subversive activities, Mr. President, because it is a disease in the American system of government. I hope however, in thinking about and against communism, we do not fail to take into consideration other forms of subversive activities in this country. We should be opposed, and very much opposed, to all forms of subversive activity, whether it be Communism, Nazism, or Fascism.

Last evening over the radio there came a report that Nazi Germany was spending four hundred million dollars annually in the Americas for the purpose of promoting their kind of government and their doctrines. Mr. President, that is bad enough, but when, in addition to that, we have a system in this Commonwealth which pays individuals monthly salaries so that they can go about and do that same kind of thing, it seems to me something radical must be done.

It is my opinion, Mr. President, in accordance with what Senator Reed has said, that we will never reach that point in this Commonwealth or in this country until we can get the American people and the American citizens again back to a belief in individual initiative instead of paternalistic ideas. It is also my belief, Mr. President, that in this Department of Public Assistance there are a great number of those individuals who may be visitors or junior visitors or whatever their classification might be, who are day by day going into the homes of the unfortunate, where the soil is fertile for the promotion and sowing of these subversive ideas, day by day, although being paid by the Commonwealth, a part of these great United States of America, and at the same time while accepting that money are sowing in the minds of those unfortunates the seeds of discontent.

I am certain, Mr. President, that there are many decent and many good people who are in the Department of Public Assistance, but I am also certain that there are many of those who are in that department protected by civil service who can do an untold amount of harm and damage to this nation, to the kind of government which we have, in such a subtle way, by not coming out into the open, and because of their civil service protection, that there is nothing else we can do and for that reason, Mr. President, I ask the members of this Senate to vote in favor of both of these bills which have been sponsored by Dr. Woodward.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree that many of us would like to see a change in the Department of Public Assistance. I believe, early in this session, I made a statement it was my belief that a more proper system would be one to put the unemployables in the Department of Welfare. That is exactly what Dr. Woodward does in this bill, but he does something else in the bill and I do not know whether many of the Senators realize exactly what is happening. He takes the position that from the time this bill passes and it becomes a law there are no longer any persons in Pennsylvania who are employable and still in need. I do not believe the defense program has yet reached that point of industrial production where it has taken up all the employable persons in Pennsylvania.

I suggested earlier in the session that we divide all relief recipients into two classes, the employables and the unemployables, and put the unemployables in the Department of Welfare, where I believe they belong. You would cut down thousands of dollars of administrative costs, you would put that into a department that is properly set up to handle that particular type of relief. Then, Mr. President, put the employables, persons who are employable, under the jurisdiction of the Department of Labor in the Bureau of Employment. In every city of any size you have an employment agency run by the state. Why cannot that department take charge of unemployed persons who are employable?

This bill deliberately says employable persons can not receive relief any longer. I want to say that I too am proud to be an American such as the man who wrote the letter to the President, but I am proud not only for the reasons that man gave; I am proud to be an American because during the years of the depression this government of ours provided food and clothing and housing for our less fortunate members; I am proud to be an American because we fed our unemployed persons, and I think in our list of reasons for being proud we could pretty nearly put that claim to the top of the list. There is nothing closer to godliness than charity and it is charity when you give to those individuals, to those who are unemployed and have not anything.

Mr. President, I do not think this state has reached a position where every person who wants a job can get one, and yet that is the assumption in this bill. I say if Dr. Woodward will take and add that feature to the bill it will be a more substantial piece of legislation, and workable. As it is now, under this bill, suppose we pass this bill, what are you going to do about persons who are unemployed and who still can be considered employable persons? Read the section of the bill that covers unemployables. On page 4, in determining what he would receive, it says, "Unemployable means an indigent person who bacause of physical or mental infirmity needs public assistance to enable him to maintain for himself and his dependents a decent and healthful standard of living."

I want to say to you there are a great many persons who do not come under that classification who still are entitled to relief. I have always fought against those who say that Americans are lazy, that Americans want relief because they will not work. There may be a small percentage, but I will venture to say to you that if you can provide the jobs I will get the people that will take them. I do not have any trouble in getting people to work. I have heard said on the Senate floor you can not get them to work. You do not see any signs hanging out anywhere "Help Needed", do you? Certainly there are people that do not care to work, there are people in the Senate that do not work as hard as they should.

I want to say to all of you here now that this bill is a bad piece of legislation in its present form; under the guise of doing a good thing the bill deliberately does a very bad thing. If you are willing to say that you have jobs for all the persons in Pennsylvania who want them and you are going to have jobs for them for the next two years, then perhaps I would go along with you and be glad to help by voting for this bill, but suppose this war is over in the near future—it is not beyond reason to say that this war may finish up suddenly this fall or this winter, and we might enter the same sort of a serious depression, when you would find thousands of employable persons out of work again, and if this bill is then in effect and part of the laws of this Commonwealth, what are you going to do with them? You have got to feed them to preserve the very thing you are proud of, to preserve the democratic form of government. If you want to know what breeds Communism and Fascism and Nazism, it is persons in need who can not get help, dissatisfied fathers and mothers of families who see their neighbor's children well fed and well dressed and well housed, and they themselves, because of no reason whatsoever for which they can have anything to do with, can not feed and can not clothe and can not house their own family.

I want to say again and again that so long as I am able I want to pay taxes to help those who need help. I would much rather be in a position of crying about being overtaxed than having to sit around and cry because I was underfed. I want to say that when a person is overtaxed he is never underfed.

I perhaps can not agree with some of you in your philosophy but I will tell you frankly that this bill starts out to do the right thing. I agree with Dr. Woodward. I agree that the unemployables ought to be put in the Department of Welfare, I agree that is the proper department to handle them; I agree the Department of Public Assistance is a bad thing; it is a department of government that we do not need; we have sufficient departments to handle relief in Pennsylvania. We are burdening the taxpayer with additional administrative costs that never should have been put on them. If I remember rightly I said the same thing when that bill passed; I was against it from the beginning and I am more against it today, but Doctor Woodward must admit, if he says no longer will any person who is employable be entitled to relief, then he is assuming that all employables can find jobs, and that is a point I can not agree with. I do not believe all employables can find jobs yet, I do not believe for the next two years they will be able to find jobs. You assume the next two years are going to be years of prosperity and that every employable person can find a job. If that is the case then the bill ought to be voted for, but if that is not the case the bill ought either to be amended or defeated.

Mr. WOODWARD. I would like to answer that objection, Mr. President, and I admit the truth of a great deal of what the Senator from Westmoreland has said. It is very difficult to draw a hard line without doing an apparent injustice.

In the first place, the bill does not go into effect until January 1, 1943, and in the second place, what the Senator I think overlooked is that even the county boards will not allow these employable persons to starve. The county boards are clothed with considerable power and certainly if they have any sense at all they will look after certain cases of employable persons, and not kick them off relief until there is some employment found for them.

I think the Senator ought to realize those two things, first that it is very difficult to draw a line without making it appear unjust, and in the second place he ought to give some credit to the sense and good judgment of the county boards in this matter.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not think it helps the question covered in this bill by discussing Communism, or Fascism; I think that rather beclouds the issue. There are two bills. One of them deals with the subject of who is the person entitled to relief, and the second amends the administrative code to set up machinery in the Department of Welfare to carry out the terms of this bill.

I find in this session such inconsistencies as make me hesitate which way to turn. We have just gotten through a series of conferences for the purpose of attempting to settle the fiscal problems of the Commonwealth. In those conferences we were told by the Republican Party that it was necessary to establish a W.P.A., and my first reaction was a shock to find that the party which had traditionally opposed the W.P.A. now found it necessary to sponsor it. In the discussion concerning W.P.A., when it was suggested that W. P. A. was a necessity, I suggested the W.P.A. was dwindling in both federal and state, in view of the national emergency program, which would result in expenditures this year of over seventeen billion dollars and next year of over twenty-three billion dollars as against one billion, seven hundred million dollars last year, and I was told even that would not help the state and would not take up all of the employables because the dropping off on W.P.A. would creates a condition in Pennsylvania that would make necessary provisions for those persons who are willing to work but as yet can not get work.

The figures are that we have 108,000 cases on relief now, including what are called categorical relief, which I think is mother's assistance, old age pensions and blind pensions, and of those 108.000 there are at least 50,000 who are unemployable. There are two kinds of unemployables, those who are physically unfit and those who are so old—not entitled to old age pensions by virtue of years and limitations, but so old industry will not take them unless they can not get other more productive employes.

Now, with 50,000 taken from 108,000, we have 58,000 who are now on relief in Pennsylvania. In 1940, in January, the federal government was spending $17,000,000 per month in Pennsylvania for relief by way of public works, that is, W.P.A. That amount has dwindled now to somewhere around $9,000,000 per month. Pennsylvania is spending around $7,000,000 per month; that means that $16,000,000 per month is being spent in order to take care of persons who do not have employment. Fifty thousand of those persons will never be able to be employed, or if they are able to be employed they will be employed only on makeshift work.

Do you decide that problem by deciding to pass an act which does only two things—and that is the effect of this act, to do two things; one is to transfer whatever relief will be given to the Department of Welfare, and the other is to say that only those persons who are physically unable to work, physically handicapped, shall be the persons who will receive assistance, through the Department of Welfare instead of the Department of Public Assistance.

I am quite sure that will not solve the problem; I am quite sure you do not answer the problem by throwing some of those people off, when the Governor of this Commonwealth says that the notices he is receiving from the federal government indicate that there will be very shortly around sixty thousand persons dropped from the W.P.A. rolls, who will of course have to be taken up either by industry or by relief. In either event there will be thousands of people on the relief rolls for several years to come. Those who will not be employable will be on relief either through the Department of Welfare, under this bill, or the Department of Public Assistance.

I say the inconsistency of it gets me dizzy. The Governor says he must have a W.P.A. to take up the burden that will be imposed upon us by this additional number of men who would be otherwise thrown on relief. The Senate says we ought to throw those fellows not on relief—but where? Obviously what this bill means is to throw them on the county, because the only comfort they can get under this bill from the local public assistance board; is that which is provided in the act, namely they shall try to get them a job; there is not another word in that bill—and I have read it from beginning to end—which imposes any further duty on the local public assistance boards, except to try to get them a job.

When they try earnestly and sincerely and do not get them jobs, what will happen? The state has no funds, because this bill says the state does not pay, so the localities are obliged to pay. The cost in Philadelphia today, rather before today, ran as high as $460,000 to $560,000 a week. Philadelphia has not been in a position to carry that burden for years and will not be even in prosperous times able to carry that burden. At present it runs somewheres around $250,000. The condition in other localities is not any better. I do not hear of any localities reducing the tax rate, and that is indicative of the fact—national defense or no national defense—they still have that burden. Why? Because their costs are advancing and their requirements will be excessive.

I think the motive behind this bill is a good one, or rather I should the cause that gives rise to the theory of this bill is a good one. It seems to me that it has been expressed by the gentleman from Philadelphia on a number of occassions, and by others in various ways, and it is this that the Department of Public Assistance is composed of a group of people who make this their business. They do not make it a duty to try to take these people off the lists; it is to their interests to increase their clients, as they call them, for the purpose of perpetuating themselves in their jobs. There is no doubt that criticism is justified from the facts we have had. Today, even though relief expenditures have dropped from twelve million dollars, the high mark, to around seven million dollars, the administrative costs run very close to what they did on the twelve million dollar level. In other words, on the twelve million dollar basis the administration costs fluctuated between eight and nine hundred thousand dollars. Today it is between $780,000 and $850,000, although relief monies expended in dollars and cents are practically fifty per cent.

While it is true, though, that there is justifiable criticism, the question is: are you going to have any less criticism, by transferring this same group of employes, who are protected under civil service under the same methods in this Department of Welfare as they are under the Department of Public Assistance? Will you eradicate the cause by transferring that group? I do not see how you would do so.

I would be more inclined in favor of a bill which would do what I have said for years: place in charge of this $120,000,000 or $240,000,000—because that is what it is—the same type of indivdual, some capable, experienced business man such as any other industry would place in charge of his important business departments. We pay a man ten or twelve thousand dollars a year to manage a $250,000,000 business and we do not place in charge, even at that salary, a man who has had business experience; we take men who have trained themselves in psychology and in all forms of human welfare, without ever having any contact with actual business, the actual functions of business, and we give them the responsibility of handling these millions of dollars, and they surround themselves with theorists who also have never had any personal or practical experience. You do not, as I say, solve the problem by transferring them from one department to another. I would vote in favor of a bill which would spend fifty thousand dollars for a single man, take him out of some industry, one of those large companies, and place him in charge of this, a man with a heart, not necessarily with social service experience, but one who would apply the common sense to this business that he would to any other business, and then you would get the result of being able to remove persons that you and I feel we are able to identify as incompetent but who are properly on the list, because I think that type of a business man would be just as able to select proper persons as those we have, but even then you will not solve the problem, which will remain with you, because I still say the Department of Welfare is no more competent to handle this than is the Department of Public Assistance and I still say that it is of sufficient importance and size, even with the unemployables, so that it requires the attention of a single person.

Remember this: today the cost of unemployables in this Commonwealth runs up to four million dollars a month, $48,000,000 a year, or approximately one hundred million dollars a biennium. Now, Mr. President, if you had a business of a hundred million dollars a biennium transferred to the Department of Welfare, do you think you would get it more competently administered, do you think you would get rid of the reliefers? I do not think so. Our experience has not been such, because we first had it in what we called the S.E.R.R. That was another department which I think was under the Department of Welfare, if my recollection serves me correctly. We separated it not because we wanted to get the social service workers but because we thought we would get more efficient attention to it.

The fact that there are Communists on the pay roll is no reflection on the system, but on the managers of the system. The fact there is no provision in the law to correct that is not a reflection on the system, but either on the legislators or the managers of the system.

I am quite sure if I had an active Communist on my pay roll I would not wait for an act of legislature or any civil service provisions because that would not bother me, and we would be able to get rid of him because there is nothing in the present civil service law, properly interpreted, which prevents the dismissal of any person who has subversive doctrines.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I suggest the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, is not speaking on the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am talking about this, because if this bill passes, and passes the House, you are going to upset the program which has been agreed upon. That is the last subject on which I would like to talk.

We have the Department of Public Assistance, the law governing which is to be amended by giving the Department of Public Assistance the right to create W. P. A. projects. If this bill passes, while you may tell me it does not become effective until 1943, I do not know how long this W. P. A. is going to be effective, and if this bill passes, I do not know what effect it will have on the program. In any event, you are answering your Governor by saying to him, "we do not need any W. P. A.; why we are going to throw these fellows off relief. You do not need a W. P. A. You do not have to bother about the law, the counties are going to take care of them." Now, stripped of a lot of the verbiage, this bill in effect does this: it says to the counties, get ready to take care of all your relief cases when the effective date of this act arrives, and it also says to the Department of Welfare, you now take over these social service workers who have been called by various names here, you take them over and you have the headache, and then we will get rid of this man, Russell, whom some of us may not like.

In closing, Mr. President, I want to say this, in fairness to Mr. Russell, who is in charge of that department, knows his business within his own limitations, and when I say that I mean the limitations that are imposed upon people who make that work their life study. He is a capable person in his way, in his work; I mean he has always been thoroughly honest with every member of this Legislature, he knows his facts and his figures, and you will never be able to get a better man as long as you choose from that type, but if you want to correct the condition, correct it by placing in charge a business man.

Let us not fool ourselves about this bill. I do not think this bill is going to pass the House, I do not think the Governor would sign this bill, but I do feel the whole subject is of sufficient importance that it should be discussed as it has been discussed here today, but I hope it will be discussed without bringing in Communists and Nazis and all the rest of the world. That has nothing to do with the problem we have before us.

Mr. President, I am going to ask those members of this Senate who agree with me to record their opinion on the matter by voting "no" on this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am informed there is to be a dinner tonight; I would like to speak on this bill, but if there is to be a recess, I shall be glad to yield.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I shall try to be very brief. The inhumanity of man to man has always been a mystery to me, and I have always been bewildered, but at this time I certainly am bewildered to see the inhumanity of man to man.

I can not see how the men in this Senate can sincerely vote for this bill if they read it. I say that sincerely, without any malice, because I think this is the most important bill we have had on our Calendar for many days, affecting the rank and file.

As pointed out by my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, the Governor is asking us for a Little W.P.A. Now, under this bill, a person must be indigent, mentally or physically; up until the present time, he must be indigent but not mentally or physically. Therefore, no person who is sane or able bodied, regardless of age, will have an opportunity of getting relief. So, how is it possible to run your Little W. P. A.? A person must be employable to get relief, and then he is assigned to W. P. A. Under this act, if he is employable he can not get relief. It just does not make sense. You are affecting many many thousands of persons, and as I have said to you, you have thousands upon thousands of men and women who never again will be called back to private industry, broken down miners, as I have stated this afternoon, farmers, mill workers who are still employable, but who because of previous injuries can not pass the physical test to be called back into private industry. They are employables, but under the act not permissible to be given relief.

Gentleman, I trust that you men who come from communities where you have poor people will at this time forget your party lines and vote "no" on this most important measure.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1312, as follows:

An Act to add section 2321 to the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by providing for the administration of public assistance by the Department of Welfare providing for the appointment by the Governor of an Employment Board and defining its powers and duties conferring additional powers on the State Welfare Commission providing for a civil service system for the employes of the Department of Welfare and Local Boards engaged in public assistance work and repealing the provisions of this act relating to the Department of Public Assistance

Section 1 The act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" is hereby amended by adding thereto section 2321 to read as follows

Section 2321 Public Assistance And Its Administration (a) As used in this section "assistance" means assistance as defined by the Public Assistance Law "local board" means a board established by law and authorized to provide assistance in one or more counties

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1317, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and section one of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 707), entitled "An act fixing the liability of the counties, poor districts, and the Commonwealth for the support of the indigent and partly indigent insane in State institutions," by reviving the provisions of said act for a limited period of time; further fixing the liability of counties, institution districts and the Commonwealth; and conforming the title and the act to existing law

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE BILL No. 1310, (HOUSE BILL No. 602), ON THIRD READING CALLED UP

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 1310, (House Bill No. 602), on third reading, which went over in its order, on page 11 of the Calendar.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1310, (House Bill No. 602), entitled:

An Act to amend sections eight hundred one and nine hundred seventy-six of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. SENATE BILL No. 598 CALLED UP ON THIRD READING

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 598, on third reading, page 5 of the Calendar, which went over in its order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 598, entitled:

An Act to add section two thousand two and one-tenths to the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for cooperation with other agencies in furthering national defense programs and activities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to Amend title, page 1, last line on page, by inserting after the word "cooperation" the following: "of State Teachers Colleges, at the request of the State Council of Defense"; Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 2002.1), page 2, line 23, by striking out the word "The" and inserting in lieu thereof: "At the request of the State Council of Defense, the"; Amend sec. 2, page 3, line 8, by striking out the word "until" and inserting in lieu thereof: "during the present emergency and not later than".

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lancaster if these amendments are as a result of a conference at which I understood representatives of the Liberal Arts Colleges were in attendance, and the amendments resulted from that conference, on which everybody was in agreement.

Mr. HOMSHER. Yes sir. They correspond with amendments as brought to me by representatives of the Liberal Arts Colleges.

There was a conference held today by representatives of the State Council of Education, Committee of State Teacher's Colleges, State Council of Defense, representatives of Selective Service, representatives of the Libral Arts Colleges, and representatives of the Department of Education. Representatives of the Liberal Arts Colleges brought to me these amendments on which they had agreed; later, the Department of Public Instruction sent amendments to me and they conformed with the amendments of the Liberal Arts Colleges.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Lancaster tell me the names of the representatives of the Liberal Arts Colleges?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the names of the representatives were:

Dr. E. V. Stanford, President of Villanova College;

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, President of Gettysburg College;

Dr. Fred P. Corson, President of Dickinson College;

Dr. C. C. Leslies, President of Juniata College;

Dr. C. C. Williams, President of Lehigh University;

Dr. R. H. Revenberg, Vice President of Bucknell University; and

Dr. Frank Davis, Bucknell University.

The conference also was attended by Dr. Marts, executive director of the State Council of Defense, and Mr. D. L. Helffreich, Chairman of the State Council of Education, and also a representative of Ursinus College.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Chair understand that was at the request of the State Council of Defense?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lancaster, said that Dr. Marts, Executive Director of the State Council of Defense. was one of the conferees.

Mr. President, my understanding is that among the names read as representatives of the Liberal Arts Colleges, was the name of Dr. Marts, whom I believe is also Executive Director of the State Council of Defense.

The PRESIDENT. That is perfectly all right, if he is talking for the college, but not if he is speaking for the Council of Defense, because the State Council of Defense has not had a meeting for six weeks.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lancaster was not representing that Dr. Marts was there on behalf of the State Council of Defense. He mentioned the name of Dr. Marts, as vice-president of Bucknell College.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 598, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is ther objection? The Chair hears none.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:30 o'clock, E. S. T.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1327, (House Bill No. 1952), entitled:

An Act fixing the salary of the Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING GOVERNOR TO SET ASIDE MAY 3RD AS "CORN FLOWER DAY" IN HONOR OF POLISH WAR VETERANS

Mr. MILLER, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to which was referred on June 23, 1941, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same with amendments as follows, viz:

In the House of Representatives, May 20, 1941.

Whereas, The Polish Army Veterans' Association of America is an organization of veterans composed of the Polish Army, who enlisted as volunteers in 1917 and 1918, from the United States, for service with the Polish forces in France and in Poland; and

Whereas, By special permission of the State and War Departments, and by proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson, the Polish Military Commission was authorized to recruit from among the Poles in the United States Volunteers for the army, after this country entered as a participant in the World War on the side of the Allies; and

Whereas, In addition to the 250,000 soldiers of Polish extraction, who served in the AEF, the Poles contributed some 27,000 volunteers for service with the Polish Army in France who trained at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario at Fort Niagara, N. Y.; and

Whereas, Ninety per cent. of these men saw service in France in 1918 and later in Poland in 1919 and 1920, and upon termination of hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia, they were returned to the United States, under an agreement between this country and Poland; and

Whereas, In May 1921, the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America was formed in Cleveland, Ohio, for the sole purpose of aiding the physically disabled and otherwise incapacitated veterans; and

Whereas, The task that lay before the founders and succeeding leaders of the organization was tremendous, in as much as neither the American nor the Polish governments felt any responsibility for the care of these unfortunates, for purely technical reasons; and

Whereas, With each succeeding year, the need for aid for these disabled veterans has grown; and

Whereas, This association has found a method of raising funds by adopting the corn flower as its official flower, and selling it on the highways in a manner similar to that in which poppies are now sold; be it therefore

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to issue a proclamation setting aside May 3, 1942, and May 3rd of all succeeding years, as "Corn Flower Day," so that the corn flower may be sold by the Polish Army Veterans' Association of America, and the proceeds of such sales applied to the maintenance and upkeep of disabled Polish war veterans.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1127, (House Bill No. 1328), entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne will proceed.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I realize the members of the Senate are probably tired of listening to members talk, but I want to invite their attention to the big type headlines in one of the Philadelphia papers, which says "Eight Miners Were Shot and That Rioting Spreads in the Pottsville Area."

Mr. President, a situation has developed in the town of Donaldson, sixteen miles outside of Pottsville, which has become a very serious one, serious in the fact that as I develop the situation here on the floor I want to prove to the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania that this serious situation has developed with full knowledge of the Superintendent of the State Police of Pennsylvania, with full knowledge of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, and with full knowledge of the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania.

This rioting today has brought forth a very important point in the government of the State of Pennsylvania. The point developed, and the question now asked, is any property or any equity in anything in Pennsylvania worth anything? If the sovereign State of Pennsylvania refuses to give to people who own property proper protection, after they have requested that protection through proper channels, are we to deduce the fact that the present government of Pennsylvania has taken the stand that it has ceased and will no longer afford protection to industry of all types and permit that industry to conduct its business along its usual lines?

Mr. President, the coal properties in question, where the rioting occurred today, were acquired in a proper manner under due process of law. The Reading Coal and Iron Company, due to the economic depression in the anthracite region was forced, as you all know, to go into bankruptcy and, functioning under Section 77-B of the bankruptcy act, it was thought wise in the reorganization to let go of certain parcels of property, and so under proper legal direction, certain companies were formed and certain parcels of property were turned over to those companies, which sold them at public auction to individual buyers.

Mr. President, these properties in Donaldson were bought in this manner and were paid for in good American dollars. The man who purchased these properties had confidence in Pennsylvania and in the executive branch of the Pennsylvania government to the extent that these men invested heavily to the extent of putting several millions of dollars in improvements in these properties, in building breakers and in opening mines. These men were careful to conform to the fact that only union labor was employed in and about these operations, and these operations today have the full sanction of the United Mine Workers of America.

Because of certain economic conditions, of which I have spoken several times on this floor, there has developed in and about Schuylkill County a free lance mining system in which men out of employment pick out a section of those coal lands and start small mining operations. In an investigation that occurred up in that county it was found that these so called free lance miners themselves hardly eked out an existence in this mining, but there have come from outside into this community a great many promoters, high pressure promoters, who have built breakers and who have taken this coal from free lance miners and prepared it for the market, and the only money that is made is made by those outside promoters who sell the coal at a reduced rate in the metropolitan centers and at the markets at tidewater.

As a result of that situation these men who purchased these lands, realizing conditions up there, tried to afford and give an opportunity of employment to all of those in the immediate vicinity. There are probably, as a result of these operations, I am reliably informed, about six people left in the town of Donaldson who today are unemployed. On several occasions groups ranging anywhere from two hundred to today, I am now informed, fifteen or eighteen hundred men, have gathered and in riotous fashion have seized these works, have destroyed expensive equipment and have threatened bodily injuries to men employed in and about them.

As a result of this the men who have their money invested in these properties, and believing they are in a legitimate business, first appealed to the sheriff of Schuylkill County, and the sheriff informed them he was unable to cope with the situation, and they pressed him still further for the protection that they thought was due to them as heavy taxpayers in that community, and the sheriff on numerous occasions, by telegram, by personal letter and by visit to the office of the superintendent of the State Police, to the office of the Attorney General, and to the office of the Governor of Pennsylvania, fully apprised them all of the situation, and still no aid was forthcoming. Again, and on five distinct occasions, this appeal was made through the sheriff, and nobody came to their aid to protect these properties.

Finally, in desperation, the situation was called to my attention and, gentlemen of the Senate, I wrote a letter to the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, asking him if it was true that the sheriff of Schuylkill County had appealed to him and to the Governor's office and if it was not possible in the State of Pennsylvania somewhere to get the protection for this operation which I believe they justly deserve. I wrote another letter, a personal letter, to the Governor of Pennsylvania, setting forth the same facts. I was surprised and astounded when I received a very fine and a very courteous letter from the Attorney General of Pennsylvania, acknowledging the facts but saying to me in his letter the matter had been taken entirely out of his hands, that the Governor of Pennsylvania himself had taken over the personal direction of this affair.

My letter was sent, of which I retain a copy and I shall submit it to the Senate—unfortunately this occurred today and I do not have my correspondence with me, but I have copies of the letter and a copy of the letter returned from the Attorney General, which I will submit to you—but up to this date neither the Governor of Pennsylvania nor any one in his office has been courteous enough to answer the letter I sent to him.

Now, gentlemen, to deny the fact that that high once —we might say that would be responsible for execution of constituted law—was notified in the State of Pennsylvania on many occasions, and by me personally, and apprised of the entire situation, if they deny that, when I shall produce to you the proof that those people are not telling you the truth about the situation today, of which they were warned.

You gentlemen can not tell me that anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania eighteen hundred people—eighteen hundred men—can assemble from other areas to an area extending over a hundred fifty miles, and come by truck and by other means of conveyance, and meet at a certain point, without full knowledge of the state police of the State of Pennsylvania, and I tell you, gentlemen, without fear of contradiction, I know the state police of Pennsylvania were apprised of the fact that this was going to occur yesterday, but they stood idly by and became accessories before and after the fact of having eleven of our citizens shot down and about fifty-two of them injured, in the hospital.

The question that we have to decide is this, we who sit here day after day making and formulating laws, and this condition of lack of execution occurs, then we are truly wasting our time in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, and for us to come back here and go through this mockery of reading into the statute certain laws, when we have an executive department over there which refuses to carry them out, and when you permit this thing to start, the time is coming when none of your property, not a single bit of property that any man owns—if that is permitted to go on—will be safe under Pennsylvania law, because they have taught by their absence of action, by their staying away from the situation, they have taugnt those people up there to disrespect that law, because they think there is no law enforcement.

Mr. President, if there is any political significance in this you will at least give me credit for this, that I come on this floor after having taken into consideration all these facts and say to you the primary importance in the State of Pennsylvania is this, it is the thing that the Republican majority of Pennsylvania has always boasted as its cardinal principle, that you shall protect industry and that you shall protect money invested, and that you shall give to them the proper police protection for which they have paid in good American dollars, in taxes, to continue this form of government, and if you do not do that, and if we do not get any execution, then you must admit we deserve the whole thing, there will be dissolution and no property in Pennsylvania will have any source from which to seek succor or to ask help in the pursuit of its manufacturing and its industrial endeavor.

Gentlemen, I have read the columns of the metropolitan papers, scare headlines and editorials, condemning Communism here in America, looking under the seats of the benches seeking out some Communistic movement. We have accused school teachers down in Philadelphia, and in other districts, of being guilty of Communism and teaching to the younger generation Communistic theories, and yet we put ourselves in the paradoxical position, right within the shadow of the Capitol, right within the Dome of the Capitol at Harrisburg, where the executive and the executive form of government tolerates not Communism but tolerates absolute anarchy in the State of Pennsylvania. You can speak about your whiskey rebellion or any of those other things that have occurred in Pennsylvania, but there were men then with courage and with the intestinal fortitude to go out and suppress those things, and I tell you today the time is coming, regardless of political significance, when the Executive Department has got to march up into Schuylkill County, or any other county where these things arise, and say to those gentlemen we shall do everything in the world to provide you with employment, give you honest employment, we shall do everything in the world to see that you are fed and that you are clothed, but at the same time we shall make you live up to the law, we shall make you conform to the statutes of Pennsylvania, and this sovereign State of Pennsylvania will not tolerate anarchy on the part of any of its citizens within the borders and confines of this great state.

Gentlemen, if you do not think this is a real serious proposition confronting the State of Pennsylvania, I would suggest that you go up into that area and make an investigation of the situation that is confronting them. There are many reports avaliable from commissions that have been sent up there, data has been brought in to a commission of the Senate or to the executive office, but not one single act was done to correct it.

Let us not condemn the Governor of Pennsylvania only in this instance of absentia of action: Mr. Pinchot passed this up—it was thrown on his desk and he passed it up, he did not have the courage to act, and let me say about our Democratic Governor, George Earle, it was presented to him and he did not have the courage to go in there and clear this thing up, and now it is back, forcibly back in the hands of the present executive of Pennsylvania, and he fails to act, and I am asking you, the Senate of Pennsylvania, whether you have the courage to take this situation in hand and go up there and stamp out anarchy before we destroy our constituted form of government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, after listening to my colleague from Luzerne, I believe that every man in this Senate realizes the seriousness of this situation. This is primarily a government based upon laws, laws that govern the actions of all of us. When we have an utter disregard of law by citizens, coupled with a lack of courage on the part of those who are responsible for the enforcement of the laws on the statute books, we have, as has truly been said by the Senator from Luzerne, and so ably said, a state of anarchy.

I deem it important and serious enough that this Senate should immediately consider the adoption of a resolution calling for an immediate investigation by members of this Senate. It is our job; it must be done because those who are charged with the responsibility of doing it have failed to do so.

Any time that two thousand persons can gather in any given section of this state and take over private property when they are not connected in any manner whatsoever with that private property, as former employes or as employes, when they can destroy the means of production at that particular place, I say that we have entered a very serious time, and a crisis. There are in the anthracite regions, according to figures that have been given to us, between forty and sixty thousand so-called illegal bootleg miners. If we permit this thing to go unnoticed without some action on the part of this Senate, after it has been called to our attention by a member of this Senate, then we say to forty to sixty thousand bootleg coal miners that you can do your own free will, choose your time, and destroy legal operations in the anthracite without fear of repercussions on the part of the chief executive or on the part of the state police, or on the part of the local police.

So to you, gentlemen of the Senate, I present you here with a resolution, simple in its form, calling for an unbiased impartial investigation, with facts only, there are no political sections added in any of the whereas clauses, and I ask, Mr. President, that this resolution be read. Every member of the Senate has a copy on his desk.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPOINTMENT OF SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE RIOTING IN DONALDSON, SCHUYLKILL COUNTY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 9, 1941.

Whereas, Newspaper dispatches appearing in late newspapers this afternoon and evening carry an account of a civil disturbance in the Town of Donaldson in Schuylkill County; and

Whereas, It is reported that shooting took place between guards of an operating coal company and a number of rioters estimated at between five hundred and fifteen hundred; and

Whereas, This disturbance is serious and far reaching, and one in which many issues are involved, and, because of the urgency and seriousness of the situation, it is imperative that an immediate and thorough investigation be made by this Senate; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate name an investigating committee of five members of this Senate to determine the actual and true facts connected with this disturbance, and make a report immediately with appropriate recommendations based upon their findings to the President of the Senate and the Governor of the commonwealth.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of this resolution, and in doing so I want to state that I am not objecting because I do not believe what our colleague, Dr. Mundy has said, or what our colleague, Senator Dent has said about the seriousness of this situation and the necessity for protecting property in this Commonwealth and in this nation. However, Mr. President, there are proper law enforcing and investigating agencies experienced in making investigations, and therefore in all probability, more capable of making a thorough and proper investigation than any committee, of any size, consisting of members of this Senate.

Mr. President, this might seem to be a rather anamolous situation, to find Democratic Senators taking the floor of this Senate, alarmed at what they find taking place in this Commonwealth, because, Mr. President, the history not only of this Commonwealth but of this nation for the past several years, on the part of New Deal Democratic Party in this Nation and in this Commonwealth, has been one which could only lead to such situations as this which we are told has occurred.

We have read, Mr. President, in the newspapers for years now of situations quite similar to this situation; we have read of rioting, blood shed, disorder all over this Nation, Mr. President, finding that public officials stood idly by and, as a matter of fact they were rather spurred on in that idleness by the Chief Executive of this Nation—not of this Commonwealth.

Even during the period of this defense program, Mr. President, we read day after day of the urgent need of production, and at the same time, in the same papers, magazines and booklets we read of the violations of the law, the riots, the disturbances, the stoppage of production which our colleague, Senator Dent, so deplores, not, Mr. President, only affecting some local community but affecting this great nation in its defense program, and what, Mr. President, has been done by the New Deal Administration in endeavoring to curb those activities? All over this nation, Mr. President, we have had strikes which stopped production in connection with our national defense, and we were advised by the administration at Washington, and others of the same party, that these strikes and stoppages are proper because they are conducted by union members, but the strange part, Mr. President, after these strikes took place for some period of time and an investigation was made into the circumstances surrounding these strikes, the report came back in almost every instance that the strikes were not the work or the will of honest working men in the ranks of union labor, but those strikes, as indicated by the reports of the investigations, were in almost every instance, Mr. President, instigated and led by known Communists in this country.

Mr. President, I agree with Dr. Mundy, I agree that this is a most deplorable situation. There is one bright spot, however, as I see it, and that is we find now public officials, at least a few of them, of the New Deal Party who are beginning to realize just where their tactics and policies have led the citizens of this nation. They apparently, Mr. President, are beginning to realize that there is a limit to everything. They apparently now are becoming somewhat alarmed at this condition of disorder, law violations and bloodshed in this country, and that I say, Mr. President, is a very very bright spot in this situation, because of more of their number will realize that as they now probably do, this rioting and bloodshed will not continue in this nation, or in this state, or in any sub-division of this Commonwealth very long.

Not many weeks ago, Mr. President, this same kind of situation existed in Pittsburgh, where we were able to observe, Mr. President, that the police force under a Democratic administration stood idly by while a hospital was picketed. Just imagine, Mr. President, suffering people in that hospital, unable to secure the care, the assistance and the attention that they needed in their suffering and their agony, because a Democratic administration allowed its law enforcement agencies, and directed them in fact, to stand idly by and permit individuals to stop those who were bent upon administering to the sick and the suffering.

Mr. President, I am sorry that this situation has occurred in Schuylkill County; I am sorry for the families of the persons who are involved, but sometimes, Mr. President, it takes very alarming, distressing and unfortunate situations and circumstances to bring the right people to their right senses, and I hope since this thing has happened, and, therefore, nothing that we do here tonight can make it unhappen, since it has happened, I trust it will at least have the beneficial effect of causing a continuation of the kind of thinking which apparently has been started on the other side, so that we can again bring back to this great great Commonwealth and to this great Nation the kind of decency, law and order and American citizenship that we should have never been without.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, as a representative of Schuylkill County in the Senate, I of course regret the unfortunate occurrence in my county. The only information I have as yet is what I have read in the newspapers. I am hoping that as usual the newspaper story is an exaggeration of what actually did happen.

Now, Mr. President, this story that Dr. Mundy has unfolded before the Senate is not something that has happened in the last couple of months; the story of the independent bootleg miner is something that has been in existence for years. In Schuylkill County particularly, and its neighboring county of Northumberland, this free lance mining, perhaps, is concentrated. I might say that during the administration of Governor Earle, during his four years in office, bootleg mining received encouragement that led to its ultimate strength. I recall a picture on the front page of the Philadelphia Record, a picture of the then Governor of Pennsylvania, with his arms around independent miners in Schuylkill County, and the then Governor of Pennsylvania himself saying to them, "Go ahead, boys, it is virgin coal, go and get it." I recall, too, as Dr. Mundy talked about—being in such favor of law enforcement and criticizing the present administration for its failure to come to the succor of this present operator—I recall when that gallery was filled with the so-called hunger marching Communists, I recall when they were singing here in the Halls of the Senate "The Internationale" of Communistic Russia, and I remember that then Senator Mundy was kowtowing to the gallery; and I remember in 1939 when the administration introduced a measure here in the Senate—whether or not that measure would have done what it was intended to do, I do not know, but at least its purpose was to eliminate the so-called independent mining—and at that time the gallery was filled with citizens from my county, good citizens, members of this group known as independent miners, and Senator Mundy then was kotowing to the gallery, filled with independent miners.

I just took the time to check some of the addresses he made with regard to the independent miners, as he opposed the passage of that bill—and I am not saying as I am arguing this question tonight that Dr. Mundy was in error in voting against the bill; I am just trying to show how inconsistent he is when he takes the Governor of Pennsylvania, and tries to place the responsibility for what happened in Schuylkill County yesterday in the lap of the Governor, and he is so anxious now that the Pennsylvania Senate stop this thing, when at least he had an opportunity at that time to vote for a bill that some people thought would do it two years ago.

In the beginning of his address he referred to the fact that the existence of independent mining was due largely to the failure of operators in the past to properly mine the coal, saying that they were interested solely and alone in making as much money out of it as they could, and then this is what he said: "They went, Mr. President, selfishly, into the virgin coal and ripped out the earth in order to get the readily accessible dollars out: they had no practical sense of mining." That is what he said on May 27, 1939.

Now, Mr. President, to know the situation that resulted in this unfortunate occurrence up in Schuylkill County, you have to know just what happened down in Donaldson. Donaldson is located in what we know as the western end of Schuylkill County, and at one time large operations of the Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron Company were located there. When the Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron Company had some economic trouble, brought on by the depression, it was necessary that they reduce their land holdings, and so a lot of their land was sold off and all the operations in the western end of Schuylkill County ceased. Independent mining began, and the citizens in and around Donaldson, in the western end of the county, became independent miners, digging their own holes in the mountainside and selling their coal to keep their families. That continued for years, and then suddenly a land owner began to lease the property to independent operators. Now, Mr. President, many of those independent operators are bona fide coal companies, intending to invest capital and be a fine asset to the county and to the coal industry; many of them are what we know as fly-by-night companies, they see a piece of leasehold coal land where they can go in and take the coal out, as quickly as possible, make a lot of money and leave the open holes for the people of that district to look at for the rest of their lifetimes.

It is necessary in the coal business that a lot of money be invested, because it means sinking shafts, driving tunnels, to see to it that the coal is mined in a way that the coal will be preserved for the workers, not for one or two years in order to give a quicker return, but for the years to come, so that these men are sure of work, not for just a couple of years, and not so that these operators can come in and reap a harvest, but for years and years and years. That has been the trouble with these newcomers in the anthracite field; they want to make money quick, they rip out the bowels, and then when all the gravy is gone, they march off leaving the people unemployed and leaving the condition of the ground and the mines in such shape that no one, unless he has a large amount of capital—that does not exist in the coal business anymore—can possibly think of opening that mine.

Down in Donaldson it so happens, to give you an example, there is another company, the Western Anthracite Company, I think it calls itself, adjoining the very tract where this thing happened. They are operating peacefully, with the citizens of this area saying to them, "go ahead you are doing a good job," because they are not only stripping the ground but they are mining deep mines along the stripping. Understand what I am trying to say: a stripping mine is a kind of mine where a steam shovel comes along and takes the top off and then starts shoveling the coal. A deep mine is where shafts are dug and tunnels are dug to get to the coal. Of course, it takes many more men to mine a deep mine than it does a strip mine, and it is much cheaper to get the coal by strip mining than it is by deep mining.

Mr. President, to show you the thought of the United Mine Workers of America, in the last contract which was executed between the United Mine Workers and the operators, included in that contract is this clause;

"As a contribution to the solution of the problem of unemployment in the anthracite region, no operator, party to this agreement, shall have more than thirty-five per cent of his total production of coal coming from coal mined by stripping operations for any consecutive three month period, except as to those operators, parties to this agreement and their legal successors, who, for a period of five years prior to the date hereof, have been continuously and legitimately engaged in the mining of coal (as distinguished from stripping it,) or in the vicinity of property from which their stripping coal is obtained, or whereby the opening of a new mine or the re-opening of an old mine makes it impractical temporarily to comply with this ratio."

The United Mine Workers recognized the fact that wholesale strip mining can not continue, because it will destroy the economic safety of an already depressed industry, and therefore they included that in the contract.

Now, Mr. President, we may as well name names. The man of whom Dr. Mundy is talking, as the operator in this region, is a man by the name of Frank Correale, a large contributor to the Democratic Party, and a man who has been interested in the candidacy of Dr. Mundy for the office which he now holds. This Frank Correale and his company leased the land and built a breaker, and when he went to the people to told the people he intended to open a deep mine and work that along with the stripping operation.

Then he started to work, and according to the story that was told to me, he went back on that agreement and attempted to proceed only with the stripping operation, and attempted not to keep his agreement with the people of that area to have deep mining, and because of that, the so-called independent miners, who want this deep mining in order to insure permanent work, and in the hope that this operator—a stranger to them who came from another county, not having operated in their territory before—would not take the gravy away, as it were, and then march out leaving the gaping holes for them to look at for the rest of their lifetimes, these people got up in arms and began to picket the operation.

It is true, Mr. President, that the sheriff of Schuylkill County was called upon, and I might say to you, Mr. President, that the sheriff and the proper law enforcement officers of our county would have settled this matter had not something else happened, because the United Mine Workers and because every responsible mine owner and everyone that is thinking of the welfare of the mining industry wanted to make sure this proper ratio between stripping and deep mining, was maintained, but, because this allocation agreement was being put into effect, I will give you an example of what would happen.

Assume, Mr. President, that an operator dug five million tons of coal on a lease which may have been granted by some other company; that five million tons of coal must be taken from the location of the company that granted the lease, and that five million tons of coal would be mined by stripping operations—twenty-five men could produce the same amount of coal as three hundred men in deep mining, so you can see the ratio of the number of men that would be necessary to produce five million tons by that operator, as compared to the production of five million tons of coal by deep mining.

Coming to this danger to the economic situation, all the law enforcement officers wanted some agreement to be made before this thing went ahead. Then, Mr. Correale decided he was going to have his own police force, and it is strange to me to hear Dr. Mundy and Senator Dent talking about the state police, because I recall not many years ago, if we were trying to get the state police to put down a riot in my county or any other county in the State of Pennsylvania, the Democrats began crying about the Cossacks coming in and destroying things; that was the first cry that went up if you sent for the state police—"The Cossacks are being sent in by the Republicans." Is not that the truth, gentlemen; is not that the truth, members of the Senate? Now, here is a situation where they want the state police in Schuylkill County.

May I say, Mr. President, Governor Earle made a ruling that no state police could be sent anywhere unless first the sheriff of the county would get in touch with the state police and tell him that the matter was out of his hands.

Peaceful picketing we all understand is perfectly proper, but here is what I am told happened in Schuylkill County: a man by the name of Goslin was hired as a private detective to get a force of men together, to drive these citizens of Donaldson into line. It is also told to me—and it was in the newspapers in Schuylkill County—that the operator was going around flashing rolls of money by which he was going to fix things up. That is just what I read in the papers and what I have been told; I am frank to admit I can not prove these things, but I can prove this, Mr. President, the man who was hired as a private detective, at the head of this group of policemen, and whom I believe was responsible for this riot, was a man by the name of Goslin—a former state policeman, with a rather shady record. This man Goslin became a warden of the Schuylkill County prison, first he was in one of the offices in Schuylkill County and then he became warden of the Schuylkill County prison. At the time of the escape of Joe Bruno he was fired by the County Commissioners and he was indicted but was acquitted before a jury; he then got a job from the Democratic organization; and then became a private detective; and then all of a sudden he became the head of the local police force of this operator's company police.

There is another thing the Democrats like so much to say; many years ago I heard so much about the coal and iron policemen, about the Republican Party being the coal and iron police party, and now tonight these coal and iron policemen are being given a halo by the gentlemen on the left. This man Goslin, I am told, and so the press of my county has related, made the statement and carried it out that he was going to gather a force of expugilists and put uniforms on them and make them company police, and he was going to drive those people into line. I heard that several weeks ago. I thought at the time—and you must understand there are newspapers in the county espousing the cause of the group of independent miners, writing all this stuff and giving it to the people of Schuylkill County and so, as a result of all this history that I am giving you, this unfortunate occurrence took place.

I am the last one in the world to argue that this situation should continue; I am the last one in the world to argue that proper law enforcement officers should not protect property, but as I said before, the economic structure in Schuylkill County, as well as in Northumberland County and the other anthracite counties, has torn down many things that were fair and legitimate and it seems to me that we, as the Senate of Pennsylvania, certainly have no place in an investigation of what took place in Schuylkill County. The proper officers will investigate what took place up there, and when all is said and done, I am sure you will find that this riot, this co-called anarchy, was the result of a hot headed group of so-called company policemen, placed there by the operator solely and alone to browbeat the people of this district into line, so that he can insist on making that easy dollar that Dr. Mundy was so against in 1939 but seems to think is the right kind of mining in 1941.

Now, Mr. President, in closing I am going to read to you the conclusion of Dr. Mundy's speech in 1939, taken from the Journal of May 27, 1939 at page 4840. Here is what he said to the people that espoused the cause of that act in 1939: "And all I ask of you is for God's sake, let us alone up in the anthracite, and let us settle our own problems in a good orderly fashion."

I object to immediate adoption of this resolution, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Geltz?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Did I understand the Senator from Allegheny to say that he thought there were constituted authorities to whom these men might present their case?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not think I understand the question. Will the gentleman from Luzerne please repeat it?

Mr. MUNDY. I understood the gentleman from Allegheny in his speech to say that there are certain constituted authorities, to whom these men might present their problem.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, if I am not mistaken, from a study of history and from a comparatively short life and experience, there is an orderly method of procedure in this nation and in this Commonwealth for such matters as are under consideration at this time. Of course, I can quite well understand my colleague from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, might not remember that, because the New Deal period of disorder has been growing right along.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator not to take in too much territory; let us confine ourselves to the problem at hand, in the State of Pennsylvania. The question of the New Deal was discussed thoroughly before the last election and the electorate registered their opinion on that very conclusively. For the time being, until another referendum is brought before the people of the nation and before they make another decision, on the question before us the Senator did state that there were certain constituted authorities in Pennsylvania to whom these owners might appeal, and I am asking the Senator if he made such a statement.

Mr. GELTZ. I believe I did make a statement that was similar to that in substance, Mr. President, and if my statement was not clear. I might say at this time that what I had in mind was an investigation by the local authorities; if necessary, an investigation, a grand jury investigation in that county, and under the laws of this Commonwealth. Our colleague, Dr. Mundy, might understand that there is no higher authority in the state than a grand jury when it is charged with an investigation.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the procedure—and I am not directing attention of the members to a knowledge of the law—but the procedure before a grand jury is to investigate the criminal phase of affairs; it is a drawn out and an expensive procedure, but it was my opinion that the law stated that anybody had a right to ask the sheriff of the county in which he resided for protection, and if the sheriff of that county was unable to give it, he could then appeal to the next highest authority, which is the government of the State of Pennsylvania, and then, on an appeal by the sheriff, the Governor of Pennsylvania had the right to go in and give that protection. Now, as a lawyer, I ask the Senator from Allegheny if that is correct

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, my colleague is partly correct. at least, when he says that a citizen, property owner or any other person, has a right to ask the sheriff of a county for protection for himself and his property, from riot and disorder, and I believe further, Mr. President, that any individual who suffers as a result of a sheriff refusing to act has an additional right, besides his criminal procedure, and that is a civil suit for whatever damages have occurred.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I am not talking about civil damages, I am not talking about a grand jury investigation; I am talking about property protection and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, as an attorney, should know specifically what the law states and what remedy there is. My interpretation of the law is, after a sheriff fails to comply or says he is not able to comply, the next constituted authority to ask for protection is the chief executive of the State of Pennsylvania, and I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, to answer yes or no whether or not that is correct under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, simply because my colleague, Dr. Mundy, is bent upon hearing one or two words, yes or no, is no reason why I should answer yes or no. I am endeavoring to give the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, an explanation of what are the rights of individuals and property owners. I have endeavored to explain to Dr. Mundy that an individual or a property owner has a right to demand of the sheriff of the county protection for himself and his property and the sheriff of every county, Mr. President, is under bond to fulfill his duty in accordance with his oath of office.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Allegheny if the sheriff is considered the chief peace officer of a county?

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. And may I also ask the Senator if the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania is not the chief peace officer of the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. GELTZ. He is Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, is he also the chief peace officer?

Mr. GELTZ. If he is, I do not know that, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Well, Mr. President, I might say with my meager knowledge, that it is my impression the law says he is, so that the natural method of appeal, and an appeal by law, would be from the sheriff to the chief executive. Now, Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the gentleman from Luzerne may proceed.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether there is any other constituted body to whom these owners might appeal for protection.

Mr. GELTZ. I think there is, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. May I ask the Senator whom he would suggest that they might appeal to?

Mr. GELTZ. The courts of the particular county, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. For protection, Mr. President? Does he appeal to the court there for protection?

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President. In 1939 there was an amendment to a law which was passed by the Democratic Administration, prior to 1939, but now, since that law is still on the books a citizen can get an injunction in the courts of this state. However, if the will of the present House were to be followed and the Senate passed a bill which was introduced in the House, then that right would be seriously interfered with, but I do not want to say to my colleague, Dr. Mundy, that if he wants to advise the individuals back home, his superior or whoever he might be, he might advise him that he can ask for an injunction in the local courts, and he would probaply get an injunction, if, Mr. President, he were in the right.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I want to know if the Senator would tell me that a man could go to court in anticipation that somebody is going to commit a crime and get an injunction restraining him from such an action.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, if he had proper evidence and proper proof, there is not any reason why he could not secure such an injunction for the protection of himself, his employes or any other persons, or for the protection of his property.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator and ask does the Senator happen to know, I think his name is Mr. James Lark, from up in that area?

Mr. GELTZ. I am sorry, Mr. President, I do not know him; maybe I am not sorry I do not know him.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Schuylkill?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, does the Senator from Schuylkill know a gentleman by the name of Lark; I think his first name is James.

Mr. WATKINS. I know of a Mr. Lark, Mr. President; he is county chairman of Northumberland County; I do not know his first name.

Mr. MUNDY. County chairman of what county, Mr. President?

Mr. WATKINS. Republican County Chairman of Northumberland County.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, does Mr. Lark own the plot of ground next to that of this so-called friend of mine, Mr. Correale.

Mr. WATKINS. I do not know that, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I say to the Senator from Schuylkill that Mr. Lark does own or is trying to operate that property, and Mr. Lark, who is the Republican County Chairman of Northumberland County, Dr. Deitrick's home county, came down in person with many of your influential Republican leaders from that section and had an extensive visit with the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania in his office, and he apprised the Governor in person of the situation existing there and he told the Governor that he had considerable money invested there, and he asked the Governor if it was not possible that the Governor could in some way see that he could operate this coal property, and the Governor of Pennsylvania—and I am quoting Mr. Lark—told him that he was very sorry, but that if he allowed him to operate it might become necessary for him to allow Mr. Correale to operate at the same time, and so he was in duty bound to refuse both of them. Now, Mr. President, may I further interrogate the Senator from Schuylkill?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Luzerne may proceed.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the Senator from Schuylkill made the statement Mr. Correale was a resident of my Senatorial district; is that correct?

Mr. WATKINS. I understood he was a resident of Luzerne County, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. As a matter of fact, Senator, Mr. Correale was an opponent of Mr. Miller in his district when he ran the last time; is that correct.

Mr. WATKINS. I think that is true.

Mr. MUNDY. How would the gentleman from Schuylkill figure or now believe that Mr. Correale was of such great assistance in my district, when he does not live in my district.

Mr. WATKINS. The same way that the gentleman from Luzerne related the story that the Governor told somebody else; somebody told me.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, that is only one more inaccuracy in some of the statements the Senator from Schuylkill has made. I did not relate anything that the Governor said. I said Mr. Lark, in the presence of bona fied witnesses, made a statement to me, and I have witnesses to prove that he had just come from the Governor's office; that is not quoting gossip, that is quoting Mr. Lark.

Mr. WATKINS. Just a minute. May I answer that?

Mr. MUNDY. Yes.

The PRESIDENT. If the Senator from Luzerne, who has the floor, does not object.

Mr. MUNDY. I will be glad to have the Senator answer, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, there is only one thing I want to say. I have bona fide witnesses that a man told me Mr. Correale was helpful to Dr. Mundy in his campaign; that does not prove he was. All I have is one man's word about it.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I think the Senator in becoming a little confused was very helpful. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator further.

Mr. WATKINS. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, when the Senator spoke of the hunger march on the Capitol at Harrisburg, he said I was kotowing to the gallery. Does the Senator know what year that hunger march occurred?

Mr. WATKINS. I am not sure, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. For the Senator's benefit I will say that was in 1935, and that was before I was a member of the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Then, Mr. President, I apologize to the Senator, but the Democratic Party certainly kowtowed to them.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I do not want to accept responsibility for everything the Democratic Party does.

The Senator also quoted part statements from a speech I made in this Senate in the session of 1939, in which he said that I defended the activities of the bootlegging industry in his own home county. Mr. President, that was not the point at issue at all at that time. The question was a voluntary allocation plan, as applying to the anthracite industry. So far as I know, the bill in no way applied or was applicable to bootlegging in any respect whatsoever. The statement that I made was made because I did not believe at that time the ratio of allocation of the tonnage of coal to the independent operators was proper and correct, and I arose on this floor to attack the allocation plan as being primarily unfair to the industry all over the anthracite region, and I so informed the Senate at that time, that I would be for my allocation plan that was fair and applied to all of the industry, but when the Senator rises on the floor and quotes extracts of speeches which would carry out the suggestion he would like to convey, without reading the speech in its entirety, he is trying to mislead the Senators as to the exact application of the speech as a whole.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I just want to say this, that I do believe that this man followed out the proper method, the proper manner. Some of the things that I was forced to say tonight, probably in the interrogations, I would not have said except for some of the glaring inaccuracies as stated on the floor of the Senate, but the whole logic of the Senator from Pittsburgh, the whole logic of this gentleman from Schuylkill was this: we admit this thing is wrong, we absolutely know it is wrong, we do not condone it—but then they come out in front of the Senate and cite a lot of wrongs that the Democratic Party did, in their opinion, in a State and national way, and they want us to believe that through that reasoning two wrongs make a thing right.

Mr. President, I am not condoning the things the gentleman said are wrong about the Democratic Party, nor am I condoning this, nor do I say that both of them were wrong and that this thing is right because of that fact. That is trying to argue from an illogical basis. When the Senator from Schuylkill refers to Cossacks and says we were weeping about the Cossacks, he must admit that when the state police were first formed, almost every workman in the State of Pennsylvania frankly did believe they were Cossacks, because they rode rough shod into the mining regions, but as their intelligence and their ability, their knowledge and everything else developed, I think that the average person in Pennsylvania now looks upon the state police as an essential function, and most sound sensible citizens, after seeing this proper development of the state police, are anxious, are willing, and will certainly accept the protection of this, I think, very fine personnel.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I say that I am willing to accept responsibility for statements I make on this floor, but I dislike anybody trying to drive home a half truth by selecting small passages from probably a page and a half speech and trying to build up a logical argument from extracts so that it will support their theory.

I reiterate, Mr. President, in spite of all this calumny about the destruction the New Deal has wrought in a national way, and its effect on the mentality of the people in general, and that it has developed a bad school of thought, as the Senator from Pittsburgh would say, I just want to remind the Senator that as bad as it was, in the New Deal, if you have shut your eyes, you have also evidently closed your ears to conditions under the previous administration. When I was out in Chicago they were sleeping on newspapers and under bridges, and anarchy was just about ripe in the country, and you forget, Senator, that the psychology of a cold and hungry man without a home is a vastly different psychology from that of a well fed and well dressed man who is sure of his domicile, and you must realize that you are dealing with a temperament we had better be very careful of.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as the sponsor of this resolution I have listened to the discussions concerning methods of mining and the logic for applying certain particular methods. I just want to say, in answer to the gentleman from Schuylkill whose address I listened to very attentively, that out in the bituminous coal fields a recent development has come into the production of coal, gnow as a coal loading machine, which displaces hundreds of men in the local operations. In the rubber industry, in the glass industry, in the steel industry, in the textile industry, in all the industries of this great country have come innovations, improved methods, production lines, new devices and new inventions. If the logic of the gentleman from Schuylkill is to be followed, then this man's property should be destroyed, out in the anthracite, because he is mining coal by a method which displaces man power.

Then, Mr. President, if that logic is carried further, let us say that men who are disolaced in the rubber industry, in the glass industry, in any industry of this country, have the right to destroy new machines that take their jobs, and yet if I were to say that what the gentleman from Schuylkill has said, I would probably be called a "Red" or an anarchist.

The method of mining has nothing to do with the fact that this man's property was trespassed upon, that his machines were destroyed; whether or not he was operating legally is a question that necessarily belongs to that locality, but a question, mind you, which is properly the interest of, and the business, of this Senate. It is not wrong for this Senate to go into that district and find out whether the statements of the gentleman from Schuylkill are right, or whether the statements of the gentleman from Luzerne are right, or whether the statements in the Philadelphia Inquirer are right, or whether the statements in the Schuylkill paper that I have on my desk are right. It is not wrong that we have passed resolutions and bills in every session of the Legislature since I have been here, setting up large sums of money to investigate school systems, to investigate anthracite, the bituminous, to investigate all manners and methods of life and activities in Pennsylvania. You may say it is wrong to do this, that we must not pass this resolution, because we do not know anything about it; but we do know this: according to newspaper reports there has been a lack of law enforcement in Schuylkill County; where it comes from and from whence it derives its present status is the reason for this investigation, to give the answer to that question.

Mr. President, I want to say further that when the statement was made by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, that independent miners came in and ripped out big holes in the ground and left them for future generations to stare at, they go in and rip out the gravy, if you please—where did your sixty thousand unemployed coal miners who are now illegally engaged in bootlegging mining come from? They do not come from new operations or lack of business judgment but from failure in anthracite economic conditions within the district. They came from the operations of the old line companies, if you please, they came from operations on lands now leased to independents, and when you come to the question of how we voted on a bill that was before this Senate, which was referred to by the Senator from Schuylkill, I want to say this, that bill was sponsored from New York. However, what did that bill do, if the gentleman wants to know, in that session of the Legislature? It took a certain amount of business from one man, whom they did not like, and gave it to another man whom they did like, and that is all it did. It took an established business quota from an operator operating legitimately, took it from him and gave it to someone else. That is what the bill did, and we were right in voting against it.

Further than that, Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, believes that the New Deal is responsible for everything from the great flood down to the present time. Mr. President, and members of this Senate, no person in this room has a more vivid memory of the lawlessness that attended the last dying days of the Hoover administration, than I do and every man in this room must remember, if he will close his eyes and reflect for a moment, on troops charging into the so-called bonus army of men who had given their all or their near all to this country during its time of need in the last war, when men were charged with bayonets fixed to rifles, tear gas was thrown against men who in every phase of life were good citizens, and who were picketing if you please, the Federal Courts to do something which they later did. Men in this room will remember the strikes of farmers in the western part of these United States, when they took the law into their own hands during the Hoover days, because the food products they raised on their farms were selling at a price so that they could not even pay for the seed from which the produce grew. Men in this room remember the hundreds of thousands of innocent Americans who marched up to the relief centers and received old bacon that could not be sold in legitimate stores—nobody would buy it—they received old coffee and beans and rice, if you please, and if you did not watch it would walk off your plate before you could catch it on your fork.

I want to say to the members of the Senate you can draw all the red herrings you want across the path of this resolution, you can bring in the New Deal and the strikes which the gentleman from Allegheny condemns, but you can not take away from this particular matter the fact—and I say it is a fact—that up in Schuylkill County two thousand persons assembled to do damage to property. This man can not go into court and get an injunction because all he had was rumors to go on. This man knew men were assembling there, but what court, if you please, will grant a man an injunction to prevent something that legally is already present? There is a law on trespass. Those persons are not employes of this man, and I want to tell you there is quite a distinction between picketing by employes of a legitimate operator and unlawful trespass on private property, by persons who are not employed or connected in any way with the company affected.

I do not find anywhere the so-called thousands of disturbances under the New Deal, where men, themselves legitimate members of unions, condemn stoppages of work. In some instances, perhaps, there was some condemnation by a legitimate union, but you can not stand on the floor of this Senate and say that strikes caused in many instances by the employers themselves, were led by men outside of unions, and I want to say if the Republican Party want to now brand us as a Cossack searching and hunting party, I just want to remind them that when the Bethlehem Steel anticipated trouble they asked for the state police, and if you remember when picketers, legitimate employes if you please, of the Bethlehem Steel, attempted to go on the property of the Bethlehem Steel, the Pennsylvania State Police charged them and mowed them down.

These men were not employes of this man. They had nothing to do with it, but you do not find the state police stepping into that hot bed because it is purely a political situation, a political situation, if you please, born of the fact that in 1938 a man who is now chief executive of this Commonwealth appealed for votes on the basis that he knew the anthracite problem. We are now entering into the third year of this breaker boy's administration, and for the first time in many years there is bloodshed in the anthracite. That is the point of importance.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr CARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will proceed.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, what is the matter under discussion before the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. The matter under discussion is a resolution introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, there has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution and automatically it should be referred to committee.

The PRESIDENT. There was objection and then there was a motion, and disposition must be made of the motion before the resolution may be referred to committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, do I still have the floor?

The PRESIDENT. You do.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in talking as I have, I am only trying to answer those who, in talking like they did, cast certain reflections upon men who were interested in the passage of this resolution. Whether or not the man who operates this particular operation in Schuylkill County is a Democrat or a Republican has nothing to do with the merits of this resolution.

I ask this Senate and I charge that this Senate is charged with the responsibility of investigating the facts surrounding this lawlessness in Schuylkill County. If the local authorities are to blame who, better than this Senate, can determine such a fact; who better than an outside agency, one not interested in law enforcement, could better go into the community and investigate whether or not there has been a lack of law enforcement on the part of officials charged with that enforcement?

I know it will be futile to attempt to get this resolution through tonight, but I want to say that it is just this type of action now being taken by the Republican members of this Senate that is the cause of this lawlessness in Schuylkill County, for the simple reason you hide behind subterfuges and half truths, and in so hiding between those subterfuges and half truths you do not face the issues squarely and thoroughly and you give to these men, as I said before, a green light to go ahead and tomorrow, after they have stopped this man's operation, they can go over and stop another man's operation.

Remember, it is reliablly reported in the newspapers that not far from this man's operation a piece of machinery was destroyed today. Other operations within the same locality are now stilled by the lawlessness of these men, and I charge that the chief executive should immediately throw police protection, if necessary, into that area in order that legitimate operations may go on.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, and members of this Senate, I think it is awful to discuss politics in a matter of this nature, where there is no doubt that certain citizens of this great Commonwealth have been injured due to rioting and anarchy. I do not believe anyone in this body has yet said there is not trouble of this nature down in Schuylkill County. I believe there is a legal method already on our books to handle such a situation; I believe, on account of the serious nature of these matters in Schuylkill County, that the resolution of the gentleman from Westmoreland will do little good. Most of these investigating resolutions that I have been connected with do little good. It takes too long.

Here is a situation which the papers say, and I take it they generally know what they are talking about, in big headlines—"Eight Miners Shot, Rioting Spreads in the Pottsville Area."

That to me, Mr. President is very serious. Perhaps tomorrow many of our people might be killed in that area. Now, I know that there is a method to stop that lawlessness. If the local authorities will not handle that situation, then it is the duty of the chief executive of this state to handle that situation. Under the Constitution of Pennsylvania he is given very wide powers in matters of this nature.

Section seven of the Constitution states that the Governor shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the Commonwealth and of the militia. Mr. President, I know back in Fayette County a few years ago, when we had very serious trouble there, that the then chief executive of the Commonwealth at that time sent the militia into Fayette County, and without hardly any trouble suppressed conditions which at the time seemed very troublesome, in a day or so.

If this were in my district I would attempt to take care of my people by going to see the chief executive of this great Commonwealth and lay the matter before him, and then, if I believed it was his duty to act an he did not act, I would do all in my power to take proper means to see that he did so, and if that did not work I would try the next thing, I would bring him into account in a legal manner, or at least I would attempt to do so.

This is a serious matter, as I view it from the papers, and a matter which ought to be handled promptly, leaving all politics out of it, because a human life to me is far more important than some little petty political activity that may occur in Schuylkill County or some other county of the state. This matter ought to be handled at once, in a proper and a legal manner—and I believe the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland will be too slow in order to get action in this very serious situation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am obliged and grateful to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, for giving us in a measure some of the facts of the other side of this case. I regret, and I am sure he does, the injection of the personal element, for which he immediately apologized and for which I think we all should appreciate his frankness and fairness.

I regret the injection of the political aspect in this case because, as I heard the statement of the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, he not only charged that this Governor was lax but he charged that in his opinion a former Democratic Governor had not taken the necessary steps, or had not taken proper steps, to prevent this occurrence, and I agree with the Senator from Washington that this is a very serious situation. I would like to get the political aspect out of this picture by suggesting to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, that whether or not the President of the United States is behaving in accordance with what he thinks is to the best interests of the government, the federal government has nothing to do with this proposition. I would like to suggest to the gentleman that if this were a political discussion I could answer him by saying some people who are complaining about the President's failure, or saying he failed to maintain law and order, are also the gentlemen who voted against his bill to give him not only the right to take possession of industry, but men as well, in the national emergency, and if they had their way the President, whom the gentleman criticizes, would have been unable to do the courageous thing which he did very recently, that is, enforce law and order by taking possession of a factory in the west, which was under a condition of not only strike but riot, quelling the riot, restoring order, and restoring the factory to the owners thereafter, and now the organization is operating peacefully and quietly, and anybody who wants to criticize that kind of a President, his argument falls by its own weight and in face of the facts.

I would like to clear the atmosphere also by saying there is no injunctive power that can give relief. In the first place, the 1939 act has nothing to do with this kind of a situation; it applies only to the question of when an injunction may be granted in a labor dispute. In the second place, if the gentleman from Allegheny followed the history of this act, he would know that only four days ago the Supreme Court said the act which prohibited picketing was unconstitutional. In the third place, it has no place in this argument, because picketing is not what caused the trouble. In the fourth place, because hospitals are picketed by certain people does not give any excuse or offer an explanation of why riots are not being prevented. Truly, we all deplore that institutions dealing with the health and care of unfortunates should be picketed, but the Supreme Court, consisting of Republican Judges, at least Judges appointed by Republican Presidents, have said that the right to picket is almost an inalienable right; that everybody has the right to picket, and as long as they picket lawfully there is no reason why they should not picket. There is no reason why the Pittsburgh police should interfere with picketing of this hospital, if it was done lawfully and without violence.

While I am grateful to the gentleman from Schuylkill for his statement and the very able and careful way he has given to us the other side of the picture, it makes us say this, if his facts are true, or if the facts as given to us by the gentleman from Luzerne are true, it proves conclusively why something should have been done by the Governor when the sheriff called upon him, because the sheriff said to the Governor, in effect, "I am not going into the right or wrong of this situation, at least not the civil situation; whether this man was properly operating his mine or not does not solve this problem with which I am confronted. These people will not settle their differences in an orderly way, as I see it, and there is great danger of riot, and I am not in position to cope with it, and I am asking you to help me."

Under the Constitution of this Commonwealth the Governor is empowered to furnish that help through the state police. The only injunctive relief that I know of that exists is an injunction to prevent trespass, continuing trespass on property. Suppose a Court issues such an injunction, who would serve the injunction and upon whom would it be served? By the very sheriff upon the very same people whom the sheriff says he can not control. Now, of what practical use is that kind of injunctive relief?

For twelve years, Mr. President, as I recall, this problem has been threatening to break out into just the kind of a situation that we have today, and for twelve years governors have tried in various ways to prevent it, to forestall it, and to see to it that something was done to settle the situation. It does not help the problem to say that Senator Mundy spoke against a certain bill dealing with independent coal operators, Mr. President, it is because of loose use of that term that the confusion arises.

Mr. President, I can not compete with the gentlemen on the outside of this railing, even if I use the microphone.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will state his point of order.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, under rule 39, a resolution was offered and unanimous consent was not granted; no motion was made to set aside that rule and all this discussion so far has been out of order.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand the Chair has already ruled on that. If the Chair wants to change his ruling, after the gentleman from Allegheny and the gentleman from Schuylkill have made their speeches, and if the Chair thinks that a ruling should be made, I now move that rule 39 be suspended and we proceed to consideration of the motion, and I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on the motion.

Mr. HALUSKA. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is familiar with the rules. The point of order raised by the Senator from Butler, Mr. Carr, is well taken and is sustained.

The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, moves that Rule 39 be suspended, and that we proceed with consideration of the motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I ask that the roll be called, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The question now is on the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, to suspend Rule 39, which was seconded by several Senators.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask for the privilege of discussing the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, when I was interrupted by the courteous gentleman from the other side, from continuing my speech, I was discussing the effectiveness of an injunction, I shall proceed from that point. I am going to give the other side an opportunity to say whether or not they are going to object to that, and I will ask the Chair to rule on that.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am not going to object to it. I am asking for a roll call. There is a motion before the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I am discussing the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. A motion is subject to debate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I agree it is not, Mr. President, and that is why I suspected that an objection would be made to my continuing to state what I was going to say.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Just a minute.

Mr. CARR. The question, Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is conducting the proceedings of the Senate, not the Senator from McKean. The Chair will recognize those who are entitled to the floor.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair may recognize any Senator he desires. The Chair does not need any help at all from the Senator from McKean. Every Senator will get fair and impartial treatment, if we stay here all night.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. First of all, Mr. President, if the Chair will wait just a minute it will save some time.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair can find nothing in the rules that a motion to suspend a rule is not debatable. If it can be shown the Chair is wrong the Chair is perfectly willing to reverse his ruling.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it will be unnecessary for the Chair to reverse his ruling.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has stated he is not going to discuss the motion; he stated he was going to discuss the question of injunctive relief, and intended to continue with that discussion. Therefore, Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is out of order, and I ask for a roll call on the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I appreciate the fine hair breadth distinction the gentleman on the other side is trying to make. I said when I was interrupted that I was discussing injunctive relief; but in discussing injunctive relief I was discussing the merits of an injunction also.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I accept the rebuke of the Chair, but I only spoke because the Senator who made th emotion wanted to withdraw it so we would not have any trouble. I was probably out of order, but nevertheless I was trying to end the discussion before the Senate, because the gentleman from Butler wanted to withdraw his objection.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has no desire to prolong this debate, but while he occupies the Chair he will permit debate on this question, as long as it is confined within the rules.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. The Chair always has done that, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair can find nothing in the rules which says a motion is not debatable. The Chair can find nothing in either Robert's Manual or in Jefferson's Manual to that effect.

The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will proceed and discuss the subject matter of the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I will continue by saying this motion ought to prevail, because if the motion prevails we will be able to give some information and some help to the executive, who like other executives before him, has been unable to find a solution to this problem, and I am in favor of this motion because I think it is the only way we can do that which it is our duty to do. We can not do it by injunctive relief, as I have pointed out, because the very injunction which you could get to prevent continued trespass must be served by the very man who has said he can not continue to enforce the law.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. The Senator from Philadelphia is not discussing the motion to suspend Rule 39. He is discussing the substance matter of a resolution which is not before the Senate at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny is well taken and the Senator from Philadelphia will confine himself to the subject matter of the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to suggest to the gentleman on the other side, unless we do suspend Rule 39, we will not be able to consider the motion, and therefore I am discussing the value of the motion in order to induce my colleagues to suspend Rule 39.

Mr. President, I want to say I am glad to see the Republican members of the Senate take this lightly, because that shows how interested they are in good government. I think, as the gentleman from Washington has pointed out, this is one of the most serious situations that could exist in any form of government, certainly in a Democratic form of government, and I want to suggest to my colleagues on the other side—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not discussing the motion. I want to say further, Mr. President, that I believe the Senator from Philadelphia is now endeavoring to play fast and loose with this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is in a rather embarrassing position, because he was engaged in conversation with the Secretary at the time the gentleman from Philadelphia was talking, but the Chair will insist that the Senator from Philadelphia confine himself to the subject matter of the motion.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to state that I consider this too serious a matter to engage in technicalities with the gentlemen on the other side. I have another method of discussing this matter which I will adopt when it is necessary, but I rise now to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, think either he or the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, were in order when they made their addresses on this subject?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not discussing the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia is not atempting to discuss the subject matter of the motion. The gentleman from Philadelphia inquired through the Chair whether the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, would permit himself to be interrogated. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, said he would. The gentleman from Philadelphia addressed an inquiry through the Chair, which is in order. The gentleman from Philadelphia has the floor, and the Senator of whom he made the inquiry is willing to answer the question and such an inquiry is in order.

Mr. WALKER. Do I gather from that, Mr. President, that my point of order is not well taken?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I will answer the question.

I believe I was in order, Mr. President, when I spoke the first time. I discussed certain matters in connection with my objection to immediate consideration of the resolution. The next time I spoke was because I was interrogated by the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Mundy, and possibly by someone else.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the second part of my question has not been answered. I desire to interrogate the gentleman and let him state whether in his opinion the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, was in order when he made his address, not in response to any interrogation.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am not presiding over the Senate. Whether the Senator from Schuylkill was in order or not was a matter which should have been determined by proper objection to the Chair.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, when the gentleman rises to object to my speaking, is he presiding over the Senate?

Mr. GELTZ. I am not presiding over the Senate, Mr. President, and never pretended to so preside.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny contend that I am out of order in discussing this motion? Do I understand the gentleman is raising the point of order that I am out of order in discussing this motion?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am making that objection. The Senator from Philadelphia is out of order in discussing the motion to suspend Rule 39, in the manner which he has been following, as instead of discussing the motion, he has been discussing the substance matter of the resolution, which is not under consideration at this time, which was so ruled by the Chair.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then, Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny and ask him whether he will not say, as Majority Floor Leader, he is not raising the same objection on that basis to my statement as to the statement made by the gentleman from Schuylkill when he was not interrogated; whether he was not out of order?

Mr. GELTZ. That is not a matter for me to decide, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I have no further questions. I call for a roll call on the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair asks permission to make a statement. The Chair was perfectly aware of the fact that this debate has been entirely out of order but, following his usual custom and as the Chair has frequently repeated as long as there is no objection the Chair has assumed there has been unanimous consent.

The gentleman from Westmoreland has presented a resolution and asked for its immediate adoption, to which there was objection, on which there was debate, properly, and that should have settled the matter.

Then the Senator from Westmoreland moved, seconded by the gentleman from Cambria, that the Senate take immediate action. Proper action at that time would have been to have raised a point of order that the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland was out of order, in which event a motion to suspend the rules would have been in order.

We have now just reached that point, which could have been reached a long time ago. However, it is not the purpose of the Chair to enforce gag rule to prevent debate, even though it would have been possible to do so.

The Chair now states, if the Senate does not wish the Chair to be lenient, and desires that the Chair insist that the rules be enforced, the Chair will so do, and in so doing he assures the Senators there will be very little debate in the future as compared with the amount of debate there has been in the past.

After all, the Senate controls its own procedure and the Chair can only carry out the rules. Should the Chair violate the rules he will entertain a motion at any time to call the Chair to order, but until such time the Chair shall insist that the rules be adhered to.

Mr. EALY. I shall endeavor to be very brief, Mr. President. I think the members of the Senate know that no one has been more in favor of sustaining the rights of property than I have, because I feel that if we disregard property rights we will soon be back to the condition of the savages. I believe the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, spoke words which we should all regard in considering the matter of voting upon this resolution. This is too serious a matter for us to endeavor to determine here this evening. The last three Governors of Pennsylvania have been endeavoring to solve this problem, and should the Senate undertake an investigation of this question we cannot do it in a day or a week or a month; it will require a long investigation. If the sheriff of Schuylkill County can not maintain order he has a right to call upon the Governor and I think the Governor should furnish what ever is necessary to maintain order, but we can not by passing this resolution take care of this matter immediately.

I think it entirely proper to refer the resolution to Committee for further study.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to suspend Rule 39?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Barr,	Dent,	Jaspan,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Coleman,	Frey,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Haluska,	Mundy,

NAYS—25

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Kephart,	Taylor,
Becker,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Carr,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Miller,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Ealy,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The PRESIDENT. There has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution. Therefore the resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I do not care whether there is or not, Mr. President; I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I do not care whether there is objection or not, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has stated that the gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, in this discussion some question arose as to what the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr, and myself were trying to do. May I say to the Senate that we were only endeavoring to withdraw his objection so that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, might continue and say anything he wanted to say. I am sorry that I interrupted; I am sorry the Chair felt called upon to say he is running the Senate. I know who is Lieutenant-Governor. I am very sorry, but I was only trying to get it out of the way, so that the Senator from Philadelphia could say anything he wanted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, on a matter of personal privilege I rise to say I resent, and desire to express plainly and unequivocably my resentment at the behavior of the gentlemen who objected to my continuing the remarks I was making. I resent that because I do not consider that a personal affront to me—I know that was not intended—but I do consider it a rather bad example the other side has set in a matter of extreme importance. I think in the closing hours of any session of a Legislature which has lasted as long as this one has, there is always the possibility of jagged nerves and irritation, but I do not think any situation warrants the behavior that has been exhibited on the other side by those who made the motion.

If there had been an objection made, and technicality had been observed at the beginning of these proceedings, it would not lie in my mouth to complain about it, but after the gentleman on the other side occupied an hour and a half or two hours in discussing the subject matter, all of them being out of order, and several members on the other side being permitted not only once but twice, to discuss this matter, I say on behalf of the citizens of this Commonwealth who are watching the functioning of this body that I resent that they shall get an example such as that, and I hope they will not accept that as an example of what Legislators should be and should do.

Mr. President, this proposition is too important, the subject matter, the effect of what has happened, is too important and too horrifying to permit resorting to technicalities to the extent to which they have been indulged and engaged in here tonight.

I am not here trying to outsmart anybody on the other side; I am trying to present my views on what I consider an important function. If a situation warrants resorting to technicalities then I agree they must be resorted to, but evidently it did not warrant it when the people on the other side were speaking and people on this side were speaking, and it seems to me rather a high low—shall I say—that we reach when we proceed in that manner.

I say that without any personalities, Mr. President, without any intention to reflect on individual Senators, but I say it with the intent to reflect upon the kind of proceeding we see on the other side. I hope it will not occur again and I promise you I will not make any threats about what I am going to do because of what you do, but I do promise you I hope thee people of Pennsylvania will not see such an exhibition again, when the lives of eight men have been endangered and the lives of many more are threatened What I was about to say, when I was about to bring to a conclusion my speech, was of sufficient importance to entitle me to a hearing, irrespective of any technicality, and that is this, there is no law on the statute books—no law except a law, of course, which is not on the statute books—that can protect a community in a situation of this kind, and that of course must be employed by the people who have the authority; not by people who have no authority but by the constituted authority.

I have come to the conclusion, after sitting for eight years in this Senate, that appeasement of the situation in the coal industry will be no more successful than appeasement at Munich, and unless the people who have in their hands the authority to act do act there will be no solution. You can not do it by injunction; you can not do it by talking politics; you can not do it by charging the President of the United States with having run a disorderly government for eight years, in the face of the results of that government and in the face of the poll which reelected him for a third term—which never occurred before in the history of this country. You can not do it by that and you can not do it by ignoring the decencies of the situation.

In the first place, Mr. President, what I object to is that a member of the Senate who wants to follow out the procedure outlined in the law does not get cooperation from the constituted authorities.

This sheriff, as I understand it, wrote to the Attorney General and to the Governor, and that statement has not been challenged. He got no results. A member of this Senate, living in the community, wrote to the Attorney General and to the Governor. He got a reply from the Attorney General but got no reply from the Governor, and he got no action. It is idle to stand here and say there should be resort to the courts when the enforcing officer of the courts tells the Governor of the Commonwealth, in full knowledge of the facts, that he can not carry out the orders of the courts, he can not enforce law and order and he wants the Governor's help, and the Governor of this Commonwealth not only does not take any steps to protect the situation but he does not even answer the gentleman, a member of the Senate, who asked him what his position in the matter would be.

As a result of the failure to act we have a spectacle of rioting, with fifteen hundred people, and we have a fear that tomorrow maybe, while we are wasting time here on technicalities, we have a fear tomorrow that there may be a continuance of this rioting and it is no answer, ably as it was presented by the gentleman from Schuylkill, to say that the man who has complained employs company police. The only answer I can give to that is: a plague on both your houses.

Law and order are important things, and if these people are wrong that does not give the executive of this Commonwealth the right to ignore the danger of the situation. Are we going to answer those eight people who might die by telling them that the other side was at fault? Are we going to restore them to their families, are we going to prevent tomorrow a recurrence of this by telling them one side was at fault or the other, or are we going to say that this situation requires some action? I do not know whether this resolution will bring the action, I do not know whether this resolution can be carried into effect in sufficient time to prevent it, but I do hope and think if we pass the resolution, if this resolution were passed, then the Governor might get the consensus of opinion of the members of the Senate and the members of the Legislature, and maybe he would act. I am sure the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, will permit the Governor to continue to ignore his letter, if he will only not ignore the situation. Now, Mr. President, the gentleman from Luzerne and myself, we do not say this Governor did something which other Governors would have done or did do. We say that this situation has been played with too long by appeasement proceedings and we ask that responsible constituted authority act now, or assume the responsibility, and it is because I feel—I do not live in that community but I do live in the Commonwealth and I do know what a forest fire is and I do know what could happen in Philadelphia or some other community if it is permitted to go on in the county in which we are discussing, in Schuylkill County, and I do say that unless the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who have the effrontery to take the law in their own hands are shown by the same force the President of the United States took in the strike case, shown they can and will be stopped, then there is no such thing as a guarantee of safety of life, liberty or property, and I think this Senate was wrong in refusing to consider that resolution and act on it.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution has been referred to the Committee on State Government.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1012, (House Bill No. 1418), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain homes.

He also, from the Committee on Appropriations re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 1013, (House Bill No. 1419), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals.

House Bill No. 1935, (Senate Bill No. 1334), entitled:

An Act to further amend clause six of section one and section three of the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 858), entitled "State Employes Retirement Law," by further defining "State employe" so as to include certain employes of the Board of Fish Commissioners and the Pennsylvania Game Commission; providing that such employes shall have the option of joining the State Employes Retirement Association; and permitting their membership in such association to be retroactive upon the making of certain back payments by them and by the Board of Fish Commissioners and the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, the gentleman speaking a few moments ago seemed to impugn my motive in acting as I did in requesting that the rules of the Senate be observed, after considerable debate had been allowed on a question which ought not to have been debated.

I want to say, Mr. President, that my entire motive was that it seemed to me we were getting nowhere very fast with regard to the matter under discussion, and it was evident to me, as it seemed, that we were not going to arrive at any definite conclusion. Therefore, in order to bring the matter to a head, I raised a point of order, and the point of order was declared not well taken, and feeling that it had been and there had been a misunderstanding on the part of the Chair as to what kind of a motion had been made, I again raised the point of order, which was sustained. If in doing this, as a greenhorn in this body, serving my first session in any legislative body of this kind, I have violated the sense of propriety, have in any way offended my colleagues in the Senate, either individually or en masse, I want to at this time extend my sincere apologies for so doing, and to admit that perhaps what I did was done in an impetuous way and perhaps with some misunderstanding of what was proper under the circumstances.

I trust that my colleagues will accept this as my explanation and apology, if they consider I was in the wrong in so doing.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

SENATE BILL No. 598 ON THIRD READING CALLED UP

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 598, on third reading, page 5 of the Calendar, which was amended, and which since has been printed with the Amendments, and which bill I now understand is on the desks of the Senators.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 598, as follows:

An Act to add section two thousand two and one-tenth to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescbiing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for cooperation of State Teachers Colleges at the request of the State Council of Defense with other agencies in furthering national defense programs and activities

Section 1 Article twenty of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 712) is hereby further amended by adding between section two thousand two and two thousand three thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 2002.1 At the request of the State Council of Defense the trustees of any State Teachers College with the approval of the State Council of Education may cooperate with municipal state Federal and other agencies in the furtherance of national defense programs and activities and for such purposes shall have power to do all things and enter into all agreements necessary to carry out the same including the power to lease the whole or any part of the real property used by such college

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall remain in effect only during the present emergency and not later than the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Education.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask a question or two about the mechanics of the amendments to this particular bill. Do I undrestand that before this amendment becomes effective it must be requested by the State Council of Defense?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the State Council of Defense must request that the facilities of the state teachers colleges be utilized for the purposes of national defense.

Mr. COLEMAN. It can not then, Mr. President, according to the answer of the gentleman from Lancaster, be inaugurated by the Boards of Trustees of the various State Teachers Colleges of the Commonwealth.

Mr. HOMSHER. That is correct, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Bartlett,	Ealy,	Jaspan,	Tallman,
Carr,	Edmonds,	Kephart,	Taylor,
Cavalcante,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Chapman,	Frey,	Mallery,	Wade,
Crider,	Geltz,	McQuiddy,	Walker,
Crowe,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Dent,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson, T. B.,
DiSilvestro,	James,

NAYS—9

Barr,	Haluska,	Mundy,	Shapiro,
Becker,	Miller,	Reed,	Watkins,
Coleman,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 605, (House Bill No. 426), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Historical Commission to cover the expenses of restoring and maintaining the Daniel Boone Homestead

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 607, (House Bill No. 437), entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to acquire by purchase gift lease or condemnation on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ten acres of land adjacent to the Daniel Boone Homestead or so much thereof as may be necessary to properly honor the pioneer Daniel Boone on the spot where he was born providing for the control management supervision improvement preservation and maintenance thereof authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical Commission to make and enforce rules and regulations for the preservation and visitation thereof and making an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 707, (House Bill No. 1023), entitled:

An Act prohibiting employers from directly or indirectly offering for sale selling procuring for sale having in possession or under control for sale to employes any merchandise not produced by employers not handled in the regular course of employer's business or not connected or related to his or its business providing exceptions thereto declaring such prohibited sales to be unfair competition and repealing prior inconsistent legislation.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments to this bill, but before offering them I should like to explain them.

The amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, change this bill by making a revision in the purpose clause. I have read that carefully and can see no objection to that revision. I think it helps rather than hurts the bill.

In Section 2 amendments have been inserted that those sales to employes or any other persons, as the bill read before, are now limited to sales to employes. In my opinion that destroys the worst vice that is connected with the matter we are trying to regulate. In other words, as the bill is written, it prevents a manufacturer, dealing with certain articles, from purchasing those articles and selling them to his employes or to any other persons at less than the retail price. Under the amendment this bill would now be that a manufacturer may purchase from a wholesaler and sell not to his employes, but to a brother of an employe or an uncle or a father, but he could not sell it to his own employe.

Now, Mr. President, that would be a very easy subterfuge, an easy way to act, and it would take out of the purpose of this act the larger scope of people involved in this buying at retail at wholesale prices, so I have prepared an amendment which removes that amendment from the title, and section 2.

Other amendments have been inserted which I think are fair and rather help the bill. I do not think at this time we can exclude the company store, which is a time honored or dishonored custom, whichever it is, but it is fixed in our laws and I do not think the people who are asking for this bill are complaining about that particular situation, because that is a retail business.

Now, Mr. President, there has been added to this bill also the word "beverages", so that the sale of beverages by an employer, as well as candy and meals, have been now exempted from the provisions of this act, and I see no objection to that.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, by striking out the boldfaced bracket before the word "or" in line 23, and by strking out the bold-faced bracket after the partial word "-son" at the beginning of line 24.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

Mr. KEPHART. I object, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I would like to ask my colleagues to support these amendments. I think this is an improvement and it should be in the bill, and I ask all my colleagues to support this amendment.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, the reason the words "or to any other person" were amended out of the bill by my amendment was to make the bill more reasonable and more workable and more to the point it was intended to reach.

The vice, it seems to me, they want to correct by this bill is the sale by employers to their employes, not so much to other persons. The way it is now worded, if those words go back in there, as I said here the other day, an employer who has employes and has an article like a piano he wanted to sell, he would be violating this bill, and I do not think that is intended by the bill, nor do I think it is necessary. I think if you leave the words "or any other person" in there the bill is much too broad and certainly unconstitutional.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to answer that to make my position clear. When the gentleman from Philadelphia offered those amendments that was the basis for taking out the words "or to any other person".

If you read this bill, it deals with a man who is in business, and it says that a man who is in business "A" can not sell merchandise he does not deal with—it does not deal with personal property—but the gentleman having in mind that I might get this amendment through, is dragging in the case he talks about, of a manufacturer who has some property which he has used and wishes to dispose of, and he says if we do not take the words "or to any other persons" out, he would not be able to sell it, and in order to make sure that these amendments passed he would be protected, he has added these words, to which I do not object: "shall not apply to equipment or machinery which has previously been used by such persons, partnership, corporation or association in the conduct of his or its business, or goods being used in furtherance of his business or connected therewith or related thereto."

This bill does not stop any man in its present form, who has a piano in his house he wants to sell; it does not stop him from selling it to his employe or any other person, but it does stop him from selling any goods he does not manufacture to his own employes on the ground of having personal property of his own in his business which he wants to dispose of.

This provision takes care of that and that is why I left it in. It is silly to try to destroy this bill on the theory that some fellow at some time would have a piano that he wants to sell, and therefore you have to take out the words "or any other person."

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, Senator Shapiro's amendment means we will except personal property and personally I shall vote for it.

I think the vice in this situation was well described last night by the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Mundy, when he spoke of the fact that it was the rich and not the poor who received this privilege, and they receive it through the fact that a purchasing agent is able to buy goods for his friends at a discount.

Now, that is discouraging to the ordinary run of American life, and violates one of their principles, that is an essential to American life, and therefore I think this bill is performing the purpose it has in mind, and that Senator Shapiro has in mind, and like my friend from Blair, I ask my friends to support the amendments.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I agree with the purpose and objective of this bill, but I do not believe this bill in its present form does only the purpose for which it was drawn. I believe under the wording of the bill as it is now amended, Mr. President, with the adoption of this amendment at this time, and the other amendments in the bill, that this would do a lot of damage or harm.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, when I used the illustration of a piano, I did not mean to confine it to that, and it can not be isolated in an argument to reference to a piano alone.

As has been said, if you read section 2, it says, "no person, partnership, corporation or assooiation engaged in any business in this Commonwealth shall sell or make any article or material products or merchandise of whatever nature. That includes anything he may have in his household; he violates this law if he sells it, if he is engaged in business, because it is not produced in the ordinary course of his business, and not handled by him in the ordinary course of his business.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KEPHART and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Becker,	Haluska,	Shapiro,	Tyler,
Carr,	Jaspan,	Stevenson,	Wade,
Cavalcante,	Lanius,	Stiefel,	Walker,
Chapman,	Letzler,	Tallman,	Watkins,
Coleman,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Wilson, H. I.,
Edmonds,	McGinnis,	Thomas,	Wilson, T. B.,
Frey,	Miller,

NAYS—10

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Homsher,	Kephart,
Crider,	Geltz,	James,	Snowden,
Ealy,	Heyburn,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Title, Page 1, line 3 of Title, by striking out the bold-faced brackets before and after the words "or others" at the end of the line.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I have already called attention of this body to the amendments to the bill, on page 3. I think that amendment is a serious amendment and it destroys the purpose of the bill. I think I understand the purpose of that amendment. That amendment was put in the bill as a precaution, because some members felt that the bill as it came from the House might be construed to prevent, let us say, the United States Steel Company, for to give that as an example—their main industry is the manufacture of steel, but under them they also have subsidiaries like the H. C. Frick Corporation, which mine coals, there is a subsidiary also, the Union Supply Company, which has a chain of stores through which they sell merchandise to their employes, and others, and the purpose of this amendment is to protect that set-up, and some were fearful that the bill as originally sent over to the House might prevent the United States Steel or any other corporation in that position from owning and operating company stores, as we call them, but now, if you read that carefully, and I want to read it in order that I may make my amendments clear to you, that amendment says "and provided further that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry, business or trade from owning and operating, either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary, a bona fide store or stores for the sale of good to his or its employes."

Mr. President, that amendment will permit the United States Steel, through its Union Supply Stores, to do the very thing that we are trying to prevent another set of retailers from doing under section 2, because the first part of it says "no person, partnership or corporation shall engage in any business or trade in this Commonwealth as defined in this or to have in its possession for sale any article, materials or merchandise of whatever nature not of his or its own production, not handled in his or its regular course of trade or business and not connected with or related to its trade or business."

That, Mr. President, will prohibit a retailer from doing those acts, or keep those materials in his possession for sale to his employes and others, but now, you do not make that same exception, you see, in the provision of the amendment on page 3, you merely exclude those stores, those company stores, but you do not say they can not sell to their employes and other persons the things which you are prohibiting the other retailers from selling to their employes and other persons, and in order to correct that, I have prepared amendments here so that particular amendment will read like this:

"And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry other than a retail business or trade from owning and operating either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary a bona fide store or stores for the sale of goods at retail to his or its employes and others under the provisions of this section."

Now, gentlemen, we have attorneys here in this body. I probably might not be as good an attorney as Senator Tallman or the gentleman from the other county, Senator Becker, and the rest of them, but I say if you read this carefully you should agree with me. I am not interested in the bill. I am in favor of the purpose of the bill, but I say if you read this carefully you must see that you are creating two classes of retailers, one of them covered by the first part of that section, and then this other class that is owned by the—I gave you an example, the United States Steel and its company stores.

Now, by the first part of that section you would prevent that group covered by it from engaging in these acts, but when you exclude the company stores from it, you then permit them to do the things which you are prohibiting others from doing, and if you add to those particular amendments on page 3 these words, which puts these company stores in the same class with those stated in the first part of the section, I think we would have a good bill, and I would vote for the bill, and I think that section will not hurt the bill but will make the bill clear, and it should be so.

Surely you do not want to put company stores in a different category than you would put any other retailer. If we are going to make an exception of them, and the only exception you are trying to make in this bill is to make sure that the bill does not prohibit a parent company from owning and operating stores that sell merchandise at retail, Mr. President, after explaining this section I offer the following amendments and I wish my colleagues would consider them seriously and not lightly, because I am interested in the bill, I understand the purpose of the bill, and I want to see it applied to all of them.

Mr. President, I desire to offer amendment to Section 2.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend, Section 2, page 3, line 16, by inserting after the word "industry" and before the word "business" the following: "other than a retail"; amend, Section 2, page 3, line 19, by inserting after the word "goods" and before the word "to" the following: "at retail"; amend, Section 2, page 3, line 19, by adding at the end thereof the following: "under the provisions of this section."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask the gentleman from Fayette to read his amendment again.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, beginning at page three, line thirteen, my amendment would make it read as follows, where the italics appear: "And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry other than a retail business or trade from owning and operating, either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary a bona fide store or stores for the sale of goods at retail to his or its employes and others under the provisions of this section."

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think the gentleman is directing his attention to what I now think is a portion of this bill that does not belong here. The portion he was reading deals with company stores, and it is the purpose, as I understand it, to allow those company stores to continue to sell to their own employes, but I do not see any reason why they should be allowed to sell to others at all. This act provides they can sell to their own employes and others. That, in my opinion, is the vice of that section, that it allows the sale by company stores and then allows company stores to sell to others.

May I further say I am informed by people who know more about company stores than I do that those company stores not only sell to their employes but also sell to others.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to make use of the microphone, as it is very difficult at this late hour to hear the gentleman, on account of the confusion, and we are still interested in the bill. Would the gentleman from Philadelphia mind making use of the microphone?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I first had objection to use of the words "and others" here and I thought that to be a valid objection. However, I am now informed that company stores sell not only to their own employes but also to others in the town and to relatives of employes and I now think my objection would not be valid, but as I follow the suggestion of the gentleman from Fayette, he would confine those company stores to only those engaged in a retail business. If the gentleman will read his amendments again I think we will be able to follow them. Maybe I am mistaken.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I shall start with the italics: "And provided further that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person, firm or corporation engaged in any industry other than a retail business or trade from owning and operating either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary a bona fide store or stores for the sale of goods at retail to his or its employes and others under the provisions of this section."

Mr. SHAPIRO. I do not see any objection to that amendment. It will help wherever it applies.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. I desire to inquire from the gentleman from Fayette whether or not the amendment he would suggest now and has read would prevent a department store like Kauffman's store in Pittsburgh from selling to its employes at wholesale.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Certainly it would, Mr. President. It puts the ones that are intended to be covered by this amendment, as it now is in the bill, in the same class with the persons, partnerships, corporations and associations mentioned in the first part of the section.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I just want to keep clear on this. I do not quite agree with the interpretation placed on the amendments by the gentleman from Fayette and I would like to direct his attention to page two of the bill. The quotation starts really on page one, where it does not apply, as I recall the bill, to merchandise if it is handled regularly by a store; is that correct?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Therefore, Mr. President, this amendment, even though you place the words in there, even though you have in the bill the words "other than a retail business," that still would not prevent department stores from selling to their employes merchandise that they regularly handle?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. That is correct.

Mr. WALKER. I might say I think the amendments are clarifying and I think they should be adopted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, July 9, 1941

The House met at 12 m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord and Master of us all and of all mankind, as we come into the closing days of this legislative session, may we remember that we are men. Help us to remain true, ever recalling the words of David, "Be thou strong therefore, and shew thyself a man." To remain strong, and to show ourselves as men, we must look to Thee. In the words of the poet we find our challenge this day:

Wanted—Men!
Men of vision,
Men of skill,
Men of purpose,
Men of will,
Men of valor,
Men of steel,
Men to serve
The public weal,
Wanted—Men!

Wanted—Men!
Men of wisdom,
Men of power,
Men of faith,
Who never cower,
Men to battle,
Men to do,
Men to lead
Our country through.
Wanted—Men!

O God, help each Representative to remember that he came here a Man—may he leave here, a better Man. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

L. 295), entitled "An act authorizing and empowering counties of the second class in this Commonwealth to acquire by lease, purchase, or condemnation proceedings any land within the county for the purpose of establishing and maintaining airdromes or aviation landing fields; providing for the procedure in case of condemnation, and the extent of title acquired; authorizing the lease by the county of portions of said land to individuals or corporations upon such terms as may be fixed, and the lease thereof to the Government of the United States upon nominal rental; authorizing and empowering the county to use land now owned by it for such purposes; and authorizing joint operation by said county and any city within the county of airdromes or aviation landing fields, where such city is authorized to establish and maintain the same," by extending the provisions of such act to all counties of this Commonwealth, except counties of the eighth class.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1947, (Senate Bill No. 526), entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth" establishing an additional route in the boroughs of South Langhorne Langhorne Manor and Langhorne Bucks County

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1948, (Senate Bill No. 656), entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth" establishing an additional route in the borough of Sellersville Bucks County

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, an article appeared in one of the papers referring to the amendments to House Bill No. 413, and I therefore should like to read a very brief statement:

Whereas, the Democratic leadership in the House has at last anounced that it will embody certain amendments in House Bill 413, pertaining to subversive activities of employes; and

Whereas, this decision has only been reached after months of prodding on the part of the press, the citizens of the Commonwealth, and the Republican Party, and

Whereas, after months of opposition the Democratic leadership in the House has agreed to consider amendments which have been offered by myself; and

Whereas, it is stated in the papers that the majority leader, the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, has said that amendments to the said House Bill No. 413 would "rightfully receive the label of the Democratic Party and not the name of Ellwood Turner"; and

Whereas, this is but another indication of the "peanut" and shortsighted politics played during this session by the Democratic leadership in the House; and

Whereas, it is of greater interest to me to preserve our American form of government and to protect our school children from subversive and un-American teachings than to have my name placed on the amendments or to have them labeled with my name;

Therefore, I, Ellwood J. Jurner, representative in the General Assembly from the Second District of Delaware County, do hereby grant, assign and give unto the "little men" of the Democratic Party any title that I may have to certain amendments heretofore offered by me or which were prepared by me in conjunction with Francis X. McClanaghan, of Philadelphia, and which I will present to the House when House Bill No. 413 is taken from the table;

And Further, I do pray that by this assignment a lesson may be taught to certain Democrats that their Country should come before their Party, and that the best way to destroy their Country, as well as their Party, is to sympathize with and protect these subversive groups.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ACHTERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Delaware, may I state that of course it is very courteous and kind of him to make an assignment of amendments that he has proposed. Unfortunately may I say in due course of time he will learn that we have not accepted the particular assignments, but have proceeded on our own theory in relation to amendments to House Bill No. 413.

I notice that the gentleman, particularly in his amendments suggested to House Bill No. 413 has included certain phrases Naziism, Facism and Communism, without any particular effort to define what they were. I could think of many things that I could add to those particular "isms." I could think of Chamberlainism, for instance. I have not forgotten that the party to which the gentleman belongs, by their activity in Washington have shown, not all of them, but a large percentage of them, that they do belong to that particular "ism." I say to the gentleman from Delaware that that particular "ism" has undoubtedly caused more damage, and has caused more disruption and has affected the United States infinitely more than the "ism" that the gentleman has been crying to heaven about. That does not mean for a minute that we espouse or condone the other "isms", but I too wish that while the gentleman from Delaware is on the subject and while he discusses it that he keep in mind those of his party, for instance, who are creating real damage to the united front of the American nation by their very activities of appeasement.

And when we were talking about "isms" I was thinking of McClureism. I think that is a very interesting subject, one that the gentleman from Delaware ought to wave the flag about. Perhaps he will find that some of the "isms" that he is complaining about may owe their existence to the very fact that McClureism does work in certain parts of this Commonwealth.

Speaking of tearing down the nation and tearing down the government, I can point out and designate to the gentleman from Delaware many "isms" that perhaps should receive his very careful and kindly attention, and then, Mr. Speaker, I say that certainly we will not need any assignments from the gentleman from Delaware on those "isms" that he is so quiet about.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this reminds me again of the efforts of the party on the other side to hide behind the issues. Time and time again gentlemen get up on the other side and try to change the subject so that they will not have to face the issues before this House. And that, Mr. Speaker, is what the gentleman has done this time. He is afraid to go before the people of this Commonwealth and the Members of this House of Representatives on the record of his party on the Red bills in this House this session, and the gentleman well knows it, so he hides behind other subjects and hopes to draw a red herring across the path so that the people of Pennsylvania will not see the actions of his party on the Red bills during this session.

What have they tried to do with this bill that is before us now? First, they tried to kill it. They delayed it and held it in committee thinking that they could give it a peaceful burial there. Then the public of Pennsylvania, the newspapers, the Press rose up against them. They could not withstand the flood of public opinion, and they had to put it out on the floor of this House.

And then what happened? They tried to kill it by amendments. They put amendments in it that required you to throw a bomb before you could be subject to prosecution under the bill. Then they came along and tried to kill it by delay. We come now right up to the very end of the session and they are still playing around with it, and I venture to say, Mr. Speaker, that from this moment on every effort will be made by the Members on that side of the House to kill the effectiveness of this bill as well as all other Red bills.

Oh, they will throw a smoke screen; they will try to make out that that is not the real issue, but time and time again on this bill and on every bill that had anything to do with this subject before the House of Representatives the record of the party on the other side will stand and will show that they have every interest against these bills to protect the people of Pennsylvania and the school children of Pennsylvania from these subversive teachings and subversive activities.

I could recite instance after instance of the various bills before this house, and the various amendments, and every time, without a single exception, where they could sabotage this Red legislation they have done so—every time without a single exception.

Where they could ruin any legislation upon this subject, where they could kill any legislation on this subject they did so. What was the only single item taken out of the General Appropriations bill? It was an appropriation to investigate and prosecute subversive activities.

Mr. Speaker, I am not going to take the time of the House to go down the long, list of bills which have been killed in the Democratic Committees, but I say to them, face the issue as the people of Pennsylvania would like you to face it, and do not try to draw a red herring across the path.

They talk about the Republican party and appeasement. Who is the head of the appeasement movement in Washington? It seems to me it is a Democratic Senator, but that is beside the issue, that has nothing to do with the record of the Democratic party in Pensylvania, and I say to you when history is written it will show that the Democratic party in Pennsylvania listened to the people who belonged to the Reds and Pinks, and when the history of this session is written it will be the most disgraceful record of killing all legislation to prevent subversive activities of any legislature or any law-making body that the country has ever known.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, let it be known first of all that I am speaking for myself. I have no authority to speak for anybody else or any party. When the record is written, let it be written upon facts and not upon our excitement, not upon passion and not upon our prejudices.

Let us look at the record. The gentleman from Delaware, for whom I have the highest regard and the highest respect, reads to us the Constitution on the one hand, and then presents amendments in the nature of ex-post-facto law on the other hand. When I call attention to that fact, we are the Reds, I am a Red; the newspaper published an article that "the Reds are given another chance".

Now, let us look at the record, and I challenge any man in the House to look at the record and see if we have done one thing that violates not only the letter of the law but the spirit of the law. I contend, and I maintain, and I challenge anyone to refute this statement: we cannot live in this Commonwealth, we cannot live in these United States if we are to live by the letter of the law only. We must live by the spirit of the law. I am opposed to Communism, Fascism and Naziism, whether it rears its head in the country of Bach, Beethoven and Schubert, or in the land of Dante, Columbus and the rest of them, or in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I say the greatest challenge to fascism is right here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, when a person who says that he believes in the Constitution of Pennsylvania, wants to pass laws in conformity with the Constitution, which is the only power we have in this Commonwealth, will read the Constitution on the one hand and present an amendment that is an ex-post-facto law on the other hand.

I challenge the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside to look at the record. What did we do? We attempted to bring these laws into conformity with the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. Let me read you what a Bill of Attainder is; this is from Corpus Juris, Article 12 Section 820: "A Bill of Attainder is a legislative act which inflicts punishment without a judicial trial". The Constitution of the Commonwealth says the court shall be open and no man who shall suffer injury either to his goods, lands, liberty or his reputation shall be denied due process of law.

I ask this question, and I challenge the gentlemen on the other side or any place else, when you pass a bill in this legislature that inflicts punishment upon a man's liberty and does not give him the right of a judicial trial you are passing in spirit a Bill of Attainder, and those of us who think those laws should not pass are labeled as Reds.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that I knew the path some of us would have to face would be a difficult and an almost impossible one because of the wave of hysteria, but I say to you, regardless of that path, which has been paved with tissues of lies, false statements and innuendoes, I challenge here and now any member of this House to look at the record of House Bill 602, dealing with some of the most fundamental principals we have in a democratic form of government. Other countries have had other forms of government similar to ours; others claimed that their form of government was superior to ours but in no country have there been the fundamental principles upon which democracy rests as in this country, that is the right of suffrage, the right to choose officials of this Commonwealth and other states of the union, who shall judge you, who shall rule you in the community, and who shall protect you. What does the Constitution of the United States say as to that? I do not think I can quote it entirely, but in substance Article 1, Section 5 provides that the right of suffrage shall remain free and open, and no acts, military or civil, shall ever be passed to infringe upon that provision.

Mr. Speaker, what does House Bill 602 do? What does House Bill 602 say? It states if you want to get a political party on a ballot you must go to the Department of Elections in your county. If you are refused you can go to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and if you are refused there you can go to a Committee of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Attorney General and the Governor,—no judicial officer anywhere along the line. If you are refused there you have the right to appeal within two days to the Dauphin County courts. What is your appeal to the courts? Only on those matters submitted by the Committee! I believe somewhere in the bill it was provided that the committee should not be bound by legal evidence.

What did we do in that bill? We struck out that provision; we did not change any other part of the bill, but we simply struck out that provision and said that the party aggrieved shall have the right to appeal de novo to the Dauphin County Court, and from the decision of the Dauphin County Court to the Superior Court or the Supreme Court as the case might be. Is that Red-ism? I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the wave of hysteria denying and tearing down our constitutional rights here far exceeds any dangers that we may have from the outside. This ex-post-facto idea of legislation inflicting punishment and denying trial by a court seems to me to be Hitlerism worse than anything which could be resurrected from depth of Hell. I challenge any Member of the House to point to the record and see where in the record anything has been done by myself or by any Member on this side that would in any way infringe or violate not only the letter of the law, because we recognize that some of these acts as I said in my speech on the floor of the House may not be absolutely within the letter of the law, but when you violate the spirit of the law you are violating the letter of the law just the same.

Mr. Speaker, there is another matter that I desire to touch upon and that is the law of natural justice which we violate in some of these acts, which allows a man to be an accuser and also sit in judgement upon those whom he accuses. It violates not only the spirit of the law and the letter of the law but the natural law as well. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, speaking for myself, and I hope my Democratic colleagues will agree with me, if any man can point to anything that has been done in connection with this bill that will in any way infringe or violate the Constitution of Pennsylvania or the Constitution of the United States, or would violate the law of natural justice, I am willing here and now to offer my resignation as a member of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would under ordinary circumstances fail to rise after the very eloquent speech of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, but the difficulty with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, is that he is perfectly right generally and almost always in the law that he states. He is perfectly right in that what he has attempted to write, or has written into the bills, is perfectly within the Constitution of Pennsylvania and the Constitution of the United States, but the trouble with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, as I see it is that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, fails to realize that there is a higher law, a higher obligation, which has been recognized by the courts everywhere, the right of a nation to defend itself.

Freedom of speech does not mean unbridled license to do everything that we particularly of our own volition desire to do. We are constantly restrained by acts of the Legislature and by Federal statutes. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, as I said a while ago, is generally right in his statement of the law. Throughout all these debates he has been particularly right and I can concur with him one hundred percent in everything he has said about the Constitution of the United States. He has read it exactly and he has read it literally, but the trouble is that interpretations have been put upon it by the courts in many cases, and Mr. Brown, has failed to go as far as the courts have gone. My complaint with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, has been continuously, as I said the other day, with the high regard I have for him, that he is trying to stick so close to the letter of the law, he is trying to stick to such a strict construction of the law and of the Constitution that I cannot go along with him in the times that we have now and the times that are before us.

In this instance when the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, seeks to take me to task for an ex-post-facto provision which he said was in an amendment which I presented, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, I think is misstating the law, because according to Bouvier's Law Dictionary, Volume 1, page 1104, you will find:

> "It is fully settled that the term ex-post-facto as used in the Constitution is to be taken in its limited sense as referring to criminal or penal statutes alone, and that the policy, the reason and the humanity of the prohibition against passing ex-post-facto laws do not extend to civil cases, to cases that merely affect the private property of citizens."

This is not a penal or a criminal statute. This is a law pertaining to the employment of people who are paid out of public funds and the employment of people who are hired by the government, which we say they are trying to tear down. If there is anything unconstitutional in our contention that this Commonwealth has a right, that the taxpayers have a right, that we here in the Legislature have a right to say to these people who are being paid out of the public till, from public funds of the very government they are seeking to tear down, that we cannot take them off our rolls if we feel that their beliefs and their teachings and the things that they advocate are contrary to our concepts and the concepts of this government of ours as it has been understood for one hundred fifty years and interpreted by the courts of our country, then it seems to me, we have come on a sorry day and we might as well tear the old ensign down and go down as the Republic of France did go down through degradation and slavery.

We have a higher right to protect the nation, a right that transcends anything else, and in the words of Chief Justice Holmes, "The right of freedom of speech must be limited by the circumstances." That does not mean you can say anything you please.

I had not intended, Mr. Speaker, to go into a debate on this general proposition of the Red bills, I merely recited a statement made to the newspapers by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman; I merely recited the fact that he said they were going to have amendments that were Democratic rather than those that were offered in my name, and I merely wanted to make a gift to him and if in any way my name to these amendments is going to hold up or delay or prevent passage of the legislation, if you have to commit anarchy or treason in order that you could be fired off the payroll, I make an assignment and gladly erase my name from these amendments.

I am serious about this matter. Today is the twenty-fourth birthday of two boys of mine who were born on July 9, 1917. One of them is out here in Indiantown Gap. He gave up a lucrative job; he expects and I expect, and I think you all know that it is likely to be another five years before he picks up his life again at twenty-nine. He is a private getting $21 a month out there, ambitious to be an officer; going to school, subject to regimentation and the things you have to undergo in the Army. Tomorrow his brother leaves for Indiantown Gap. He is a second lieutenant in the Reserve Corps. Those boys are going there in the service of their country. Am I going to stand here in the Legislature and say to my boys: "Give up the next five years of your life"? The one boy had a lucrative position and was working his way up steadily in the organization by which he was employed. He was about to get a minor executive position. He had to give up the position and take five years out of his life. Can I face those two young men as a member of this Legislature, can I face them in five years from now and say that I permitted a festering sore to exist in this country, to tear down the country which we are all fighting for and which I am telling them to go out and defend?

The gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, voiced some things, in the last week that I took as threats,—some were said jocularly and some in earnest. I took it that they were trying to drive me off the floor as a proponent of this legislation, and I want to serve notice right now on the Democratic majority or anybody on the other side or on the floor of this House or any place else that nothing you can say to me outside of these issues, nothing you can say to me personally, nothing you can say about me personally, nothing that you can say about anything that exists in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is going to drive me away from my duties. You men ought to know you cannot scare me off; I can be led but I cannot be driven. I serve notice that I intend to stand here and fight against adjournment until we get through the legislation we need, because I am not going to stand and face those two young men and have them say I am a coward for words when I expect them to meet bullets.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

THE SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, did the genleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, understand me when I said that because of the nature of this particular act the courts perhaps would not declare the same unconstitutional?

Mr. TURNER. I didn't hear the gentleman say that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman hear me on Monday night a week ago when I read into the record the language of Justice Mitchell of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in Commonwealth vs. Moir.

> "The protection against unwise and oppressive legislation within constitutional bounds is by appeal to the justice and patriotism of the representatives of the people. If this fails, the people in their sovereign capacity can correct the evil. The courts cannot assume their rights". Does the gentleman remember my making that statement?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I remember it very well and I concur in that.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman remember in my remarks I said that there are certain laws that offend the spirit of the Constitution and certain laws that offend the letter of the Constitution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not remember those exact words, but I imagine the gentleman said it, and I agree with it.

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman remember, Mr. Speaker, that several days ago I said House Bill 413 was in the nature of a quasi-penal law?

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman give me his explanation of a quasi-penal law?

Mr. TURNER. The gentleman from Dauphin reminds me that there is no such thing as a quasi-penal law; it has either got to be a penal law or a civil law, but I will say there are laws that so penalize a person that you might say they were quasi-penal laws, although they do not provide for the incarceration or imprisonment of a person.

Mr. BROWN. Do I understand, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman accepts the statement of the gentleman from Dauphin that there is no such thing as a quasi-penal statute.

Mr. TURNER. I do not think there is such a statute, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Brown. I said does he also believe it, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. TURNER. I say I believe that. Is the gentleman from Allegheny being as technical in this as in all of his other arguments?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think I am being technical. Does the gentleman know that there are such laws that have been recognized as quasi-penal? I will read to the gentleman from U. S. Code, Annotated, if the gentleman wants me to.

Mr. TURNER. If the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, would get down to the point and ask questions rather than attempt to explore my knowledge of the law, which I admit is not too great—

Mr. BROWN. Does the gentleman know that in Corpus Juris 803 an ex-post-facto law is defined as follows: "An ex-post-facto law is one which imposes punishment for an act which was not punishable when it was committed"?

Mr. TURNER. I think that might be a definition, yes, Mr. Speaker, but the gentleman said that my amendment was unconstitutional because it was an ex-post-facto law.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman wholly misunderstood me. I said I felt the act offended the spirit of the Constitution; I never doubted the constitutionality of the act. If I thought the act was unconstitutional I would challenge its constitutionality. My opinion as to its constitutionality, I think would be upheld by the courts.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is getting so involved now that I do not think I could remember exactly what he did say if I have not followed him so far.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that his definition of ex-post-facto law, and the definition which I have given him out of Corpus Juris, would make the amendments that he presented partake of the nature of ex-post-facto law?

Mr. TURNER. I would answer that this way, Mr. Speaker, I have been thinking of that question and I thought about it when we were raising the question on the "hereafter" or "heretofore". I do not think it is in the nature of ex-post-facto law. What we are arriving at is whether persons believe in certain principles, whether they are advocating certain principles, and therefore the thought was that they may have been advocating them over a period of time, and that those acts on their part would indicate and would show that they were Communists, Fascist, or Nazis or whatever you want to call them.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware believe that the amendments that he offered to House Bill 413 are in the nature of ex-post-facto law?

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not think they are in the sense that the gentleman is trying to stipulate ex-post-facto law to be.

Mr. BROWN. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, last week when these bills were before us for discussion I was requested by my good friend Turner on the other side to make a speech. I told him at that time that I didn't feel so good, but that at some date I would be glad to make a speech.

Gentlemen of the House, I want to say that we have heard a lot of the legal minds in regard to this legislation before us. In my humble little way I want to say, not as a legal mind, in regard to Red bills as they are called on the calendar before us, that we on this side of the House have been accused of defending the Communists.

I want to recall to Mr. Turner and to the men on the other side of this House that in the Special Session Mr. Turner was Speaker of this House. He interrupted me one day in a speech that I was making in behalf of Democracy and said there wasn't any soul saved after the first fifteen minutes.

Now, my friends, I have listened to hours of debate and I do not think we are saving any souls by the Communist bills that are now before us. My honest opinion of these bills that we are voting upon is that we are going back to the old story that there is law enough in this country to provide for the protection of democracy without any more of this kind of bills.

I want to say as a member of the American Legion and as one who fought in the World War along with two brothers, that I sometimes think the American Legion should stop and take notice in regard to legislation, and that they could possibly interest themselves in receiving justice for some of the boys who fought during the last war rather than so much interest in Communistic bills, because as I understand, today we are allied with the very country which we are trying to condemn.

My friends, when I make those statements I say to the American Legion that under disability acts men who were wounded during the last war, some of them received very, very little compensation while other men received large donations. Those are the things that I am interested in in saving democracy.

My friends, we must have justice, we must fight for legislation that brings justice to the people of the state and of the United States if we hope to keep isms out of our country, and I say to you men that legislation that is now stifled in the Senate of Pensylvania is the type of legislation that will keep the isms out of America. I say to you that when you give justice man to man, under laws and under protection, then we do not care what Communist gets up on the soap box on the corner. I say to you that those men can shout to high heaven as long as the laws and the people of our country fight in the interests of one another and for justice for one another.

I also heard the gentleman speak about France falling. Did France fall because there were not enough laws on the statute books to curb Communism, or was it due to the fact that some of the people of France were deprived while others received personal privileges? If you want to stop Communism here, then I say to you protect the democracy we have. We have law enough in this country to curb any Communistic action, and I say to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and I say to the American Legion, "Let us interest ourselves in the legislation that is now pickled in the Senate of Pensylvania, legislation that gives rights to the workers and to the people and that goes to make up a democracy".

If France had done that same thing she would not have had to fear Communism or any other ism. It is when we deprive people of rights and give to some people special privileges that we need to be afraid for our democracy. I say again, I, like Mr. Turner will stand here for hours and fight in the interests of the people of the state, that we all may have justice, and not put laws on the statute books that will give somebody the right to go out and tap this fellow and that fellow who hasn't any protection, while others go scot free. I am not so much interested what is in the bills, because, as one of the men that has served here before told me yesterday, it is all imagination or hysteria among the people. In this particular kind of times it is not important exactly what is in the bill, whether it is one thing or another. I still say we have law enough in America to curb anyone who dares to try to overthrow the government by force.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman who spoke before me brought up the question in connection with the legislation before us on the passage of bills curbing certain individuals who may have emanated from a foreign country, having regard to the alliance that now exists between that country and this. I think I could properly now ask the question as to who brought about that alliance.

Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time with a sense of relief in the fact that this House at long last is about to do its plain duty to our people. I have as sponsor of this piece of legislation, House Bill No. 413, come into possession of many letters, communications, and newspaper editorials pertinent to this vital question. I shall read but two of these editorials:

Needed Legislation

"The public is frankly confused by the delay in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg in getting action on legislation to curb subversive elements in the Commonwealth.

"Are our lawmakers afraid of offending the Communists, Nazis or other un-Americans in our midst? Or do they actually sympathize with these foes of democracy? The people do not wish to believe either is true, but they are at a loss to understand the pussyfooting.

"This is no time for timidity. Americans are against Communists and their blood brothers and all that they represent. . . .

"Pennsylvania, above all places, should strike boldly. It is a reflection on the Commonwealth which boasts of being the cradle of American freedom not to protect its precious offspring against these scourges of modern civilization.

"There must be no half-way measures in dealing with this situation. . . .

"Let us have on the statute books of Pensylvania laws with teeth in them to stamp out these evil influences. Why delay or pull punches?—Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader-Evening News.

"Well, Let's Have a Showdown

"Legislation is urgently needed in Pennsylvania to protect public school children from un-American teachers.

"But a small, wilful minority in the Legislature has been able for another week to keep from passage the bills that would provide such protection and to knock what teeth it could from the measure that is nearest adoption.

"It has come to a point where a showdown is essential to smoke out this minority, to put them on the spot; to determine, once and for all, why members of the Pennsylvania Legislature should be displaying such persistent solicitude for the Communist Party and for Red-tinted teachers.

"There is only one issue at stake. Either the members are willing to have pro-Communist and pro-Nazi teachers in our schools, or they are not. No smokescreen can hide that issue. . . .

"The members of the Legislature who want to insure the teaching of American ideals and American loyalties in the public schools will go to bat for the anti-Red bills this week and see to it that they are adopted. —Philadelphia Inquirer."

Mr. Speaker, I want to say to my Democratic colleagues that we on the Republican side of this house have at no time had the support of the elements fighting this bill, especially the insertion of amendments with teeth. We don't want their support: they are not welcome and we have in past campaigns publicly said that we would rather go down to defeat if we had to have their help to win. Now you gentlemen have had their support. I do not state that you deliberately kowtowed to them to get their support but, gentlemen, they seem to be on your side. The people of the Commonwealth are looking to you to stand up and be counted to-day. Let us strike out boldly on this question. I call on you to disavow by your votes any connection, assumption or hint that you have any desire to please these groups. We welcome the belated joining in this crusade to rid the state of this scourge, on the part of the Democratic leaders. I am certain that by dismantling ourselves of any robes of timidity on this question and the insertion of strong amendments we can go home with a clear conscience, and the vast majority of the people of the Commonwealth will feel happier healthier and more secure in the knowledge of the part that we here today as elected representatives of the people have done our plain American duty.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as an American I resent reading into the record any editorial on Americanism from the Philadelphia Inquirer. I feel that I have been an American, I feel every dime that I have made in this world has been made honestly, and I resent reading from a paper that the money that bought that paper came from the depths of the underworld. The money that bought that paper was blood money; yes, everyone knows the story of how Annenberg made his money; he made that money in the underworld.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not talking on subject matter which is before us.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware there is no bill before the House. The gentleman asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. HOLLAND. Yes, Mr. Speaker, the money that bought that paper killed in the different cities of America. That money was got by corruption, corruption of public officials. That money was put in by the slums, by the drugs of those people who live by their wits in the underworld. Yes, and after that money was made that man was not satisfied; after he had amassed a fortune of dirty, filthy money, to go straight, but only yesterday I read in the paper that he is asking a parole from those prison walls that now enclose him.

Is he an American, I ask the members of this House? I say to you if ever a man is lower than a Communist, a Nazi or a Facist, it is the money that is behind the Philadelphia Inquirer and Moe Annenberg.

My friends, I respect the gentleman from Delaware and I admire him for being able to have two sons to serve in this war. Some of us on this side of the House have the scars of the last war on our bodies. Yes, and there are some on this side of the House and your side whom I have not yet heard take the floor who are among the disabled soldiers of America. When any man takes this floor to sing a patriotic song I would like to ask that man, if he is between the ages of 42 and 54, what did he do in the last war? Yes, I think this flag is being waved to hide a real purpose. I have heard a man come up on this floor and say that the Secretary of Labor of the United States was a Communist; I have heard from the beginning of this session many statements made on this floor that Roosevelt, the President of the United States and Mrs. Roosevelt were Communists.

I ask you men who made that statement, who slimed and threw dirt in the last campaign, and I ask the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, did he find in the "Daily Worker" any advertisement to vote for the Democratic Party? If he goes back to the "Daily Worker" of that time he will find in that "Daily Worker" full page advertisements appeared asking for the Communistic support of Wendel Willkie.

I have heard the gentleman from Dauphin speak about newspaper publicity. I would like to read into the record an editorial appearing in a paper, the "Gazette and Daily" of York, Pennsylvania, a paper that was bought with clean money, a paper whose men who are back of it are real Americans. In this paper a column appears in reference to amendments that I thought should be placed in the Red bill because I believe there are other isms in this country that are bad. I believe Klu-Klux-Klanism is bad and I believe Coughlinism is bad, and I believe McClureism is just as bad.

This column states:

"The legislature is still battling the anti-Red bills. As this is being written there are two knights in shining armor going forth to slay the Communist menace in the schools of Pennsylvania.

"One is a Republican, no less a person than Elwood Turner, former speaker of the House, present minority leader and one of John J. McClure's lieutenants. The other is Democrat Jack Kelly, whose mouthpieces were popping off all over Harrisburg yesterday.

"We'll take Turner in preference to Kelly. Turner is philosophically inclined to a socio-political disease which, for want of a better term, we would call McClureism. Kelly has no philosophy. He has a strong back and the ability to push a boat around in the Schuylkill river. So far as we have been able to find out, he stops there. When he pops off that the anti-Red bills must be passed, he's merely making a grandstand play to show the people of Pennsylvania that Jackie Boy runs the show at Harrisburg. When Jack Kelly becomes the bulwark against communism for the people of Pennsylvania, we had better watch out for fascism just around the corner because Jackie Boy is a very poor demagogue himself.

"With that we'll leave Jackie Boy to the adjustment of his cap and bells.

"On second thought we wouldn't take Turner either. Personally charming, and with intelligence enough to know better, he is the respectable front behind which McClureism operates. Why he lends himself to McClureism remains a mystery.

"Yesterday Representative Elmer Holland of Pittsburgh introduced a fitting amendment to the bill which Sir Knights Turner and Kelly are behind. This amendment would add to the isms listed in the Turner amendment. McClureism, Coughlinism, and Ku Kluxism.

"The worst of these is McClureism. Coughlinism can't hide behind the mask of religion anymore. Ku Kluxism is small boy stuff that is easily recognized. But McClureism masquerades as Americanism. Neither Coughlinism nor Ku Kluxism has any great power any more. But McClureism has been powerful for many years and it still holds a great deal of power.

"One needs to look far and wide before he finds a Communist in Pennsylvania's schools. They are so scarce that the demagogues promoting the anti-Red bills have to pin the Red label on every teacher in the Commonwealth's schools who has the decency and the courage to teach the truth about those who have been corrupting Pennsylvania's schools, its legislative bodies, and the whole body politic.

"Communist influence in Pennsylvania's schools is negligible. The influence of the McClure philosophy is all around us.

"In some school districts teachers are required to kick back a portion of their salary to hold a job. That is McClureism at work.

"In many school districts teachers have to submit themselves to the approval of some political heel before they can secure employment. That is McClureism at work.

"The public utilities have corrupted textbook writers to get them to weigh their discussions in favor of continued exploitation of the public. They have corrupted scool boards to have them put their corrupt textbooks into the schools. That is McClureism at work.

"The propagandists for the Manufacturers' association have urged that the way to counteract honest teaching of economic facts in the schools is to have the patriotic societies and the business men wage a campaign against socialistic teachings in the schools and to brand every teacher who is not their conscious or unconscious tool as being Red. That, too, is McClureism at work.

"The sponsors of the anti-Red bills know very well that the bills they are proposing wouldn't be constitutional. But they are counting on Pennsylvania's shoddy higher courts to uphold the legislation in spite of its obvious unconstitutionality. In other words, they count on owning the courts. That, too, is McClureism at work.

"McClureism is responsible for more corruption and perversion of democratic processes and for more social defilement than any other evil in Pennsylvania. When a teacher runs up against McClureism at every turn, it doesn't take long to destroy his belief in the integrity of Pennsylvania's educational institutions.

"So we think that Representative Holland should make his proposal to outlaw McClureism stick. It is far more of a menace to Pennsylvania's schools than all the other isms combined."

I believe, Mr. Speaker, that when and if these bills pass, we should be consistent and insist that McClureism be added to the fifth columnists of America.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ACHTERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to extend the debate or prolong it, but the minority-leader of this House made a statement that I feel deserves answer. He made a statement briefly to the effect that practically the only thing the Democratic party did in relation to the budget was to cut out a recommended appropriation by the Governor of Pennsylvania of one hundred thousand dollars for the investigating of subversive activities.

Now, I have noticed in the past that certain Republican papers have been making comment in relation thereto, and I was wondering when someone from the other side of the House would have the courage to make the statement on the floor so that we would have an opportunity to lay before this House an extraordinary condition that existed concerning that item. When we first saw and noted the item in the budget, I felt that it might be wise to ascertain from the Attorney General exactly what he proposed doing and why the appropriation to his Department to investigate. So, I took the trouble to ascertain what the Attorney General might know in relation to the recommended appropriation. Can you imagine, gentlemen, my amazement when I learned from the Attorney General that he had no particular knowledge in relation to the recommended appropriation, that as a matter of fact the first knowledge of it was when he first read the budget message, after it had been delivered by the Governor; and that secondly, up to the time he had spoken to me he knew nothing further than what he had read in the budget message. He was frank to admit that he didn't know why that appropriation had been recommended to his Department. He said that he knew his Department was as a matter of fact a prosecuting and not an investigating agency.

I, however, Mr. Speaker, did not confine my investigation to just the Attorney General's department. I assumed that possibly the Governor had some real reason why he should make a recommendation for one hundred thousand dollars for investigation. I, therefore, called in your police force, the Governor's police force for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not your State Motor Police were crippled or needed money for investigation, particularly of subversive activities. I discovered something extraordinary there; I discovered that Colonel Adams felt very happy over the whole situation, he felt he had done an excellent job. As a matter of fact, gentlemen, he assured me that Pennsylvania was in the best position of all the states in this nation on the subject of knowledge relating to subversive activities and who might be responsible for them. Then, Mr. Speaker, I asked him whether he needed more money for that purpose than was recommended in the budget, and he assured me he did not. Now then, I submit to the Members of this House, why did the Governor of Pennsylvania ask for one hundred thousand dollars when his own Departments, his own agencies, didn't know what they were to do or how they were to spend the money?

Can you answer me why this same party who just a year ago was maintaining in Pennsylvania that it was un-American to vote for anyone but them, now wants to go on a fishing expedition?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I might answer the statement of the gentleman from Monroe, but I think he has answered very well himself the reason why they left out that $100,000 appropriation. They were afraid of a fishing expedition into the Communists of Pennsylvania, and being afraid of that single item alone, they singled out that item in the general appropriation bill to strike out. I knew the gentleman had this little story back in his book waiting for me to get up—he told me about it months ago, that he was just going to wait until we got up and said something about this $100,000 item, but as time went on and bill after bill and item after item indicated the underlying policy of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, the real reason why that $100,000 item was singled out as the only one to strike out of the general appropriation bill was to prevent the administration or any other governmental agency from entering into a fishing expedition into the Communists of Pennsylvania. That is the reason the gentleman struck out that item. I know that the Attorney General of this Commonwealth had a very definite plan concerning the things that were to be done with that money, and that the Governor had very definite plans of investigations which were to be made into Communistic and subversive activities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That's what they wanted that money for, and the gentleman singled that out as the only item in the general appropriation bill that they were afraid of and wanted to cut out. I think the record speaks for itself.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MAXWELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as we have all sat in our seats and listened to hours and hours of debate. There has been a lot of talk, there has been a lot put into the record, and if anyone should try to read that record and follow these issues from the beginning up to date I think it would be impossible I mean it would be impossible to follow them intelligently, so in order to clarify the record and this issue so that the people of Pennsylvania will be able to understand, I think we should keep this in mind, instead of labeling these bills as anti-Communistic bills, Red-bills or what have you, I think that these bills should be labeled as Republican red-herring bills. These bills have only been used by the Republican party to confuse and fool the people of this Commonwealth, because the Republican party has had nothing during this entire session better or more constructive to offer the citizens of Pennsylvania. I thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this discourse going on quite at length referring to parties, is something that I want to direct in another direction.

First I want to speak to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, in his remarks about the law, in his remarks about the safety of this country and democracy. He stated the facts well; this country, progressive throughout the years, has kept itself and its integrity just through those very points that Mr. Lovett set forth. Today, however, there are other interests foreign to those principles which we hold to, that have been boring into our government. We have never gone abroad or asked of anyone else that they accept our form of government, but we find today that there are those elements at work in our government, so I don't want to make a line of demarcation starting at George Huntley and going on up to the brass rail, as Republicans or Democrats.

Every man in this House is either a free-born or naturalized citizen of this great republic, and as such then let us talk, please, frankly and simply just for a minute without animus and without party rancor on the subject of the great danger at hand.

It has only been a little while ago that it was said that this Communistic activity would be brought into this country, and that its first approach would be to the negro. Now, we have had enacted and we have seen through the years a great fratricidal war that has given to the negro his rightful place. Intimidations have been made that we have been driven into this war by another race who have been subjected to the terrible atrocities of Nazism, but we know and well know and have learned, many of us, long since to trade and trade well with people of that race, and I hold that we are American and I hold that at heart we have a right to sustain these principles.

Remarks have been made here from time to time about the President of the United States; remarks have been made about a certain Secretary. I fully believe myself that the President of the United States in all sincerity has at some time or other been sympathetic with some of these principles with a view that he might know more about them, but I believe today the President of the United States is leading us forward steadfastly under the guidance and in the direction of the principles of our government. I fully believe that we have a right to stand by him in this day of trouble, and in the same sense I believe we have a right to stand by the Governor of the Commonwealth.

These isms are real. They are here in our midst, and our government is being challenged by someone else, and those who may be sitting around here, who may be talking about this matter of isms, those who would have us embrace these other isms, let them go some other place where they can enjoy them rather than they shall circumvent our form of government in any way. When we would raise the importance of the isms of individuals in this Commonwealth to that of doctrines that are so undemocratic, it seems to me it is silly.

With reference to the newspapers, I think we can well understand the ownership of various newspapers, and we could talk quite at length on that, but I am talking on the principle of Americanism. I am talking if you please on the fact that we are all fellow citizens, and I am talking on the fact that we believe that we should enact some law, not all wrapped up in the phraseology that many of the lawyers would put into it that even circumvent the Constitution itself, we should write it in plain language, and when we talk of the Communist, Fascist or Nazi way of living, it is silly to say it is just as bad when you talk of any other isms or any other man in this Commonwealth. We might as well say that we are infested with Achtermanism as these other isms that are attached to other men in this Commonwealth, whether they be editors or political leaders or what not.

So I think, if you please, men, we should take down that line. We are here pleading as Americans for the defense of American principles, and I cannot understand why, under any circumstances, be you of any race or any nationaltiy of American citizen that you cannot get this law in such shape that if passed shall protect our citizenry.

I think this editorial which was read into the record the other night said something about trust in school directors as against trust in school teachers. School directors, after all, are representatives the same as you and I are here. Surely, the interpretation they place upon those things that relate to our Americanisr percolate down from this Hill to the various Departments of the government until they reach the school districts of the boroughs or townships or cities. Men, let us be fair and frank. Attacks made upon men, the leaders of this Commonwealth, I think it is shameful on the part of anyone to hold up his head and in any way try to divert our attention from the fundamental protection of our government. There are in this room men of all nationalities and colors, and there are men in this room, who I believe, most of them, a great majority of them are just as sincere in the defense of our form of government as anyone could be. Then, in the name of Heaven, let us all be true Americans; let us pass a law that shall make possible the stopping of the infiltration of these doctrines that are foreign to our form of government. If it needs the leadership of men of groups or parties, whether it be Kelly or whether it be the Chairman of the Democratic party in this state, or the chairman of the Republican party in this state, with the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate, then we should before we adjourn enact a law that will be simple and plain and tell the facts and tell them honestly and stand for our Americanism, and kick everything else out of the door.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SKALE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have heard much debate where the flag was held high and waved furiously, so, let us look at our flag. The second star on the first row represents our great state of Pennsylvania. The flag is a symbol of unity. It is the accepted and honored banner of all the elements of unity in the nation.

We may disagree among ourselves on most important matters of domestic and foreign policy. We may hold contradictory views about the vital matters of national defense. We may be at odds about the best means of preserving American institutions in a war-torn world environment. A foreigner unacquainted with American purpose and temperament might harbor a very confused and erroneous idea of the significance of this dissension.

Foreign observers should not get the wrong idea about us. We cannot have regimented thinking in a democracy. Where thought and its expression are free there will be debate and disharmony up to a certain point.

But when our problems clarify themselves, when out of the fog of confused events arises a clear conception of the best means of serving the national ends, national unity which has always made us impregnable will come. The fog will lift. Out of the darkness will come light and unity.

We have one flag. We will march behind it. That is the American way.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The Speaker. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his question of information.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, now in the House?

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, in the hall of the House? The chair hears no response and the gentleman apparently is not present.

SENATE MESSAGES

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 690

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 690, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections 402, 411, 703, 704, 705, 707 and 903 and to repeal section 706 of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine, (P. L. 905), entitled, "An act for the protection of the public safety, regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds." providing for the registration and fixing registration fees of commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers and semi-trailers according to gross weight; and certain motor buses and omnibuses with pneumatic tires according to equipment, fixing the maximum gross weight of such vehicles which may be used and operated on the highways; and eliminating existing provisions relating to the chassis of such vehicles.

And has appointed Messrs. Snowden, T. B. Wilson and Stiefel a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives already appointed on the subject of the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1572.

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of March one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 6) entitled "An act to enable persons associations partnerships and corporations engaged in farming and raising breeding fattening and marketing livestock to borrow money and secure the repayment thereof by the execution and recordation of chattel mortgages on livestock farm machinery farm equipment and crops and designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages" as amended by extending enlarging and removing the limitations upon the class of those who may become chattel mortgagees by making further provisions respecting the fees of recorders of deeds in connection with chattel mortgages the extension of the lien and defaults of said mortgages and by defining violations and prescribing penalties

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows: Amend Section 1, page 2, at the end of line 25, by inserting a light-faced bracket after the word "discount"; also on page 3, at the beginning of line 1, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "therewith"; also on page, line 5, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "Provisions"; also same page, line 10, by inserting a light-faced bracket after the word ."provisions"; also same page, same line, by inserting after the word "provisions" and before the word "that" the following; "Any mortgage executed under and pursuant to this act may validly include replacements of any of the mortgaged property therein described and may validly include all increase issue progency and produce of animals and live stock of all kinds and the issue increase progeny and produce of any and all property mortgageable under the terms and provisions of this act including the increase issue progeny and produce of any original increase issue or progeny A mortgage of sheep or goats shall be held to include the wool or mohair which may be clipped therefrom Provisions"; also same page, line 23, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "and" where it appears the second time in said line; also same page, line 26, by inserting a light-faced bracket after the word "kinds"; Amend Section 2, page 6, line 2, by inserting after the word "county" the following: "where the mortgagor if a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania resides at the time of execution of such chattel mortgage or if the mortgagor is not a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the office for the recording of deeds for the county"; also on page 7, at the end of line 15, by striking out the word "sections" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "section"; also on page 8, by striking out all of lines 1 to 14 inclusive as follows; "Section 5.2 When prior to release or satisfaction of the mortgage the mortgagor maliciously or with intent to defraud and without consent of the mortgagee (a) shall conceal all or any substantial portion of the chattel or chattels subject to the mortgage or remove them from the county in which they are located at the time of the execution of the mortgage or shall procure or be a party to such concealment or removal and (b) shall thereafter or in conjunction therewith purport to sell or otherwise dispose of such chattel or chattels under claim of full ownership he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) or to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year or both".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has non-concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 169.

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fourteen), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the second class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries, and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, political bodies, registration commissions, commissioners, registers, inspectors of regstration and other appointees of registration commissions, county election boards, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers registrars of vital statistics, certain public utility corporations, real estate brokers, rental agents, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," abolishing the existing registration commission for cities of the second class and providing that the county commissioners of each county in which any such city is located shall act as a registration commission therefor further regulating the appointment of employes and assistants by the registration commission and removing the present appointees providing for the consolidation of the second class city general register with the general register of cities of the third class and boroughs towns and townships of the county providing for the transfer of the registration of electors upon change of residence from a third class city borough town or township in the same county changing the period during which changes of enrollment of political party may be made eliminating preparation and distribution of preliminary street lists and permitting the destruction of certain records

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist on its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 1952 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1952, Printer's No. 1126, on page 10 of today's Calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1952, as follows:

An Act fixing the salary of the Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The salary of the Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives shall be five thousand dollars ($5,000) per annum payable semi-monthly in the manner provided by law

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Members, House Bill 1952 was introduced at the request of the Speaker by Mr. Modell without our Parliamentarian knowing it was presented, although the Parliamentarian at no time discussed this bill with the Speaker. The Chair believes that the House as a whole is of the same opinion as the Speaker, that the recognition expressed in this bill is merited.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

INTERROGATION

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLLAND. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman in his previous remarks seems to have objected to an editorial which was inserted in the record on the question of subversive activities, and objected that the particular editorial came from a newspaper which was bought with unclean money. I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny in his opinion where the money came from which financed the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Mr. HOLLAND. I could not tell the gentleman from Lackawanna that. I know it was Mr. Block's interest, and Mr. Block was a very good Republican, a man whom Mayor LaGuardia kicked out of his office in New York at one time. When Mr. Block went into the office of Mr. LaGuardia and tried to tell him how to run the City of New York, LaGuardia threw him out. I am not on speaking terms with those big monied Republicans.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state that the money to finance that particular paper was clean or unclean?

Mr. HOLLAND. That I could not tell him, Mr. Speaker. It is a Republican paper.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state whether or not, in his opinion, the money that financed the Pittsburgh Press comes from clean or unclean sources?

Mr. HOLLAND. Absolutely, Mr. Speaker, they do come from clean sources.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in his opinion, does that particular newspaper come from clean or unclean interests?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, that is hard to answer. I will have to get Dun and Bradstreet's if you want me to give you those figures. I am not acquainted with those big money men. I fight all these public utility interests. I am a poor boy.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny seems to have Dun and Bradstreet's reports on the Philadelphia Inquirer.

I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not he has read any editorials in connection with the subject he was speaking about in these particular papers?

Mr. HOLLAND. I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman read the editorial in the Harrisburg Patriot, a very good Democratic paper?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I have never resented an editorial in any paper; I have only resented the one that I know the money was blood money that bought it. I never resented or never criticized any editorial from any good newspaper in the City of Philadelphia. I do not consider the Philadelphia Inquirer an American newspaper.

Mr. CORDIER. Then, Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman say that he is in accord with the editorials in the various newspapers in the Commonwealth, which state that we should put teeth into these particular pieces of legislation?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I might tell the gentleman I do not let the papers do my thinking for me. After all, I know the editorials are from the brains of one man. He has a right to think and a right to choose in the same way this legislature does. It is a difference in opinion in America that makes America. That is why I take this floor. We fought the first world war to make the world safe for the democracy that we are fighting for now. So I think, Mr. Speaker, everybody should be given an opportunity to express his opinion on the floor. I know that this movement on subversive and un-American teaching was started by the National Association of Manufacturers, and if the gentleman so wishes I can send him a letter which I have in my home that was written over a year ago to different manufacturers, and for the information of the gentleman, I have been a manufacturer myself and I know exactly how they work. I worked in the manufacture of glass.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny in his very flowery eloquence has granted to the newspaper editors the right to do their own thinking, but would he favor granting that to everybody except the present editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, when a man is writing the editorial policy of his newspaper from his prison cell I do not think that fellow is an American.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I might add too, in answer to the gentleman, that I also read in a Philadelphia paper, I think it is in the Philadelphia Record: "M'Clure Aid Mum On What He Did With The Money."

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny one more question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will proceed.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny seems to object to people getting money for services rendered. I would like to ask the gentleman this question: does the gentleman derive any additional salary for any other particular job in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania than as a Member of the General Assembly?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I am very glad the gentleman from Lackawanna brought that matter up because I wanted to get publicity on that matter for quite some time. I as one Member of this House started a precedent, and all the Democrats on this side of the House started a precedent that has never been followed in the city of Pittsburgh before; we Democratic Members from the County of Allegheny while we are serving in this House, do not take one cent of the taxpayers' money from the taxpayers of Allegheny County or the city of Pittsburgh. I also want to answer the gentleman and state that when I return to the city of Pittsburgh I work when I get back Thursday night, I work until twelve o'clock Thursday night, I work all day Friday to twelve o'clock, I work all day Saturday until twelve o'clock, I work all day Sunday. I might tell the gentleman that I do not draw any taxpayers' money for the services that I am so glad to give.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I am not quite certain that the gentleman from Allegheny renders very good service to the people of Pittsburgh; I am wondering from his remarks when he sleeps. It is very evident from his argument and his speech before the present interrogation that the sum and substance of his whole argument is that his "lump" is up for the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say one thing, for my services to the city of Pittsburgh, if the gentleman from Lackawanna believes in editorials I refer him to my home papers, the Sun Telegraph, the Pittsburgh Press and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, for the services I am now giving as superintendent of Highways and Sewers in the city of Pittsburgh.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COOPER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the opportunity has now been given to me to also give a little publicity to some of my activities. As the only Republican from Allegheny County on the county payroll I woud ike to say that I do not get paid while I am away from Pittsburgh. I would also like to say that it is my recollection that a Republican Senator from Allegheny County, Senator Mansfield, inaugurated the precedent of not being paid while in Harrisburg.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TROUT. I would like to inquire, Mr. Speaker, whether these pigeons are doves of peace flying around?

The SPEAKER. I would like to communicate with the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, to get his opinion.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1543.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 9, 1941.

To the Honorable, The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 1543, Printer's No. 1075 for the purpose of further consideration.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. PETROSKY and LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, we ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after the word "Health" the following: "authorizing the orphans' court to appoint masters for the determination of certain questions and requiring counties to pay the compensation of such masters."

Amend Sec. 1, page 4, line 15, by inserting after the word "petition" the following: "and certificate."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, lines 1 to 5 of title, by striking out the words "for the correction of the designation and title" in line 1, and all of lines 2 to 5, both inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof: "that whenever the term "Veterans of the Spanish American War," or the term "Spanish American War Veterans" occurs or is referred to in any existing law, such term or reference shall be deemed to refer to and include the United Spanish War Veterans Inc."

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 to 4, by striking out the words "In all existing legislation affecting veterans" in line 1, all of lines 2 and 3, and the words "zations shall be corrected to read The" in line 4, and inserting in lieu thereof: "Whenever the term "Veterans of the Spanish American War" or the term "Spanish American War Veterans" occurs in any law, or whenever in any law reference is made to such veterans, or to any organization of such veterans such term or reference shall be deemed to refer to and include the."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. PAUL A. BRUNNER, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1617, (Senate Bill No. 86), entitled:

An Act requiring the court in imposing sentence to include in such sentence the costs of keeping the person in the institution to which he is sentenced for the term as fixed by the court; providing such person is or shall become, during such term, financially able to pay for the same.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BRETHERICK and JAMES.

HOUSE BILL No. 1976.

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280), entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands, and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof; requiring the receivers and collectors of county, city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes, and providing for the lien thereof; authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes, and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid; and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances," requiring the county treasurers to give written notice to each person whose taxes are returned as delinquent.

Referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

INTERROGATION

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, as we are about to recess as I understand it, until sometime this evening, whether it is his intention to take House Bill 413 from the table?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is our intention to do so this evening.

Mr. TURNER. Because, Mr. Speaker, as the matter now stands, unless the bill can be acted upon in the House today there is very little chance of the bills getting to the Senate and being passed before we adjourn.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is our intention to take up House bills this afternoon as soon as possible and the one on the table will be called up.

AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL No. 86 WITHDRAWN

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Committee on Judiciary Special I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill 86, House Bill 1672, just reported by Mr. Brunner, be reported as committed and be read for the first time. The Committee's decision was to have the bill reported as amended. I would like however to save a legislative day by having the bill reported as committed so that it can be read for the first time, and amend the bill from the floor on second reading.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen asks unanimous consent to withdraw the amendments to Senate Bill 86 and report the bill as committed in accordance with the statement made on the floor of the House. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted. The bill is reported as committed.

Pursuant to the motion heretofore adopted the following bill was read the first time.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1617, (Senate Bill No. 86), entitled:

An Act requiring the court in imposing sentence to include in such sentence the costs of keeping the person in the institution to which he is sentenced for the term as fixed by the court; providing such person is or shall become, during such term, financially able to pay for the same.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

CHIEF CLERK'S SUPPER

Members, employes, Newspaper correspondents and Legislative Engineers are invited to the Chief Clerk's Supper to be given at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Thursday evening, July 10 at 10:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, except for the fact that we are about to adjourn, I would walk over and ask the majority floor-leader this question, but instead of crossing the floor, I would like to interrogate him, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether there has been a meeting called of the Conference Committee on the two tax bills and the Tax Anticipation Note bill. I am particularly interested in the Tax Anticipation Note bill.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, there has not, although we are hoping to get to the point where we can do that, if not today, the first thing tomorrow.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, may I urge the gentleman to do all in his power to see that the report of that Conference Committee is made today? I do not think there is any great difference among the conferees any more on the Tax Anticipation Note bill.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 1313. (HOUSE BILL No. 1977).

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (Appropriation Acts page 60) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine" providing for deficiencies in certain appropriations made by the act for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 8 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 8 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARGE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this afternoon we were treated to quite a lengthy discussion on House Bill 413, which has to do with anti-Communistic legislation. The discussion was rather interesting and contained quite a bit of bufoonery, and there were many legal terms used by the different lawyers who participated in the debate. Being just an ordinary life insurance man, of course they used many legal terms with which I am not familiar, such as ex-post-facto and corpus juris and quasi something and so forth. I want to refer to that debate only very briefly and call attention to the statement which the learned lawyer on the other side of the House, Mr. Brown, made, and I want to pay tribute to his profound knowledge of the Constitution concerning which there is no question.

The gentleman seemed very much exercised about the fact that we might in the passage of this anti-Communistic legislation veer away from the Constitution. I think the gentleman is unduly alarmed about that, and I might say to him very briefly, in answer, that I wish there had been as much alarm about veering away from the Constitution by the Democratic administration in Washington as there is here in the House in reference to these anti-Communistic bills.

Another gentleman, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, spoke about the fact that we were in no danger from the soap box orators of the Communist party. I agree with the gentleman in that particular statement, as far as it goes, but we are alarmed, not about the soap box Communistic orators, but we certainly are alarmed about all these orators who might be employed in the schools of our Commonwealth and paid by the tax-payers' money.

Another gentleman on the other side of the House quoted from a newspaper editorial and spoke about a Republican newspaper that has been purchased with blood money, and so forth. I do not intend to add to the argument, except to say that I want to quote very, very briefly from a Democratic newspaper which I do not believe was purchased with blood money, a Democratic newspaper which is edited by none other than a former Legislator in this House, the Honorable Hiram G. Andrews. This editorial has already been read into the record and I am simply going to quote one sentence which is as follows:

> "The Democrats so far have been standing with the Communists, and the Democrats in the House are making a mistake."

I do not know, Mr. Speaker, what the intention of the Democratic party is going to be with regard to House Bill No. 413, which has been amended, and I am not particularly concerned about it, but I am afraid that House Bill 413 when it is taken from the table tonight will be so emasculated by amendments that it will not serve a very useful purpose. I am also alarmed by the fact that it may be passed so late it will not pass through the Senate. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I have consulted with and I have on two different occasions made pleas to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins, the Chairman of the Education Committee, to bring out Senate Bill 518, which gives us definite amendments to the Tenure Act, which gives the right to school boards to fire teachers who teach subversive and un-American philosophy. Notwithstanding the fact that I have made those appeals to Mr. Harkins, and that the same appeals have been made by other members of this Legislature, he has chosen to ignore not only those appeals, but he has chosen to ignore the appeals of the newspaper editorials, of one of his own leaders, Jack Kelly of Philadelphia, the patriotic organizations and the pleas of the patriotic people of Pennsylvania. I would like to say, Mr. Speaker, I have great regard for the Chairman of the Education Committee, and I can not understand his obstinacy in this matter. I can only explain it by telling you a story that I heard one time about a colored man who bought a mule. When he took the mule home, he left it loose in the pasture. There was one tree in the pasture and as this mule ran around the field, every time he ran around it, he bumped into that tree. So he called up Rastus from whom he had bought the mule, and said,

"What kind of mule did you sell me?"

Rastus said, "What is the trouble?"

The reply was, "every time it runs around the field it bumps against this tree; it must be blind."

Rastus said, "No, that mule ain't blind; he just don't give a damn."

Mr. Speaker, I am coming to the conclusion that perhaps that is the trouble with the Chairman of the Education Committee. I am going to be brief in this matter. Too much time has already been taken up in these debates, but I want to quote to you one little item from a Labor Herald advertisement:

> "America's highest aim is to produce good citizens. The basis of good citizenship is character."
> Then the advertisement goes on to state as follows:
> "It will be of little use for us to fight against communism, Naziism and Fascism if our children are to have no future."

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, it will be of little use for us to try to educate our children spiritually if we do not make the proper fight against Fascism, Naziism and Communism in our schools, and the sabotage in the schools of Pennsylvania will be a whole lot worse than the sabotage in the defense plants.

In order to show the people of Pennsylvania how we on this side of the House feel about Senate Bill 518 and to show that we are definitely in earnest when we say we would like to have one definite amendment to the Teachers' Tenure Act that would make it permissible for school boards to fire un-American teachers, I have drawn up an appeal as a last resort to the Chairman of the Educational Committee, and I have asked the Republican Members of this House whether they wish to go along with this appeal. Every Republican member who was present yesterday and today has signed this appeal. Out of 82 Republican Members 79 signatures are thereon, the other three were absent. I would also desire to State, Mr. Speaker, that the fourteen Republican Members on the Educational Committee have signed this appeal. It is a brief appeal and I wish to read it because I want to get it and the names of the Members thereon on the record. The appeal is as follows:

PETITION TO HOUSE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION TO REPORT OUT SENATE BILL No. 518

We, the undersigned, members of the 1941 General Assembly of Pennsylvania, desiring an amendment to the Teachers Tenure Act which would definitely give school boards the right to discharge teachers who are in sympathy with or advocate or support un-American ideals and philosophies, or un-Democratic principles, hereby petition and request the Honorable Kenneth L. Harkins, Chairman, and the members of the Committee on Education, to immediately release Senate Bill 518 passed by the Senate and referred to said Committee on Education on April 22, 1941. This bill was passed in the Senate by a vote of 46 to 1 and the minority members of the House Committee on Education have signed this petition.

Therefore, we ask and urge the Committee on Education to bring this bill on the floor of the House at once so that the members of the House of Representatives can register their votes on this important legislation.

It is my intention, Mr. Speaker, to present this appeal to the Honorable Chairman of the Educational Committee later this evening, and I want to say to the Democratic members of the House if any of you wish to sign this petition, or this appeal you can do so by coming to my desk.

I also want to say that if we adjourn this Legislature without giving the people of Pennsylvania what they want in this matter, without giving the school boards the right to fire teachers of communistic theories, then we will go down in history as having violated our oaths and as therefore having committed a political debauchery which has never been equalled in the annals of the political history of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I note with satisfaction that this political-divided legislature and the administration early today adopted an agreement ending their six-month long controversy over budget matters, which would allow us to adjourn finally at the end of this week.

Put the blame where you like for this long session, it is a matter of fact that for months, week after week, certain groups and members of the legislature have been frittering away precious time in idle partisan squabbling, introducing bills by the ton, making speeches by the thousands, and after all accomplishing very little of net value for the people of Pennsylvania.

I believe that the cheap tactics of partisan meddling brought about by any group, be it Republicans or Democrats, will come back to haunt them, and as Members of the Assembly, they will realize that they are doing not only their individual political careers a disservice by placing their ineptness so conspicuously on display, but their party's services to the State as well.

It is highly important for any leaders and groups of the Assembly, be they either in the majority or the minority, to realize that a long drawn out session is detrimental not only to the administration in power, and the people of the Commonwealth in general, but it is exceedingly important to realize that the members themselves are placed at a serious disadvantage in properly representing the people electing them.

Perhaps all, or at least the most of the members of the Assembly, have professions, business of some kind, or some other employment which certainly must be neglected to a certain extent when we are spending our time in Harrisburg, mostly taken up, as stated before, by idly witnessing partisan speeches and squabbles.

Therefore, my point is this, if we are to have the clientel of members which we are accustomed of having in the Assembly seek the office, it becomes necessary that more solid and fundamental business methods be used, harmony by all leaders and groups prevail, which in the end will allow the Members of the Assembly the opportunity of accomplishing in four months that which it has just taken six months to complete.

Without criticising any leader, party or group of this House in particular for the delays involved, I am hoping in future sessions of the Assembly these principles will be adhered to, and that all the work of the legislature can be done satisfactorily in a reasonable time, much to the advantage of the membership making up this body. And I further state that I believe I am speaking the thoughts and ideas in the minds of all the members of this Assembly.

This is the only way in which we can retain the high type of membership which our State has been accustomed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1854, as follows:

An Act to further amend section three hundred eleven of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" by protecting and regulating the retirement rights of county employes now or hereafter under any county retirement system who are required to enter active service with the military or naval forces of the United States

Section 1 Section three hundred eleven of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as last amended by the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 365) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 311 "County employes" Defined A county employe for the purpose of this subdivision of this act is any person employed by the county or by the county institution district or by any county workhouse and inebriate asylum or by the county retirement system at a wage or salary payable at stated intervals that is to say semi-monthly monthly quarterly or annually The term may at the option of the Retirement Board include any person elected by the vote of the people In all cases of doubt the Retirement Board shall determine who is an employe within the meaning of this act

Any county employe who has been or hereafter may be required to enter active service with the military or naval forces of the United States under the provisions of any act of Congress may acquire and retain all rights of county employes under this subdivision of this act during the period for which such service is required by paying into the retirement fund that amount if any which such employe would have paid had he remained a county employe and by continuing to pay into that fund the same monthly amount as was being paid at the time of entrance into military or naval service

Any county employe thus called into active military or naval service making the payments aforesaid shall have all the rights and privileges of other county employes under this subdivision

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. SHAW asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Welfare to meet during the session of the House, to consider Senate Bill No. 594.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1880, as follows:

An Act to add section three hundred twenty-eight to article three of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" defining the pension rights and obligations of certain employes of second class counties when by operation of law such employes become State employes

Section 1 Article three of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section three hundred twenty-seven a new section to read as follows

Section 328 Certain Additional Pension Rights Any member of the county pension system established and maintained by a second class county under the provisions of this article who was an employe of a county institution on the day when such institution was taken over by the Commonwealth under the terms of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled "An act relating to institutions of counties cities and institution districts for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the transfer of certain property to institution districts under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities and institution districts certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties and institution districts from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" shall continue as a member of such county pension system without further payroll deductions on account of such membership and upon retirement for superannuation after attaining the age of sixty such member shall be entitled to a retirement allowance from such county pension system which shall supplement the retirement allowance from the State Employes' Retirement System which retirement allowance shall consist of

(a) A member's annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of the accumulated deductions to his or her credit in the county pension system and

(b) A county annuity of one-one hundredth (1/100) of the average annual salary earnable by the member as a county employe during the last two years of service to the county for each year of service to such county

In the event of the death of the member while in such State service or entry upon a disability retirement allowance or in the event of withdrawal from State service or in the event of written notice at any time to the county pension system of intention to withdraw from such system the obligation of the county pension system to such member would be limited to the return of the accumulated deductions of such member to his credit in such county pension system

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon on the floor of this House a member from Allegheny County made what was to my knowledge in the almost seventeen years that I have been in the House the most vicious attack I have ever heard made by a Member of this House. In fact I have tried since this afternoon to recall whether there was ever an incident at any time during my experience here in the House when as vicious an attack, when as scurrilous attack was made by a Member of this House upon another Member.

The Member from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker, read from what he said was an editorial from a York newspaper. The gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, had advised me of this editorial, the editorial writer being a friend of his and consulting with him from time to time.

Mr. Speaker, we have been discussing a great question and a momentous question in so far as the state of Pennsylvania is concerned, and I think insofar as the people of this nation are concerned. I know it is a question that vitally affects and certainly causes a great amount of disquiet among the mothers and fathers of this state whose children are in our public schools.

I have always tried in the years I have been here to keep debate away from the personal side; I never believed that you could argue a question and put forth any kind of a substantial or logical argument if you sank to the level of personal invective or personal abuse. That is the lowest type of argument in debate. It is the kind which is resorted to, and is rather common among the Communists and the other isms that we are trying to combat, because generally when they are met with an argument they do not attempt to refute, but they attempt to destroy the person who is attacking them, their institutions and the things they are trying to promote, and they generally attack the individual and seek by abuse and villification to besmear that individual in hope that the individual's word will not carry very far.

Mr. Speaker, I might have entered into billingsgate with the gentleman from Allegheny this afternoon, I might have answered him promptly, I might have recounted to him some of the scandalous things in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. I might have told him about some of the leaders in his own group with whom he is associated in Pittsburgh, and charges that are made and have been made in the newspapers of that city. I might have talked about the No. 1 man of the party, the Democratic Senator from Pennsylvania, who you recall has not paid his income tax, but who has built a sixty thousand dollar home in Washington. I do not think such an argument, I do not think such a reply to the gentleman from Allegheny would have been in any way an argument pro or con on the issue before this House and I do not think that I would have gained anything by taking a fling of that kind. I told the gentleman from Allegheny and I told the Members of this House that I could not be intimidated nor could I be driven from the stand which I am taking, even though I must sit here and take personal abuse from now until the time the gavel falls for sine die adjournment.

Mr. Speaker, the issues are too big. What happens to Ellwood Turner is not of importance, but what happens to the people of Pennsylvania, what happens to the school children of Pennsylvania, and what happens to this country of ours is of far greater importance than I. If the gentleman from Allegheny desires to attack me personally, let him attack my record in this House. I shall not object to any attack he may make upon that record. I may answer him. I have been here for almost seventeen years, for nine regular sessions, and I don't know how many special sessions. I have stood upon this floor and have advocated legislation and the things I have stood for and the debates are on the pages of the Journal. The laws which I have sponsored and have introduced are on the statute books of Pennsylvania. I will stand on that record and will fight for it and defend it. Let me be attacked upon that source. What I do outside is my personal business and none of the business of the gentleman from Allegheny or the business of any other member of this House.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not like to take this stand, I do not believe in defenses. I have said before on the floor of this House you should never explain "because your friends don't need it and your enemies won't believe you." I would hesitate to say what I am going to say now were it not for the fact that I do not want to leave the record with the implications which were left by the gentleman from Allegheny this afternoon. You will recall that he got to talking about flag waving. He even, in a rather sarcastic and insinuating way, spoke about the fact that I have two sons who were in the army or were about to join the army. He then turned around and said, "Any person between the ages of forty-two and fifty-four in this House, where were they during the great world war?" I can only assume that the gentleman from Allegheny waved the flag and prided himself upon the fact that he had been a member of the armed forces during that time and that he was a member and is a member of the American Legion. I presume he was saying that he took his place and where was I at that time.

Mr. Speaker, I have never tried to make any boast and do not now say anything to cast particular pride upon myself, but I can not, as I said, leave the record as it is, and I would just like to say that I think I can recall during the period of 1917 and 1918 and down into the twenties that I served on drives for the Red Cross; I served on drives for the Salvation Army; I was secretary of what you would call today the Local Council of Defense; I served with the Food Administrator; I served with the Coal Administrator at that time, I was a sergeant in the First Pennsylvania Reserve Militia during the war and received an honorable discharge at the end of that time. True, Mr. Speaker, that was home defense; that was not out among the bullets, but it was doing that part which I could do. In July, 1917, as I said to you today, I had four children in my family. I was subject to the draft. I was just in the limit and in a few months I would have been out. My draft board placed me in the classification of those who are married men, but having no exemption. I claimed no exemption, I stood, as the gentleman from Allegheny would have, I presume, ready and willing to do my part. I was not called and in 1918 I applied for the officers' training camp, I think it was called either Camp Jackson or Fort Jackson. It was an artillery officers' training camp, but before I could be inducted into the service the armistice was signed and I did not get a chance to go. I am willing to compare that record with that of the gentleman from Allegheny. I do not mean to say this in a disparaging way, but the gentleman from Allegheny was drafted in June, 1918, as I am advised, and I presume that the information which I have is correct. I do not think that patriotism or Americanism depends upon those things or those fortunes that you happen to have. At that time the gentleman from Allegheny was a young man, I presume he was about twenty or twenty-one, when the war broke out. I presume he had no dependents upon him. I have answered that, not because I desire to do so, but I can not let stand upon the record the insinuations that have here been made.

I would not ordinarily pay any attention to the statements of the gentleman from Allegheny, because, while I have had a lot of pleasant associations with him, I know that when he gets riled, when his dander gets up, he is apt to erupt like Vesuvius, and he runs off at the mouth. I know he said a lot of things he did not mean, and he warned me within the week that he was going to say something this week about these things. Therefore, what he said this afternoon was premeditated, and when he attempted to defend the acts of himself and his colleagues in reference of these bills, he was throwing a smoke-screen and drawing a red herring across the trail.

The gentleman from Allegheny stands up on the floor of the House and says he believes in Americanism, the right kind of Americanism. If he believes that is the right kind of Americanism, he would be down here debating these issues upon their merits; debating them from the proper angle and not try to defend the course of action that has occurred during the past five months, until the people of Pennsylvania and the public press of Pennsylvania, until his very colleagues in the Legislature, until the Members of his own party themselves have become ashamed about their course and have demanded action here.

I apologize to you, Mr. Speaker, for taking the time and placing on the record those personal things and I feel a great amount of embarrassment in doing so, but again I say I believe the record should be clear.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this afternoon in this House I spoke first on quotations of editorials which were read to the House from the Philadelphia Inquirer. I then read from the Gazette and Daily of York Pennsylvania a column on "Education of the Public." At no time in my talk, because I would not do it, as I have the greatest respect for the gentleman from Delaware, did I refer to Mr. Turner personally. I read this column written on M'Clureism, and I did not think any member of this House is persecuting or trying to persecute in any way the gentleman from Delaware. The gentleman from Delaware has his ideas on Americanism and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, has his ideas on Americanism.

As a matter of record I would like the gentleman from Delaware to go a little further and if he wishes to look up my war record he will find that on January 8th, my birthday, 1917 I enlisted in the Canadian Army. I might add that at that time I was district sales manager of the MacBeth-Evans Glass Company, and the company had applied for my exemption. I went to France as a buck private and rose to a commission from the ranks. I attended the artillery school. I was there at the same time that young Roosevelt, Teddy's son, and Mr. Taft, the Senator from Ohio were there

Mr. Speaker, I spoke strictly on M'Clureism; I did not say anything about Turnerism. I might add that there are two trends of thought on making America safe, there are two trends of thought on saving America from isms. One of those trends of thought saved America in 1933. I was a member of that trend of thought then, New Dealism. I am still a member of the New Deal party. I would like to tell the gentleman from Delaware that I am the son of a puddler, a puddler who in 1897 was denied the right to organize, and one of the happiest moments of my life was when I stood in this House and voted on a bill that forbid the manufacturers of the United States to place on the boycott list any man who dared raise his voice to improve the social and labor conditions of his fellow workers. I say that to you because I believe I am the son of a real American, a man who during the World War served his country for two years without pay, watching the tunnel under the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company plant on the South Side of Pittsburgh.

Why should we be so worried about Communism, Naziism and Facism or any other ism? Any body politic that is not diseased, any body politic that administers to all classes in a government need never fear any foreign isms. If any foreign isms originate in the United States I will tell you where they originate. I remember, and I know the gentleman from Delaware remembers when in this state of ours the party that he represents permitted in the coal mining regions the Coal and Iron Police, those paid deputy sheriffs, to go into those communities and hammer over the head Americans who were merely asking for a decent living. I say to the gentleman from Delaware that with every blow over the head by those Coal and Iron Police, they were putting in indelible print on the brains of those people the thought that the government which permitted those atrocities was weak. But today, Mr. Speaker, we have a strong government, a government which not only represents the special interests but represents the man who works with his hands. America is a land of plenty and I say to the gentleman from Delaware that when a teacher in the public school points out to her class that monopolies exist in the United States, that due to certain crooked politicians and by graft—and I believe that anyone from Delaware County knows the meaning of graft—I say that when the teacher tells her students in the school that certain business men conspire by means of the money they have, to corrupt public officials, I say to the gentleman when they tell their pupils that they are trying to avoid a recurrence of that condition in the future, that teacher is doing her duty. It all depends on what side of the fence you are sitting when you speak about Americanism.

Last week or rather this week I was very happy to see on the first page of a newspaper of Pennsylvania, and it was news, that a son of one of our wealthiest families had enlisted in the army, Paul Mellon. I am taking my hat off to him for enlisting, but, Mr. Speaker, I think it is said when a dog bites a man it is not news, but when a man bites a dog it is news. So I say to the gentleman from Delaware that there were lots of sons of Pennsylvania who enlisted and their names did not appear on the front pages of every newspaper. May I also say to the gentleman from Delaware that I have three nephews who are now serving with Uncle Sam? I might also say to the gentleman from Delaware that I have had five cousins killed in the first month that England tried to defend democracy. Their names were Kelaghan, a very good Irish name. I do not think the gentleman from Delaware should take this matter as a personal issue. Certainly he is not the only member of this House who is an American. We are not all so-called Communists, and in his slurs he tried by inference to state that I was following the tactics used by the Communists. I might tell the gentleman from Delaware that I am a Roman Catholic, and as a Roman Catholic I do not think he would even try to accuse me of being a communist.

The gentleman from Delaware does not have to defend Elwood Turner to me. I admire Elwood Turner as a man, I admire Elwood Turner in stating what he thinks, and all I am interested in doing is permitting Elwood Turner to continue to state what he thinks. I hope Mr. Turner from Delaware County does not take the attacks I made on the floor today personally because I do not for one minute feel that Mr. Turner or the other two gentlemen from Delaware, Mr. James and Mr. Bretherick, are any part of M'Clureism, because to me M'Clureism is everything that is filthy in government. I would like to tell the gentleman from Delaware that I listened to members of his own party in the Senate, Senator Prince, say some very mean things, which were considerably, shall I say, more insulting to the face of Senator McClure than what I read out of the paper about McClureism. I am for Americanism; I am for letting the people live and express their opinions, have the right to work and the right to organize to secure a decent wage for that work. I am not in favor of the old regime that is typified by McClureism that goes back to those dark and dreary days when the mule in the mine was placed on a higher standing than the human being, the miner.

HOUSE BILL No. 413 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 413, Printer's No. 1100, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the employment by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof or by any authority or any institution receiving public funds of persons who hereafter advocate and actively participate in a movement proposing a change of the government of the United States by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States providing for dismissals under existing laws and permitting appeals to courts of common pleas and appellate courts in all such cases together with the amendments which were laid on the table, be taken from the table.

The motion was agreed to.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to withdraw the amendments I submitted the other day when this bill was before the House.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, vote on the second reading of the bill?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Tarr, vote on the second reading of the bill?

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the title was agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the various sections were agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. TURNER. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he has a copy of the amendments I sent to him yesterday, the amendments which I propose to offer?

Mr. BROWN. I believe I have, Mr. Speaker. If the gentleman will give me just a second, I have so many papers, I will have to try to resurrect the amendments.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend bill, page 1, by inserting before line 1 and immediately after the enacting clause, the following:

"Section 1. The phrase "un-American or Subversive Doctrines" shall be construed to mean doctrines which teach or advocate the overthrow of the Government of the United States of America or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by revolution, or the destruction or change of the democratic form of American Government and the substitution therefor of an undemocratic form of government by means or methods other than those provided for in the Constitution of the United States, or the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, have a copy of these amendments?

Mr. BROWN. I do not, Mr. Speaker, the copy the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, handed to me was not the amendment read by the clerk.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will furnish the gentleman with a copy of the amendments.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, for yielding.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his courtesy in yielding.

I have attempted this evening to study the amendments which I understand are to be offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. I have a copy of them before me which he very kindly sent to my desk. I have been unable to find any great difference between us except in the insertion in the bill of some words referring to counties and districts in the title. The main difference is the elimination from the amendments which Mr. Brown will offer, of the provision with respect to advocating and supporting Communism, Facism or Naziism. You will recall that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, took me to task the other day when he said the trouble with the proposals which we made was that they were indefinite, that we were dealing here with a law that should be definite; that we were going to propose changes further than he suggested and that we should get down to something definite. The differences in our thoughts, as I see it, throughout these debates, which now have lasted for several weeks, has been that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, wants the law to read in the way he originally had it, or as the amendments originally were. As I see that, a person would have to be guilty of treason before you could fire him from the state payroll or remove him as a teacher. In other words, as you may recall, you had to advocate and actively participate in overt acts. I could not see anything in that except that you would have to participate in overt acts, if those were the kind of acts which would be revolutionary, you would have to be active and use open force against the government of the United States, to change it by processes not provided for under the Constitution. That is not a satisfactory solution. What we are trying to get at is this: I think I could go along with Mr. Brown as far as he goes, but as I said before he is not going far enough. A person under that amendment could teach in the schools, communism, could advocate communism. He would not necessarily be participating in a movement to overthrow unless he had committed some overt act, and unless you put into this amendment this provision that they advocate or support Communism or Facism or Naziism, you are not striking at the very root of the evil. You are permitting the great mass of these people to go into our schools, to become public officials and to carry on their work and their efforts to change the minds of the people, to make them believe that Communism, Facism, or Naziism is the proper form of government. I do not think we have many people that are advocating Facism and Naziism except for a few of these Bunds that are in America, and they have been pretty well smoked out.

I realize that this problem is a legislative one. I do not want to seem to be embarking upon a witch hunt, and I do not want to see people falsely accused because they sometimes differ with me. I said on the floor of the House that I dislike intolerance, I hate intolerance, I believe in freedom of speech. Of course, the Communists would like to go out and talk, because they have the right to stand on the corner on a soap box and talk to the people. I have seen them in front of the Bulletin Building in Philadelphia. If you stop there for a few minutes you will hear some good arguments on any conceivable subject by some very queer looking individuals. I would not want to drive them off the street. If they want to hire a hall, let them hire a hall, as far as I am concerned. That is all right. That is within the Constitution.

Mr. Speaker, what we are trying to say to the Members of the House is this: where persons are on the public payroll, when they become members of the Department of Public Assistance, for instance, and go out into the homes of the people who are distressed, the man who is down and out lots of times, the man who feels that the world is against him, the man who feels perhaps, that the government is wrong, they do not try to buck him up, they do not try to tell him that a job is the most important thing, that he can get a job if he goes out and hustles for it, maybe he can get on W. P. A. or in some way he can find some kind of work, that there is opportunity here. Oh, no, they do not do that. They begin by insidious propaganda to undermine that individual and by sympathy to make that person believe in a change. They go into our schools. I have been told within the last week that down in Philadelphia they are giving small children fifty cents to carry pamphlets and leaflets into the schools to be read by mature people. I do not care if they give out pamphlets to mature people, who say they are one hundred per cent American and who claim they believe in the American system of government, but if we say it is unconstitutional for us to say that the teacher cannot advocate and cannot participate in a movement of that kind, then we cannot defend our government. If we say that, then we do not believe in our system of government. Are we going to supinely sit by and let these people talk to the young and to the inexperienced, to the children who are in the formative stage, from six to fourteen years of age, in our schools, not openly to advocate the overthrow of our government. No, they do not do that. They do not say to the school children that Communism is the best form of government, that Soviet Russia is the best form of government; they do not say to the school children that Facism is the best form of government, and that they ought to go out and overthrow the United States Government. They do not do that.

Take and read some of the books we have talked about. Sure, you can take the text as a whole. They are beautifully written, they are fine books, but you can find woven through them the vein of the propaganda that you know is meant to be there. You cannot help but understand that it is meant to warp the opinion, or to warp the understanding of the small child in the school.

The gentleman from Allegheny and others have said to me, you cannot define these things. They have said to me the trouble with Communism, Naziism and Facism is that you cannot define it. I think you can find a definition in some of the standard dictionaries that are very good definitions, and which cover the subject. As far as Communism is concerned, you need only take the speeches and the reports of Earl Browder; you need only take the platform of the Communist Party; you need only take the reports of the governmental agencies that tell us what the Communist Party stands for. Do you mean to say that freedom of speech goes to the point where we say we cannot stop the teacher in the school from preaching this doctrine?

Let me read a little of it. I read from "Isms, a review of revolutionary Communism and its active sympathizers in the United States," Prepared for use of American Legion Posts by the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion, National Headquarters, Indianapolis, Indiana." What I am going to read to you is from a federal report. This is what they say here:

> "In a report which the Committee Investigating Un-American Activities made to the House of Representatives on February 15, 1935, there appears the following:
> "In December, 1934, it (the House Committee Investigating Un-American Activities) held a series of public hearings at Washington, D. C., at which representatives from various organizations and agencies that have recently been investigating communism presented statements of their findings accompanied by one or more recommendations.
> "The Communist Party of the United States is not a national political party concerned primarily and legitimately with conditions in this country. Neither does it operate on American principles for the maintenance and improvement of the form of government established by the organic law of the land.
> "The nature and extent of organized Communist activity in the United States have been established by testimony and the objectives of such activities clearly defined. Both from documentary evidence submitted to the committee and from the frank admission of Communist leaders (cf Browder and Ford, New York hearing, July 12, 1934) these objectives include:
> "1. The overthrow by force and violence of the republican form of government guaranteed by article IV, section 4, of the Federal Constitution.
> "2. The substitution of a Soviet form of government, based on class domination to be achieved by abolition of elected representatives, both to the legislative and executive branches, as provided by article I, by the several sections of article II of the same Constitution, and by the fourteenth amendment.
> "3. The confiscation of private property by governmental decree, without the due process of law and compensation guaranteed by the fifth amendment.
> "4. Restriction of the rights of religious freedom, of speech, and of the press as guaranteed by the first amendment.
> "These specific purposes by Communist admission are to be achieved not by peaceful exercise of the ballot under constitutional right, but by revolutionary upheavals, by fomenting class hatred, by incitement to class warfare, and by other illegal, as well as by legal, methods. The tactics and specific stages to be followed for the accomplishment of this end are set forth in circumstantial detail in the official program of the American Communist Party adopted at the convention held at Cleveland on April 2 to 8, 1934."

Now, Mr. Speaker, are we in this House of Representatives, as men who are charged with the duty to make laws, are we here going to say we are not going to outlaw the teaching of Communism in our public schools? Are we going to say that we are going to permit those things to be taught to our children; are we going to say because we feel we do not have a sufficient definition, that we are going to permit these people to advocate that party to subsist on the public payroll and in our schools, a party that by its own admission says it is going to bring about the overthrow of this government by illegal means, a party that says it is going to destroy property rights without due process of law, as provided and guaranteed to us under the Constitution of the United States? That is the reason why a year ago I said the Communist Party should be barred from the ballot, because I do not think any member of the Communist party could take the oath of office to support and defend the Constitution, because they do not intend that the Constitution shall be supported and defended. Therefore, if this party or this objective or this cause that they openly avow and declaim, if this party is allowed to continue in Pennsylvania, if it is allowed to put out its propaganda, if its members are allowed to remain on the public payrolls where they can go out among the people and abuse their privileges by attempting to bring about a change in our government by revolutionary methods, then it seems to me it is time we fold up and tear down the Constitution in Pennsylvania, and that we put a lock upon the door. We might as well go home and allow these Communists, their fellow travelers and brethren to take over the government of Pennsylvania, and allow them to take over all our property and all our business and all our industry.

The gentleman from Allegheny said a while ago he was an American, that his father had fought for certain things, and that he had done certain things. So am I an American, and as I read the things that were said by our forefathers, that they were going to hand down to us a priceless heritage, a heritage of freedom, that they were going to hand to posterity the freedom which they had gained, the kind of freedom that was written into the Constitution of the United States, and the liberties that were written into the ten amendments with respect to certain inalienable rights, I intend as far as I am concerned to see that they don't take them away from my children and my children's children if possible, and from future posterity of this Commonwealth of ours and this government of ours.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker I ask the Members of the House to support this amendment which specifically defines the thing which I believe should be prohibited and which I think we should fight against as far as it is possible for us to fight.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in my years of service here in the House I do not think any bill has been debated as much as this bill. I feel very much chagrined at the amount of record that I have piled up in the Legislative Journal. However, I want to allay the feelings of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

We have denominated in our amendment, not the name Communism, but have said "Any advocacy of any change in our form of government by revolution or by means not provided for in the Constitution," and I think upon sober perusal of the amendments which I will present on behalf of myself and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McClanaghan, you will find that we have tried to stop the loopholes.

It doesn't make any difference whether you say Communism or some other kind of ism; a rose by any other name will smell just as sweet, and Communism by any other name is just as poisonous, so we have gone the gentleman from Delaware one better; we say "Any advocacy," so that if they wanted to change their name, and we name Communism they would be protected by his bill. Therefore when we define the term in the broad meaning we catch Communism, and if they change their name to some other kind of ism, we catch them there.

We did that because we and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, want to catch them at every turn of the road, and I want to assure the gentleman that we have not weakened the bill, but upon sober reflection he will understand that we have strengthened the bill. I think we have all been thinking along the same line in this bill; we are not so far apart, any of us.

There is one clause in his amendment with which I do not agree and which will not be in our amendment, we do not make the law ex-post-facto. After the argument this afternoon I decided to get the law in order that by reading the law I might be able to convince the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that there is such a thing as an ex-post-facto law, although it is not necessarily a penal law. If we are going to pass laws we must pass them within the bounds of the Constitution. Regardless of how we feel we are bound by the Constitution. The gentleman from Delaware this afternoon accused me of being so strictly in conformity with the law that I couldn't see anything else, and yet he says only ex-post-facto laws can be criminal laws.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I apologize to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown for breaking in on his statement, but there is nothing ex-post-facto in the amendments which I have offered. The gentleman is reading from the amendments which were offered the other day. The amendments which were prepared and are being offered now remove both the "heretofore" and the "hereafter" which the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, had inserted.

Mr. BROWN. Well now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware has changed so much that I think we had better proceed to vote down his amendments. Let us go ahead and vote down his amendments, and I assure you that with the brilliant mind of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McClanaghan, and with my mind that the gentleman said is so glued to the Constitution that I can't see anything else, we will allay the gentleman's feelings and give him the best bill for everybody. Now, the gentleman cannot complain about that.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny in his usual adroit way exploded at the end in a manner which has been increasing as the debates have gone on. I noticed in an article in a Pittsburgh paper the other day that the gentleman from Allegheny was quoted by the newspaper men as being the "coolest headed" . . .

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I rise to a question of personal privilege?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BROWN. May I state, Mr. Speaker, the year before last I nosed Mr. Turner out; this year Mr. Turner nosed me out.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, there was a dark horse in the race, anyway.

Mr. Speaker, I started out to say the gentleman from Allegheny was accorded the place of honor as the coolest headed man in the House. I hope adjournment will catch up with us before the gentleman voids the vote given by the newspaper men, because his temper has been gradually rising in each of his debates.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, says that my amendments are changing. Well, Mr. Speaker, if anybody reads what Mr. Brown was advocating a week or ten days ago, and then reads what he now advocates in these amendments, I would say his amendments have almost caught up to mine. The definition of "un-American" and "subversive" were taken from my amendments, and he has got ten, almost everything in his now but Naziism Communism and Fascism, and he also took out the "heretofore". We had taken out the "hereafter" but I see he put that back in again.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, has a great reputation as a constitutional lawyer in this House, and I think we all admire and have admired for a number of years the fact that he was always well prepared on the subject upon which he spoke; that he generally spoke on legal matters and that he showed that he had made research, but he has hung so close to the constitution that someone on this side of the House said today that instead of his attacking the Communists, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, wanted to put us almost on the defensive with regard to the Bill of Rights.

I can agree with all the legal conclusions of the gentleman from Allegheny, except I differed with him this afternoon because I think he was quoting Purdon's Digest at me; I could quote another book if he wants it in order to contradict him on that one. That isn't the question here; the question is that under Mr. Brown's interpretation you are not going to catch the skunk.

Mr. Brown says "I think the smell is just as sweet." I think it stinks, and therefore I think we ought to go to the root of the thing, but you are not going to get at the root of the thing with these amendments if Mr. Brown has his way. We have engendered a lot of heat that I fear in these debates may cause us to go off on a tangent, but there is only one right way that I can see. Why defend these people? Why try to protect them? Why do we say that the school teacher who advocates these things shall be protected? Because Mr. Brown said he or she has freedom of speech to advocate these things? I say and you know they do not, not in the public schools or on the public payroll. Outside, yes, and that is our difference of opinion and I think the vote today will show where we stand.

I think it was the gentleman from Lackawanna who said "Let them stand up and be counted. Let us see where we stand and what we stand for." Why hide behind technicalities? Why recite the Bill of Rights? Why talk about any freedom of speech? Certainly you know that the people we are trying to get at do not believe in freedom of speech, they do not believe in the freedom of religion. The gentleman from Allegheny said he was a Roman Catholic, and we know the fight that the Roman Catholic Church has made. Why? Because they know that Fascism, Naziism and Communism are all against the Church, they are against religion. We know that Communism swept it out and we know Naziism came along next. Race hatreds, religious hatreds, intolerance are all in this thing Then why say that you are going to stand up and defend them? You say you are a friend of minority groups; you are afraid of somebody being caught in a witch hunt; you are afraid that somebody will wrongfully accuse them. I admire the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, for standing here to protect the rights of the minority. I admire his stand that not one person should be persecuted or wrongfully accused if we can avoid it, but I am thinking on the other hand of the festering sore that we have. You can read the report I read, and from that report you will know what is going on in this country of ours.

Can we stamp it out? It appears that unless they march down the street and take brickbats, swords and daggers to go out and overthrow the government, we have no way of getting at them. I don't believe that is true.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, hit the nail on the head a few moments ago when he said this side of the House has been trying to protect the Constitution and maintain the Bill of Rights. That is exactly, Mr. Speaker, what the Members on this side of the House have been insisting on from the beginning.

I also understood the gentleman from Delaware in his remarks just now to say that the bill under the amendments as proposed by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, would permit teaching of Communism in the public schools by public school teachers. I say, Mr. Speaker, that under the amendments which Mr. Brown has indicated he will present, the advocacy of any un-American doctrine, any doctrine for the overthrow of the government by revolution or by any means not permitted by the Constitution would be outlawed, whether it would be the advocacy of a doctrine by a teacher in the schools or out of the schools. So I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, in his usual able and adroit way, has been trying to be on both sides of the question at the same time.

I have before me a record of the debate of the gentleman from Delaware in the 1937 session when he debated the tenure question. I would feel, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman was absolutely sincere and earnest in his advocacy of his position, if he maintained his record all through his legislative career that he does in some of the sessions. In 1937, his statements read almost identically with the statements he made in the 1941 session, but in the 1939 session we see nothing in the Journal. I see no act proposed whereby those who now decry the efforts of this part of the House to maintain the Constitution and the Bill of Rights; I see no effort on the part of the now minority to take care of this situation, which all through the 1937 session the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, knew existed in as severe a manner as he now says it does. I say it is a test of sincerity on the part of the Republican Party. If their leaders believed this situation was so bad in 1937, that when they had control in 1939, they could have done something about it and not now try to defame every honest and sincere school teacher in the Commonwealth. I don't know why it is that only the Republicans seem to know so much about the Communists unless perhaps they have been consorting with some of them. We Democrats don't seem to know so much about the Communistic activities that have been going on.

We are sincere when we tell you that the people we represent that is, the districts that we represent are composed of good, honest citizens, who don't know about these things that you folks seem to be troubled by. I say further that the gentleman from Delaware is absolutely right when he talks about the oppressive forces of Naziism and Communism, but I say, Mr. Speaker, the thing that led to those forces being successful in the governments wherein they have become paramount was first the abolition of freedom of the press, abolition of freedom of speech.

I want to hark back to the Legislative Journal of March 31, 1937, and I want to refer the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to No. 37 of Volume 21 of that session. I want to read for the record of this House a part of the statement of the gentleman on the question of sedition on his amendment to include sedition as a cause for dismissal of teachers. I want to read from that page the following statement:

> "When we have speeches made not only in our cities but in the Halls of Congress of the United States, of organizations that are supplying money and literature and propaganda in order to destroy our form of government, not to improve it, not to make changes in the machinery that may be necessary, but to absolutely destroy our idea of government that our forefathers laid down—I want to say to you that as far as I am concerned I am willing to infringe somewhat upon the freedom of speech of some of these people, if that be necessary, in order that we may not here have people who are undermining, boring and sapping into this Government of ours, and into our schools, in order to teach doctrines that are subversive to our Democratic form of government that we have under our Constitution."

Now, I say, Mr. Speaker, that regardless of how well-meaning the gentleman from Delaware is, regardless of how much his purpose may be similar to our purpose, he can never destroy one iota of the right of freedom of speech or anything else without likewise endangering his own freedom of speech, and I say that that which goes before Communism, Naziism and Fascism and all other types of subversive activity is the abolition of the right of freedom of speech. So if the gentleman from Delaware will only bear with us and give us credit for being equally as patriotic and equally as desirous of passing good laws and accomplishing good results, I think he will vote for our amendments when they are presented, and he will be satisfied with them in the end.

I think, Mr. Speaker, he can go home at the end of this Session and say to his constituents, who are intensely interested in this subject, "although I did not when I was Speaker of the House in 1939 accomplish a reform of this nature, I was most interested in the Session of 1941 wherein the Democratic House did pass a bill which will tend to cure that situation."

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I think this is the second time that the gentleman from Allegheny has referred to a 1937 statement of mine and the 1939 session. It would be a long story for me to attempt to go over the 1939 session. I know the battle that we put up in 1937, trying to get into the Teachers Tenure Act some of the things we are now trying to do here, and I remember that it was the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins, and his Democratic colleagues in 1937 who prevented those things from going into the Teachers Tenure Act as it was then written. Now they come forward at the revival services, after hanging back in the rear seats for five months, since January; they are coming down the aisle, hitting the saw dust trail, singing Hallelujah. They are getting on board the band wagon and they are going to grab the flag, because as the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, said in his published statement of yesterday or today—anyway within the last few days—that these amendments would not bear Elwood Turner's name, they would bear the Democratic label. I know that the Bible says you can repent in the eleventh hour and the Lord is going to welcome you across the threshold if you do repent. I imagine the gentleman from Philadelphia, Rev. Shepard, knows more about that question; he ought to know more about repentence; he will have more of it to do than the others, nevertheless it would be amusing if the subject were not so serious, to see the boys march down the aisle with their flags and shouting "Hallelujah, praise the Lord". We have got ourselves on the right side. We will pass this legislation against subversive and un-American activities." Subversive and un-American, you will remember that was ripped out of the section a week ago and then put back again. "It is now part of our Democratic platform, it is a part of our Democratic proposal, a part of our Democratic program; we are going to go out and tell the people of Pennsylvania how we put it across when the Republicans failed to do it."

Well, if you can get anything out of this go ahead. I think the people of Pennsylvania are a pretty sensible lot of people, and I think the school teachers of Pennsylvania are a sensible lot of people.

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, are we still a House of Representatives or are we turning into a mad house, that a speaker who is debating a very serious topic on the floor of this House cannot speak without being interrupted by a bunch of singers.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair insists that the members show respect to the gentleman who has the floor and the Chair requests the gentleman who is singing to please cease.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it doesn't annoy me a bit, because I thought the gentleman was just filled by that same religion that I talked about and was so happy about the amendments that he was just singing and therefore I wouldn't interrupt him for a moment. I will join him and help him sing when these amendments are adopted.

The gentleman from Allegheny was very unfair when he said something about my accusing all the school teachers. I do not remember just exactly how he put it. I repeat that the Communistic school teachers in Pennsylvania are in a great minority. I have talked with plenty of school teachers. I spent half an hour last night talking with one of the leading teachers in Pennsylvania, talking on some of these subjects, trying to get her viewpoint straightened out on what some of you Democrats told her my viewpoint was.

I have in my hand a letter from a school teacher—I don't know him—I won't read it all; it comes from another county. He starts off by saying

> "I wish to congratulate and commend you for your fight for legislation to remove from our schools every teacher who has in the past, or shall in the present or future, have any Communistic, Facist or Nazi affiliations or sympathies. I trust that you will block adjournment of the Legislature until your original bill is enacted into law.
> "I am a Philadelphia school teacher. I regret that the Teachers Union 'A. F. of L. Communist indicted,' has made it appear that the teachers as a whole are opposed to this legislative action. Of course, this is not true. The Teachers Union consists of but a mere handful of the actual teaching force in Philadelphia." Then he goes on to say "It is about time we begin, before it is too late, right in the schools to root out those who believe in and encourage the overthrow of our government."

Then I have in my hand an article from a Pittsburgh paper which relates to the meeting in Boston of the National Education Association. It says

> "One resolution drafted for presentation to the organization's 79th convention declared: 'Neither freedom of speech nor academic freedom should be used as a cloak for activities or teachings subversive to the fundamental principles and ideals of the United States.'"

And they proposed the establishment of a commission to study and gave it money. Then I would like to call to the attention of those great constitutional thinkers on the other side of the House this statement when they get talking on the Bill of Rights. This is from Thomas Mann: "Democracy must never allow any group to exist that would destroy a democracy."

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, why the particular bills he mentioned were not enacted in the 1939 session, if he is able to tell me. I notice that the answers he gave a few moments ago were incomplete, and if it is a long story I would like to have it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I presume the House has a lot of time; I am not going any place, and I know a good many of our members haven't any money to go any place, so if the wish of the gentleman from Allegheny prevails, I would like to start on the story in 1937 because that is back of what we did in 1939.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins, did not ask that question seriously. He knows just as well as I do that in 1937 and in 1939 we advocated it but in 1939 we didn't get any place with it, and therefore I don't see that that has anything to do with it, because even if the gentleman from Allegheny's inferences are correct he ought to accord me the same right to repent that I accorded him.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I take it that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, has answered the question, and I think it is self evident that the reason was the Republican party, then in control of the Legislature, both Houses and with a Republican Governor, knew there was no necessity for it, and they just didn't do it. The only thing that is necessary to be done will be done when Mr. Brown's amendments are put into the bill.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman has raised the question I think it ought to be answered and the true story ought to be told in connection with it.

As a matter of fact, practically all the problems of the last session that were dealt with were dealt with originally by this House. The one problem that was left to the Senate to deal with was the problem of the Teachers Tenure bill, and that problem was dealt with by a Senate that was practically evenly divided between the Democratic and the Republican parties. I can say to you, Mr. Speaker, without fear of contradiction that the group on this side favored the amendments to the Teachers Tenure bill that they proposed in 1939, but the reason they were not written into the Teachers Tenure bill was because of two gentlemen in the Senate, Senator Mundy and Senator Shapiro who proposed a different system, and I believe the gentleman who raised the question was in accord with that movement which kept from being written into the Teachers Tenure bill the things which we on this side felt should be written in. If he will recall, he will remember that the Teachers Tenure bill was amended in the very last week of the session. It went to conference committee and there was a great deal of discussion at that time about the two gentlemen whom I mentioned in the Senate, Members of the Democratic party, who had made agreements to go along with certain phases of the Teachers Tenure bill, which apparently was changed later, and they eventually did not go along. That is the answer to what happened to the Teachers Tenure bill in 1939 and the provisions relative to subversive activities.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, tell the House what the amendments to the Teachers Tenure Act were in 1939?

Mr. WOODSIDE. In 1939, Mr. Speaker, the Teachers' Tenure Act was amended to set up a rather complicated system of passing upon the merits of school teachers. I will get the Pamphlet Law for the gentleman if he is anxious to determine in detail. I do not remember all the details of it. As I said, it was the single problem that was left to the Senate in the 1939 session, because the Senate was evenly divided and the House was predominantly Republican. The majority on this side started all bills of any consequence, dealt with all other problems on this side and left that one problem to the Senate. Senator Shapiro and Senator Mundy dominated and controlled and influenced to a very large degree the amendments to the Teachers' Tenure Act. Although they were an improvement over the act of 1937, they still did not meet the situation that we felt should be met in 1937 and in 1939, but we had to take what we could get through the Senate. The gentleman knows we did not control the Senate at that time.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the gentleman that I asked a question and I would like him to answer the question and not make a speech.

The question that I asked the gentleman was, what effect the amendment had on the Teachers' Tenure Act. What I want to know is what changes were made; I do not want the specific amendments.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have sent for the Pamphlet Law and I will read what the changes were.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman insists upon it,—

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman asked for it.

Mr. LOVETT. All I asked for, Mr. Speaker, is that the gentleman outline to the Members of the House the changes that were made in the Teachers' Tenure Act by the amendments.

Mr. WOODSIDE. The only answer to that, Mr. Speaker, is what is in the 1939 Pamphlet Law. The gentleman could get that himself; that is the only answer to it.

Mr. LOVETT. I would like further to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, while we are waiting for the Pamphlet Law.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he knows that Mr. O'Brien on this side of the House in the session of 1939 introduced legislation amending the Teachers' Tenure Act, outlawing Communist teachers and party under the Teachers' Tenure Act, and what happened to those bills?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not recall that any such bills were in the House. They may have been, but I am saying again to the gentleman that the amendments to the Teachers' Tenure Act were the problem that was dealt with by the Senate, and that we had to determine what could be gotten through the Senate.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman on the other side does not recall the three bills that were introduced by Mr. O'Brien, outlawing the Communist Party, I would like to inform him and the other Members of the House that there were such bills introduced during the 1939 session, in February, and I would appreciate if the gentleman will kindly tell us why there was not some action on these bills at that time, since he was the leader on the Republican side during that session.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I do not recall the bills at all, Mr. Speaker, at that time. I do not know that in 1937, we made a fight on what seemed to me to be the most important issue, and that is the question of the teacher in the schools. That was the important issue before us, and I know in 1937 we made a fight on it, and in 1939 we felt the same way about it, and we felt very much discouraged when the situation developed in the Senate as it did.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether workmen's compensation and other labor bills were not more important than worrying about the Communistic bills that we have before us today?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that we have anything before us today that is more important than the teaching of Communism or the teaching of subversive activities in the public schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the United States of America; nothing is more important than that.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel that in 1939 it was just as important as it is now?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I do, Mr. Speaker, and I did; I felt it was just as important in 1937. It may not have been as important in 1937 or 1939 as it is today, but I felt it was tremendously important at that time. It is growing progressively more important.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman thought in 1939 it was just as important as it is today, I spent my time in the session of 1939 and I didn't hear the gentleman or any other gentleman on the other side of this House requesting that these bills be acted upon during the 1939 session.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Well, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman on the other side didn't take any action on it that I heard about; they never said anything to me about it. Maybe we didn't pay as much attention to some of these Democratic bills as we should have at that time, but I tell the gentleman again that it was the most important subject before us; I have explained how we felt about it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state in answer to the statement of the gentleman on the other side, that we on this side of the House during the 1939 session were so busy trying to save what liberal legislation passed in 1937 that we left it to the gentlemen on the other side to introduce the bills here in the House, and we left it to them to have them enacted into law in 1939, when they were in power. I think the gentleman will admit there was no action taken on those bills, and they died in committee. If the gentleman has the law and the changes I will appreciate his reading it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, my lawyers haven't been able to find the amendments yet.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, through with his interrogation?

Mr. LOVETT. I am not, Mr. Speaker, I am waiting for the law and for an answer.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, section 1201 of the school code was amended by Act 274, page 482, of the Pamphlet Laws of 1939. This is going to be a ten page pamphlet law reading here. I don't know whether the House wants to go through with it or not. I will be glad to give it to him and I will be glad to submit it in the record if the gentleman would care to have it, but I do not think we ought to take the time of the House to read it into the record.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not insist that the gentleman read the Pamphlet Laws of 1939. I only asked that the gentleman give the information to this House, or at least to the new Members, as to just what the change was in the Teachers' Tenure Act by the amendments offered in 1939.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I told the gentleman it did several things. In the first place, it set up a probationary period, and in the second place it set up a method of rating teachers. That method of rating teachers can only be explained accurately by reading into the record what the provisions of the act are. It creates the term, "professional employes," and defines professional employes. Then it has some provision relating to temporary employes, and then provides a method of rating.

Mr. Speaker, I think this matter is entirely off the point, I will be glad to put into the record, if the gentleman wants it, all of that Act, but it is a matter of public record; he can get it in the Pamphlet Laws. I will give it to him right here if he wants to read it, but his interrogation is entirely off the point.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to differ with my good friend, Mr. Woodside, on the other side. As a Member of this House, I have always been courteous to the Members on the other side; I have never made it a personal issue or even a party issue. The only reason I asked the gentleman to explain the amendments to the Teachers' Tenure Act is that I want to ask the gentleman whether he feels the amendments of 1939 curbed in any way Communistic teaching or subversive actions or teaching by school teachers in the state of Pennsylvania. Will the gentleman please answer that question?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, to some extent I would say yes; not to a very large degree; not to a satisfactory degree by any means. However, as a result of the necessity for rating as a school teacher, that school teacher might be a little bit more careful not to teach Communism in the school for fear that it might in some way affect his rating as a teacher, and that would, of course, be particularly true of a teacher on probation. It is rather indirect and not by any means to any satisfactory degree does this amendment prevent the teaching of Communism in the schools, but I would say it might in some remote degree discourage the teaching of Communism in the schools. There is also a provision in this act for rating teachers except in cases of suspended teachers, and that, of course, might have some slight effect and discourage the teaching of Communism.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside. Due to the fact that he is at a disadvantage in attempting to inform this House that the amendments in 1939 had anything to do with communistic teaching in our schools, I would honestly say to the members of this House that the amendments offered in 1939 in no way had anything in the world to do with communistic teaching in the schools of Pennsylvania. I further want to say that from my knowledge of the probationary period, which I think was a matter of two years, it was a very lame amendment. The criticism which we received in my community on the Teachers' Tenure Act was the fact that married women taught school.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, are we now on the Teachers' Tenure Bill or are we on this House Bill 413?

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot answer that question. Much latitude has been permitted and taken.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baker, for yielding.

I thought at that time that the amendments to the Teachers' Tenure Act were protecting married teachers and the old teachers who already had served their probationary period under the Teachers' Tenure Act. I want to say to this House that I feel that the amendments of 1939 in no way curbed communistic teaching in our schools, but the gentlemen on the other side were possibly too busy enacting the Delaware County Authority Act whereby the people of the state of Pennsylvania could be swindled out of more money rather than interesting themselves in subversive activities.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I now move the previous question.

The previous question was seconded by Messrs. Stank, Paul A. Brunner, Marks, Wright, Verona, Polaski, Reynolds, Shaw, Moul, DiGenova, Komorofski, Tate, Heatherington, Woodring, Cochran, Boies, O'Neill, Munley, Melchiorre, Kolankiewicz and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in order that we might be clear, since there has been so much debate since I arose to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I reiterate my request that the members vote down these amendments.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Turner and Mr. Woodside and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

Messrs. BROWN and McCLANAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, we desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the bill, page 1, by inserting before line 1, the following section:

Section 1. The phrase "un-American or subversive doctrines" shall be construed to mean doctrines which teach or advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by revolution, or the changing of the form of the government of the United States or of the government of Pennsylvania by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in order that the Republican position on these amendments may be put clearly in the record I wish to say that we propose to vote for them. We feel that half a loaf of bread is better than none at all. We feel further that these amendments are by far the best proposition that has come from that side of the House during this session. We feel, however, Mr. Speaker, that they fail in one very important particular.

I merely wish to give one single example of wherein I think this amendment fails, and I will not continue the debate any longer than to recite this one example:

Suppose I am a school teacher and I believe in the Communistic system of government. I am a man teaching civics in the eighth grade in the public schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I say to those children

"Boys and girls, the democratic system of government is not right; it is not right because A, B, C, D, and E,"—and I give them a lecture on all the things I feel are wrong with the democratic system of government. Then I turn to them and say:

"Now, boys and girls, the government of Soviet Russia, the communistic government is a much better system for this, this, this, and this reason." I teach that day after day and week after week, but I always end my talk to those children by saying:

"Now, boys and girls, you shouldn't go out and use force, because I do not believe in using force, but you go out and use your influence to bring about this form of government by amending the Constitution."

I think it is perfectly proper, as has been said by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, for a person to go out on a street corner and cry that to high heaven at all times or at any time; I think it is all right for a person to hire a hall and speak in those terms, because a man has a perfect right under our freedom of speech amendment to the Constitution to do that thing. But I do not think it is right that we as a Commonwealth should pay a teacher to teach that kind of thing to our boys and girls, and that kind of thing cannot be touched by this amendment.

In that respect this amendment fails and does not go far enough. As I said before, it is the best thing that has come from that side of the House, and we propose to vote for it for that reason.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the amendments that have been offered by the gentleman on this side of the House. While it may be true that they do not go as far as the gentleman from Dauphin would like to see them go, they go a long way further than anything that came out of the Legislature in 1939 when the Republican party was in control of both Houses of this Legislature.

Mr. Speaker, there has been an attempt to brand the Democratic party as the Red party, that is, those who protect the Reds. If there has been any protection of the Reds in this Legislature it was done in 1939. The gentleman in answer to an inquiry said that the reason why, or he inferred that the reason why they didn't get any anti-Red bills through the Legislature in 1939 was because of the opposition of two minority Senators, Senator Mundy and Senator Shapiro. They must have been mighty powerful. I do not understand how it is that they got through every other item of their Republican program in 1939. They got it through even by getting over some of the Democratic Senators. If they got their program through in 1939, why didn't they get through some of this anti-Red legislation?

Representative O'Brien introduced three bills to carry out this program in the 1939 Session. They slumbered in the committee, and with all of the power that the Republicans had in this House, they did nothing about those bills, and now when they lost control of the House they are yelling to high Heaven that the Democrats are protecting the Reds.

Mr. Speaker, the Republican leadership has never yet explained to the satisfaction of the Members on this House, nor will they explain to the satisfaction of the people of Pennsylvania, why they did not pass these anti-Red bills in the 1939 Session.

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Somerset will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, what is the text of the address of the gentleman who is speaking? Is he speaking on the amendments?

Mr. SHEPARD. I am, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman answered that question himself. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of these amendments, and in reference to the label that the Republican minority has tried to put on the Democratic majority in this House, I say again that if anybody has protected the Reds, it was the Republican party in 1939. The gentleman from Delaware said he felt this was a burning issue in 1937 and in 1939. Why didn't he do something about it then? He had to wait until the Democrats got into control of this House, and the only thing that has ever been done has been done by this Democratic majority. I repeat, if there has been any coddling of the Reds, if there has been any protection of the subversive influence, it has been by the Republican majority in 1939, and I am happy that this House, controlled by Democrats, has decided to do something about the issue that the Republicans knew about many, many years ago and did nothing to cure. I insist, Mr. Speaker, on a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regrets that he did not have an opportunity to recognize the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall, on really the first time he asked to be recognized. This is the first time the gentleman has taken the floor.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I believe we have wandered far afield. I have listened with a great deal of interest to the leaders who have spoken. It seems to me we are trying to legislate for a present crisis and what happened in 1939 was an academic question more or less, because the march of Hitler's army and the terrible effect of the fifth columnists and other activities was not apparent until after September 1, 1939. By all means, gentlemen, let us legislate for a present emergency.

Mr. McCLANAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, there were remarks made here by the gentleman from Dauphin to the effect that the most important matter before the public is this ism bill. There was a defense air port bill that went out of the House on May 6th, introduced by Mr. Nagel and myself. Over in the Senate they buried that bill in the garbage can. Senator Robert M. Miller presented a bill of his own. He is the Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs. He is from Kingston, Luzerne County. That gentleman played with that bill for two months and a half and it has been on the Governor's desk since July 1st. This is a defense bill, a defense airport bill. This bill that we are now discussing is not as important as the defense airport bill. If the gentleman from Dauphin has any influence with his side of the House, I hope he will have the Governor sign that bill.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I welcome at last the Reverend Shepard in this great jubilee. We are glad to have him under our protective tent. There have been a lot of assertions made on this particular piece of legislation. We have gone back into ancient history, and I am a little bit confused as the sponsor of this legislation, as to its real intent after listening to some of the speeches. The Reverend Shepard referred to 1939 and wondered why these particular pieces of legislation slumbered in committee. Well, the record does not show that the Reverend Shepard rose upon his feet, or anybody on the other side of the House rose upon their feet to do anything about it, or to insist that they come out of committee. So, of course, these are superficial arguments. We are concerned here primarily with this great question, and whatever we put in the record, of course, will be read and considered by the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote "aye" on these amendments. In voting "aye," I do so because I believe that while they are not as strong and clear in definition as our amendments, they are a step in the right direction. The Republicans in the House, being in the minority, must accept this half a loaf on this question. We have served notice by our fight on this vital question for the last few weeks on the Democratic majority, that there is a clear demand by the vast majority of our citizens definitely to rid the Commonwealth of this scourge.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening to this debate for quite some time over the past three weeks. I think in all fairness to the Members of this House the Speaker should direct the Clerk to call the roll and require each one to express his viewpoint on this bill.

Mr. McCLANAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say just one word regarding the example that has been cited here this evening regarding the amendments offered by Mr. Brown and myself. These amendments clearly define what are un-American and subversive activities. They define them as follows:

> "The phrase 'un-American or subversive doctrines' shall be construed to mean doctrines which teach or advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by revolution,"—and then let me repeat those words again, "Teach or advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by means not provided for in the Constitution of the United States or the Constitution of Pennsylvania."

We say that it refers to a person who teaches that our form of government is all wrong and that a form of government such as Soviet Russia has is correct or desirable, but to say that such a person does not advocate violence is to misstate the facts. It is well known that it is a cardinal principle of Communism to advocate the overthrow of government by force. To say that you advocate Communism but deny that you advocate the use of force to overthrow the government is not to say that you do not advocate or teach a change in the form of the government in a manner not provided for in the Constitution. These amendments will cover that situation. If a person teaches or advocates a change in the form of government in a manner not provided for in the Constitution, they are covered by these amendments.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I now move the previous question.

The previous question was seconded by Messrs. Elliott, Paul A. Brunner, Stank, Marks, Wright, Finestone, Kolankiewicz, Polaski, Reynolds, Verona, Shaw, McLane, Gryskewicz, Malloy, Herman, Cochran, O'Brien, Heatherington, DiGenova, Woodring, Komorofski and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Brown and Mr. Shepard and were as follows:

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE BILL No. 1543 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives, as follows:

House Bill No. 1543, entitled:

An Act providing a method for supplying, perfecting and recording birth records of certain persons whose births have not heretofore been made a public record, or whose record of birth is incomplete or incorrect; making such records competent legal evidence; prescribing fees; and imposing certain duties upon the orphans' court

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the votes had on final passage and third reading were reconsidered in the House and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill as amended will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE BILL No. 90 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives, as follows:

House Bill No. 90, entitled:

An Act providing for the correction of the designation and titles of all organizations of veterans of the Spanish American War in all present legislation affecting veterans by designating such organizations as United Spanish War Veterans Incorporated.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the votes had on final passage and third reading were reconsidered in the House and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill as amended will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 352, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employes retirement system in counties of the fourth and fifth class; imposing certain charges on counties, and prescribing penalties.

Senate Bill No. 418, entitled:

An Act requiring the Governor of the Commonwealth to issue a proclaimation setting apart September thirteenth of this year as Commodore John Barry Day.

Senate Bill No. 566, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of section twenty-seven of the act, approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein, and suits against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," by further regulating the discharge of charges on real estate.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 820, (PRINTER'S No. 1070), FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 820, (Printer's No. 1070), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine (P. L. 184), entitled "Mercantile License Tax Law," as amended, exempting from the mercantile license tax so much of the business of manufacturers and mechanics as comprises the vending of goods of their manufacture from their factories and workshops be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

SENATE NON-CONCURS IN RESOLUTION

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate nonconcur in the Resolution.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EALY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PRESIDENT. I desire to ask the gentleman from which house did the recall question emanate, the Senate or the House?

Mr. EALY. The resolution has been sent over by the House.

Mr. COLEMAN. Does the gentleman have any information as to whether or not the Department of Justice has asked for the recall for the purpose of amendment?

Mr. EALY. I do not have that information, Mr. President, but if it should be determined that is the case, the Senate could then recede from its present action.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 95 CALLED UP FROM THE TABLE

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I now call up from the table House Resolution No. 95, and ask its immediate adoption.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The resolution was read as follows:

REQUESTING GOVERNOR TO SET ASIDE MAY 3RD AS "CORN FLOWER DAY" IN HONOR OF POLISH WAR VETERANS

In the House of Representatives, May 20, 1941.

Whereas, The Polish Army Veterans Association of America, is an organization of veterans composed of the Polish Army who enlisted as volunteers in 1917 and 1918 from the United States for service with the Polish forces in France and in Poland; and

Whereas, By special permission of the State and War Department and by proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson the Polish Military Commission was authorized to recruit from among the Poles in the United States volunteers for the army after this country entered as a participant in the World War on the side of the Allies; and

Whereas, In addition to the 250,000 soldiers of Polish extraction who served in the AEF the Poles contributed some 27,000 volunteers for service with the Polish Army in France who trained at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario, and at Fort Niagara, N. Y.; and

Whereas, Ninety per cent of these men saw service in France in 1918 and later in Poland in 1919 and 1920 and upon termination of hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia they were returned to the United States under an agreement between this country and Poland; and

Whereas, In May 1921 the Polish Army Veteran Association of America was formed in Cleveland, Ohio, for the sole purpose of aiding the physically disabled and otherwise incapacitated veterans; and

Whereas, The task that lay before the founders and succeeding leaders of the organization was tremendous inasmuch as neither the American nor the Polish governments felt any responsibility for the care of these unfortunates for purely technical reasons; and

Whereas, With each succeeding year the need for aid for these disabled veterans has grown; and

Whereas, This association has found a method of raising funds by adopting the corn flower as its official flower and selling it on the highways in a manner similar to that in which poppies are now sold; be it therefore

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to issue a proclamation setting aside May 3rd 1942 and May 3rd of all succeeding years as "Corn Flower Day" so that the corn flower may be sold by the Polish Army Veterans Association of America and the proceeds of such sales applied to the maintenance and upkeep of disabled Polish war veterans.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, as one of those who witnessed the valor, the courage and the military efficiency of the Polish Autonomous Army, which was a division of twenty-seven thousand men raised in the United States from Poles who had come to America but served with the French Army under the command of General Holleran, I would like to speak in favor of this resolution. They did a notable work in France on the Western Front during the days of the World War, and I am heartily glad they have formed an association to revive their memories of that strenuous period and I think perhaps we should help them with this resolution. I shall vote "aye" with very great pleasure.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Stiefel,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Becker,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Carr,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Thomas,

Crowe,	James,	Ruth,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,	Jaspan,	Snowden,	Woodward,
Dent,	Kephart,	Stevenson,	Ziesenheim,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. As I understand it the resolution that I introduced last night relative to the Schuylkill County rioting was sent to the Committee of State Government. Is that right?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on State Government, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Lehigh tell me whether he has any plans for a meeting of the Committee on State Government today?

Mr. TALLMAN. I do not, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Does the gentleman mean he does not know of any plans or he can not tell me?

Mr. TALLMAN. I do not have any plans at the moment, Mr. President, for a meeting of that committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Lehigh know that the Governor issued a public statement this morning, in a news release, in which he agrees that a Senatorial investigation should be held relative to the matter in question.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I have no such knowledge.

Mr. DENT. I have a copy of the release should the gentleman from Lehigh care to see it.

I think, Mr. President, it is very important that a meeting be held of the Committee on State Government in order that we can comply with the Governor's wish and conduct this investigation up in the anthracite region to save, if we can, more bloodshed and rioting.

Therefore, Mr. President, I make the formal request, as a member of this Senate, to the gentleman from Lehigh, that he ask for a recess to call a meeting of the Committee on State Government to act upon that resolution.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. STEVENSON, from the Committee on Appropriations, re-reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 261, entitled:

An Act for the extension of Capitol Park in the City of Harrisburg and for the acquisition of real estate in connection therewith and for the demolition of the buildings and structures thereon; and making an appropriation.

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1183, (House Bill No. 1662), entitled:

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCES

Mr. HEYBURN, from the Committee on Conference, is requested to make a report on House Bill No. 663, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one; evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues, levied, assessed, collectable, and accruing during such two fiscal years; defining the powers and duties of the Governor, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer in relation thereto; providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans; and making an appropriation.

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

He also, from the Committee on Conference, is requested to make a report on House Bill No. 234, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven (P. L. 292), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation," by increasing the rate of tax for a further limited period of time.

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

He also, from the Committee on Conference, is requested to make a report on House Bill No. 230, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 414), entitled "State Personal Property Tax Act," as previously reenacted and amended, by continuing the State personal property tax and the emergency rate of tax on script bonds, certificates and evidence of indebtedness, assumed or on which interest is paid by corporations, for a further limited period of time.

The PRESIDENT. The Report will be noted on tomorrow's Calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Montgomery will proceed.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, the fact that three conference reports have been submitted, and that they have been signed by all six conferees indicates, I am inclined to think, we are approaching the end of the session and inasmuch as these reports deal with financial matters, the first being the Tax Anticipation Note Bill, the second being the Personal Property Tax, and the third being the Bank Shares Tax, it seems to me that it is appropriate at this time to submit some thoughts with reference to the financial condition of the state.

It is well known to the members of the Senate that I served in the General Assembly as a member of the House of Representatives in 1921, 1923, 1925 and the Special Session of 1926. I then re-entered the General Assembly in December, 1938. In the lapse of twelve years there have developed certain practices, relating particularly to the finances of the state, to which I desire to direct attention, in order that the interests of the public may be secured in the settlement of these vital questions.

First: In this period the budget system of the state developed. Originally, the budget was established by the Administrative Code of 1923, as a branch of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. When the Code was revised in 1929, the budget was made a separate department and the procedure with reference to the same has been carefully outlined.

It is to be noted that under Pennsylvania law we have an executive budget, and that this is the general practice of the states of the United States. Quoting from Macdonald's "American State Government" in the 1934 edition, it is there stated as follows:

> "Students of government are generally agreed that the governor should be vested with complete responsibility for the preparation of the budget. The people look to him for leadership, and in the shaping of the state's fiscal policy leadership is especially important. The need for gubernatorial control was not clearly recognized at first, however; seven of the first twelve budget laws placed control in the legislature, or, more commonly, in a board. But shortly afterward came a pronounced swing toward budget systems of the executive type. Most of the states that enacted budget legislation after 1915 accepted the theory of executive responsibility. Today thirty-five states—nearly three-fourths of the whole number—vest budget responsibility in the governor. In twelve states the budget is prepared by a board, whose membership usually includes the governor and the more important state administrative officers, especially the treasurer and the auditor. Members of the legislature are also included in a few instances. The usual reason for placing a board in charge of the budget is that the nineteenth century fear of gubernatorial authority has not yet disappeared. * * * Of course, board administration of the budget system has not produced the results that its adherents claimed for it. Its chief accomplishment has been to force the adoption of an ambiguous and ofttimes confusing fiscal policy instead of a carefully integrated plan. Quite naturally, therefore, the board budget plan is losing in popularity. Not a single state has adopted it since 1921, while ten states have abandoned the board plan since 1921 in favor of the executive budget system. Only one Commonwealth—Arkansas—has a so-called 'legislative' budget; here the budget is prepared by the finance committees of the two houses of the legislature."

The validity of an executive budget was attacked in Commonwealth vs. Liveright, 308 Pa. 35, and as the Supreme Court rendered its decision in favor of the Commonwealth, it may be considered a settled question under the law of the State. In the paperbook of the Commonwealth filed in this case, it was stated as follows.

"We answer:

"1. That it is not a legislative function to estimate what collections will be made by administrative departments under existing revenue and other legislation. That is clearly an executive function and has always been so treated in Pennsylvania.

"Formerly estimates were made by the Auditor General and the State Treasurer—executive officers of the government subordinate to the Governor even though they are elected by the people—whose duty it was to collect the revenues. In 1929 this duty was transferred to the Department of Revenue * * *"

The question then arises as to what, under the law, is the proper function of the General Assembly in this matter. It is quite clear to me that the General Assembly does not have the machinery to set up a budget of its own, and attempts by one branch to make a new budget are obviously illegal. It is proper, however, for the General Assembly to request the Governor to revise his budget figures, if lapse of time or change in economic conditions have made such an action possible, and it is to be expected that proper attention will be given to the suggestions that emanate from the General Assembly. I understand that this year the Governor has now revised the figures with reference to revenue, which were originally prepared in January for submission to the General Assembly and on which doubtless new data can be had.

I regard the budget system as a proper business method for the transaction of the important business of the Commonwealth, and I think that the establishment of this system since 1923 is a great advantage that is supported by the public opinion throughout the State and will be supported in the future.

Second: During this period, there has also developed the system of transferring money from Special Funds to the General Fund, when authorized by the General Assembly, chiefly for purposes of relief. The report of the Pennsylvania Tax Commission in 1927 listed the Special Funds and directed attention to their growth. Since that time, there has been a conscientious movement, sponsored in large measure by Senator Woodward, to merge the Special Funds. This has been particularly objectionable to the hunters and fishermen of the State who maintain the game and fish funds with great good will, because the fund is used exclusively for the purposes of their sport; and it has also met with increased opposition from the motorists, who regard the Special Fund in the Highway Department as an essential to maintain the highway system of the State. The growth in this practice of transfers, since first suggested by Governor Pinchot, is as follows:

1935	.....	9,200,000
1936	(Special Session)	16,716,211
1939	(Regular Session)	26,750,000
1940	(Special Session)	59,550,000
1941	(Regular Session	10,550,000

It will be noted that transfers have now become a regular feature of our financing and, to my mind, it is a most objectionable feature. The continuous practice of transfers, particularly as against the Motor Fund and the Liquid Fuels Tax, has suggested the necessity for a constitutional amendment to protect this fund, and that amendment has been upon our calendar.

It seems to me, however, to be objectionable because it is accepting a method of emergency financing as a standard method of normal financing and that is not justified. John S. Fisher ran the State without transfers, and even with the burden that relief forces upon us, I look forward with strong hopes to the day when we will be able to run the State again without the necessity of transfers.

Third: Tax Anticipation Notes. While the practice of issuing tax anticipation notes, secured by taxation to be collected in the biennium, has been approved as legal by the Supreme Court, it seems to me that it has yet to demonstrate that it is proper under sound fiscal practices. Tax anticipation notes started in the Earle Administration, and the various issues authorized are as follows:

October 1, 1935	$ 50,000,000
September 1, 1936	45,000,000
June 1, 1937	60,000,000
June 1, 1938	60,000,000
June 1, 1939	100,000,000
November 1, 1939	30,000,000
December 1, 1940	25,000,000

We have had on the calendar of the General Assembly at this session a bill which authorizes $175,000,000 in tax anticipation notes. Now the necessity for this practice is based upon the fact that relief requires a regular outlay every week, and sometimes the cash position of the Commonwealth does not enable such an outlay to be made. I can understand the necessity of occasional borrowings when you have taxes that are paid at one season of the year and expenditures which must be met at each of twelve months, but it seems to me that the practice of tax anticipation notes as a regular method of financing the State is repugnant to the common sense of the people of our community. In private business, it would be accepted as a sign that bankruptcy was in the offing. We did not have tax anticipation notes before Governor Earle, and it is my strong hope to live long enough to see Pennsylvania financed without this method of borrowing.

Fourth: A fourth practice which has developed is that of extending the program of the State by legislation to take effect at some future date, the idea being apparently to get all the credit for a progressive move at a time when there is neither organization nor finance to justify the move. So far as I know, this practice started in 1937 with authorizations for the supervisors of special education, transportation of pupils and the payment of high school tuition, when due, to neighboring school districts; and then in 1938 when the Commonwealth took over the county mental hospitals and relieved the counties from payments for the maintenance of the indigent insane, all of which were dated to take effect in 1939.

It seems to me to be essential in sound financing that when a new function is assumed, the money should be provided at once for the purpose, and if the money is not provided, the function should not be assumed. I criticize the General Assembly of 1939, of which I was a member, for not repealing these acts at once if we could not find the money with which to perform them. This desire to obtain credit for an extension of the program of the State, without assuming any portion of the burden that is necessary for the extended program, is dangerous and if followed in the future, it will lead to precisely the same conflicts as have lengthened this session to its unusual length.

Fifth: In the Pennsylvania Tax Commission of 1927, there was a recommendation to the effect that inheritance taxes should be regarded as capital taxes, and that the funds derived from the same should be segregated for capital outlay only, as otherwise it would result in an impoverishment of the capital of the State. This wise recommendation passed unheeded, and we now have the interesting result that there is a gradual decline in the receipts from inheritance taxes, except in the years when there may be an extraordinary estate, such as that of John T. Dorrance or Andrew W. Mellon. It would seem clear to me to be better policy to reserve the inheritance taxes for capital outlay alone, thereby insuring that the proceeds would not be used for current expenses. Any practice, such as that of using large receipts from inheritance taxes from a specific estate to raise salaries of employees, which would result in putting an annual charge upon the budget of the State, with no recurring income to meet the same, should be severely criticized.

Sixth: I also direct attention that we finance relief by temporary taxes, although I think everyone would admit that part of relief is on our books to stay. We have eight temporary taxes, enacted in 1937 when the Department of Public Assistance was set up for two years; re-enacted in 1939 for two years; and now six have been re-enacted and two more will probably be re-enacted for this biennium. These emergency taxes relating to eight subjects produced in the last biennium $167,235,000, according to the Governor's budget, in which there was an estimate for the last four months of the biennium, and they are devoted exclusively to the work of assistance. Of this work, old age pensions cost the State in May $1,151,000; the assistance of mothers for dependent children cost in May $1,443,000; pensions to the blind cost in May $407,000, or roughly $3,000,000 for these three subjects in the month of May. This is only the State's portion and does not include the Federal grants which are made to old age pensions and to mothers with dependent children.

Assuming that the permanent items of relief total $3,000,000 a month and that administration may be counted as roughly 10% additional, it would seem clear to me that we should provide the total, or roughly, $40,000,000 per year, from permanent taxes and not from temporary taxes. We should draw a distinction between permanent relief, which will always be with us, such as old age pensions and mothers with dependent childen and pensions for the blind and the general assistance which results from the problem of unemployment. Permanent charges should be met by permanent taxes and not by temporary taxes. I would, therefore, recommend most strongly that we do not continue the practice of financing relief with temporary taxes, but instead set up a permanent tax system to meet with those portions of relief as must be recognized as permanent.

Seventh: One of the reasons why I have supported so enthusiastically the fiscal policies of the James Administration is because I recognize that the Governor has endeavored with honesty and courage to cut down the ordinary expenses of administration wherever possible, and that by his economies, he has brought the State budget into such position that the next Governor should be able to carry out the reforms which I have indicated as desirable, provided he has the cooperation of a united General Assembly.

I present these questions as matters in which we are now profoundly interested, and in which we are bound to take continual interest in the time to come. Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right, and it is my own judgment that the time will come when Pennsylvania will learn again to finance itself without transfers, tax anticipation notes, temporary taxes or illusory Acts of Assembly which assume functions without providing for their payment.

And now for a partisan comment: Many of the practices which I have criticized developed in the Earle Administration, but have been imitated by the Republican Party. Whenever the Republicans imitate the Democratic short-cuts in financing, they make a tremendous mistake. This, to my mind, is the chief lesson of this session and I hope it is so clear that he who runs may read.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise in slight opposition to my esteemed colleague, so far as he speaks concerning special funds. I consider a special fund a very unintelligent way of financing this state. When I came here, or shortly after that there were thirty-three special funds and we knocked them down but now they are creeping up again. I do not refer to the custodial funds, which are a necessary evil. You do not have to take my word for it. If you will be kind enough to put some of these rising volumes of literature from our desks in some safe soft spot, and take up the very modest report of the auditor general—you can identify it because it has on the cover a very pretty picture of a money bag—now, we do not expect the auditor general to write too freely—most auditor general reports are usually dull, but I personally advise the Senate to read this one of the late or ex-Auditor General Roberts.

You will find there a description of special funds very much to their detriment, to the effect that we have upon the shelves of the treasury special funds which are earmarked for special uses and can not be touched, no matter how much another department of the State Government may be starving.

The Department of Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, I believe, acquired the latest special fund. The ideal way of financing the state, in my opinion, is to make the Game and Fish Commission, or any other department of the Commonwealth that has a special fund, come to us and show us they have to have the money. Otherwise it is only human for them to be extravagant and to my mind the creation of every special fund is an insult to our integrity and intelligence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I listened very carefully to the remarks made by the gentleman from Montgomery. He stated that permanent taxes should be levied for permanent expenditures. That certainly is true; no truer statement was ever made on this floor. The gentleman from Montgomery also stated that we had the aged of our Commonwealth who were receiving old age pensions, blind pensions, widows pensions. They are here to stay. That is true. Only I may go further, Mr. President; I shall state that on January 12th of this year I introduced in this body a bill asking for public assistance or old age pensions, if you wish to call it that, or old age assistance, to persons above the age of sixty. Much has been said about my bill, especially by the Chairman of the Committee of Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions. He has tried in his humble way to focus light on my proposition by exaggerating the figures and trying to make you believe that it would cost an enormous sum of money to adopt my program. Of course the record shows I have disagreed with him every time he rose to his feet.

Now, Mr. President, much has been said about my program. We all agree that very little publicity has been given to measures introduced in this Senate because of the war abroad. That has been the headline; not what we are doing here. But in spite of the war abroad I might say that I have in my possession upwards of twenty thousand pieces of mail that I have received during this session, from people residing in the four corners of Pennsylvania, writing to me and trying to encourage me in their humble way to do what I might to further the cause of the aged of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. President, we are about to adjourn and nothing has been done up until this moment to shed any light or any hope to the aged of our Commonwealth. As I have pointed out, we have neighboring states which have enacted a larger number of liberal laws on their statute books than we have. Pennsylvania should take the lead but, no, we are far in arrears.

I have attempted many times to rise to my feet to place into the record many tales that have been written about my proposal, but I hesitated because I realized the work that must be conducted, and I refrained from taking up too much time. Not only in comments, Mr. President, but many a piece of poetry has been written about my proposal I would like at this time, Mr. President, to read into the record a piece of poetry dated July 6th, in one of the Philadelphia papers. The editor happens to be a man whom I have never met, Frederick D. Garman of Philadelphia. I have been informed he is a public official in that great city. Of course, this cannot be taken too literally, as I have taken it, but I would like to read this piece of poetry into the record as follows:

SIXTY-SIXTY!

I

John Haluska has some sense,
Believing there is recompense
For those who have reached 60 years,
That they should be secure from fears
Of what the future holds for them,
That they again may feel like men;
But if John should meditate,
He'd find that he's in the wrong State.

II

Sixty-Sixty legislation,
Will get here no consideration,
Because those advocating it
Are deemed mentally unfit;
Bills which classify as "nut,"
Often legislatures glut,
But seldom ever are they passed,
Because in pigeon-holes they're gassed.

III

To California John should move,
There such bills are in the groove,
Or to Texas he should go,
Where his bill would have a show;
And if his bill is not enacted,
Attention to him is attracted,
So when he runs for Governor
He'll get a barrel of votes or more.

IV

Pennsylvania is effete,
(That's a line I should delete);
As it considers innovations,
Worse than Anthony's temptations:
But it loves it's ancient stuff,
To prove it once was up to snuff,
But to its men when they grow old,
The State is often very cold.

V

So John Haluska's heart of gold,
Has little chance here to unfold,
And he should travel to some clime,
Where it might blossom like a vine
Of roses on a door lintel,
Where beauty, youth and age all dwell;
John Haluska get a-going,
Time, you know, is fastly flowing.

VI

Reader, most imperious,
Pardon, we're not serious,
But sometimes we regret our youth,
Then we're apt to write the truth;
Some at Haluska may be laughing,
Others John may be a-chaffing,
But anyone who helps the old,
Will reap a harvest fifteen-fold.

Now, Mr. President, I have no intention of kicking, but I want to say in conclusion that I am very much disappointed by the action taken by the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions that no consideration has been given that most important bill, affecting so many people of this Commonwealth, men whom you all know, above the age of sixty, never again to have the opportunity of going back to private industry, many men who are out in the cold, men who are looking to this government for some aid, some means of living, and we sit idly by and take no action, we scoff at the idea. Maybe my idea is wrong, maybe my proposal might have been wrong, but have you offered anything else? Have you told me I was wrong? You have taken no pains to even say, "give us amendments, offer amendments." You have not given me the opportunity to offer amendments, you have made up your minds that nothing shall be done for the aged; they must paddle their own canoes and that is the end of them. Do not forget it is bound to haunt you. It will come back to each and every one of you and that day is not far off.

Therefore, Mr. President, once more much as I regret taking action to discharge a committee, knowing full well in advance what the results might be, still it is a matter of record, it will give the people of Pennsylvania an opportunity to know who are their friends and who are their enemies, and by this vote, I am sure, they shall be judged when once again they come up seeking public office.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON WELFARE, PUBLIC ASSISTANCE AND PENSIONS FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 12

Mr. HALUSKA. So, Mr. President, I move that the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, which now is holding Senate Bill No. 12, be discharged from further consideration of the same.

Mr. BARR. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, in rising to second the motion of the gentleman from Cambria for the discharge of this committee, I do not care to have my action construed as an affirmative vote for this particular bill. Although I might disagree with the gentleman in his method of solving this most important problem, aid for the aged in the form of pensions, I do agree with his philosophy.

During the depression, Mr. President, ten long years of despair to the aged and infirmed, we learned if our national economy was to exist, that during years when industry was functioning plans had to be made for the time when there was unemployment, and I think every member of this Senate is in perfect accord with me in the thought that in the future, ultimately, there will be an old age pension system. What shape that system will take I do not know, whether it will be a national system, whether it will be a state system, but I believe this problem is one of the most important that we face, and I believe through the instrumentality of this bill that problem could have been raised here.

We have in this body many men whose brilliancy, particularly in relation to financing, I admire very greatly, and I feel if that bill had been reported to the floor of this Senate, where the members of the Senate would have had an opportunity to discuss it and to compare ideas, that, ultimately, perhaps, not in this session but in some other session, we would have a solution of this problem, and for that reason I second the motion of the gentleman from Cambria.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(Following the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I ask how the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, voted?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I voted "no."

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to know how the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, voted.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Warren is recorded as voting in the negative.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the affirmative, as follows:

Barr,	Dent,	Jaspan,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Haluska,	McGinnis,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the negative as follows:

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Wade,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Walker,
Carr,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	James,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Letzler,

The President. Are there any corrections?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, was not present when the roll was called, was he?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair saw with his own eyes that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, was in the room and voted.

Mr. HALUSKA. After the roll was called, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. No, before.

Mr. HALUSKA. Before it was verified?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, until the result of the vote is announced, any Senator may vote if he is in the room.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Barr,	Dent,	Jaspan,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Haluska,	McGinnis,

NAYS—30

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Wade,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Walker,
Carr,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	James,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Letzler,

So the question was determined in the negative.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am about to make a motion, with full knowledge and consent of our Minority Floor Leader, who, for reasons best known to himself, has pulled off the disappearance act. I want to bring out one thing, this was done with his knowledge and at his request. I, however, will share the responsibility, because I am free, white and twenty-one and know what I am doing.

Mr. President, in all seriousness, by my motion to discharge the Public Utilities Commission from further consideration of House Bill No. 1482 I propose to give the members of the Senate an opportunity to go on record as to whether or not they are true friends of the farmers of this Commonwealth, as they so frequently protest they are, or whether they are the pliable tools of the discredited power companies who would continue in their clutches the unserved farmers still crying for the light and power which thousands of their neighbors are enjoying.

The issues are very simple—the remedy I suggest may be drastic. I may be offending the dignity of the Senate and be said to be casting reflections upon the majority of the Committee who, on Tuesday after a shamefully inadequate hearing, voted to postpone indefinitely further consideration of the bill.

Senators will say—in fact, have said—"I favor the bill, but I won't vote for Jaspan's motion to discharge. He will hurt the cause of rural electrification. He is the worst member of the Senate to make the motion. It should be made by a member of the Majority—a member who comes from a rural area, and not by a member of the Minority and from Philadelphia." I quite agree, but when every effort made by friends of rural electrification, by telephone calls, personal appeals, and by every other means to get the Honorable Chairman of the Committee to call his Committee together for a reconsideration of the bill, had failed and they were told the bill was dead, there remained only the course I am pursuing.

What is House Bill No. 1482? Why do I seek to place every member of this body on record with respect to it? Why do I inquire whether A. B. Millar, Secretary of the Electric Institute of Pennsylvania, is to be believed when, in appearing before the Committee, he was given ample time to declare the bill a bad bill, or whether the young attorney from the Adams County Project, who was given five minutes only in which to tell the Committee the farmers of the state wanted the bill was telling the truth.

The Public Utility Commission thinks the bill a clarifying bill which would be helpful in administering the law, but it was given no opportunity to appear. The representative of the REA, who was prepared to discuss the merits of the bill waited three hours on the floor of the Senate to be called and only a half-hearted effort was made to summon him. No real hearing on the bill was held.

Oh, members of the Senate, the bill is all right. Only the farmers seeking light and power want it. There is nothing wrong with this bill. Mr. Millar does not want it—Mr. Owlett does not want it—the power companies do not want it. That's the answer.

Let me give you a little history of REA legislation in this State. In 1937 the Legislature passed a streamlined modern Public Utility Law over the bitter opposition of the power companies and their ever-present lobby. At the same time, we passed an Electric Cooperative Corporation Act to provide for electric cooperatives to incorporate so that they might borrow funds from REA to build their lines. In the Public Utility Law we specifically exempted electric cooperatives from Public Utility Committee jurisdiction and further to show that it was the Public Policy of this state to promote and encourage rural electrification, we wrote into the law Section 418, giving electric cooperatives the right to preempt territory by filing with the Commission a map of the territory to be served and a verified statement showing that a majority of the prospect customers in the area are included in the project, after which no public utility could construct or install any plant or system or make extensions until after six months from the time of the filing of the map and statement. The section further protects the electric cooperative for a further period of twelve months if a loan from the Federal REA is obtained. The law is plain and simple, but not too easy to administer.

The power companies have objected, they have quibbled, they have delayed—they have done everything possible to defeat the plain intent of the Legislature. In addition to their dilatory tactics, they have continued their spite-line building activities to break up actual or potential cooperatives.

In 1939 they attempted to have this Legislature pass a bill emasculating the law, but when exposed, their puny efforts failed.

It was to remedy this situation—to meet the objections of the companies and the recommendation of the Commission that House Bill No. 1482 was drafted and submitted. It passed the House on June 10 by a vote of 124 to 16. Mr. Millar, Mr. Owlett, and the companies were either asleep or their efforts to defeat it were futile. They have had better luck here.

House Bill No. 1482 amends Section 418 of the Public Utility Law by clarifying its provisions and strengthening them. It provides that an electric cooperative may file a map with the Commission indicating the area or areas it proposes to serve and prohibits a public utility for three months from interfering in any way.

It further provides for the filing of a statement with the Commission, indicating that a majority of the unserved farmers in the area have agreed to take service. After the map and statement have been filed and notice given to the company concerned, the company is prohibited from interfering for six months.

Then, if a loan from the REA is obtained, the cooperative is protected for a period of twelve months. Notice, to the company of all of these things is clearly spelled out.

The bill is a good bill. It protects the farmers—it makes the administration of the law much simpler—it tells the companies exactly what they may not do—it does not hurt them. It prevents spite-line activities.

Now, Mr. President and Senators, there are the plain, simple facts. If you vote "Aye" on my motion to discharge the Committee, the bill will be brought to the floor of this body for consideration on its merits, for full explanation and debate. Professed friends of rural electrification are given this last opportunity at this session to show what that friendship means. If you vote "Nay" on this motion you unwittingly heed the wishes of the Millars and the power companies, and the farmers of this state will know it.

Mr. President, today there are 192,053 farms in Pennsylvania. As a result of rural electrification as adopted and as instituted in 1937, today we have 105,000 farms using electricity, or approximately fifty-four per cent. Today there are thirteen borrowers in Pennsylvania, cooperatives that borrow from the government, with total loans of $9,597,200, to build 8,917 miles of lines to serve 31,748 members. Applications are now pending from Pennsylvania to build 2,500 miles to serve 7,500 additional farms.

Mr. President, it seems strange that the utilities should object to co-operatives, knowing full well that they did not and have not served farmers in virgin territory, yet when the farmers' organizations requested the aid of the government, the utilities, shouted from the housetops that they were being interfered with, they are being tampered with, where there was no service by the utilities, but now that these co-operatives are in existence the utilities are objecting to the co-operatives serving the farmers to provide needed electricity not only in their homes but on their farms as well.

Let me emphasize, Mr. President, where there is central station service the rural co-operatives can not organize; the government will not loan them money where they are competing with utilities. Therefore, when they organize they are organizing in virgin territory, not where there is any competition and therefore there is not any need for shouting because there is not any amount of competition in any sense.

Now then, Mr. President, once a co-operative attempts to render service to consumers in virgin territory, immediately the utilities send out their high pressure men to influence those prospective consumers by offering them very attractive rates, although they have no central station service and have not been serving them previously. Why are not the utilities honest with the farmers?

Mr. President, I now present the following motion.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC UTILITIES ON SENATE BILL No. 1181, (HOUSE BILL No. 1482)

Mr. JASPAN offered the following resolution which was twice read.

In the Senate, July 10, 1941.

I move that the Committee on Public Utilities be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 1181, (House Bill No. 1482), and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I rise not to oppose this motion but to make one correction. The gentleman from Philadelphia stated that but five minutes were given to the gentleman who appeared in favor of the bill. I did not time the gentleman who appeared in favor of the bill, Attorney Teeter from Adams County, I believe, but on the other hand I did give him all the time the gentleman required. I distinctly recollect that when he concluded I asked him whether he had anything more to say in support of this bill.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in answer to my friend from Blair, Senator Mallery, I think my recollection is that he only spoke about five minutes; he did not have any more time to speak. We were engaged in discussing many matters. The fact is, Mr. President, that Mr. Millar was told about it and Mr. Teeter, representing the Adams County Cooperative, learned about it somehow, but there are other cooperatives throughout the state who knew nothing about it.

There was a government man sent here by the REA from Washington and he stayed fully three hours and then we sent a messenger for him and the messenger returned and said he did not see him, and that he had had him paged. The fact is that he was not paged, but Mr. Allan Moore, attorney for the REA sat in this room for a number of hours. I had called him the day before, saying "we were going to have a meeting; I did not know whether it would be a public hearing or not. However, I want you there. He came here and he was not heard.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. MALLERY. I desire to be recorded as "present," Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair will be so recorded.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the affirmative as follows:

Barr,	Dent.	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,
Cavalcante,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Reed,
Coleman,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Cox,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk called the names of those voting in the negative as follows:

Bartlett,	Ealy,	Kephart,	Wade,
Becker,	Edmonds,	Letzler,	Walker,
Carr,	Farrell,	Miller,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crider,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	Homsher,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	James,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The roll will stand as verified.

Yeas—16; Nays—28; Present—1.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JASPAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Barr,	Dent.	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,

PRESENT—1

Mallery,

So the question was determined in the negative.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to make speeches on the four motions I intend to present. However, I do propose to say a few words about the first one.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, ever since I have been old enough to vote I have been a member of the Democratic Party. Fundamentally, the Democratic Party appealed to me, because I believe in the things that it stood for. The Democratic Party at all times in major elections has clearly stated its platform to the people. Ever since I have been in Harrisburg, we have tried to live up to our platform pledges.

In making motions to discharge committee from further consideration of bills that I present here today, I am doing so in order that the members of the Democratic Party may be registered as to their votes on party platform pledges of the Democratic Party. Also, in doing so, I give to the members of the Republican Party an opportunity to stand up and be counted as to where they stand on certain important legislation.

Mr. President, in making this particular motion to discharge the Committee on Labor and Industry from further consideration of House Bill No. 136, which is a duplicate of my bill in the same committee, I do so with all due respect to the Chairman. This matter is too important to me to let any question of personal affront make up my mind as to whether or not I should make this motion. This is not such a small matter. This bill deals with the injunction law. I have fully acquainted the Chairman of that committee of my intentions. The committee met, Mr. President, and there were not sufficient votes on that committee to allow that bill to be presented to this Senate for a vote. I therefore resort to the only method known to me of having the bill brought out on the floor where I can be recorded.

Yesterday the statement was made that it was a time old tradition that the Senate never votes to discharge committees, but I have been informed that in 1911, I believe, on a motion of Senator Weingartner, the committee holding the full crew bill was discharged of its responsibility and the bill was presented to the floor; so there is another age old tradition knocked into a cocked hat.

In dealing with the matter of injunctions relative to labor disputes, I reflect that there are two great documents that stand out in the eyes of men as achievements worthy of historical note, and in the eyes of historians they are documents that have uplifted the causes of all the peoples who live in lands governed by these doctrines. I refer to Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of the United States.

Labor in its search for equality and fair play has endeavored to incorporate the spirit of those historical documents into the every day life of working men and women in this great soverign state. The vehicle chosen for this all important mission was the anti-injunction act of 1937. With pardonable pride I accept the responsibility for the introduction of that act. In 1935, it was my privilege to introduce and steer through the House the anti-injunction amendments. These amendments passed the House with a very handsome vote, I might say, with about two-thirds of the sitting Republicans at that time voting with me. The bill was sent over to the Senate, which was then controlled by the Republican Party, and there it died in committee.

In 1937, after the judgment of the voters had elected in this state a Democratic House and Senate, and a Democratic Governor sat in the Chief Executive's office, I again introduced and had passed this same anti-injunction bill. Governor Earle, to his ever lasting credit, signed the 1937 act.

In 1939, after a hectic campaign, in which many issues were raised that were irrelevant to the campaign and the issues that should have been before the people, the Republicans gained control of both branches of the General Assembly and the office of the Chief Executive. One of the first acts to feel the axe of the anti-labor administration was the labor Bill of Rights, the anti-injunction law. The blame for this deed can properly be placed at the door of the Republican high command in Pennsylvania, for low and behold, men who had voted for the 1937 act were either forced or coerced into voting for the amendments in 1939 that made labor's Bill of Rights the employers' bill of wrongs

I now will try to give you a short resume of what this bill does. This bill serves the purpose of keeping the power of injunction from being wielded during industrial disputes, to destroy the rights of free speech and peaceable assembly guaranteed by the Constitution. Pennsylvania enacted this kind of law in 1937. It did not make legal what was illegal before, it did not remove a particle of responsibility on the part of anyone engaged in any industrial dispute, whether employer or employe, to be law abiding. What the law did, and what House Bill No. 136 would do, is to see that both sides have the same chance in court to show whether or not an injunction should be issued. Too often before 1937 an employer rushed into court, and out of hysteria and malice, without the other side being properly represented, secured an order restraining employes from organizing, striking, picketing or collective bargaining. Injunction spelled injustice; hasty injunctions aggravated disputes, bred hatred and stirred up warfare. In those days of bitter struggle, imprisonment by false arrest, violence and bloodshed dripped from injunctions, and we do not want any more of those dark days.

Destroying the injunction evil in 1937 changed the industrial picture. Orderly conduct came into being, relations between employer and employe were not fought out with heat, riot or hate, but were settled calmly around a negotiations table. This is how all who want fair play and reason in industrial differences would have it, instead of resorting to injunctions. A labor Bill of Rights would prevent violence. No one can say any harm was done either to the law-abiding employer or the law-abiding employe by the anti-injunction law of 1937.

Without any good reason, but merely to make a bonfire of the 1937 law, and because some legislators are against anything new, no matter how good, the 1939 session put the power of injunction back to where it was in the dark days of industrial warfare. Why not go forward to a better method, when experience shows it to be vastly better; let us remove the amendments which destroyed the fine purpose of the 1937 injunction act. House Bill No. 136 would do this. It passed the House by a vote of 132 to 66 on March 25th; since then it has been in the Senate Committee of Labor and Industry. House Bill No. 136 gives the same opportunity to representatives on both sides, in open court, examination to show why a restraining order, temporary or permanent injunction should be issued; whether the advantage happens to lean towards the employer or towards the employe, each has an equal chance under the law, and no one can expect more than that, and no one can be satisfied with less.

Mr. President, that is why I ask that the Committee holding that bill be discharged from its responsibilities, in order that those of us who feel deeply about this particular question and kindred questions may have an opportunity to stand up and be counted as to where we stand on important issues.

Mr. President, I now present to the Chair the the first of four resolutions.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 407, (HOUSE BILL No. 136).

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read:

I move that the Committee on Labor and Industry be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 407, (House Bill No. 136), and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body.

Mr. DENT. I make immediate adoption of the resolution, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, may I say just a word?

THE PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the Committee on Labor and Industry gave this matter very serious consideration. On our committee are two members of the Senate, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and the gentleman from Lawrence, Senator McQuiddy, who with common sense, personal decency and capability presented this legislation, urged it and worked for it. I am sure both of these gentlemen will say that the Committee on Labor and Industry gave them every opportunity and said they could have all the time they wanted, but when we came to pass upon whether we should send this bill out on the Calendar, the country was ablaze with strikes, a great many of them in plants that were engaged in national defense work, and there was not on the committee at that time sufficient men who felt that under the circumstances and at this time they would vote to send this bill out on the Calendar, and therefore, after having the matter presented and considered and giving it, I am sure both the gentlemen will say, every opportunity they desired, the committee kept the bill in their possession and still has it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Thomas B. Wilson.

THE PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from McKean tell me, if he can, when the first meeting was held by the Committee on Labor and Industry, in this session?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I do not know that I can tell you, but I am sure that the two gentlemen who have been so active and who so capably represent labor on all matters so close to their hearts, will agree with me when I say that as soon as they asked to have these matters heard, they were informed that a committee meeting would be held whenever they wanted it, and as many meetings as they wanted; they could have one today if they wanted it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can the gentleman from McKean tell me how many meetings were held by his most important committee throughout the session.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Without looking at the record, I can not tell the gentleman; I do not recall. The gentleman from Cambria did not ask me to hold a meeting nor did any other member of the Senate ever ask me to hold a meeting who did not get a response. The gentleman from Cambria can have a meeting whenever he wants it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, according to my information, the first meeting was held just recently, and possibly only two meetings were held throughout the entire session. It is not my place to ask for a meeting; it is the duty of the chairman to notify the members of the Senate whenever such a meeting shall be held.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. If the gentleman from Cambria had desired that a meeting be held, and if he had interest in the matter, and wanted to work for it, he would have followed the example of the gentlemen who are interested in labor problems and worked to try to get this legislation out.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Barr,	Dent,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,
Cavalcante,	DiSilvestro,	Lanius,	Reed,
Coleman,	Frey,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Cox,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,

Crider,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crowe,	James,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Ziesenheim,
Ealy,	Letzler,

So the question was determined in the negative.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 368, (HOUSE BILL No. 98)

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read,

In the Senate, July 10, 1941.

I move that the Committee on Labor and Industry be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 368, (House Bill No. 98), known as the Women's Working Hour bill, and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body. This bill would reestablish the same working hours as were in vogue and on the statute books of Pennsylvania for forty-two years.

I move immediate adoption of the resolution.

Mr. McGINNIS. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

So the question was determined in the negative.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 1299, (HOUSE BILL No. 1002)

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read,

In the Senate, July 10, 1941.

I move that the Committee on Workmen's Compensation be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 1299, (House Bill No. 1002), and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body. I could speak for hours on this bill but I will not.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Barr,	Dent,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,

Ealy,	Letzler,	Tyler,

So the question was determined in the negative.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 1298, (HOUSE BILL No. 990)

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 10, 1941.

I move that the Committee on Workmen's Compensation be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 1298, (House Bill No. 990), and that the same be returned to the floor of the Senate for first reading and consideration by the members of this body This was the bill that amended the occupational disease compensation law.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

HOUSE BILL No. 551 CALLED UP FROM THE TABLE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I now call up from the table House Bill No. 551, (Senate Bill No. 416), entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (Appropriation Acts, page 60), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the Public schools for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine," providing for a deficiency in the appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the fiscal biennium ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one; providing for payment out of revenues of the fiscal biennial period beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one; and preventing lapsing.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE INSISTS ON ITS AMENDMENT NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 551

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insist on its amendments non-concurred in by the House of Representatives to House Bill No. 551.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I desire permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. WOODWARD. I was very much interested in the statement of the Senator from Westmoreland when he was trying to make a "dent" in an old tradition, namely, that Senator Weingartner had a bill for a full crew and the committee was discharged from its further consideration, so I went to the Senate Library and secured the Legislative Journal of 1911, and I have looked up Senator Weingartner's record and I find no such record of Senator Weingartner on the full crew bill.

The evidence is not complete, but so far as it goes, it shows the Senator from Westmoreland may be mistaken.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, on May 21st, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and myself sponsored a bill, No. 997, providing for a reduction of the membership of the Turnpike Commission from five members to three, and raising the salaries of the two paid members from five to ten thousand dollars a year.

I know that most of us are very proud of the present turnpike construction. I read in a national magazine the other day that if we were to travel from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg in the old days, we would have had 965 crossings, twenty stop lights, twelve railroad crossings and ten thousand feet of vertical climbs. Now, that is all eliminated. You all recall, when the present Turnpike Commission was authorized, a lot of us thought it was a joke, but the chairman, Walter A. Jones, through his untiring efforts and ability, was able to go to Washington and through some private capitalists raised seventy million dollars to construct this highway.

For over a year Mr. Jones and Mr. Evans have been the only two paid members on this Commission and they have done a grand job. Two members have died and the membership has not been filled.

It would require seventy million dollars to extend the Turnpike to Philadelphia and about forty million dollars to extend it to the western boundary of Pennsylvania. The Chairman, Walter A. Jones, on a salary of five thousand dollars a year, gave two or three years to this work and did a great job but I am fearful that we will not be able to retain the services of Mr. Jones and Mr. Evans on salaries of five thousand dollars a year.

This bill is in the Committee on Highways and has been there since May 21st. I am not going to ask for the discharge of that committee, but I merely want the record to show that Senator Walker and myself believe we went as far as we could to retain the services of Mr. Jones and Mr. Evans, so that we could feel sure those two extensions would be constructed.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, on the floor of this Senate several weeks ago I made a statement in which I assured the members of the Senate that corrective measures with regard to municipal authorities would be taken. Some time before I made my statement I listened to a very carefully prepared speech written and read by the distinguished gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, in which he just tore the hide off the Republican Party for what had taken place in Delaware County; everything dark, and implied that looked evil or smelled bad about that Delaware County situation was laid on the door step of the Republican Party.

We were considerably disturbed by what took place down there and we were considerably disturbed by the accusations, both veiled and implied and direct, that have been directed against our own party, and, Mr. President, a couple of days later I took the floor of this Senate—I did not attempt to answer the accusations that had been made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, because after all they were mostly fabrications manufactured out of whole cloth—but I attempted to point out to the members of this Senate just how this municipal authority situation had arisen, the good it had performed for the people of Pennsylvania, and the evil that might arise because of this thing that had been created by the Legislature.

We started in, Mr. President, and you will well recall that there were extreme bills introduced in the Senate, from both the Republican and Democratic sides attempting to plug up regulatory holes that had become obvious and evident as a result of our experience with this municipal authorities act.

The Committee on Public Utilities, headed by the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery, was very diligent in its efforts and that committee met frequently and very carefully considered all of those bills; a large number of public hearings were held at which men who had actual experience in handling these public utilities came before the committee and carefully discussed the situation. On several occasions members who had introduced bills—and I plead guilty to this also—influenced by information they had obtained as a result of those public hearings, changed their opinions or conclusions with regard to municipal authorities and their regulation, and as a result additional bills were introduced and on those new bills new hearings were held and finally, out of all this conglomeration of information there became crystalized certain definite conclusions as to what course we should follow in regulating these municipal authorities.

Our objective, Mr. President, was not to throttle the good that would come out of municipal authorities but rather, like a careful indulgent parent, to come to the defense of this child the Legislature had created so that it would walk in a path that would be good for the most people in the Commonwealth. Mr. President, as a result of all our careful deliberations Senate Bill No. 783 passed this Senate and went over to the House.

Now, Mr. President, I want to repeat, so that the purpose of my sincere pledge to the members of the Senate is not lost, all of the bitter opposition to what has happened in Delaware County arose on the left side of the aisle, all of the accusations as to political possibilities of what had happened arose on the left hand side of the aisle and, Mr. President, those on the left of the aisle, the Democratic Party, cooperated with us in those hearings, they cooperated with us in the gathering of this information and the crystalization of this public opinion and the attempt to interpret that crystalization into legislation.

Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 783 went over to the House, controlled by the Democratic Party, and I am informed this afternoon, Mr. President, that Senate Bill No. 783, after a stormy ride in committee, appeared on the Calendar, shone for a few hours, and has disappeared into a sub-committee from whence it shall never return.

I want to say, Mr. President, that I think this is a serious situation. I do not want to accuse either the Democratic Party or the Republican Party of playing politics with such a grave situation, but I want to say for my own party that we have done our duty with regard to regulation of municipal authorities, and the responsibility for anything that happens from here on, in a repetition of what took place in Delaware County, can be laid at the door of the opposition, the Democratic Party.

I want to say to you members of the Republican Party that no matter what kind of insinuations and insults and accusations we have listened to, made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, we have been vindicated by the bill we passed here in an honest and sincere attempt to see that there would be no repetition of what had happened down there, and all our attempts and all our long ardous hours and our labors and our sincere application to put good into this bill have gone for naught because those political playing people in the House, indirect opposition to what was said by the gentleman from Philadelphia—oh how he cried over our manipulation in Delaware County—because they took that bill and they pickled it.

I want to say to the members of the Democratic Party that you have the responsibility for what takes place from now on, in the regulation of municipal authorities, and I want to say to you sincerely I would not want to be in your position and have all of those authorities and all of the things that might happen, as a result of manipulation by clever politicians and manipulations by people who do things such as were done down in Delaware County, laid on your door step.

Senate Bill No. 783 was a good bill. There was not a man on the Democratic side of the Senate that could point out a defect or make a sincere constructive criticism of Senate Bill No. 783. There is not a man on the Democratic side of the Senate who will challenge the statement when I say to you the Committee on Public Utilities worked long and hard, and invited recommendations and received recommendations from the other side of the House. That bill, Senate Bill No. 783 was not a partisan measure, it was an honest sincere expression of opinion not only from the Republican side of the Senate but from the Democratic side of the Senate, and on your shoulders rests the responsibility for what happens to municipal authorities. Do not stand here and let the gentleman from Philadelphia ever again speak of the machinations of the Republican Party, permitting the things that went on in Delaware County, because the Republican Party tried to stop it and those of you who cast the first stone now hide when you have an opportunity to remedy the damage that was done in Delaware county.

So, Mr. President, I do not want to say "a plague on both your Houses," because that is not a fact, and I do not want to criticize the House of Representatives, the lower body in this Legislature, because perhaps that is not ethical, but I do want to say, Mr. President, a plague on the House that destroys a good legislation for political purposes.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not know anybody in the Senate of Pennsylvania who has been more sincerely interested in the Senate bill introduced by the gentleman from Montgomery, Senator Edmunds' and the gentleman from Allegheny Senator Walker, than myself. I know that both of those gentlemen will corroborate the statement I am going to make, that I did everything I possibly could to bring to the attention of my colleagues on this side of the Senate, as well as my Republican friends, the essentiality of the passage of legislation of this character.

I think, however, that the gentleman from Allegheny speaks just a trifle prematurely, because we are still on a legislative day and there still remain enough legislative days to breathe legislative life into that particular bill, and while I understand the Committee on Public Utilities had a meeting a few hours ago and there was action to place the bill in a sub-committee—which I am very frank to confess has the effect, the obvious purpose of killing the bill—I understand that the committee has reconsidered their action and that a meeting will be held tonight, and that the bill will be reported out favorably by the Committee on Public Utilities.

While there is many a slip twixt the cup and the lip, legislatively speaking, I am hopeful that this bill will be re-enacted into law. I do not think anybody in this Senate is faced with the situation that we are in the County of Lackawanna and the County of Luzerne, where an attempt is now being made by a financial institution to sell the water company to the County Commissioners of both of those counties for a sum somewhere in the neighborhood of forty-five million dollars. Immediately following the exposure of the Chester water deal this particular proposition had its inception, and those of us in that area share the grave apprehension of the gentleman from Allegheny and the gentleman from Montgomery that those authorities ought to have some agency in the Commonwealth which would have some knowledge of the value of property and which would have a proper instrumenality to check these authorities and preclude the possibility of another Chester water deal.

When the bill passed the Senate yesterday afternoon I made it my business to go not only to the Chairman of the Committee but to individual members of the House Committee on Public Utilities, and tried to impress upon them the absolute necessity for action on the part of the Public Utility Committee to report out what I regard as one of the most important bills in this session of the Legislature.

I am hoping that the information given to me by the Chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities less than a half an hour ago is true, and I have no reason to believe it is not, that before this Legislature adjourns sine die, and passes into history, that the bill introduced, the very fine bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny and also the gentleman from Montgomery, will be enacted into law, so that the people in my community and the county I represent, and the people in Luzerne County, might not have thrust upon them, that they will not wake up some morning and find some irresponsible people have thrust upon them a water company costing forty-five million dollars.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JAMES, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth:

MEMBERS OF THE DELAWARE RIVER JOINT COMMISSION

Derk, 644 Shamokin Street, Trevorton, Northumberland County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Township of Zerbe, Northumberland County, until the first Monday of January, 1942, vice Harry E. Haupt, resigned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 38

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. EALY,

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at today's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. JAMES and Mr. EALY,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, it is not my understanding that the Democratic Caucus approved the members of the Delaware River Bridge Commission. I had no advance knowledge that the nominations were to be brought out. Will the gentleman from Bucks suspend until I go into a huddle?

Mr. JAMES. I shall be very glad to do so, Mr. President. I might also say, to inform the Senator, that the Senators from the various districts from which these various justices of the peace come are entirely satisfied with the nominations I have just reported.

I have been informed by Mr. Shapiro today, as to the Delaware River Commission, there had been a Caucus meeting and that the Caucus had approved them and he authorized me to present them today, and for that reason I have reported them.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Bucks, Senator James, may I say that at this particular Caucus Senator Shaprio was the only member present.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, if there is any objection, I will move that the nominations be laid on the table. I am not responsible for the conduct of the Democratic Caucus; I must depend upon Mr. Shapiro, and when he gives me his word of honor, of course I take it. If there is objection I shall move that these particular nominations to which there is objection be laid on the table, temporarily.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I should like the gentleman to permit me to make this explanation. I understood the gentleman from Bucks to say, these nominations were agreeable to the Senators from the particular districts in which the nominees resided, and I was merely going to call his attention to this abandoning of the customary policy of confirmation. Prior to today the chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations conferred with the Minority Leader and got from him permission to bring the nominations out on the floor, with the understanding that the Democrats would vote for them, and if the gentleman will yield, I would like to suggest, until such time as the Minority Leader returns tomorrow, that he delay action on them.

Mr. President, so there is no misunderstanding, I am not opposing the nominations of the members of the Delaware River Bridge Commission, but I think we ought to have some general agreement on this subject. I ask the gentleman if he will not withhold submission of these names today and bring them up tomorrow, so we can get together and have some definite understanding.

Mr. JAMES. I will be glad to do so, Mr. President. To make my position entirely clear, Mr. President, I might say I am relying upon the word of Mr. Shapiro, who has assured me that the members of this commission were entirely acceptable to him and were approved by the Democratic caucus.

I was also informed by him with reference to all of the other nominations just reported, with the exception of one from my own county, and I am sure he would not care anything about that, and I am sure the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, would not care anything about that.

I have been relying upon the word of a leader of the Democratic Party, but if the Democrats do not stand back of what he says, I am entirely willing that these nominations shall be laid upon the table, and that they settle their own fight between themselves.

MOTION THAT NOMINATIONS BE LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. JAMES. I so move, Mr. President, that the nominations just reported be laid on the table.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. James, may be correct, but there is another caucus, Fayette and Washington Counties, that has not been consulted yet.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, Washington has been consulted. Senator Reed said so.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Chair understand that the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, objects only to consideration of the nominations to the Delaware River Bridge Commission or also the justices of the peace?

Mr. JAMES. I have moved, Mr. President, that the nominations be laid on the table temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Before that can be done it will be necessary to withdraw the motion to suspend Rule 38.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 38 WITHDRAWN

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to suspend Rules 38.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I object, Mr. President. I feel that we are doubting the integrity of the Senator from Bucks. Since the nominations have been presented, let us put them to a vote.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I second that suggestion, Mr. President.

Mr. McCREESH. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The matter is in the hands of the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations. If he insists on his motion, it will be necessary that a vote be taken.

Mr. JAMES. If the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, desires that these nominations be laid on the table, I will be very glad to accommodate him and have them laid on the table.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I merely wanted to call to the attention of the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations that there was some misunderstanding in a previous Executive Session, in which the nominations to the Allegheny Board of Registration Commissioners were brought out during the absence of the Minority Floor Leader, and he had the impression that the Democratic members were in accord with the appointments of the registration commissioners in Allegheny County. I understand there is some division of opinion and I thought maybe we might be running into another misunderstanding.

So that my position is not misunderstood, I am not opposed to the appointments to the Delaware River Bridge Commission in Philadelphia, but I thought, so that all of us could be in agreement, if that is the feeling on this side of the Senate, that consideration ought to be delayed until tomorrow and we can then all vote for them, if there is no objection from the Democratic side.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I am quite willing to accede to the request of the gentleman from Lackawanna. It is really very embarrassing to me, however, as chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations; I do not know whom I can rely upon or whose word I can take When you have selected a certain individual as your leader, certainly I have the right to presume he is telling me the truth and has the authority to tell me so; he told me no later than this morning at breakfast at the hotel that the Democratic Caucus had approved these nominations to the Delaware River Bridge Commission.

NOMINATIONS LAID ON TABLE

Mr. JAMES. Under the circumstances, I am entirely willing, however, that the nominations be laid upon the table, and I so move.

Mr. GELTZ. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 94, entitled:

An Act to amend section fifteen hundred and nine of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "Public School Code," by providing that the board of directors of any school district may appropriate funds to pay for medical examinations for tuberculosis for pupils, teachers, janitors, or other employes.

House Bill No. 1013, entitled:

An Act to repeal section five of the act, approved the fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 385), entitled "An act creating the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania; defining its duties; fixing the scope of its authority and powers and making an appropriation for the payment of the salaries and expenses connected therewith," prohibiting the issuance of letters patent to water companies until approved by the Water Supply Commission.

House Bill No. 1643, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, (P. L. 343), entitled "Fiscal Code" by providing for the manner of payment of escheator's fees, informant's commissions, and other lawful charges due from moneys escheated to the Commonwealth and escheatable moneys paid to the Commonwealth without escheat, designating the funds to which such moneys shall be credited, and making an appropriation.

House Bill No. 1648, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1005), entitled "Tractor Code," as variously amended, by changing registration years, fractions of registration years, operator's license years; extending the time for exemption from fees for transfer of registration to conform with changed registration year; reducing operator's license fee; and giving the secretary power to determine whether certain motor vehicles are of tractor type.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT, (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis), in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, as dean of the Senate, I feel it has become my duty to administer a mild rebuke to the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman. I admit Mr. Coleman is a very useful and a very active Senator. Someone has said perhaps he is a busybody, but that term is one of reproach and I refuse to use it. I am annoyed sometimes by the Senator from Lackawanna, because he is so busy and so often gives pointers to the Presiding Officer as to how to conduct the General Assembly, as far as the Senate is concerned, and I take exception to his zeal and fidelity in regard to the municipal authority act.

He told us that no one has taken so much interest in that act as he. The Chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities extended an invitation to all Senators interested to attend an evening meeting of that committee to learn all about the municipal authorities bill. The Senator from Lackawanna is not a member of that committee, but he was invited to attend and he was not there. I sat in as an observer, it was a very hot evening, and we sat there for about two and one-half hours.

I simply wish to deflate the Senator from Lackawanna a little; when he is so intensely interested in a bill he might have accepted the invitation of the chairman to learn the details of this bill in which he is so greatly interested.

I am annoyed also, when we vote, that the Senator from Lackawanna is so insistent on knowing how Senator A, B or C on this side voted, and I feel that a little less activity on the part of the Senator from Lackawanna would be very becoming.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. REED. Mr. Presdent, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Washington may proceed.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, when the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, was making his dissertation on his municipal authority bill, the latter part of his remarks were directed in my direction with some violence and some heat.

I wish to tell the gentleman from Allegheny that he does not need to get overly concerned about having one bill bottled up over in the House, that went over there along about July 1st. I understand I belong to the Democratic Party, and I have had, two or three non-controversial bills over there for some time and they are all in committee, so I do not want the gentleman from Allegheny to think that I have anything to do with his bill being bottled up over there. Furthermore, I belong to that small minority in this Senate that believes if you want to open the door to a lot of fraud, then broaden the base of these public authority acts and perhaps, you will get, with the opening of the door, a repetition of some of the things through which we have had sad experiences in Pennsylvania in the last year or so.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I too appreciate the zeal of Senator Edmonds and Senator Walker, and also Senator Coleman, on behalf of Senate Bill No. 783. However, I have a grave suspicion that bill is backed by every powerful uitility in Pennsylvania. It has been the policy in this state to keep the hands of the Public Utility Commission off our municipalities, and that has been the policy ever since the beginning of the Public Utility Commission, and I think it is splendid thing; I do not believe that the Public Utility Commission ought to be given any more powers. I think it has more than it can do now.

I feel that these municipal authorities are merely children of the municipalities, and therefore I feel that the Public Utility Commission should keep its hands off not only municipalities but also municipal authorities because I feel if they approve every sale of every utility to a municipal authority they can stop a sale, if a utility wants it done, they can stop the sale and they can stop the functioning of every municipality in Pennsylvania. Therefore, Mr. President, I voted against the bill and will vote against it again if it comes on this floor.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

He also, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1338, (House Bill No. 1400), entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" as amended by changing certain provisions of the act relating to corporate names and requiring certificates of the payment of taxes and other charges to be filed with the Department of State in certain cases.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1328, (House Bill No. 629), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of and to add section three and one-tenth to the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one (P. RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:00 o'clock, p. m. E. S. T.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, before we go into the Calendar, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland whether or not he is the chairman of the committee on conference which has under consideration the congressional reapportionment bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as I understand it, there is no chairman of any conference committee.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I do not so understand Somebody or other from either branch of the assembly is designated as chairman. I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland whether or not he has been acting as spokesman for the conferees on the congressional reapportionment bill.

Mr. WADE. No. Mr. President, the members of our committee are all fortunate in being able to speak for themselves.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman the exact status of the bill, and whether or not as stated by newspaper reports, the conference committee is absolutely deadlocked.

Mr. WADE. Unfortunately, Mr. President, our conference committee does not have control over the newspapers, much as we would like to have, and I am not certain whether, as a member of that conference committee, I am permitted to make an open statement regarding the present status of the legislation being considered.

REQUEST THAT SENATE BILL No. 1102 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 1102 go over in its order. I understand that there is some thought relative to further amending the bill.

Mr. JASPAN. I object, Mr. President, For the information of the Majority Floor Leader, the amendment has been explained to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, the King of the Amenders, and he is satisfied that the bill is in good shape.

Is that correct, Senator Kephart?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

REQUEST WITHDRAWN

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I withdraw my request that Senate Bill No. 1102 go over in it order. I am advised that the department says the bill is all right as it now is.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 468, (House Bill No. 70), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for the compensation paid to township commissioners.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none

REQUEST THAT BILLS GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bills 510 and 512 go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, has requested that Senate Bills Nos. 510 and 512 go over in order. I believe it will be detrimental to the citizenship of Pennsylvania of these bills will not be passed during this session. The bills attempt to do for State Building and Loan Associations the same thing which the federal government has done for federal building and loan associations. As a result of the advantages which the federal building and loan associations are enjoying due to insurance, the business of the State Building and Loan Associations is being tangibly reduced. For that reason Senate Bills Nos. 510 and 512 are of paramount importance to the people of Pennsylvania, because they give a new lease of life to the local building and loan associations, and for that reason, Mr. President, I believe that postponement of these bills will be to the disadvantage of many building and loan associations throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

That is the reason, Mr. President, I object to postponement of action on these bills.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 510, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections 504 A, 607 and 608 A of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565), entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over, and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of, corporations, associations, and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business, corporations acting as fiduciaries, and building and loan associations; providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations, associations, or persons, and appropriating the Banking Department Fund; authorizing the Department of Banking, under certain circumstances, to examine corporations, associations or persons affiliated, or having business transactions with supervised corporations, associations, or persons; authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court, and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries, register of wills, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act; providing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by providing for the taking of possession of the business and property of building and loan associations and savings and loan associations the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. GELTZ. I would like to state in that connection, Mr. President, if I may, that I am advised that the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Becker, had an understanding with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, who is absent tonight, that this bill and also Bill No. 512, would not be considered in his absence.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, do the remarks of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, regarding Senate Bill No. 510 apply also to Senate Bill No. 512.

Mr. GELTZ. For the information of our colleague from Allegheny, after action on this motion I intend to move that Senate Bill No. 512 go over in its order also, because of the same understanding.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 512, on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation and for the administration by a State Building and Loan Insurance Board created in this act, of a state fund for the insurance of shares in building and loan associations and savings and loan associations; and prescribing penalties.

go over in its order because of that same understanding.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, as I understand it, that means that these bills will die. I do not think we ought to let two bills of this character die simply because the leader on this side is not here, no matter what his understanding was with anybody on the other side. These bills are of great importance to home owners and building and loan associations of Pennsylvania, and I do not think because our leader happens to be away that ought to be a reason for killing these bills.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I can only say to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, that these bills were considered on a number of occasions by the Banking Committee; they were reported out several days ago, and at that time the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, requested of me that the bills should not be acted upon on third reading in his absence. I had no way of knowing that he would not be on the floor of the Senate tonight. I feel ethically and honorably and unalterably bound to that arrangement with him. I can only under the circumstances so state my arrangement; but I submit myself to the wishes of the Senate in the matter.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to know from my colleague from Philadelphia, when he introduced these bills, what was the purpose of the introduction of these bills on his part.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, will the Senator repeat his question?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. When the gentleman from Philadelphia introduced these bills what was his purpose in introducing them? Why did the Senator introduce these bills?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I regard these bills as very good bills. I met with quite a lot of opposition for a while, there was opposition from the Banking Department, but since that time the Banking Department has withdrawn its opposition. Then I met with opposition to these bills in the Republican Caucus. I am sorry to see these bills die but I can not help it.

However, Mr. President, as far as I am concerned if this body would like to act on these bills in the absence of Senator Shapiro, which I do not think altogether fair when my colleague from Lebanon, Senator Becker, has made the statement these bills would not be called up in the absence of Senator Shapiro, but if this body see fit to do otherwise I will be only too glad to see them brought up and I will vote for them.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I do not think it fair, Mr. President, that any such agreement should be entered into, at such a late hour between two parties on a matter as important as this is. I would like to cast my vote on these bills, if the Majority Floor Leader will give me the opportunity.

The PRESIDENT. In other words, the gentleman from Philadelphia desires an opportunity to vote on these bills.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Do I understand that a vote has not yet been taken on the motion that Senate Bill No. 512 go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. GELTZ. Then, Mr. President, I ask permission to withdraw the motion that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny has a right to withdraw the motion.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I withdraw the motion that Senate Bill No. 512 go over in its order.

Mr. MILLER. I withdraw my seconding of the motion, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McGINNIS. I rise on a parlimentary inquiry, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, may I inquire now what is the status as to Senate Bill No. 510.

Mr. GELTZ. I would suggest, Mr. President, that we finish one thing at a time. When this action has been completed we will then consider Senate Bill No. 510.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am interested in these bills. It seems wonders will never cease. This afternoon we were told that confirmation of nominations would be held up because Senator Shapiro was not here. Now, once again it seems we are to be denied the right to vote for a certain bill just because a certain member is not here. I protest against such action and I want to go on record by stating that Senator Shapiro is not voting for me or speaking for me. I vote and speak for myself and I do not want to have anyone tell me I can not vote on certain bills because a leader happens not to be here. I think that is silly. He is not my leader; I vote for myself. If you have different arguments put them forth, but do not say we can not vote for a certain bill because one man has informed the majority party he desires these bills killed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it seems rather strange in this body that on one day the Republican Senators are very much criticized for being brutal, hardhearted and severe, and then the day following they are criticized for being too lenient and kindhearted and decent.

Now, Mr. President, I do not think it is right for any Senator on the left of the Senate to criticize any Republican Senator for trying to be decent and for trying to accommodate one of their own, particularly when that one of their own party is their own duly elected floor leader. We did not put him in as Minority Floor Leader. The Senators on the other side choose him as their Minority Floor Leader and as their representative for us to deal with.

Now, Mr. President, if there is some misunderstanding about it, and if we are not supposed to take his representations, we are perfectly willing to abide by the wishes of the Democratic Senators. For that reason, since they are renouncing his request and refusing his request, and not us, I am perfectly willing to have this motion withdrawn and ask that a vote be taken on Senate Bill No. 512 at this time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the Majority Floor Leader is very able, we all know, but he can not seem to resist the temptation, every time he gets the chance, to make a speech. I want to say to the Majority Floor Leader, if he is dealing with Mr. Shapiro as our Floor Leader, that is one thing, but when a deal is of the same nature that has made on these bills, where two bills are being killed because of some deal that has been made, we Democratic members do not want to have any part of it and we are calling it to your attention, that if you do persist in being so kind to Mr. Shapiro in the last week of the session, then your kindness results in the death of two measures which one of your own members introduced and one of your own members said is a very good bill.

I will say if you are going to insist on being nice I am going to move that these bills be dropped from the Calendar. Let us face the facts in the matter.

Mr. REED. Mr. President I think there is a great deal to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, with reference to all business affecting this side of the chamber going through Mr. Shapiro as Floor Leader. That is a very bad doctrine, and that doctrine, if you follow it to its logical conclusions, will bar any independent thought and action in this body. I have wondered now for some days why certain members on this side did not get any consideration with respect to certain appointments. I can understand now, from the statement the Republican Floor Leader just made, the reason for that. I think that policy, if it prevails, will suppress all types of independent action on this side of the chamber, and if you carry that further, in time it will tend to suppress all independent thought and action in this body, and I do not believe the people of this great Commonwealth want that kind of policy initiated in this body.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BECKER. I should like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland whether, when he used the word "deal", he did not use that inadvertently?—did he mean arrangement? I assure him here was no deal; there was a request on the part of the Minority Floor Leader, Senator Shapiro, to which I merely acquiesced.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in answer the gentleman from Lebanon, I want to say I only repeated what your Floor Leader said; he said a deal was made and we were renouncing it. You can read the record if you want.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I just have a suggestion to make; that the independents who sit over there on the left with the Democrats might help the situation by electing a floor leader.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, some time ago a motion was made that we consider the Calendar. We are not speaking on a bill at the present time.

The PRESIDENT. The question is as to consideration of Senate Bill No. 512.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I wish to state to the gentleman from Schuylkill, if he is referring to me, that I do not need any floor leader. I do not know how they operate in that great county of Schuylkill but I do know how they operate out in Greene and Washington Counties; people out there want a representative that will represent them, independent of any floor leader. and that is what I am trying to do in this body, and if through weakness I fail I will stand the punishment that my people want to give me.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I would just like to say this, I regard these bills as very good bills. Anybody could vote for them and hold his read up. I might say to you they are sponsored by the Real Estate Board of Philadelphia and they are state-wide, and I might say to you that the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker, has a letter, which he does not happen to have with him, from the banking commissioner and he pronounces them good bills. You can not get a bad bill by the banking commissioner.

I would ask my fellow members of the Senate to support this bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I just want to add a little kindly criticism concerning the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, who has been excellent this session, but he has consistently made his deals—I say that kindly—with a floor leader that has never represented me nor the gentleman from Washington, and also a few others here in the matter of appointments to conference committees. I had the most disturbing experience of sitting here yesterday and listening to the supposedly Minority Floor Leader saying that he was not going to stand for the appointment of any member to a conference committee that was not in accord with him or who was constantly stabbing him in the back. I resent that.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I have tried to be very fair in the appointment of conference committees. I understand over in the House there is an arrangement that the floor leader on the Republican side, the Minority Floor Leader, suggested for the Republican members the name of the minority conferee. We have to have some plan here in this Senate. It is impossible to talk to everyone and get all the Democratic members together to arrange for the Democratic member of a conference committee. I have had some complaints from members on the other side about the fact that Senator Shapiro did not consult them or give them the proper recognition. I have pleaded with Democratic members on the other side to adopt a resolution among themselves as to just how this should be handled.

On numerous occasions I have told them I wanted some plan that I could follow and they have said, "Oh, Senator Shapiro dominates it." What am I to do for the Democratic members on the other side as to representation on conference committees? Am I to utterly ignore the one they elect as the Minority Floor Leader? You have to have someone on the Democratic side to sit in these conferences and to determine policy, and I hope you men over there will get together and pass some resolution saying that I am to utterly ignore Senator Shapiro in these matters and to appoint the person who in my judgment would be best fitted. Otherwise we will have a very considerable amount of confusion here. If I am to take the entire responsibility for it I am perfectly willing to do that.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I believe in having a picture presented as fairly as possible, and I want to say in defense of the actions and the conduct of the President Pro Tempore of this Senate during this session that I too think he has been absolutely fair in the way he has conducted his appointments.

I want to say also at this time, Mr. President, that some six weeks or two months ago, I believe, was the first time I talked to individual Democratic Senators in reference to appointments that were being made by the President Pro Tempore and that long ago, Mr. President, I suggested to them there was not anything else the President Pro Tempore could do, under the arrangements which we made at the beginning of this session, unless they themselves, as a Democratic group. took further action and informed Senator Ealy as to what were their wishes. Now, Mr. President, the only criticism that should be made in this connection is criticism of themselves; if there is any criticism to be made it is criticism of themselves for not having taken some action which would rectify what seems to be a very unsatisfactory situation and condition in reference to the Democratic Senators.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to say for every member on this side of the House we have not a single word of criticism of Senator Ealy. He has been extremely fair and I am sure no member on this side of the House has a word of criticism for what he has done.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I would like to say when the Democratic Caucus met, at its preliminary meeting, there was a tentative agreement that the Minority Floor Leader should select the members of conference committees. Now, Mr. President, there have been complaints made to me personally on numerous occasions about the selection of members of these conference committees. Certainly I agree with the Senator from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, that no member of the minority could in any way censure the President Pro Tempore for following the action outlined by the Democratic Caucus itself, and, for the first time during the session, I agree with the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Geltz, in saying that he is right, in saying that this is a matter that should have been taken care of within the Democratic Caucus and not aired here on the Senate floor, taking up the Senate's time; if there had been any courageous action within the body, I think this thing could have been corrected within our own ranks.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that there was a motion adopted that we consider the Calendar and not the question of how conferees should be selected.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I have just been advised that Senator Shapiro expects to be back for the session this evening. If that is so, then I would ask, Mr. President, that both of these bills, Senate Bills Nos. 510 and 512 go over in order temporarily, until such time as he arrives.

The PRESIDENT. In order that the record might be clear, the Chair wishes to state that Senate Bill No. 510 has already gone over in order. The question now is on the disposition of Senate Bill No. 512. The Chair merely makes that statement to keep the record clear.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am objecting to that motion, should Senator Shapiro not appear here at this evening's session. I have no objection to it going over temporarily, but I will object to it going over for another day.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I did not intend to ask that these bills go over for another day. If the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, does not appear by the time we have completed the Calendar, then I will ask that we have Senate Bill Nos. 510 and 512 acted upon.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree that Senate Bill 512 go over in order?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 634, (House Bill No. 974), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend article twelve section one thousand two hundred six of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by providing for the issuance of a certificate of approval for weights and measures of county city and borough sealers.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether it is his intention at a later date to bring this bill up for final enactment.

Mr. GELTZ. That, Mr. President, I expect will be done.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 707, (House Bill No. 1023), as follows:

An Act prohibiting employers from directly or indirectly offering for sale selling procuring for sale having in possession or under control for sale to employes or others any merchandise not produced by employers not handled in the regular course of employer's business or not connected or related to his or its business providing exceptions thereto declaring such prohibited sales to be unfair competition and repealing prior inconsistent legislation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Reason and Purpose (a) The Legislature hereby finds that the existence in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of the practice whereby employers sell or procure for sale to employes or other persons any merchandise not of the employer's own production not handled in the regular course of the employer's business or not connected with or related to his or its trade or business is detrimental to the convenience and general well-being of the public engaged in retail business in that such practice (1) interferes with and diverts the proper and normal flow of trade and commerce from persons engaged in retail business and (2) constitutes an unfair method of competition by such employers against others engaged in commerce as retail merchants

(b) It is hereby declared to be the policy of this act through the exercise by the legislature of its police powers to correct and to eliminate the conditions referred to above declaring certain sales to constitute unfair competition and prohibiting same

Section 2 No person partnership corporation or association engaged in any business or trade in this Commonwealth shall by any method or procedure directly or indirectly by itself or through a subsidiary agency sell or procure for sale or have in its possession or under its control for sale to its employes or to any other person any article material product or merchandise of whatever nature not of his or its own production not handled in his or its regular course of trade or business or not connected with or related to his or its trade or business Provided That this section shall not apply to the sale or distribution of (1) meals candy beverages cigarettes cigars tobacco (2) tools and material used or worn by employes in such trade or business or appliances and products which are used and worn by employes and are or may be beneficial to the safety health and working conditions of such employes (3) equipment or machinery which has previously been used by such person partenership corporation or association in the conduct of his or its business or (4) goods of use in the furtherance of his or its trade or business or connected therewith or related thereto And provided further that the provisions of this act shall not apply to co-operative associations organized under the laws of this Commonwealth And provided further That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit or prevent any person firm or corporation engaged in any industry other than a retail business or trade from owning and operating either directly by itself or through any agency or subsidiary a bona fide store or stores for the sale of goods at retail to his or its employees and others under the provisions of this section.

The doing of any of the acts as prohibited above shall constitute unfair competition to any retail store operator or owner dealing in the same kind type nature or class of merchandise as that so sold as aforesaid within the same city or county in which such above prohibited sale occurs

Section 3 Remedy Wilfully and knowingly selling or procuring for sale or having in possession or under control for sale directly or indirectly by any person partnership or corporation or subsidiary agency to his or its employes any article material product or merchandise of whatever nature not of his or its own production not handled in his or its regular course of trade or business or not connected with or related to his or its trade or business is unfair competition and is actionable at the suit of any person damaged thereby Such action shall be in equity by injunction only and no damages shall be assessed

Section 4 Constitutionality If any clause sentence paragraph or part of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances shall for any reason be adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid such judgment shall not affect impair or invalidate the remainder of this act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances but such decision shall be confined in its operation to the cause sentence paragraph or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered and to the person or circumstances involved It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such invalid provisions not been included herein

Section 5 Repealing Clauses All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 6 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I have presented quite a few amendments to this bill. I do not think any amendments that I could have presented would have made this bill constitutional. I do think, however, that several of the amendments presented help it in that respect. The amendment that was cut out last night, at the suggestion of Senator Shapiro, I think makes the bill more unconstitutional than it was. I am only making these remarks to prevent anybody from impinging on my motives in introducing these amendments, and I think they all tend to help the bill.

However, I wish to state to the Senate that I do not think any amendments could ever make this bill constitutional and I am voting against it for the reason that I do not think this Legislature should place on the Governor's desk a bill that is unconstitutional, and place him in the position of having to veto it on that ground, nor do I think this General Assembly should pass a bill which the courts will have to declare unconstitutional.

Mr. President, this bill does nothing more than favor one group of businessmen in this Commonwealth at the expense of another and at the expense of the consumers. We have not yet gotten so far in this country's constitutional law that such laws are constitutional.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I believe this is a good bill in the public interest; nor do I have the fears of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, with reference to its constitutionality.

What this bill means is that as there is an improvement in business methods, standards and so on, occasionally those improvements get expressed in legislation, and that is a good thing, because it helps the standard to be enforced throughout the state.

Now, Mr. President, some years ago—I do not know whether there is anyone here who could remember as I can remember, when my mother, sixty years ago, told me that John Wannamaker, a merchant in Philadelphia, was the first man to start the practice of one price only for a piece of goods and that price was the same on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and in addition to that, if a customer was not satisfied with the goods, he could take them back again and get his money. That became fundamental in American business life, and yet there was a time when John Wannamaker was the pioneer, not only the pioneer, but a rather risky pioneer in that line of business.

We have developed today in this country these business conditions by which a certain group of people take advantage of their influence or their social position to make use of the purchasing agents of big corporations to buy things for themselves at a large discount that the average man can not take advantage of. Now, it seems to me, the average man is justified in complaining about that. He has got to pay, and when he pays he has got to pay a price sufficient to keep that business going, and yet somebody else, by taking advantage of a discount through influence, is able to get the same thing at a very much less price. I think the practice itself is bad. I think it would be a fine thing for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to say to businessmen generally, we do not like this practice of discounts, there should be one price for the goods, the poor man should stand on the same basis as the rich, and the rich on the same basis as the poor. That, I understand, is the purpose of this act.

An act of this kind has been passed in Wisconsin, and I have also received information that in Illinois and Michigan this year similar acts have been passed. It seems to me there is a general improvement throughout the country in the interest of honest dealings, which means a higher standard has been established for business and that higher standard may well be expressed in legislation. I see nothing wrong about it and therefore I shall vote for the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1043, (House Bill No. 571), on third reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance, for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to, and remaining unpaid on, May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also by the Governor, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer or the majority thereof.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1053, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (P. L. 44) entitled "An act providing for the release and discharge of encumbrances or charges on land in all cases in which the period of twenty-one years has elapsed after the principal of the encumbrance or charge has become due and payable and no payment has been made within such period of twenty-one years on account of such encumbrance or charge by the owner or owners of the land sought to be released and discharged and no sufficient release is of record in the county and regulating proceedings for such release and discharge" heretofore repealed in so far as it related to the orphans court relieving courts of common pleas of the necessity of passing on the truth of the allegations of petitions for release and discharge of such encumbrances or charges

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (P. L. 44) entitled "An act providing for the release and discharge of encumbrances or charges on land in all cases in which the period of twenty-one years has elapsed after the principal of the encumbrance or charge has become due and payable and no payment has been made within such period of twenty-one years on account of such encumbrance or charge by the owner or owners of the land sought to be released and discharged and no sufficient release is of record in the county and regulating proceedings for such release and discharge" which was repealed by the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447) in so far as it related to the orphans' court is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases in which under any proceeding in any court of record of this Commonwealth except orphans' courts or under any deed [last will and testament] mortgage [dower] recognizance judgment decree or other obligation or instrument any money has been or may hereafter be charged upon land payable presently or at a future time (excepting charges created by orphans' courts) and the period of twenty-one years has elapsed or shall have elapsed after the principal of such encumbrance or charge has become or shall have become due and payable and no payment has been or shall have been made within said period of twenty-one years on account of such encumbrance or charge by the owner or owners of the land sought to be released and discharged and no sufficient release acquittance or acknowledgment of payment of such encumbrance or charge is of record in the county in which the land is situated it shall be lawful [for the orphans' court of the county in which such land is situated in cases in which the encumbrance or charge is under a decree of an orphans' court or by last will and testament dower or recognizance charged by said court and] for the common pleas court of the county in which such land is situated [in all other cases] upon petition of the owner or owners of the land or any part thereof subject to the encumbrance or charge setting forth the facts verified by affidavit and alleging that no payment of principal or interest has been made within said period of twenty-one years on account of said encumbrance or charge by the present owner or owners or so far as can be ascertained by his or their predecessors in title and giving the names of all known parties interested in such encumbrance or charge their places of residence if known and a description of the land subject to the charge and sought to be released and discharged to direct the sheriff of the county to give notice to all such known parties in the county whose residences are known by copy served personally or left at their places of abode and to all parties out of the county if any and to all unknown parties if any by public notice published in one or more newspapers published within or nearest the county once a week for four successive weeks which notice shall briefly state the facts set forth in the petition and require the parties to appear in court on a day designated at least thirty days after the filing of the petition and service of notice as aforesaid to be made at least twenty days prior to the day designated for appearance at which time should any person or persons appear and claim payment for or on account of such encumbrance or charge or any part thereof the court shall enter a rule on the person or persons so appearing and claiming to commence proper legal proceedings to enforce payment of their claim or claims within thirty days after the entry of such rule and in default of compliance with such rule or in event of a non-appearance of any person to answer the petition or in the event of the joinder of all parties in interest in such petition the court [being satisfied of the truth of the allegations of the petition] shall decree and direct that the land subject to the encumbrance or charge or any part thereof sought to be released or discharged shall be released and discharged from the same and the payment thereof and that a copy of the petition and decree shall be entered of record in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county for recording which he shall be entitled to a fee at the rate he is entitled by law to charge for recording deeds which decree and record shall forever thereafter operate as a release and discharge of the land from the encumbrance of the charge and shall bar all actions brought thereon

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall apply in the case of proceedings then pending as well as in proceedings thereafter commenced

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 1121, (House Bill No. 909), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three hundred three of and to add section three hundred seven of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale manufacture possession transportation importation traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents the Department of Public Instruction other officers of the State government courts and district attorneys authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others providing for the forfeiture of certain property making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties" by providing for the appointment of assistant managers in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores and by establishing minimum salaries for certain employes of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board working in Pennsylvania Liquor Stores

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I object to the bill going over in order and I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. GELTZ.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman once again tell me why he is making the request that Senate Bill No. 1121 go over in order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, once again I will tell my colleague, Senator Haluska, but I will not tell him the same thing. To tell the truth, I do not know any reason why this bill is going over in order except that I was requested to ask that it go over in order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I appreciate hearing the gentleman from Allegheny tell the truth. I feel much better with that answer than with the answer I got last night. There certainly must be some reason for these requests to have bills go over in order; the gentleman from Allegheny certainly must have some other reason. If he has only had a request, I trust he will withdraw his request and give us an opportunity to act on the bill. I am sure we have members on both sides, Democratic and Republican, who want to be recorded as voting for this bill. It is not a partisan measure. In fact I think the Republican Party should feel it would be a feather in their hat to have this bill go over in order, but I object, Mr. President, and ask for a roll call.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1121, go over in its order.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

Bartlett,	Deitrick,	James,	Taylor,
Becker,	Ealy,	Kephart,	Thomas,
Carr,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Wade,
Chapman,	Farrell,	Miller,	Watkins,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1199, (House Bill No. 1420), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 507) entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes and in cities coextensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" as amended by imposing the tax upon personal property held and managed in this Commonwealth owned held or possessed by residents as trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact jointly with one or more trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact domiciled in another state and by imposing the tax upon equitable interests of residents in personal property held and mangaed in another state where the legal title to such personal property is held by more than one trustee agent or attorney-in-fact one or more of whom are domiciled in another state and one or more of whom are domiciled within this Commonwealth and exempting casualty insurance companies having no capital stock from the tax imposed by this act.

go over in its order.

We have certain amendments that have been questioned, and there is also some doubt raised as to wether the amendments are not covered by earlier bills that passed both the Senate and the House and are now in the hands of the Governor.

The PRESIDENT . Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1230, (House Bill No. 1397), as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P L 457), entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan association providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations defining the rights powers duties liabilities and immunities of such associations and of their officers directors shareholders solicitors and other employes prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers establishing limitations of actions imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" as amended by requiring certificates of the payment of taxes and other charges to be filed with the Department of State in certain cases

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section seven hundred seven of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 457), entitled "An act relating to the business of building and loan associations providing for the organization and voluntary dissolution of such associations defining the rights powers duties liabilities and immunities of such associations and of their officers directors shareholders solicitors and other employes prohibiting the transaction of business in this Commonwealth by foreign building and loan associations conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers establishing limitations of actions imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 707 Filing of Articles of Amendments Payment of Fees Approval by Department of State A The articles of amendment [and] the proof of publication of the advertisement required by this act and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all taxes and charges as required by law shall be delivered to the Department of State

B The Department of State shall examine such articles of amendment [and] such proof of publication and such certificate or certificates herein required to be delivered therewith to determine whether they contain all the information and are in the form required by this act After all the fees taxes and other charges have been paid as required by law except for the costs of any examinations made by the Department of Banking pursuant to the provisions of this act to determine whether to approve the amendment or any other charges made by the Department of Banking the Department of State shall if the articles of amendment and the proof of publication contain the information and are in the form required by this act forthwith but not prior to the day specified in the advertisement of the intention of the association to file the articles endorse its approval thereon and shall forthwith transmit them to the Department of Banking

C If the Department of State shall disapprove the articles of amendment pursuant to the provisions of this act it shall forthwith give notice thereof to the association stating in detail its reasons for doing so and stating how such association can remedy the nonconformance with the provisions of this act Upon remedying the defect such association may in the same manner file the same or amended articles whichever the particular case may require

Section 2 Section one thousand five of said act as amended by the act approved the fifteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 63) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1005 Filing of Articles of Merger Consolidation or Conversion Payment of Fees Approval by Department of State A The articles of merger consolidation or conversion as the case may be [and] the proof of publication of the advertisement required by this act and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all taxes and charges as required by law shall be delivered to the Department of State

B The Department of State shall examine such articles of merger consolidation or conversion [and] such proof of publication and such certificate or certificates herein required to be delivered therewith to determine whether they contain all the information and are in the form required by this act and also whether the name of the surviving new or converted association as the case may be conforms with the requirements of law for the name of such an association or if the name is not the same as either or any of the merging or consolidating associations whether it is the same as one already adopted or reserved by another corporation or person or is so similar thereto that it is likely to mislead the public

After all the fees taxes and other charges have been paid as required by law except for the costs of an examination made by the Department of Banking pursuant to the provisions of this act to determine whether to approve the merger consolidation or conversion or any other charges made by the Department of Banking the Department of State if the articles of merger consolidation or conversion the certificate or certificates herein required to be delivered therewith and the proof of publication contain the information and are in the form required by this act shall forthwith but not prior to the day specified in the advertisement of the intention to file the articles endorse its approval thereon and shall forthwith transmit them to the Department of Banking

C If the Department of State shall disapprove the articles of merger consolidation or conversion pursuant to this act it shall forthwith give notice thereof to the association or Federal savings and loan association stating in detail its reasons for doing so and stating how such association or Federal savings and loan association can remedy the non-conformance with the provisions of this act Upon remedying the defect such association or Federal savings and loan association may in the same manner file the same or amended articles whichever the particular case may require

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1263, (House Bill No. 846), on third reading, entitled:

An Act requiring school boards in all school districts to grant leaves of absence to all school employes who shall volunteer or be called for military or naval service in time of war or during a state of national emergency preserving certain contracts salaries increments retirement rights seniority State contributions and grants to local school boards eligibility lists re-employment authorizing school boards to employ substitutes in place of such employes reserving all rights and privileges of employes granted leaves of absence under the provisions herein superseding or repealing all contrary laws.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1269, (House Bill No. 1652), as follows:

An Act to further amend sections eight and eleven of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 553) entitled "An act relating to the financial responsibility of operators and owners of motor vehicles and to make uniform the law with reference thereto requiring operators and owners of automobiles under certain circumstances to furnish proof of financial responsibility as herein defined providing for the suspension of operators' licenses and motor vehicle registration certificates in certain cases regulating insurance policies which may be accepted as proof of financial responsibility imposing duties upon the Secretary of Revenue the State Treasurer and prothonotaries and prescribing penalties" by giving the secretary discretionary power under certain circumstances to suspend operators' licenses and providing for notice and hearing before suspension of licenses and registrations

Section 1 Sections eight and eleven of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 553) entitled "An act relating to the financial responsibility of operators and owners of motor vehicles and to make uniform the law with reference thereto requiring operators and owners of automobiles under certain circumstances to furnish proof of financial responsibility as herein defined providing for the suspension of operators' licenses and motor vehicle registration certificates in certain cases regulating insurance policies which may be accepted as proof of financial responsibility imposing duties upon the Secretary of Revenue the State Treasurer and prothonotaries and prescribing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 1075) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 8 Proof of Financial Responsibility Required as Condition Precedent to Issuance of Renewal of Operators' Licenses to Persons Having Certain Accident Record Suspension of Operators' Licenses Penalty (a) Until proof of financial responsibility has been furnished to the secretary an operator's license shall not be issued or renewed to a person who within any twelve months' period while operating a motor vehicle either within or outside of this State had one or more accidents caused wholly or partially by his negligence which caused injury to persons or damage to property excluding injury to persons or damage to motor vehicles operated by such person amounting in the aggregate to more than one hundred dollars ($100) or the operator's license of any person who while operating a motor vehicle either within or without this State had an accident caused by his negligence which caused injury to persons or damage to property excluding injury to himself and damage to motor vehicles operated by such person amounting in the aggregate to more than one hundred dollars ($100) may be suspended after a hearing by secretary unless proof of financial responsibility has been furnished to the secretary except that where an operator by his negligence has caused one (1) or more accidents within any twelve (12) months' period resulting in injury to persons or damage to property excluding injury to himself and damage to more vehicles operated by himself amounting in the aggregate to more than one hundred dollars ($100) and such operator or other person or insurer has paid all the claims arising from such accidents or if such operator or owner at the time of such accidents or if such operator or owner at the time of such accident or accidents was self insured in a manner satisfactory to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or to the secretary in an amount sufficient to pay all claims for such injuries and damages or carried insurance in a solvent insurance carrier which would be liable to respond in damages in an amount sufficient to pay all claims for such injuries and damages or carried insurance in a solvent insurance carrier which would be liable to respond in damages in an amount sufficient to pay all claims for such injuries and damages then such operator shall be exempt from the provisions of this section The amount of damages caused by accidents in which the applicant was involved will be deemed to have been the amount paid in settlement of claims of other persons if all such claims have been settled and if such claims have not been paid then the amounts claimed by persons injured and by the persons entitled to recover for the death of persons killed and by the owners of property damaged or judgments obtained by such other persons

(b) For the purposes of this section where all claims have not been paid and the operator or owner either has not carried insurance in a solvent insurance carrier which would be liable to respond in damages in an amount sufficient to pay all such claims or was not self insured in a manner satisfactory to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or to the secretary in an amount sufficient to pay all such claims the happening of an accident while a person is operating a motor vehicle shall be prima facie evidence that it was caused wholly or partly by such person's negligence but the secretary may upon application of such person conduct an inqury into the circumstances under which the accident occurred and thereupon find that the accident occurred without any negligence on the part of such person or that the damages are not in the amount claimed Damages may be deemed to be claimed only if the [defendant] secretary has received a notification of the amount of damages claimed from the person injured the person entitled to recover for the death of the person killed or the owner of property damaged which notification shall be subscribed to and verified by the oath or affirmation of such person and a copy of the receipted bill or a copy of the bill rendered or a copy of the estimate of the probable cost prepared by a qualified person and subscribed to and verified by the oath or affirmation of the person acknowledging payment rendering the bill or preparing the estimate.

(c) The secretary's finding or such notification shall not be admissible in evidence in any court proceeding for damages instituted either by or against such person or in any criminal proceeding arising out of such accident

(d) Any person making a misstatement of fact in notification required under subsection (b) of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) or both in the discretion of the court

Section 11 Proof of Financial Responsibility Required of Persons Who Fail to Satisfy Judgments Arising Out of Motor Vehicle Accidents Operator's License and Registration Certificates to Be Suspended Until Satisfaction of Judgment If within fifteen days after if becomes final any person fails to satisfy any judgment rendered against him by a court of competent jurisdiction in this or any other State or the District of Columbia or any province of the Dominion of Canada or by a district Court of the United States for damages on account of personal injury or of damage to property in excess of five dollars and thirty-three cents ($5.33) resulting from the operation subsequent to the effective date of this act by him his agent or any other person with his express or implied consent of a motor vehicle owned by him or the operation by him or his agent of a motor vehicle not owned by him [his operator's license and all of his registration certificates shall be forthwith suspended by] the secretary upon receiving a certified copy of such final judgment from the court in which the same was rendered shall give such person notice within five (5) days after receiving such certified copy by registered mail at his last address recorded in the Department of Revenue that his operator's license and all of his registration certificates will be suspended unless such judgment is satisfied within twenty (20) days from the date of such notice Upon failure to satisfy any such judgment the secretary shall forthwith suspend such person's operator's license and all of his registration certificates and they shall remain suspended and shall not be renewed nor shall any other motor vehicle be thereafter registered in his name while such judgment remains unsatisfied and subsisting and until he has furnished proof of financial responsibility for future accidents Provided however That when any person whose operator's license and registration certificate have been suspended or revoked under the provisions of this section at the time of such accident was self insured in a manner satisfactory to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or to the Secretary in an amount sufficient to pay all claims for such injuries and damages or carried insurance in a solvent insurance carrier which would be liable to respond in damages in an amount sufficient to pay the judgment rendered against him the secretary shall have the authority to issue or renew the operator's license and registration certificate of such person after such judgment has been satisfied without first requiring proof of financial responsibility.

If such person is not a resident of this State he shall not be permitted to operate any motor vehicle in this State and it shall not be lawful for any other person knowing that such operation is not permitted to operate in this State any motor vehicle owned by such nonresident while such judgment remains unsatisfied and subsisting and until such nonresident has furnished proof of financial responsibility for future accidents

If after such person has satisfied such judgment within the meaning of this act and has furnished proof of financial responsibility any other such judgment shall be recovered against him for any accident occurring before such proof was furnished his operator's license and registration certificates shall again be and remain suspended while such other judgment remains unsatisfied and subsisting

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, am I correct that we have on the statute books an Act of Assembly whereby in cases of this kind, where a word is misspelled, it does not require amendment; that the bill may be corrected by the printer without the necessity of amending the bill and forcing it over another legislative day; is there an Act of Assembly to take care of that.

The PRESIDENT. It may be corrected, if there are any errors. After the Senate and the House have adjourned sine die, these corrections can be made.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, there are some other strike-out amendments if the gentleman will just let me finish.

I desire unanimous consent to amend Section 24 (Sec. 903), page 56, line 22, after the word "or" and before the word "load," by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 24 (Sec. 903), page 56, line 23, after the word "or" and before the word "load," by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 24 (Sec. 903), page 56, line 25, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 24 (Sec. 903), page 57, line 3, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 24, (Sec. 903), page 57, line 5, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 25 (Sec. 903), page 57, line 19, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 25 (Sec. 903), page 57, line 20, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 25 (Sec. 903), page 57, line 22, after the word "or" and before the word

"load," by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 25 (Sec. 903), page 57, line 29, after the word "or" and before the word "load," by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 25, (Sec. 903), page 58, line 2, after the word "or" and before the word "load", by removing the misspelled word "axel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "axle"; amend Section 27, page 60, line 28, after the letter "(b)", by taking out the following: "subsection (c)"; amend Section 27, (Sec. 1002), pages 62 and 63, beginning with line 7 through to line 28 on page 62, and lines 1 and 2 on page 63, by taking out all of the said lines beginning with the letter "(c)" and ending with the word "pass"; amend Section 27, (Sec. 1002), page 63, line 21, after the word "painted" and before the word "white", by taking out the word "primarily" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "predominately," and by underlining the words: "painted white and"; amend Bill, page 64, by taking out Section 28, beginning with line 4 and ending with line 20, including all the lines between lines 4 and 20; amend Sec. 33, page 70, lines 25 to 28, both inclusive by striking out the following in line 25: "and that parking may be pro-" and all of lines 26, 27 and 28; amend Sec. 34, page 72, line 1, by striking out after the letter "(g)" the following: "two" and inserting in lieu thereof: "one"; amend Sec. 34, page 72, line 1, by striking out the word "subsections"; and inserting in lieu thereof "subsection"; amend Sec. 34, page 72, lines 5 to 16, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines; amend Sec. 34, page 72, line 17, by striking out the letter "(i)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(h)".

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1315, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and the provisions of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven (P. L. 83), entitled "An act to provide for the maintenance, care and treatment of the indigent insane in county and local institutions," as amended by reviving said act for a limited period of time and including institution districts within the act, in conformity with existing law.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1317, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and section one of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 707), entitled "An act fixing the liabiilty of the counties, poor districts, and the Commonwealth for the support of the indigent and partly indigent insane in State institutions," by revising the provisions of said act for a limited period of time; further fixing the liability of counties, institution districts and the Commonwealth; and conforming the title and the act to existing law

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1323, (House Bill No. 1857), as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Revenue for the payment of claims against the Commonwealth arising from damage by fire caused by defective wires used for operating airplane beacons

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Revenue for the payment of any claims against the Commonwealth arising from damage by fire to buildings and their contents caused by the use of defective electric transmission wires furnished by the Division of Aeronautics of the Department of Revenue for use in operating airplane beacons Payments from this appropriation shall be made on requisition of the Secretary of Revenue with the approval of the Department of Justice

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, at the request of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1325, on third reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care, treatment, removal, and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and institution district hospitals.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of information.

Mr. JASPAN. Have we now completed the third reading Calendar?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

MOTION TO CALL UP SENATE BILLS Nos. 510 AND 512

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bills Nos. 510 and 512, on page six of the Calendar, be called up for consideration.

Mr. President, I appreciate the fact that Senator Shapiro is not here and further, while we should consider his wishes, the fact remains we do not know how long the House will be in session tonight, and if these bills are not passed and sent over to the House it will not be possible to pass them.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, the Chair has just been advised that the House has already adjourned for the day. There is a dinner at the Harrisburger Hotel.

Mr. GELTZ. I may be in error, Mr. President, but I understand that they are coming back after the dinner.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to congratulate my colleague on the very smooth way in which he has helped to kill these two bills. He may have done it in good faith, but it turns out they are dead. I understand the House has adjourned until tomorrow at one o'clock. I am making this statement for the information of the Chair, in order that he may have the facts.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, with the consent of our Floor Leader, I now call up Senate Bill No. 510. I have been informed during the debate that these two Bills, Nos. 510 and 512, have been approved by the Pennsylvania State League Building and Loan Association, and a great majority of what we call local or state building and loan associations favor these bills.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to support these bills.

SENATE BILL No. 510 ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE CALLED UP

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 510, on third reading and final passage, which went over in its order, on page 6 of the Calendar.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 510, as follows:

An Act to amend sections 504A 607 and 608A of the act appproved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565) entitled "An act relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Banking and the Secretary of Banking in exercising supervision over and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of corporations associations and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business corporations acting as fiduciaries and building and loan associations providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations associations or persons and appropriating the Banking Department Fund Authorizing the Department of Banking under certain circumstances to examine corporations associations or persons affiliated or having business transactions with supervised corporations associations or persons authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries registers of wills recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain local public officers and State department to collect fees for services rendered under this act providing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" by providing for the taking of possession of the business and property of building and loan associations and savings and loan associations the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund

Section 1 Section 504A of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 565) entitled "An act relating to the powers of Banking in exercising supervision over and taking possession of and conducting or liquidating the business and property of corporations associations and persons receiving deposits or otherwise transacting a banking business corporations acting as fiduciaries and building and loan associations providing for the payment of the expenses of the Department of Banking by supervised corporations associations or persons and appropriating the Banking Department Fund authorizing the Department of Banking under certain circumstances to examine corporations associations or persons affiliated or having business transactions with supervised corporations associations or persons authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court and prescribing and limiting the powers and duties of certain other courts and their prothonotaries registers of wills recorders of deeds and certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services rendered under this act providin penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof a new clause to read as follows

Section 504 Taking of Possession by Department A The department may take possession of the business and property of any institution subject to its supervision whenever it shall appear to it that such institution

(8) Is a building and loan association or a savings and loan association the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund and the State Building and Loan Insurance Board requests the department to take possession of such association

Section 2 Section 607 of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 607 Taking Possession upon Request of Institution etc No institution shall make a general assignment of its business and property for the benefit of its creditors by the appointment of an assignee or a trustee or otherwise In lieu of the power to make an assignment for the benefit of creditors an institution may request the department to take possession in the regular manner provided by law In the case of a building and loan association or a savings and loan association the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund the State Building and Loan Insurance Board may request the department to take possession of such association if after an examination and appraisal made by the department on its own motion or at the request of the board the board determines from the report of the department that the full paid-in value of the shares and creditor obligations of such association exceed the fair value of its assets. In either such (cases) case the department shall take possession and the secretary shall take over such possession and become receiver in the same manner and subject to the same provisions of this act as when the department takes possession of the business and property of an institution without the request of such institution or board

Section 3 Section 608A of said act is hereby amended by adding thereto immediately following clause (3) a new clause to read as follows

Section 608 Surrender of Possession Special Liquidations and Reorganizations A The secretary may upon conditions approved by him surrender possession of an institution of which he has taken possession as receiver at any time prior to final liquidation and distribution under the following circumstances

(4) He may surrender possession in the case of a building and loan association or a savings and loan association the shares of which are insured in the State Building and Loan Insurance Fund to the State Building and Loan Insurance Board to proceed with and dispose of as authorized and directed by the laws of this Commonwealth providing for and regulating the insurance of shares of building and loan associations

Section 4 This act shall become effective on

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, in order that there may be no mistake whatsoever, I desire again as clearly as I can to state my position with respect to these bills. I shall be obliged to set aside my opinion as to the merit of the bills and vote "no" on the bills, in accordance with my arrangement with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. My arrangement with him was, after the bills had been considered in the Banking Committee and consideration had been postponed but not indefinitely, and after polling the committee for the purpose of obtaining unanimous consent of the Banking Committee to report the bills on the floor, they were reported upon my understanding with him that the bills would not come up for final passage without his consent.

The Senator from Philadelphia is not in his seat tonight and I construe his absence to be the equivalent of the lack of his consent. I announced my arrangement to my colleagues on this side of the aisle, and in accordance with that arrangement, and on motion of our Floor Leader that the bills go over in order, I think my colleagues were prepared to support such a motion.

Our colleagues in the Senate on the other side seem unwilling to be in accord with the arrangement made by the Senator from Philadelphia, whom I recognize as the Minority Floor Leader in making the arrangement with him, and therefore, under the circumstances, I shall have to vote "no" on these bills to carry out my arrangement but, under the circumstances, I can hardly expect my colleagues to go along with me in that arrangement, and I shall therefore have to release them from the arrangement which I reported to them.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Becker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lebanon permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BECKER. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman from Lebanon to say that the Committee on Banking was polled with reference to these bills and that they had unanimous consent to report the bills out, is that correct?

Mr. BECKER. To the best of my knowledge, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, can the gentleman from Lebanon tell me whether the Senator from Cambria was polled at that time?

Mr. BECKER. My recollection, Mr. President, is that the Senator was polled I may be mistaken, I would not state it as a certainty, but my recollection is that the Senator was polled. I did not poll all the Senators myself, I myself polled a majority of the Senators and I asked the secretary of the Committee to assist me in polling the remaining Senators, but my impression was that all of the Senators on the Banking Committee were polled.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman agrees with me, of course, that he did not poll my vote in person, is that right.

Mr. BECKER. I can not be sure, Mr. President that I did. I am not sure I did not, but I can not be sure I did.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have no knowledge of the bills coming out of course, and no contact was made with me by your secretary or by yourself, I wanted to make sure you had that information.

Mr. BECKER. Is not the gentleman from Cambria in accord with the fact the bills were reported out?

Mr. HALUSKA. I just wanted to make sure it was not by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has just been advised, by messenger from the House, that the House has adjourned until twelve o'clock noon tomorrow.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lebanon permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BECKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Lebanon, who is the very efficient chairman of the Banking Committee, as to whether or not the Banking Department has ever expressed an opinion with reference to the adequacy of the plan here outlined.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, in answer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Montgomery, representatives of the Banking Department were present at not less than three meetings of the Banking Committee at which these bills were discussed.. In fairness I am obliged to say that in the first instance the attitude of the Banking Department was against these bills. There were conferences afterwards—not in the Banking Committee and at which I was not present—and thereafter I was advised officially by the Banking Department that their objections to the bills were withdrawn and that they considered the legislation satisfactory.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. Did I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, to say that he congratulated me or someone on this side on the very slick manner in which these bills were killed.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I do not know whether I used the word "slick." All I meant to say was that in good faith I accepted the suggestion of the Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I want to say that in good faith the Majority Floor Leader, and I am sure also my colleague from Lebanon, Senator Becker was merely trying to be accommodating, with the thought in mind that these bills could still be passed tonight, sent over to the House, and receive first reading in the House tonight. The reason there was no question in my mind, Mr. President, was that I was assured that the House would recess for their dinner tonight and come back again for an evening session. What convinced me of that, Mr. President, was the fact that I was presented with a list by the Minority Floor Leader in the Senate of bills in which our colleagues were interested and bills which they would like to have our assistance on. An arrangement was made that we were to make up a similar list, to be sent over to the House tonight, so that action would be taken and that those bills would be brought out and read for the first time and passed before this session adjourned.

Therefore, Mr. President, I do not like to be accused by anyone of the party which is in control of the House, which apparently has broken faith in this connection, because we are keeping our part of the bargain; we are in session and expect to carry out our end of the agreement to the fullest and completest extent.

The fact that the other House has not kept its side of its agreement, as they should have, certainly gives no jusification for any criticism of us or against us, because we were trying to be possibly more decent than we should have been in endeavoring to accommodate one of their own party.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I take what the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, has said to be true fact. So therefore I ask leave of absence for myself for the next fifteen or twenty minutes, in order that I may go to the Penn Harris and find out if there was such agreement and if so why it was not kept.

The PRESIDENT. Leave of absence is granted to the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, when these bills were before the Banking Committee I was with the committee and sat at practically all the public hearings. There is no doubt our colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, has hit upon a most important idea and one that should be developed in this state, that all state building and loan associations be insured, or else they are bound to decline in relative importance with federal building and loan associations, which are insured by one of the federal corporations. That seems to me to be very clear.

The only point in doubt in the minds of members of the committee was whether or not the plan was adequate enough to provide that the insurance would be adequate, and on that we had wide objection from the banking department in the beginning, but as the Chairman of the committee has stated,, in the end those objections were removed by changes that were made in the bills, and therefore it seems to me that we now have a complete plan to accomplish a most worthy purpose and under the circumstances I would certainly like to see that we in the Senate do all we can to place the stamp of our approval on this legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if this General Assembly is serious in intending to quit this week, I just want to call attention to the fact that we have on the Calendar more than these two bills that might as well not be passed at all and we may as well drop them from the Calendar if the House has quit for the day. There would only be two more legislative days in which the House could act and therefore there is no necessity of arguing about these bills and I think the sensible thing to do would be to drop the Senate Bills from the Calendar that are on it tonight.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I feel these bills are of great importance to the people of Pennsylvania, especially to home owners and those who desire to have homes. The home owners in Pennsylvania have been under a great handicap ever since the depression set in during 1929; our building and loan associations are under a great handicap, with the federal building and loan association. The Federal Administration has done a great job in helping the building of homes. The Federal Housing Administration, when it was first inaugurated, every bank in the state was against it, but they saw it work and they saw where a man with a lot and four or five hundred dollars could have a home he could move into and every month pay his taxes, interest, and principal with less than rent, and it is working very satisfactory.

Here is another piece of legislation to put our building and loan associations in the state on a footing with the federal building and loans, and unless we do that they will be under a great handicap, and it would stop a lot of home building in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am ready to move at the proper time that we do not adjourn this week, but that we continue another week, to pass this legislation, as well as perhaps some other legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—34

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the quession was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, before considering Senate Bill No. 512, I ask unanimous consent to rectify and correct a mistake which apparently has been made. We apparently accused improperly the House in the action they took in adjourning. There is still a mistake insofar as the arrangements were concerned, in that they changed the arrangement without any notice to us, but I understand they kept their side of the bargain by reporting out everything the Senate had sent over, whether it was important or not, so they felt sure they covered everything we were interested in.

SENATE BILL No. 512 ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE CALLED UP

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 512, on third reading and final passage, which went over in its order on page 6 of the Calendar.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

Section 17 Contributions In addition to the annual premium charge and additional premiums hereinafter required each insured association shall pay a contribution to the fund equal to three per centum (3%) of the total assets of the association as shown by its last preceding annual report to the department at the time its application for insurance is approved one-half (½) of such contribution shall be paid prior ot the issuance of the certificate of insurance and the balance shall be paid in three (3) equal installments annually thereafter

Section 18 Annual Premiums Maintenance of Fund Each association whose application for insurance is approved by the board shall pay to the fund in such manner as the board shall prescribe a premium charge for such insurance equal to one-eighth of one per centum of the total full paid-in value of shares credited dividends and creditor obligations of such association as shown by its last preceding annual report to the department Such premium shall be paid at the time the certificate of insurance is issued by the board and annually thereafter until the net fair value of the assets of the fund equals five per centum (5%) of the aggregate full paid-in value of shares credited dividends and creditor obligations of all insured associations The board may by regulations permit the payment of such annual premium charges in semi-annual installments If at any time the net fair value of the assets of the fund falls below such five per centum (5%) the payment of such annual premium charge for insurance shall be resumed and shall be continued until the net fair value of the assets of the fund is restored to such five per centum (5%) In lieu of determining the full paid-in value of shares credited dividends and creditor obligations of associations from annual reports the same may be determined in such other manner as the board may by rules and regulations prescribe

Section 19 Additional Premiums For Losses And Expenses The board is further authorized to assess against each insured assocaition additional premiums for insurance until the amount of such premiums equals the amount of all losses and expenses of the fund The total amount so assessed in any one year against any association shall not exceed one-eighth of one per centum of the total of the full paid-in value of shares credited dividends and creditor obligations of the association to be determined in the manner provided by the next preceding section

Section 20 Credit For Excess Payments Any insured association which has paid into the fund any amount in excess of its liabilities thereto shall be credited on its future premiums with an amount equal to the total amount of such excess

Section 21 Payments Into Fund As Assets All payments made by an association into the fund whether as original contributions annual premiums or additional premiums may be carried by it on its books as an asset to the extent authorized by the department following each annual audit of the fund

Section 22 Payment Of Shareholders In Event Of Default If after an examination and appraisal made by the department on its own motion or at the request of the board the board determines from the report of the department that the full paid-in value of the shares credited dividends and creditor obligations of an insured association exceed the fair value of its assets or if the department takes possession of the business and property of an insured association without such determination by the board such association shall be deemed for the purposes of this act to be in default and the board shall promptly determine the insured shareholders thereof and the amount of the full paid-in value of their insured shares and the dividends credited thereto and shall make available to each of them upon surrender and transfer to the board of his insured shares either (1) new insured shares in an insured association not in default in an amount equal to the full paid-in value of the shares so transferred and the dividends credited thereto or (2) at the option of the insured shareholder the full paid-in value of the shares insured under this act and the dividends credited thereto within five years from the discontinuance of the business of the defaulting association and at such times and in such installments as the board shall determine Notice to this effect shall be sent by mail to each shareholder at his last known address as shown by the books of the insured association

The surrender and transfer to the fund of insured shares in any association which is in default shall subrogate the fund with respect to such insured shares but shall not affect any right which the insured shareholder may have with respect to any shares not insured or to participate in the distribution of the net proceeds remaining from the disposition of the assets of such association

Section 23 Associations For Transfer Or Accounts In order to make available new insured shares in an insured association not in default the board is authorized (1) to contract with any insured association with respect to the making available of insured shares to the insured shareholders of any insured association in default or (2) to provide for the organization of a new association for such purpose subject to the approval of the department

Section 24 Powers Of Board In Case Of Default In the event tht an association is in default and its business and property are taken possession of by the department under the provisions of the Department of Banking Code the Secretary may surrender such possession to the board which shall then be authorized (1) to take over the asset of and operate such association (2) to take such action as may be necessary to put it in a sound and solvent condition (3) to merge it with another insured association (4) to organize a new association to take over its assets or (5) to proceed to liquidate its assets in the manner provided by law for the liquidation of associations whichever shall appear to be to the best interest of the insured shareholders of the association in default and of the fund In any event the fund shall pay the insurance as hereinbefore provided The net proceeds which may arise from the liquidation of the assets of any association after reimbursement of the fund of all amounts paid by it on account of its insurance liability shall be distributed pro rata among the shareholders of the association

Section 25 Annual Report And Record Of Association In Default The board shall make an annual report to the department of the operation by it of insured associations in default and shall keep a complete record of the administration by it of the assets of such insured association which shall be subject to inspection by any officer of such insured association or by any other interested party

Section 26 Loans Etc To Prevent Default Or Aid Restoration In order to prevent a default in an insured association or in order to restore an insured association in default to normal operation as an insured association the board may in its discretion make loans to purchase assets from or make reasonable contribution to an insured association or an insured association in default

Section 27 Termination Of Insurance By Association Any insured association may upon not less than ninety days' written notice to the board terminate its status as an insured association upon a majority vote of its board of directors approved by a majority vote of its shareholders In case of the voluntary dissolution of an association without the consent of the board the association shall be deemed to have terminated its status as an insured association In either of the above events the status as an insured association shall cease and all rights of its shareholders assenting thereto to insurance of their shares shall terminate But such an association shall provide for payment in cash to all shareholders who file written notice of objection to terminate the insurance the full paid-in value of his insured shares and the dividends credited thereto on the date of termination or continue the insurance as to all such shares and credited dividends by payment of the premium charges thereon until the full paid-in value of such shares are paid in cash

Section 28 Termination Of Insurance By Board The board shall have power to terminate the insured status of any insured association at any time after ninety days notice in writing for violation of any provision of this act or any rule or regulation made hereunder or any agreement pursuant hereto But the insured shares of its shareholders existing on the date of such termination shall continue as such for a period of five years thereafter and the association shall continue the payment of premiums thereon during such period From any order of the Board terminating any insurance the association whose insurance is terminated shall have the right to appeal by petition to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County which court after hearing on such notice to the association and the board as the court shall determine shall have power to affirm or reverse the action of the board as it shall deem proper The decision of the court of common pleas shall be final

Section 29 Effective Date This act shall become effective on

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I ask permission to interrogate the Chairman of the Public Health Committee, Senator Chapman.

THE PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Warren permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. I would like to ask the gentleman from Warren if he has in his committee at the present time House Bills Nos. 674, 675, Senate Bills Nos. 1220 and 1221?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I do not recall those numbers, Mr. President. What are the bills?

Mr. MUNDY. They refer to the so-called nursing bills.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. May I ask the gentleman from Warren whether any action has been taken on those bills as yet in committee?

Mr. CHAPMAN. They were indefinitely postponed by the Committee.

Mr. MUNDY. Then, Mr. President, there was a meeting of the Public Health Committee?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Yes, there was.

Mr. MUNDY. I did not understand the Senator. Did he say there was or that there was not.

Mr. CHAPMAN. There was.

Mr. MUNDY. I do not know whether I correctly understood the Senator. Did he say these bills were postponed by the Caucus or that they were postponed by the committee?

Mr. CHAPMAN. By the committee, Mr. President, in the caucus room.

I might say, Mr. President, I am in favor of these bills and had they come out I would have voted for them.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Senator Deitrick.

THE PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DEITRICK. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. I understand the gentleman from Northumberland is Chairman of this committee and that the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, is acting as chairman; is that correct?

THE PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the gentleman from Northumberland is the permanent chairman. The Chair has no information as to whether the gentleman from Warren is acting in that capacity or not. The only thing the Chair knows is that the gentleman from Warren is chairman of the Appropriation Committee.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland?

THE PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DEITRICK. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Is the gentleman from Northumberland Chairman of the Public Health Committee?

Mr. DEITRICK. I am just the appointed chairman, Mr. President, not the active Chairman.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I can not make the distinction between the appointed chairman and the active chairman. May I further interrogate the Senator from Northumberland and ask him to tell us the difference between the appointed chairman and the active chairman.

Mr. DEITRICK. One gets the name, Mr. President, and the other gets the game.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I wonder if I would be permitted to observe to the gentleman from Northumberland, Dr. Deitrick, that one gets the name and the other gets the blame.

MOTION THAT SENATE RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, before we start consideration of the second reading Calendar, I suggest that we now recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I merely want to observe that there are only two and one half pages of bills listed on second reading on the calendar and we could complete them in half an hour or so, and perhaps some of the men here who are not as young as I am might want to go to bed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am perfectly willing to withdraw my suggestion that we recess and finish second reading bills and then adjourn. The only reason we were going to hold a caucus was again to try to accommodate our Democratic colleagues in connection with the bills in which they are interested, on the postponed calendar, and if they do not want that accommodation I assure you, Mr. President, I will be glad to get a little more sleep tonight than I had last night.

I withdraw the suggestion that we recess.

Mr. MILLER. I withdraw my seconding, Mr. President.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Education reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1165, (House Bill No. 1678), entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand one hundred thirty-three of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by removing certain limitations of the appointment of district superintendents.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 409, (House Bill No. 553), entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there was a request that Senate Bill No. 768, go over in its order but at this time I am going to ask that it go over in its order; I am going to request that if there is any Senator who is interested in having the bill go over in its order that he make such a request.

Mr. EALY. May I say just a word, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset will proceed.

Mr. EALY. I am very much opposed to this bill in its present form, Mr. President. I might vote for it in an amended form but, as it is getting late, I withdraw my previous request that it go over in order, so that it may be read the second time in order that amendments may be prepared and inserted in the bill on third reading.

And the question recurring,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

REQUEST TO CONSIDER SECOND READING OF POSTPONED BILLS

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I suggest if we now take up second reading bills, on page 27 of the postponed Calendar, it will have the effect of adding a legislative day and then, if they are not agreeable to the Republican Caucus or the Democratic Caucus, they will be defeated on third reading.

I suggest, Mr. President, that we now proceed to page twenty-seven of the Calendar, bills on second reading postponed. It does not mean anything at all, because they will have to be taken up again on third reading anyway. We could take up bills on second reading postponed and they could do the same thing the in House, and pass the bills of the Senate on first reading. Those they do not want they will lick on second reading.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the House only passed certain bills on first reading. We wish to have a short recess in order to shorten the time of the session tonight. There are a lot of bills on here on which we are not sure as to what action we desire to take. It seems to me we could shorten this session and possibly pass some of these third reading postponed bills, so that we could shorten the work tomorrow.

Mr. DENT. I will withdraw my suggestion, Mr. President, if the gentlemen on the other side desire a recess, but I predict it will take longer than twenty minutes.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from Luzerne if he is one of the conferees on Senate Bill No. 507, which is the congressional apportionment bill.

Mr. MUNDY. I am, Mr. President; I agree that I was.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from Luzerne whether or not this committee has had a number of conferences, at which no agreement was arrived at.

Mr. MUNDY. That is correct.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from Luzerne whether or not the committee is now hopelessly deadlocked.

Mr. MUNDY. That is correct.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the gentleman from Luzerne whether he has reported to the Senate that the committee is hopelessly deadlocked and unable to reach an agreement.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, the committee held a meeting last night and decided that we were hopelessly deadlocked; that the report of the conference committee of the Senate would be that we were unable to agree; the committee authorized such a release to the press, that is, authorized each of the members of the committee to so say to the press, speaking generally, and a report was ordered to be drawn up in accordance with that and is now ready for signature and the report will be made to the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I now raise the point of order that the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Mundy, was one of the conferees duly appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, to sit with the House conferees to adjust the differences existing betwen the Senate and the House with reference to Senate Bill No. 507, which is a bill proposing the apportioning of congressional districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that having reported to this body that the committee is hopelessly deadlocked and unable to arrive at an agreement, the committee is automatically discharged and the Senate is now in physical possession of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is not aware of any rule whereby a committee would be automatically discharged. According to the information of the Chair, no formal report has been submitted by the joint committee. If the Chair is incorrect in his understanding he would like to be enlightened.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the Chair to the Pennsylvania Manual, page 724, rules of order of the Senate, rule 54, which reads as follows: "The question being propounded to the Chair, viz: does the report of a committee of conference on its final disagreement operate as a discharge of the committee without further action of the Senate?" and the decision was in the affirmative.

I raise that point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Apparently the gentlman from Lackawanna has given consideration to the point he has raised; the Chair does not propose to render an unconsidered opinion.

The Chair rules that the decision quoted by the gentleman from Lackawanna does not apply under the circumstances, for the reason that, as far as the Chair is informed, no report has been filed by the conference committee. If such a report has been made to the Senate the Chair would be glad to be so advised.

Mr. COLEMAN. I desire to ask the Chair if he could inform me who has authority on a conference committee to report a disagreement, since the gentleman from Cumberland indicated there is no chairman of the conference committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands a chairman is not appointed on conference committees. The House appointed three conferees on the part of the House and the Senate appointed three conferees on the part of the Senate. There is no provision in the rules as to the appointment of a chairman. The Chair understands, however, that should the conferees so desire, after they have organized, they may select a chairman; there is no rule they must do so of which the Chair is aware. There is no such Senate rule, as the gentleman from Lackawanna knows, and there is no joint rule of the House and Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cumberland whether he knows who, on the conference committee has any authority to report back to the Senate, representing the major part of the Senate committee, that this committee is hopelessly deadlocked and unable to reach an agreement.

Mr. WADE. While we have no authorized chairman, the impression in the committee, as I understand it, is that we will submit on the floor of the Senate a written report of our final decision.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, two weeks ago I made a statement on the floor of the Senate that one of the most important bills before this particular Legislature was a bill which would apportion congressional districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I stated on that occasion that if this Legislature adjourned without passing a congressional apportionment bill, that it would be a grave blow struck at representative form of government in Pennsylvania.

Every report from the conference committee indicates to me very clearly that this committee has no possibility of reaching an agreement. Some of the gentlemen of the committee are quoted in the press as having stated that it is their intention to kill the bill

Now, Mr. President, as a Democrat I am not panicky about the probable outcome of a congressional election next year. I believe firmly, and it is my sincere conviction, that when Mr. Roosevelt comes into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that we will be able to elect thirty-three Democratic members of Congress, so I am not panicky, feeling that there will be no Democratic congressmen elected in the event that these congressmen are elected at large, but I do protest against that form of representation. I do not know whether anybody can possibly conceive the great injustice to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania if this Legislature adjourns without taking some action on this all important question. It is very conceivable that the cost to the taxpayers in the Commonwealth will be staggering. There will not be any election machinery in the Commonwealth that will be able to be used, because estimates of the number of candidates runs up into the thousands. It is very conceivable too, that in the event this thing happens, that the election will be decided in the election bureaus, where the candidates pick their positions on the ballot, and I want to again enter my protest and indicate to this Senate that in the event the Senate conferees fail to reach an agreement by tomorrow, I propose to move for the discharge of the committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I too have been disturbed over this particular lack of action on the part of the House and Senate. I have heard quite a few Senators say here that they would be willing to sit all summer on certain pieces of legislation, if necessary. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask permission at this time to introduce a resolution, and I ask that it be read for the information of the Senate. I am introducing this resolution on behalf of myself, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

RESOLUTION RELATIPE TO CONGRESSIONAL REAPPORTIONMENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on behalf of Senators Coleman, Cox and Barr, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT, offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 10, 1941.

Whereas, There are rumors of an early date of adjournment sine die of the General Assembly, and

Whereas, The important question of Congressional Reapportionment appears to be deadlocked in a Conference Committee, and

Whereas, Contrary to the rules of the United States of America and to the best interest of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Congressional Districts have not been reapportioned, and

Whereas, An adjournment of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, with the reapportionment of Congressional Districts, would result in an exhorbitant cost to the taxpayers and would be inimical to the principles of a Democratic form of government, therefore be it

Resolved, and it is resolved, if the House concur that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall not adjourn sine die until a law has been enacted complying with the requirements of the Federal status governing Congressional Reapportionment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if we act upon this resolution immediately and send it to the House, we may be serving notice upon the House members, as well as ourselves, that we are serious in this matter, and that we are not going to allow the election machinery in this state to break down.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, everyone knows that I have stated very strongly I feel that this session of the Legislature should reapportion the congressional districts in the state. However, I think it is not the time to pass such a resolution today.

I will therefore, Mr. President, object to its immediate consideration.

This committee on congressional reapportionment has not made any formal report to us. I do not know why they can not get together. When they make a report, then we will know how to act on this matter. I am hoping they can get together and provide a real apportionment of this state for us.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I request, with permission of the gentleman from Somerset, that instead of sending the resolution to committee, that it be laid upon the table.

The PRESIDENT. Under the rules it must be referred to a committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to tie the Senate up. I wanted my sentiments expressed in the matter, and they have been expressed. I can draft another resolution tomorrow. Send it to committee, if you so desire.

Mr. EALY. I have no objection to the resolution being laid on the table. However, I would like to get a report from this committee before we take any further action.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Westmoreland ought to have explained, and I want to bring it out so there will be no misunderstanding, that we propose to call the resolution up tomorrow. If the disposition of the resolution be that it be laid on the table, we propose to call the resolution up tomorrow. I think that ought to be explained to anyone who may not understand why the gentleman from Westmoreland requested that the resolution be laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair calls attention of the Senator from Westmoreland to the fact that if this resolution is laid on the table now, and is called up tomorrow, it will then be in the same status as it is now, and then, if there is objection, it will have to be referred to committee.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I was going to suggest to the Chair, as the Chair suggested to the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, that it would be perfectly all right to allow this resolution to go to committee, because I think we are all in sympathy with the desire to have congressional reapportionment.

The feeling of the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, is well known to all of us, because he has expressed his sentiments at various times, that he is unwilling to adjourn sine die without proper congressional reapportionment. May I say, Mr. President, we are all interested in that, but when we say we want congressional reapportionment, may I say in all fairness to the sponsors of this resolution, and as well express my own sentiments, when we say we want congressional reapportionment, we do not propose to subject the people of Pennsylvania to a partisan bill, representing overbearing partisanship of either the Republican or the Democratic party. This state can be logically and equitably cut up into congressional districts without intentionally overshadowing one party or the other, and I feel if we can sit down and try again, perhaps we can reach an equitable conclusion on the matter. That is the hope, I know, of the sponsors of the resolution, because I know they did not present this resolution with any partisan spirit, and I know also that is the reaction of the gentleman from Somerset.

While we are still on the Calendar, Mr. President, may I call up for action a bill.

The PRESIDENT. It will be necessary to dispose of this resolution first.

Mr. WALKER. I am sorry, Mr. President; I thought the Chair had referred the resolution to committee, under the rules.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair called attention to the fact that action should be taken on the request to lay the resolution on the table. If the resolution is laid on the table and then called from the table tomorrow, it will then be in exactly the same status as it is at this time, by so doing action is delayed for one day, as the resolution will have to be referred to committee, if there be objection.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I understood the gentleman from Westmoreland withdrew his request.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Congressional Reapportionment.

SENATE BILL No. 835, (HOUSE BILL No. 1435), ON THIRD READING, POSTPONED CALLED UP

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 835, (House Bill No. 1435), on third reading, postponed, page 24 of the Calendar.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 835, (House Bill No. 1435), entitled:

An Act to authorize housing authorities to undertake the development or administration of projects to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities who would not otherwise be able to secure such dwellings within the vicinity thereof; to limit the initiation of the development of such projects until December 31, 1943; to authorize housing authorities to cooperate with or act as agent of the Federal Government in the development and administration of such projects of the Federal Government, to acquire or lease such projects and to sell or lease certain projects to the Federal Government; to authorize public bodies to assist such projects of housing authorities and of the Federal Government; and to declare valid all bonds, notes and obligations of housing authorities issued for projects heretofore undertaken to provide safe and sanitary dwellings for persons engaged in national defense activities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Bill, Page 9, by striking out all of lines 9 to 18, both inclusive; Amend Section 8, Page 9, line 19, by striking out the figure "8" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "7;" Amend Section 9, Page 10, line 15, by striking out the figure '9" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "8;" Amend Section 10, Page 10, line 19, by striking out the figure "10" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "9;" Amend Section 11, Page 10, line 27, by striking out the figure '11" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "10;" Amend Section 11, Page 10, line 27, by inserting after the word "immediately" at the end of the line, the following: "upon final enactment;" Amend Title, Page 1, by striking out at the end of the last line of the Title on said page the word "and"; Amend Title, Page 2, by striking out all of the first and second lines of the Title on said page, and by striking out the partial word "-taken" at the beginning of line 3 of the Title on said page.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I wish to interrogate the sponsor of these amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. As I gather from these amendments, the only part of the act which is really amended is section 7, which is cut out in its entirety; Section 7 on page 9.

Mr. WALKER. That is my understanding, Mr. President, and I might explain to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, that the purpose of these amendments was suggested, as I understand, by a communication from Mr. Strauss, who is the head of the National Housing Authority. What we are trying to do is to amend the bill to make it conform to the recommendations that were made by him. I have no personal pride of authorship in either the bill or the amendments; we are merely trying to conform with the distinguished gentleman's recommendations.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, Section 7 was merely the section which validated financial contracts previously entered into by housing authorities, and I can not see any particular reason why it should be deleted from the bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, when this bill was introduced in the House it proposed to validate certain actions which might have been taken by these housing authorities with relation to bonds, notes, contracts, agreements and obligations, and according to the information which was detailed to us, that was not the purpose, and that is why the recommendation was made that it be stricken from the bill, because we have no knowledge of what action were taken by some of these housing authorities that might have to be validated.

Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, has any suggestions as to what hardship would be created by deletion of that section, we would be glad to listen to him, but that portion there has the result of saying no matter what these housing authorities do, whether it is irregular or contrary to constituted authority or in violation of their agreements or in violation of the law, we are validating that, whether it was done intentionally, in innocence, with intent or in ignorance.

Mr. COX. I know of no concrete instance, Mr. President, to which this section would be applicable, but when we consider the huge sums of money spent by housing authorities, and the fact that there are obligations which in many instances were purchased by purchasers without notice of any defects, it seems to me the section is a good section and should be still included in the bill. I am not concerned with the action of the housing authority, but I am concerned with the people who rely on the credit of the housing authority when purchasing its obligations.

Mr. WALKER. May I suggest there is no interrogatory contained in the statement by the gentleman; it is merely a statement of fact, the gentleman has been indulging in and therefore I assume the interrogation has been completed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have been very much interested in the bill and not being an attorney, I must admit I do not know just exactly what this does to this bill. Now, Senator Walker, where did you get this amendment? Did you say it came from the National Housing Authority? the defense housing authority.

Mr. WALKER. No. Mr. President, I did not. I said these amendments were compiled in order to make the bill conform with information that we had received.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I thought I heard the gentleman from Allegheny use the name of Mr. Strauss.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I did not say that disrespectfully. I said information had been received from the very distinguished gentleman, Mr. Strauss, who, as I understand it, is head of the Federal Housing Authority.

Mr. BARR. What information, Mr. President?

Mr. WALKER. Information regarding the bill, Mr. President; he was urging passage of a bill doing certain things and Section 7, which is on page 9, and which we have been discussing, was not one of the items that Mr. Strauss recommended to us.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. The question now is on the amendments; is that correct?

Mr. WALKER. That is correct.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, may I just say a word.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset may proceed.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I regard this as a bad bill, but there was a telegram which came from Nathan Strauss, from Washington, urging that a bill be passed so that the State Housing Authority might become the agent for national housing projects. There was nothing in Mr. Strauss' telegram requesting that we validate illegal transactions of Pennsylvania housing authorities heretofore. If this section is put in the bill, validating all acts of former housing authorities, whether legal or illegal, certainly it will be a bad bill that no one will want to vote for. I do not promise to vote for the bill in the form with the amendments inserted, but I can not conceive that anybody would want to vote for a bill with a validating amendment in it, which would validate all transactions, legal or illegal, of former housing authorities.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would just like to confirm what the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, has said, and call attention to the fact that there has been quite considerable discussion over validating or attempting to whitewash things that have occurred, for example, in Delaware County, and here is a section that is validating no one knows what actions, legal or illegal, whether they were done, as I said before, intentionally, innocently or in ignorance, and I agree with the gentleman from Somerset that I do not think any member of this Senate would want to close his eyes and blindly validate all the actions of these housing authorities without knowing what we are getting into.

Now, Mr. President, we seem to be in agreement in validating or whitewashing what has taken place in Delaware County. I would suggest we adopt these amendments, and then we can see in what shape the bill will be tomorrow.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw my objection. I thought Senate Bill No. 837, the third bill of this group, was a validating act, and I did not understand that paragraph.

Like Senator Walker and Senator Ealy, I certainly do not care to validate anything that may have been illegally done long ago.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I am sufficiently interested in this bill to make sure it passes, and irrespective of the weakness of this particular section, I certainly will withdraw my objection and agree to the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CRIDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CRIDER. On behalf of Senator Ziesenheim from the Committee on Municipal Government reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1245, (House Bill No. 1770), entitled:

An Act to amend the title and to further amend section forty-three of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 493), entitled "An act providing for the examination, licensure, and registration of persons, firms, or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage, and prescribing certain rules, regulations, and requirements for the construction of plumbing, house drainage, and cesspools in cities of the second class; and imposing fines, penalties, and forfeitures for violation thereof," by permitting the use of enclosed woodwork about sinks in all except tenement-houses and lodging-houses in cities of the second class, second class A, and third class.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, after returning from my leave of absence, I have consulted with the Majority Leader and we have agreed that we all agree and now ask for a recess of ten minutes.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I want to say just about half an hour ago I received a list of twenty-three bills on which action is desired, and in order to keep our agreement on this side of the aisle we are going to consider these bills, which will require a short recess.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Hon. Charles H. Ealy in the Chair). The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR RESUMED

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 693, (House Bill No. 1173), on second reading, postponed, entitled:

An Act to further amend the fourth paragraph of section five hundred and six of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special, or local, or any part thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," allowing further deductions from gross indebtedness in order to determine indebtedness of any school district be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I might say in explanation that the provisions of this bill are included, as I understand from the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Homsher, in another bill which was passed, and therefore this bill is no longer necessary. The sponsor of this bill, Senator Homsher so understands that situation.

SENATE BILL No. 769, (HOUSE BILL No. 1194), ON SECOND READING POSTPONED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 769, (House Bill No. 1194), on second reading, postponed, page 28 of the Calendar.

An Act validating certain deeds and conveyances made by trustees without setting forth their authority to convey.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire permission to address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would like to refer to Senate Bill No. 770, (House Bill No. 1198), appearing on page 28 of the Calendar and Senate Bill No. 1122, (House Bill No. 1197), on page 29 of the Calendar.

Mr. President, these bills refer to townships having a popularion of eight thousand or more, relating to the incorporation of new boroughs, and I might say although Mr. Harkins' name is attached to these two bills, he would not care to have them construed as being his bills. These bills were introduced for a definite purpose.

As you know, Mr. President, in certain sections of western Pennsylvania there has been an increase or expansion of industries. One borough in particular, having had a new plant built in a township within the last five years, there has resulted an increased assessed valuation and as a result of that they would be able to build new schools, and now that there seems to be a possibility of expansion of industries and building of new plants these neighboring boroughs and third class cities are trying to take advantage of that, and we feel the townships certainly should be incorporated into boroughs so that this situation would be remedied. That was the reason for the introduction of these two bills. I do not want to press the issue. If there is not any conceivable chance of getting these two bills passed of course they will have to die.

I am addressing my remarks to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, I realize the Caucus has taken definite action, but thought you might not be familiar with the background of this particular legislation and we would appreciate it if you were to pass these bills on second reading.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the only answer I can give to that is that we have advanced the second reading bills we favor advancing. I do not know any other way to answer that question or statement, whichever it was.

Mr. COX. That is a very positive answer, Mr. President. Thank you.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented for concurrence bill of the Hounse, as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, July 10, 1941

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chaplain has asked permission of the Speaker to be absent today. In his absence and at his invitation prayer will be offered by the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. McFall.

PRAYER

Mr. Charles McFall, a member of the House offered the following prayer:

O God, our heavenly Father, who from Thy throne above dost look down on the governments of men, most humbly do we beseech Thee to bless our native land, which Thou hast so richly and wonderfully made.

Continue, we pray Thee, these blessings and make us ever mindful of our debt and obligations to Thee, for Thou hast asked us to love Thee and worship Thee in spirit and in truth. Help us to remember the words of the prophet, "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

God forbid that even a shadow of sin be cast that will rob us as individuals or as a people of the rich inheritance Thou hast so freely given.

Give us the light of truth, the light of knowledge, and the light of love, we pray Thee, for these will enrich us more than silver and gold.

May the pathway of life for each of us, who represent every cross section of our State, be made more bright by the knowledge of the love and friendship we have for one another. May this friendship be as lasting and enduring as the love of God, that surpasseth all understanding.

We ask this in the name of Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. HARRIS, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. CHUDOFF, JEFFERSON, McCLANAGHAN and MONKS RESOLUTION No. 108

In the House of Representatives, July 9, 1941.

Whereas, There have been serious disturbances in certain sections of the City of Philadelphia because of the failure of the part of the city authorities to furnish proper recreational facilities and competent police protection for the young men and women residing in such districts, and

Whereas, It has been repeatedly recalled to the attention of the City Council that such disturbances would occur unless the situation were immediately remedied, and

Whereas, In spite of these recurring disorders, principally in the vicinity of the 15th, 28th, 29th, 32nd and 47th wards of the City of Philadelphia, City Council has remained apathetic and indifferent to the needs of these communities, be it therefore

Resolved, That the House of Representatives requests the City Council and the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia to take immediate steps to provide proper and adequate recreational facilities and equipment in these respective wards, and provide for their construction and installation in the proposed city budget, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to the Chief Clerk of City Council and to the Mayor of Philadelphia and the Director of Public Safety of the City of Philadelphia as a symbol of the House of Representatives' desire that this situation be immediately corrected.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Munley for Mr. BRETH for today and tomorrow.

"Licensee" means a licensed bread dealer and/or manufacturer.

"Manufacturer" means a person baking bread within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

"Store" includes a grocery store, hotel, restaurant, soda fountain, bakery store, or any similar mercantile establishments which sell bread.

The amendment was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second and third section were separately read and agreed to.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment, as a new section.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 7 and 8, the following:

Section 4. Said act is hereby amended, by adding thereto, after section ten, the following new sections to read as follows:

Section 11. (a). The department is hereby declared to be the instrumentality of the Commonwealth for the purpose of administering the provisions of this act and to execute the legislative intent herein expressed, and it is hereby vested with power:

(1) To supervise and regulate the entire bread industry of this Commonwealth, including the manufacture, transportation, processing, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of bread in this Commonwealth, within the provisions of this act: Provided, however, That nothing contained in this act shall be construed to alter, amend or repeal the Public Utility Law or any law of this Commonwealth relating to the public health, or to the prevention of fraud or deception.

(2) To investigate and regulate all matters pertaining to the manufacture, transportation, processing, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of bread in this Commonwealth for the purpose of establishing reasonable trade practices in connection therewith.

(b) The department, either itself or through its duly authorized agents, may hold such hearings, either at the capital or elsewhere, as it deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Section 12. (a) In order to enable the department to carry out the provisions of this act, it shall have the power to issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of or the production of pertinent books and papers by, bread dealers or their employes, manufacturers or their employes, persons having dealings with bread dealers or manufacturers, or other persons whom the department believes to have information important to it in carrying out the purposes of this act. The department may likewise issue commissions, letters rogatory or other appropriate processes outside the Commonwealth. The department shall have power to question such witnesses under oath or affirmation and to examine such books and papers. The department may delegate to any member thereof or any employe designated by it, the powers granted to it under this section.

(b) Any witness who refuses to obey a subpoena issued hereunder, or to be sworn or affirmed or to testify or who is guilty of any contempt after a summons to appear, may be punished as for contempt of court. For this purpose an application may be made by the department to the court of common pleas within the territorial jurisdiction of which the offense was committed.

(c) Each witness required to attend before the department, or any member thereof, shall be entitled to the fees and mileage customarily paid to witnesses in the courts of common pleas.

Section 13. Pursuant to carrying out the purposes of this act, any member of the department, or any employe designated for the purposes, shall have access to and may enter at all reasonable hours all places where bread is being manufactured, processed, stored, sold or otherwise handled. The department, or any designated employe thereof, shall have power at all reasonable hours to inspect all books, papers, records or documents in any place within the Commonwealth for the purposes of ascertaining facts pertinent to the administration of this act. The information so obtained shall be for the confidential use of the department and the various departments of the State government, and shall not be disclosed by any person, except as may be required in the enforcement of law or by order of court. The department, however, may use such information for the publication of statistics of the industry in this Commonwealth.

Section 14. Except as herein otherwise provided, a bread dealer shall not buy bread from manufacturers or others within this Commonwealth or sell or distribute bread within this Commonwealth unless such dealer be duly licensed as herein provided. An application for a license to operate as a bread dealer shall be made within thirty days after this act takes effect and annually thereafter on or before April fifteenth to the department upon blanks prepared under authority and direction of the department, and shall be accompanied by a fee the amount of which shall be determined by the department. The license year shall commence May first and shall end April thirtieth following. The applicant shall state the following:

(1) The nature of the business to be conducted.

(2) The full name of the person applying for the license.

(3) The adress at which the business is to be conducted.

Section 15. Except as herein or otherwise provided, no person shall engage as a bread manufacturer within this Commonwealth unless such manufacturer be duly licensed as herein provided. An application for a license to operate as a bread manufacturer shall be made within thirty days after this act takes effect and annually thereafter on or before April fifteenth to the department upon blanks prepared under authority and direction of the department, and shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee. The license year shall commence May first and shall end April thirtieth following. The applicant shall state the following:

(1) The nature of the business to be conducted.

(2) The full name of the person applying for the license.

(3) The address at which the business is to be conducted.

(4) Facts showing that the applicant has adequate technical personnel and adequate technical and physical facilities properly to conduct the business of manufacturing bread, that he has complied with all rules, regulations and orders of the department filed or served as required in this act, and such other facts with respect to the license as may be required by the department.

Section 16. The department shall grant a bread dealer's or manufacturer's license to an applicant complying with the provisions of this act, and of any rules and regulations issued by the department. The department may decline to grant a license to an applicant or suspend or revoke a license already granted to a bread dealer or manufacturer for violations of this act or any regulation adopted under the authority hereof. The licenses required by this act shall be in addition to any other licenses which are now or may hereafter be required by law.

Section 17. Any person aggrieved by an order of department fixing the terms upon which bread may be bought or sold or the conditions under which bread may be manufactured or by any other general rule, regulation or order of the department may file an appeal therefrom in the Superior Court within twenty days after the issuance of such order or such other general rule or regulation, but such appeal shall not be permitted to act as a supersedeas.

The amendment was agreed to.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1833, as follows:

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled "An act relating to institutions of counties cities and institution districts for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to institution districts under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities and institution districts certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties and institution districts from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" by further prescribing certain rights of employes and officers of institutions acquired by the Commonwealth

Section 1 Section five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled "An act relating to institutions of counties cities and institution districts for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to institution districts under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities and institution districts certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties and institution districts from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 5 When the Commonwealth through the Department of Welfare assumes the control and management of any institution subject to this act the terms of all officers and employes and the local management of such institution shall cease and terminate The officers and employes of any such institution shall thereupon become employes of the Commonwealth subject to removal by the Secretary of Welfare

Where employes or officers of any such institution are to be removed or furloughed by the Secretary of Welfare in order to curtail administrative expenses or otherwise the Secretary of Welfare shall give due consideration to experience fitness length of service and seniority rights of all officers or employes affected and shall order removals or furloughs only in accordance with the above standards

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(4) That the corporation has not commenced business and that none of its shares has been issued

(5) That the amount if any actually paid in on subscriptions to its shares less any part thereof disbursed for necessary expenses has been returned to those entitled thereto

(6) That no [debt] debts of the corporation remain unpaid

(7) That all the incorporators elect that the corporation be dissolved

The articles of dissolution shall be delivered to the Department of State together with a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law If the Department of State finds that the articles conform to law and that the certificate delivered therewith evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges is in proper form it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon and [when all bonus taxes fees and charges required by law have been paid] shall file the articles and issue a certificate of dissolution to the incorporators or their representative to which shall be attached a copy of the approved articles Upon the issuance of the certificate of dissolution the existence of the corporation shall cease

Section 10 Section one thousand one hundred five of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 698) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1105 Articles of Dissolution When all debts liabilities and obligations of the corporation have been paid and discharged or adequate provision shall have been made therefor and all of the remaining property and assets of the corporation shall have been distributed to its shareholders articles of dissolution shall be executed under the seal of the corporation and signed and verified by two duly authorized officers of the corporation which shall set forth

(1) The name of the corporation

(2) The address including street and number if any of the registered office of the corporation

(3) A statement that the corporation has theretofore delivered to the Department of State a certificate of election to dissolve and the date on which the certificate was filed by the Department of State

(4) A statement that all debts obligations and liabilities of the corporation have been paid and discharged or that adequate provision has been made therefor

(5) A statement that all the remaining property and assets of the corporation have been distributed among its shareholders in accordance with their respective rights and interests

(6) A statement that there are no suits pending against the corporation in any court or that adequate provision has been made for the satisfaction of any judgment or decree which may be obtained against the corporation in each such pending suit

The articles of dissolution [and] proof of the advertisement required by the preceding section and a certificate or certificates from the proper department or departments evidencing payment by the corporation of all bonus taxes and charges as required by law shall be delivered to the Department of State If the Department of State finds that such articles conform to law and that the certificate delivered therewith evidencing payment of bonus or taxes or charges is in proper form it shall upon payment of the filing fee endorse its approval thereon and [if all bonus taxes fees and charges required by law have been paid] shall file the articles and issue to the corporation or its representative a certificate of dissolution to which shall be attached a copy of the approved articles Upon the issuance of the certificate of dissolution the existence of the corporation shall cease

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. LOVETT.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1639, as follows:

An Act to further amend the title and the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" by making the schedules of compensation compulsory upon all employers

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The title of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as reenacted and amended by the act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1552) is hereby further amended to read as follows

An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing [an elective] a compulsory system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties

Section 7. Section five hundred and two of said act, as last reenacted and amended by the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 520), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 502. If any provision of this act shall be held by any court to be unconstitutional, such judgment shall not affect any other section or provision of this act. [except that articles two and three are hereby declared to be inseparable and as one legislative thought, and if either article be declared by such court void or inoperative in an essential part, so that the whole of such article must fall, the other article shall fall with it and not stand alone.]

Section 8 All parts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 9 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the Workmen's Compensation Bill which was defeated by this House some few days ago.

This bill provides for a compulsory workmen's compensation insurance. When the matter was before the House I said very frankly that we felt the older Members of the House who are really interested in the welfare of the working men of Pennsylvania would vote against this bill. We felt that those who were sincerely interested in a good and safe workmen's compensation act would vote against this bill. I think the vote of this House bore out that statement.

The bill provides, as I stated, for a compulsory provision in the workmen's compensation act. I am not going to enter into all the details. It was gone into at great length before and I think it was perfectly evident at that time that the majority of this House, both the Members on this side and a number of the Members on the other side, felt that the provision was dangerous and that it was not for the best interests of the working men of Pennsylvania and was not in the interest of the best workmen's compensation act, and voted it down.

I called attention to the fact that during the 1937 session when the 1937 act was passed that the Democratic administration at that time, along with the Democratic House and the Democratic Senate, felt it would not be to the best interests of the working man to make the workmen's compensation law compulsory. I do not think the situation has changed since that time, and I believe the Members of this House, following their actions when it was before us previously, will vote this bill down.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Can the gentleman from Dauphin tell me, Mr. Speaker, of any working man that he knows of who would refuse to have compulsory workmen's compensation?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I can tell the gentleman that all working men who thoroughly understand the situation would be opposed to the compulsory provision in the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman name specific names of men that have had it explained to them.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I didn't say any men. The gentleman insists on twisting words. I didn't say that any working man came to me. There wasn't a single working man that came to me and asked about this bill. As a matter of fact, I said those who were truly interested in the working man and who know something about Workmen's Compensation law would not be in favor of this law. I didn't say any of them were coming here to me or to him or to anybody else, one way or the other.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman explain to me why any man who is interested in the working man of Pennsylvania, would make that statement?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me why he didn't vote for such a provision in 1937 and why his party and his administration didn't put it in the 1937 Act, which act the gentleman claims is a model for workmen's compensation in Pennsylvania?

Mr. LOVETT. I will be very glad to answer the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. In 1937, had my administration sponsored the bill, I would have been glad to vote for it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me why his party did not have such an amendment?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer for my party.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I think I have answered the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to explain why compulsory workmen's compensation is so dangerous for the working men of Pennsylvania?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Because, Mr. Speaker, it will defeat the very purpose of the Workmen's Compensation Act. In the first place there is a great fear of all people interested in the Workmen's Compensation Act that the compulsory provision might make the whole Act unconstitutional, and if it doesn't make the whole Act unconstitutional, it will have a bearing on the provision of the Act that might make it unconstitutional and might also have a bearing on certain industries that might be taken from under the Compensation Act.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, if Social Security is compulsory?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Well, Mr. Speaker, Social Security is a Federal provision and a State provision and has some compulsory provisions in it. That is an entirely different situation, as the gentleman well knows. It is an entirely different set-up.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me why he raised the question of the constitutionality of workmen's compensation and not of social security and unemployment compensation?

Mr. WOODSIDE. The authority for Social Security and the authority for workmen's compensation are entirely different situations and do not relate to each other at all. As a matter of fact workmen's compensation is created by a separate amendment to the Pennsylvania Constitution, and the interpretation of that Constitutional amendment and the interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation law are entirely different situations from the Unemployment Compensation Law. There is a long, technical argument as to why that is. If the gentleman had followed the debate that was had on this and the other bill some time ago, he would have, I think, have understood the reasons that I am advancing in greater detail than he could by asking me now to take time to give them to him.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman that Social Security and Unemployment Insurance take care of the aged and men who are out of work, and Workmen's Compensation takes care of those who are disabled. I would like to ask the gentleman if they are both social questions.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that the gentleman completed his question. If he did, the reporter on this side didn't get it on his notes.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman if he felt that Social Security and Unemployment Insurance were social questions, and if the Workmen's Compensation wasn't also a social question.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Certainly, they are social questions.

They are social questions, they are economic questions and they are political questions.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to state just what the difference is between the two subjects.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, such inquiries are ridiculous.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the gentleman on the other side that such statements supposed to be made by working people of the State of Pennsylvania—

Mr. WOODSIDE. I didn't make that statement, Mr. Speaker. I think this is the third or fourth time that I have told the gentleman I did not make such a statement. I said that the people who are interested in the working man wouldn't vote for such a bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Would the gentleman please state, Mr. Speaker, who the people are that are interested in the working people of Pennsylvania?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Well, Mr. Speaker, there are a number of us who are sincerely interested in this House. I do not think that the gentleman on that side who is debating with me is sincere. I think he is interested in the political angle and not actually interested in the welfare of the working men of Pennsylvaia.

Mr. LOVETT. The gentleman is not acquainted with the gentleman on this side, Mr. Speaker; he had better get acquainted. I am not so much interested in politics as I am in the working man of Pennsylvania. I still did not get an answer to my question.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if I would attempt to tell the gentleman all the differences between workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and old-age pension and aid to the children and blind pensions and all the other elements of the social security law, I could keep the gentleman here from now until next week, and the gentleman well knows it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, this is the most important question to come before the Legislature in my opinion during this session, and I am perfectly willing to stay here for two weeks or three weeks or several months on a bill of such vital importance to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODSIDE. So am I, Mr. Speaker. I am perfectly willing to enter into any intelligent discussion of this matter, but I do not think a discussion of the differences between these two types of legislation is of importance.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman make the statement that the people who were interested in the working people of the state of Pennsylvania are opposed to compulsory workmen's compensation?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I said that those people who understand the Workmen's Compensation Law and are truly interested in the working men of Pennsylvania are opposed to a compulsory provision in the Workmen's Compensation Law. That is what I said. I have repeated it a dozen times to the gentleman, and I will stand on it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Dauphin another question? If this Bill No. 1639 were to pass both the House and the Senate and be signed by the Governor and the courts declared it unconstitutional, would it have any effect on workmen's compensation in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if this bill were passed and became a part of the Workmen's Compensation Law the various companies who were either self insurers or who were under the act could easily go before the Court and I think raise innumerable objections and questions to the entire act which would result possibly in the declaration by the courts that the entire act was unconstitutional, because this bill would then be a part of the law or act. Furthermore the Court might determine that in specific instances, and by that I mean specific parts of the law would be unconstitutional, or that the law would be constitutional as to specific industries. Those are the things which very probably would happen and would constitute a real danger, and I submit they are the reasons why his party did not pass a compulsory workmen's compensation provision when they passed the Act of 1937, and I think they were wise in that respect.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid we will not be able to vote on this bill at this time.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman from Dauphin that I am not so much interested in whether we will have to pass the bill over and come back to it, because I am one who I feel at least is interested in the working people of the State of Pennsylvania. I am not so much alarmed because we may have to pass on to some special order of business. I will be glad to come back to this bill after the special order of business is finished.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Dauphin if House Bill No. 1639 was passed by the House and the Senate and signed by the Governor and was declared constitutional by the courts, if he feels that then the working class of people in the state of Pennsylvania had not gained something worth while.

Mr. WOODSIDE. If I understood the gentleman's question it was to the effect if this bill were enacted into law whether the people would not have gained something worth while. I think I answered that question a dozen times. I do not know why the gentleman does not understand me.

Mr. LOVETT. The only answer, Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman to give is yes or no.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have answered a dozen times, no.

Mr. LOVETT. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin says to this House that regardless of what happens with compulsory workmen's compensation, if this bill is declared constitutional by the courts, that the working class of people still have not gained anything?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, maybe I misunderstood the question of the gentleman.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did misunderstand me. If the gentleman from Dauphin would pay attention to the questions I am asking him perhaps he would give me a better answer.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I will try and be reasonable, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would be glad to repeat the question which I asked the gentleman from Dauphin.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I want the gentleman to understand that I am answering his questions as a courtesy to him. I do not have to answer. I will continue to answer his questions, however.

Mr. LOVETT. Any time, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman feels that he does not want to answer the question,—

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I can sit down, the gentleman does not need to tell me, if I do not care to answer his questions.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Dauphin. The question that I asked the gentleman with regard to House Bill 1639 was, if this bill was passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor and was declared constitutional by the courts,—

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

The SPEAKER. Will both gentlemen yield?

The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, House Bill No. 413, Printer's No. 1163, page 1 of today's calendar, on third reading and final passage.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, yesterday I arose to discuss these amendments which now appear in House Bill 413, but unfortunately the previous question was moved before the Chair was able to recognize me. I desire to take this opportunity to express my thoughts on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, whether in his opinion it is un-American for an individual or a group of individuals to persecute a minority on account of his race, religion or color?

Mr. BROWN. Undoubtedly I do feel, Mr. Speaker, that it is un-American.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether in his opinion the proponents of the Silver Shirt movement are guilty of un-Americanism?

Mr. BROWN. I would say, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion they certainly are.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether in his opinion the proponents of Klu Klux Klanism are guilty of un-Americanism?

Mr. BROWN. Undoubtedly they are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether in his opinion the followers of the Christian Front are guilty of un-Americanism

Mr. BROWN. Undoubtedly they are, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether in his opinion any of these individuals or groups would be included in the definition of un-Americanism as it appears in House Bill 413?

Mr. BROWN. In my opinion they would not be, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PROSEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. I believe that my interrogation and the answers of the gentleman from Allegheny have expressed my thoughts on this bill. My thoughts are born of convictions which come from the heart. I am not able to stand here and wave the American flag. Yesterday I intimated that I would vote against this bill. Today my heart still pounds a steady and consecutive "no," but unfortunately this bill has been misnomered a Red bill. My vote against this bill would be remembered for a very long time, but my reasons unfortunately would die very shortly. So, Mr. Speaker, with a very heavy heart I shall vote for this bill.

Mr. PRESLEY N. JONES. Mr. Speaker, as you are all well aware I arose yesterday, being unable at that time to engage in the debate and voted "no" on the amendments. However, after very serious consideration, and in line with the facts that the gentleman who just preceded me on the floor, Mr. Prosen, has brought out, I have decided to vote for the bill. I intended to vote against it, not only in its former status but also as amended, feeling that the amendments submitted by Mr. Turner and the amendments submitted by Mr. Brown and Mr. McClanaghan simply have no place on the statute books of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, it is my sincere conviction that you cannot legislate patriotism,—patriotism is born, nursed and matured through the proper diffusion of knowledge in the Church, the home and the school; through knowledge of the right of free speech, free press, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly and freedom of enterprise. Since time long past when our forefathers hewed the foundation of this great nation we have come to know that in order to carry forward freedom of expression, individualism and true Americanism we must continue to put more sweat into the mortar if we are to build structures that will withstand the elements, the forces of Naziism, Fascism, Communism and all isms not consistent with our "way of life," or Americanism. We all recognize it is "Good to desire to do good and express our views," but to exploit the desire to do good is a disease which has permeated our lives too much, so much in fact that too many, far too many have forgotten their God and their Church. Correctives and restoratives are needed too, but not exactly in this manner of approach, be it Republican or Democratic sponsorship. The Constitution of our United States provides for correctives and restoratives which, when properly advanced and exercised rather dissipate the need for any legislation of the type of House Bill No. 413 or all these flag waving speeches on this floor. I would suggest to all Members to read our Constitution and no doubt it will be a revelation to many Although I have some fears in regard to the use to which this bill may be put, yet I cannot profess the wisdom of Solomon, even though I know full well Americanism begins in the home, and who am I to judge what is un-American. Thus after serious consideration, I have, with a heavy heart decided to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say one word so that the record may show that others of us too have the heavy heart that Mr. Prosen spoke about on the passage of this bill.

In my opinion it is indeed unfortunate and to be regretted that this House of Representatives should undertake to define un-American or subversive doctorines and limit the definition to the two propositions contained in section one of this bill. This legislation was a result of a compromise as we all know, and I hate compromise. The gentleman from Dauphin yesterday said half a loaf is better than no loaf at all. With that I agree. The reason for that Mr. Speaker, is obvious. When we set up a definition in legislation it not only defines that legislation but is used as a definition outside of the legislation to which it might be attached. Therefore when we define un-American and subversive activities in the act we must necessarily and reasonably say that those un-American activities or subversive activities not defined in the act are not un-American and not subversive. I think this is a dangerous precedent, and I regret as much as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Prosen, that in our definition of what is un-American we did not define those un-American activities that are not absolutely connected with the overthrow of the government, which have at their very roots those things which mean oppression and which mean violence to minorities, such as the organizations that the gentleman from Philadelphia mentioned. It is to be regretted and I sincerely hope that the definition we have given to un-American activities will at some time be broadened and will not be taken as an expression of this House of Representatives as putting our stamp of approval on those organizations or those activities which we all know deep down in our hearts are un-American and are subversive. It is to be regretted that we are bound by this definition.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, after the long course that this legislation which is generally embodied in this bill has taken through the House, and after the large number of speeches which I have made on this subject, I do not intend this morning to continue the debate further, because I feel that all I can say or it was possible for me to think to say, has been said in the last few weeks. However, there has come to me since the session last evening information to the effect that my position to some extent was at least misinterpreted by some of the members of the House. Therefore I want to leave the record clear as far as I am concerned and as far as I can at the moment speaking extemporaneously and with a cloud of other matters far more than usual in my mind.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to try to state again what I think. I have just been perusing the Legislative Journal of 1937 from which the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Harkins read the other day, when he attempted to take me to task because I had favored the insertion in the Teachers Tenure act of a provision for dismissal for seditious teaching. He wondered why during the 1939 session I had not pursued that further, when we were in the majority in this House. I think the gentleman from Dauphin has very well answered some of the things that I did not recall or did not remember in the 1939 session.

I got the Journal this morning and read back over it. If it were not so long I would again read into the record of this session what I said at that time. I think I stated my position there about as well as I could state it today. With the broader knowledge we have gained in the last four years as to the activities of some of these organizations and groups, because of the world situation and the position in which America finds itself I might broaden the statements and carry them still further.

The thing which seems to confuse the issue in the minds of some of the men is that I put so much emphasis on Communism. Perhaps it seems that we were a little wishy-washy on the question of Naziism and Fascism.

I thought by the introduction of the amendments which I offered, in my interpretation and in my understanding of the isms, Communism, Naziism, and Fascism, indicated that I do not believe there is very much fundamental difference. I despise and hate the intolerance of all three of them; I despise their mental attitude; I despise their program, plan and ideal, if you can call it an ideal, by which they think that force makes right, and that you have the right to go out and take whatever you can get. I am certainly opposed to, and I think every American citizen has shuddered at the things that have gone on in Germany and the intolerance and the abolition of religion, at least of religion as we understand it. We know that Communism, Fascism and Naziism cannot exist with religion, because they must feel something that they believe is higher, they must get the people to believe in something other than a Supreme Being in order to sink them down to the level where they will join such groups. Somebody has said that the only difference between Naziism and Fascism is the length of the moustache. I do not believe there is a real political philosophy in Naziism or Facism; it is just a makeshift, something to build up a group of people by a great rabble rouser, who has been able to lead a lot of young people who felt they had been oppressed. He took them and by specious argument, had them feel that they were a superior race, and by holding up to them the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, they went down, down very far. I do not believe that Germany will always be as she is. I think that Germany, at some time must come back to the plane of common decency, but as far as Naziism is concerned, I hate and despise that as much as anybody in this House. I believe that Communism, Naziism, and Fascism are destructive, that the theories of all these communal governments, all these so-called socialistic forms of government, are destructive of freedom, are destructive of liberty, and are destructive of the very kind of government that we want to have here. However, the most active in our nation has been the Communistic group, and if in my talks and in the things I have said I have put most emphasis upon that, I have placed the emphasis there, not because I believed it was the greatest evil and that the others were less or that I had any sort of weakening towards the others and a greater hatred for Communism, but merely because it was more prevalent. However, within the last few days, it was stated in a Philadelphia paper that the school board had to remove from the Philadelphia schools some text books on Fascism. I do not doubt that our public school superintendents and our school boards, if they were zealous in ascertaining what was in a lot of these text books, could find a lot of things that should be removed, and that would include the tendency, of course, to approve the principle of communal property, which would be destructive of the American form and ideal of government as we have understood it.

I am delighted to say that although I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Prosen, as I understood him to say, I do not believe this bill has gone far enough. I realize the legislative difficulties, but I also realize it is not touching that which we want to reach and which we can not reach because I believe it can be circumvented by the skillful mind of the people who believe in these isms. However, it is a long step from the situation where we could not get a bill out of Committee and the place where the gentleman from Allegheny wanted us to have it, that they would have had to advocate and participate in overt acts, to the place where we could get the "subversive and un-American teaching." Although the bill does not go all the way and although I say the bill does not reach far enough, I believe with the debates we have had here, and with the publicity that has been in the newspapers it is bound to have its psychological effect upon our school superintendents, our school teachers, our school boards and upon the parents of the children in our schools in Pennsylvania, so that they will be diligent to protect this liberty and to protect this form of government of ours. I hope that out of this will come a greater and better understanding of the problem. I trust there will not come some of the narrowness that has occurred in the debates on this bill. I trust we will be able to demonstrate in this Commonwealth of ours a greater tolerance for all people and greater understanding. Democracy can not exist where intolerance exists because of race, color, or religion. I hope we may be able to step along as the gentleman from Allegheny has asked us to do, with the Bill of Rights. I believe in freedom of speech, I believe in freedom of assembly, I believe in freedom of religion, but I also believe that the government must protect itself, and we are to defend this freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of religion that we have, if we are to defend this way of life, if we are to see that this democracy of ours shall go forward, so that our children can enjoy the things which we have enjoyed in the past, then we must be ever on the alert to see that freedom of speech does not become license, to see that our desire to have the Bill of Rights does not make us lean so far toward this group that it would let them undermine this Constitution, undermine this government, and let them bring up our children to a false notion of the kind of government under which they should live.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, I was listening with a great deal of interest and was hoping that the gentleman from Delaware would make a different speech. I was hoping he would tell us about the speech that he will perhaps make one of these days to the oncoming generations about his attitude on these matters, and he might tell them when he gets them around him one of these days that "I was a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and in 1937 and even earlier I discovered a cancerous growth, a wicked ism eating out the very vitals of our Commonwealth, subversive teachings in our schools, Communism and all the rest of the isms, and I urged the Democrats in 1937, I pleaded with them to enact a law or to enact an amendment in the Teachers Tenure Law that would wipe out or prevent such subversive doctrines from being taught in our schools. I pleaded, but to no avail. The Democrats at that time ignored my plea.

"But in 1939 the situation was different. I was Speaker of the House. It was my job to appoint all the Chairmen of the various Committees of the House. My party was in undisputed control of all the machinery of legislation in that session of the General Assembly, but somehow or for some reason I forgot all about that cancerous growth that I discovered in 1937 and even earlier. I was busy perhaps with other things; maybe the fixing up of new quarters for the Majority Caucus Room or the new offices for the Speaker, or maybe I did not have a Lou Wilgarde or a Jack Kelly to remind me of this cancerous growth and somehow I forgot all about it. My good friend, the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, and other fellows that were on my team did not call my attention to that cancerous growth and somehow I forgot all about it. But in 1941, after the Democrats won the majority in the House I rediscovered that cancerous growth that I had ignored during the 1939 session, and found it again eating at the very vitals of our Commonwealth.

"Then, Mr. Speaker, after being prodded by Jack Kelly and Louie Wilgarde and others, I began again to importune the Democrats. It may be that I thought that this anti-Red legislation was something to be passed by Democrats only and not by Republicans. When the Republicans are in power that kind of legislation is not good stuff to be dealt with, but when the Republicans are out of power, then it is a good time to harp and yell and demand such legislation. But now the Democrats finally came back into power in the House and I took up the cudgels in defense of democracy; I took up the cudgels to wipe out that cancerous growth. I rediscovered again what I had discovered in 1937 and other times and slept on in 1939. However, the Democrats did not give me as good a bill as I wanted, but they gave me a whole lot better bill than I demanded in 1937. So consequently instead of the Republicans being the saviours of the Commonwealth, instead of my own party reminding me of my solemn duty to the schools and to the children of the Commonwealth, it was the lowly Democrats who had to come forward and save the situation; not as well as I would like to have seen them save it, but they even took a Republican bill and amended it, of course, but they put through some sort of a bill. In 1939 the Democrats introduced three bills to do the same thing, but I ignored them, they did not come out of committee for some reason. I do not know why my Republican brethren would not bring them out of committee. Maybe I did not yell loud enough or maybe I was busy doing other things, but thank God, the Democrats saved the Commonwealth by finally passing some sort of anti-Red legislation."

Mr. Speaker, that is the speech that I thought the gentleman from Delaware could have made and might have made, and Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it would have been a part of the record; it would have been taken directly from the record, and the record only of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I think I said yesterday that always when a person has no argument to refute a logical argument which has been made, the way they do is to abuse and vilify.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the mental attitude of the gentleman from Philadelphia and some of his colleagues can be best expressed in the manner in which he has just expressed himself in his best pulpit manner. In his best pleading he has tried to say to this House that this whole situation should be blamed on Turner. Well, if the efforts of Turner, with all his failings, has prodded you fellows so far that you have at last gone along and put something on the statute books, then I am willing to be lambasted, I am willing to be villified and abused and cussed by every member of this House, and I will still sit here and take it smilingly.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia said that I slept on this matter in 1939. Well, Mr. Speaker, I ought to be permitted to have one little sleep because the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, has slept steadily ever since he has been in the House. I know Mr. Speaker that the position of the gentleman from Philadelphia hasn't anything to do with the issue, I am ready to admit that, but the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, got his head raised into the clouds, and therefore, he is likely to get a little shot from some airplane guns.

The SPEAKER. The Rules with respect to engaging in personalities in debate are suspended for the remainder of the session.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I was not speaking on personality; I was talking of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, the gentleman from Philadelphia has lots of personality.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will agree with that, but not displayed in this House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, is exactly today in the same position he has been all along. I saw in the Journal of 1937 that the amendments I introduced had to do with seditious teaching, and seditious teaching is a little bit further narrowed down than the condition which we are trying to cover today, but even in that instance, although sedition, as admitted by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown in the debate in 1937, is an indictible offense, even then the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, was not willing to put that into the bill because I find that he voted "no" on my amendments offered at that time. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, did not make any move in the 1939 session so far as I can recall. I don't now remember of his being on the floor speaking in behalf of any amendments of this kind. In the 1941 session, he says, "At last in this session, you have gotten a bill."

On January 18, I think it was, I introduced a bill to amend the Teachers' Tenure Act and it was not until some time in May or June that I began to get any action on it. Therefore, I think the specious argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, clearly indicates it would be better for him to go on back to sleep, because if I slept through this, I at least in my dreams have been able to stir up some of the spirit of Americanism on the other side of the House and at least got something that has to do with the subversive teaching.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not yet answered the question about the 1939 session and his lack of activity on behalf of these bills in the 1939 session.

I was here in 1935 and 1937 and I heard the gentleman quite often speak on the floor of the House about these same matters. Maybe it was my presence that caused him to see red at that time, because in 1939 I was not a Member of this House. The gentleman did not see red in 1939. I was re-elected in 1941, and now, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, the gentleman sees red again. Maybe it is my presence that makes him see red on these bills, or maybe it is because the good Reverend gentleman from Philadelphia, the minister, caused him to get converted by my presence in this House. Maybe that is the reason, or some other reason, I don't know, or maybe he was so asleep in 1939 that he did not notice that I was absent from the House. I don't know why the gentleman accuses me of not being on the floor in 1939; I was not here and could not be allowed the privilege of the floor. The gentleman at that time was Speaker of the House, and he certainly would not have recognized me if I had tried to be recognized. Perhaps I ought to put a red flag on my desk during the session, so he could see me and know when I am present in the House. So I say, Mr. Speaker, if there was anybody that was asleep in this House, it seems to me it was the gentleman from Delaware, who was presiding over the House in 1939, and slept so soundly he did not notice my absence at that time.

The SPEAKER. Now that we are through with bedtime stories let us get down to business.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I just say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard, that I do not know how I missed the fact that he was not here except, perhaps he still is not here. I don't see red when I see him, but I will say to him this, that all I am trying to do is to get the red flag off his lapel and get a red, white, and blue one in its place.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, yesterday I cited a situation on the floor of the House that I said would not be covered by this bill. One of the gentlemen on the other side attempted to refute that argument, and again misquoted me. I did not take the time to answer him last night because of the lateness of the hour, but I do wish now to re-state that situation, which I am prefectly satisfied is not covered by this bill.

It is the situation of a school teacher, a public school teacher, if you will, who goes into his or her class in civics or history or any other subject, and says to those students, "The democratic form of government is not the best form of government; it fails in this respect, this respect, and this respect. The Communistic form of government is a much better form of government; it is an improvement over the democratic form of government in this respect and this respect and this respect, and I think that we ought to adopt the Communistic form of government in Pennsylvania, and in the United States. But I do not agree with all the Communists, I do not agree that we ought to accept that form of government by violence, I do not think that we should do it by revolution. I think we should do it by means provided for in the Constitution, I think we ought to adopt a Constitution which would strike out our Bill of Rights and create a dictatorship, that would abolish capitalism and that would create a Communistic form of government."

Now, after all, Mr. Speaker, the real intent of the teacher would be to create in the mind of the student the thought that the Communistic form of government was a better form of government, but in order to protect herself against a violation of this law, he or she would specifically state that this should not be brought about by revolution, but that it should be brought about by means provided for in the Constitution. Mr. Speaker, any teacher who would go into the public schools and teach to the students of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the Communistic form of government was a better form of government than the democratic form of government should not be a teacher paid by the Commonwealth. If somebody wants to go out and shout it on the street corner, that is something different, and if someone wants to tell their buddy that, that is different, but a person should not be permitted to go into the schools of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and receive the protection of the Teachers Tenure Act and still teach this subject, by putting in merely that we should not overthrow the government by revolution. I think that is the situation which ought to be met, and it is not met by this bill. As I said yesterday, it is the best thing that has come from that side of the House and we therefore propose to vote for the bill.

Mr. BAKER. To save the time and expense of an expanding Journal, when all we need do is to take the Journal of yesterday and the day before and last week and to save that time and expense I now move the previous question and ask the Members of this House to support me in that motion.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Brown, Paul A. Brunner, Balthaser, Croop, McIntosh, Kolankiewicz, Verona, DiGenova, Shaw, Reynolds, Polaski, Bradley, Malloy, McLane, Voldow, Herman, Chudoff, Burns, Polen, Tarr and others.

On the question,

Shall the main guestion be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BRETHERICK filed the following reasons for his vote.

Unlike the Democratic Members of the House, I am voting for House Bill 413 with a light heart and a sense of satisfaction in having taken a part in its passage, even in its emasculated form. I feel, with other Members of my party, that the amendments offered by Mr. Turner would have been more effective in terminating the slimy practice in our midst and in driving into the rat holes, where they properly belong, those poor misguided fools who would substitute for Americanism a shoddy counterfeit. There ought to be a law requiring those advocating foreign, un-American "isms" to be examine dby a psychiatrist to determine their mental fitness to be at large.

Mr. GATES filed the following reasons for his vote:

I am voting in support of House Bill No. 413 because I feel that our American Democracy should be protected at all costs. However, I feel that certain self evident truths must be stated before our democracy itself can progress and reach even higher levels.

Many of these people whom we attack have grown biased, intolerant and subversive because of what we ourselves have failed to do. We have allowed workers to be eliminated from industry and made no attempt to rehabilitate them. We have allowed the older worker to be discarded like a worn out shoe, and offered our elderly citizens a mere mess of pottage, instead of an old age pension by which they could retain their self respect and that of their neighbors. We have stigmatized our unemployed so that the term "reliefer" carries with it a sense of approbrium. And when these people become embittered, we offer them nothing but vilification, and make no attempt to remedy their lot or offer them christian understanding and consolation.

Until these causes for economic maladjustment are remedied, no legislation we pass will diminish even slightly these people we have labelled as un-American. Our true function as legislators therefore is and will always remain to extirpate the root of these evils, so that with each era an ever increasing number of all peoples of the earth will reach out and ascribe to this, our our American Democracy.

Mr. O'CONNOR filed the following reasons for his vote:

January 1941 I wrote the State Chairman and the State Secretary of the Communistic Party as follows:

"Replying to your letter of January 14, 1941, with which you enclosed the "Communist Party Legislative Program" and in which you asked me for my comments, I beg to advise you that I am unalterably opposed to and denounce Communism. Therefore I cannot accept your program. I have no more sympathy for the Program of Communists than I have for the political buzzards who fly into our State Capital to tell Members of the Pennsylvania Legislature what bills they must pass and why.

"In my opinion there is no place in Pennsylvania government or politics for Communists. Residents of this great Commonwealth who are Communists by conviction should in my opinion seek residence in a country under a government where Communism is respected. It will be my pleasure to sponsor or fully support proposed legislation in the present session of our Legislature, which will prohibit Communists from enjoying any legal status as a political party.

"I trust I have complied with your request for my comments in a clear understandable manner. As a public servant, representing a constituency second to none in the entire United States—the people of Cambria County, I am pledged to support the principles of the Democratic party, and Organized Labor's legislative program. Communists in my mind cannot improve these."

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 1639 RESUMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House, House Bill No. 1639, Printer's No. 1055, on page 11 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed, consideration of which will now be resumed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like further to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, and assure him that there will only be two more questions, due to the fact that he feels the interrogation is so unnecessary.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker I shall answer all questions that bear on the subject.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the last question I asked the gentleman was if House Bill 1639 was to pass the House and the Senate and be signed by the Governor and declared constitutional by the courts, whether he feels the working people of Pennsylvania would be granted and accorded during this session a great deal of benefit.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, my opinion would be that if the entire Workmen's Compensation Act would be unaffected from a constitutional standpoint, the working men of Pennsylvania would receive a theoretical advantage, but the gentleman is assuming in his question that the courts would pass upon this legislation as a separate act, and that is not a fair or correct or proper assumption, in the first place. In the second place, even if that were true, the workingmen of Pennsylvania in my opinion would receive no substantial, practical advantage, or from the present situation practically no advantage.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman on the other side refuses to confine his remarks to yes or no,—

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the question cannot be answered yes or no.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that I am not an attorney, but I am informed by our very learned Legislative Reference Bureau men that these bills will stand and fall by themselves and will not affect the workings of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman state that as a question, and does the gentleman want me to explain further my answer?

Mr. LOVETT. Not necessarily, Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to state that to the gentleman on the other side.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, am I being interrogated or not?

Mr. LOVETT. Just one more question, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman said that the men who were interested in the laboring people of the state were opposed to this bill. I would like the gentleman to state the names of those men who are interested in labor.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I for one claim to be one of them. I won't speak for any others.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1639 to my mind is one of the most important bills that will come before us in this session. As I said on this floor yesterday, the thing that is going to stop Communism and subversive activities in America is legislation in the interests of the working people and of the underprivileged of our state. If the gentleman on the other side or any labor leader can say to me that he is opposed to compulsory workmens compensation then I want that labor leader or that man who speaks for labor to give me his reasons why he is opposed to it.

The gentleman on the other side stated that the Act of 1937, which the coal companies refused to come under at the time it was enacted, if this law had been in effect at that time, the coal companies would have had to come under the Act of 1937, and to my mind the subversive activities on the part of coal companies at that particular time are the subversive activities that are tearing down democracy in America. That is the reason why I say today I want every man in this House to know that House Bill 1639 is in the interest of the working people of the state of Pennsylvania, regardless of whether some leader on the other side tries to confuse the issue and say that the leaders of labor are opposed to compulsory Workmen's Compensation. I say that statement is untrue. I want the men in this House to know when they vote on this bill that this bill is in the interests of the working people of the state of Pennsylvania and I do not want the issue clouded; I want you to know what you are voting for. That is the reason why I am willing to stay here two or three or four weeks to protect the interests of the working people of the state, so that we can keep Communism out of America.

Mr. Speaker, we have passed a program for farmers, we have passed your program for private interests in the state of Pennsylvania, but we haven't passed your program in the interests of the working people of the State of Pennsylvania. So I say to you I am willing to stay here all summer if it is necessary; that we go over into the Senate of Pennsylvania and demand that they get the bills out of committee and pass this program in the interests of the people of Pennsylvania, and save democracy, and quit kidding the people of the state and giving special privileges to the few and nothing to the masses.

My friends, that is the reason France fell, that is the reason Germany is in the condition it is today. It is for these very reasons, and if you want to save the people, then I say to you, start now and pay attention to legislation of this type. I ask every man in this House to vote for this legislation.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, historians tell me that France fell because they had a New Deal but I don't know what that has to do with the problem before the House either way.

I am going to state very briefly the answer to the gentleman and further explain what I meant as to whether or not this bill, if upheld by the courts as being constitutional would inure to the benefit of the working man. In the first place I said practically not, because under the law today practically all of the workmen are under Workmen's Compensation. There are very, very few any more that are not under Workmen's Compensation. As a matter of fact up until 1937 there were practically no men who were not under the Workmen's Compensation law, they were all subjects to the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation law, and rejections by employers were practically unknown. The 1937 law ruined completely that situation, and hundreds of thousands of working men in Pennsylvania, engaged in the most dangerous occupations, who needed workmens compensation most were thrown out of the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation law and were no longer receiving the benefits of the Act.

There is a provision in this bill providing that this, if declared unconstitutional, shall relate to itself and shall be separable from the rest of the act. However, I wish to call to the attention of the Members this fact, and I went into it in rather considerable detail—I regret, Mr. Speaker, that I do not have before me the opinion of the Supreme Court to read the exact language of Justice Maxey. I did read into the record however, a reference to the matter when it was before us which will show what he said in relation to it.

There is the point: if this compulsory provision is determined by the courts to be a part of the Workmen's Compensation Act, which means they would hold the provision itself constitutional, then they will go into the question with all industries and all types of accidents as to whether or not that provision provides for the taking of property without due process of law. Therefore, the working men will be faced with innumerable suits and will be compelled to defend innumerable actions, and in many instances may find themselves not under the Workmen's Compensation Act. For that reason —I realize that this is rather a technical argument—it seems to me to be perfectly clear that the inserting of this provision in the law would bring very few people under the Workmen's Compensation Act because they are practically all under it now, but there would be the danger of taking a lot of working men from under the Workmen's Compensation Act and therefore be a detriment to them.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the argument of the gentleman on the other side, while I am not an attorney, his last statement was that most of the people are now under the Workmen's Compensation Act. Then he said if this bill passes they would not be under the Workmen's Compensation Act. I just want to say to the gentleman on the other side that to my mind, not as an attorney, if this act had been on the statute books in 1937, or if it had been on the statute books at any time, I say to him that every man in the state would automatically come under the Workmen's Compensation Act and they would have to pay compensation.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I believe both political parties in the session of 1941 have agreed that there shall be a more liberal Workmen's Compensation Act in this state. It appears that that pledge is not going to be carried out. Coming from a district that in 1937 did not have workmens compensation because of the refusal of the coal companies to come under the law, we have today in the anthracite region, and I believe in the soft coal region also, men who are working in the mines that are receiving less compensation now and since the 1939 Act has been enacted by this Legislature than they did under the old 1915 law. We have men who work in the mines now who are injured who receive as low as $10 a week in benefits.

We have heard many discussions on this particular bill before us this afternoon and every man who represents a district where there are men and women who work and are covered by compensation, I do not know how they can go back home and tell their constituents that they were in favor of a better Workmen's Compensation Act and vote against this bill. I believe if the enactment of this bill would only cover ten people who are not now covered by Workmen's Compensation that the 1941 Legislature could go back home and feel they had done at least something for their constituents.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the members on both sides of the House to vote in support of this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time in support of the legislation that is now before this body for its consideration. I am going to appeal to each and every Member on both sides of the House to vote favorably on this measure. Before delving into the merits of the bill may I state to the membership of the House that I resent the statement of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, in regard to my colleague, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, as being one who has not acted in the interests of the laboring people of this Commonwealth in this General Assembly. Mr. Speaker, the record speaks for itself relative to those services that the honorable gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, has rendered to the working people of the state of Pennsylvania.

This piece of legislation that is now before us is a piece of legislation that is going to give those who are deprived today and who will be deprived in the future the necessary benefits in a social cause and should not create any partisanship or any controversy on the floor of this House. We know that today the cost of living has greatly increased, and yet we fail to make any provision to take care of those people who have been disabled in the pursuit of their daily work.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this legislation together with legislation which was passed by this House some weeks ago, will increase the benefit of workman's compensation to those unfortunates who have been injured in industry. Coming from the rank and file and being in daily contact with them, I can assure the Members of the House that the working man whom we should represent here in the General Assembly is interested in this legislation and certainly wants you to vote favorably for it so as to enable the passage of this piece of legislation.

I appeal to you for those people who will benefit by this legislation, the majority of the people of our Commonwealth, those unfortunates who have no special body or interests to go down the line for them and request certain bills or certain legislation, to vote favorably on House Bill 1639.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Moran, Lovett and Tarr asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. AUKER filed the following reasons for his vote:

While I believe the present Workmen's Compensation Act should be somewhat liberalized as to benefit payments, liberalize the hernia section and the negligence clause section, yet I feel compelled to vote "NO" on this act by reason of my serious doubts on its constitutionality, and the serious repercussions and harm that might be done to the laborers and workers and employes if it were declared unconstitutional thus affecting adversely the entire Workmen's Compensation Act and the benefits to the employees which they now have under the present act.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. SCANLON asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Professional Licensure to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Public Utilities to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unaminous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have heard inadvertently that the name has been applied to me in various pieces of legislation on which I spoke as being a "squawker." I never have minded, Mr. Speaker, being called names as long as I knew in my heart and soul that what I said and what I was doing was right, and I was conscientious in what I was doing. I still feel and have always felt in my brief legislative career in this House that that is what I have tried to do.

However, Mr. Speaker, I am not rising at this time to make a particular point out of that particular item. I rise just to crow a little bit. In my two years in the House, I do not think I have ever crowed before, but I feel now I have very good reasons to crow.

Early in February there was introduced in this House by the Honorable George Jones and myself, both members from Blair County, a bill asking for an investigation committee, and I will just read two of the paragraphs so as to refresh the minds of the Members of the House as to what we tried to do in that bill:

"Whereas it is rumored and alleged that the money appropriated by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for our public school system is being used in part to foster and incuctate in our children subversive thoughts and beliefs and ideas contrary to our demotic form of government."

Mr. Speaker, we did not say that those conditions exist; we only alleged that they exist by rumor.

The second whereas clause is as follows:

"Whereas a fair and impartial investigation of our school system, the books used and the teaching practiced therein would either quiet such rumors or uncover a malicious situation, therefore, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows."

The bill then goes on to set up the investigating committee.

This afternoon we all voted on a bill to try to correct conditions and get at conditions which would have been developed had there been appointed a committee under our bill to find out whether or not such conditions existed. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that by our vote on this bill House Bill 413, we have impliedly recognized that such conditions do exist in our public school system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. So, Mr. Speaker, I do feel that I have a little right to crow and that the Honorable Mr. Jones has a right to crow.

Further in the debate on House Bill 413, the various speakers who spoke against the bill and against the various amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware. Mr. Turner, were very much in fear that we were going witch hunting and were very much against enacting such a bill into law, although by our bill asking for an investigating committee sought to find the very thing that has been enacted into law. All we wanted to find out was whether or not those conditions exist. I feel we have a right to crow, Mr. Speaker, because we more than the gentlemen on the other side of the House, sought and tried to avoid the enactment into law of anything that might in any way hurt any minority group. We wanted to find out first whether these things were true, then have the investigating committee report back to this body, and if this body deemed it advisable, then pass the law.

So I ask the Speaker's pardon, and I ask the pardon of the Members of the House for just crowing a little bit.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I make a very friendly suggestion that will conserve a lot of time of the Members on the other side of the House, that all of the Fourth of July orations that were rained out be sent to the desk and be printed in the record.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 94

An Act to amend section fifteen hundred and nine of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws, general, special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by providing that the board of directors of any school district may appropriate funds to pay for medical examinations for tuberculosis for pupils, teachers, janitors or other employees.

HOUSE BILL No. 1013

An Act to repeal section five of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and five (P. L. 385) entitled "An act creating the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania defining its duties fixing the scope of its authority and powers and making an appropriation for the payment of salaries and expenses connected therewith" prohibiting the issuance of letters patent to water companies until approved by the Water Supply Commission.

HOUSE BILL No. 1643

L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" by providing for the manner of payment of escheator's fees informant's commissions and other lawful charges due from moneys escheated to the Commonwealth and escheatable moneys paid to the Commonwealth without escheat designating the funds to which such moneys shall be credited and making an appropriation.

HOUSE BILL No. 1648

An Act to amend the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, (P. L. 1005), entitled "An act relating to and regulating tractors and trailers and their operation: providing for their registration and the licensing of certain operators by the Department of Revenue upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of tractors and trailers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of tractors and trailers; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation; and providing for refunds," as variously amended, by changing registration years, fractions of registration years, operator's license years; extending the time for exemption from fees for transfer of registration to conform with changed registration year; reducing operator's license fee; and giving the secretary power to determine whether certain motor vehicles are of tractor type.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. FISS offered a privileged resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941

The House of Representatives has learned with deep sorrow of the death of the Honorable Harvey A. Surface of Snyder County, on July 8th of this year.

Dr. Surface was born in Waynesville, Ohio, on July 23, 1867, graduated from Sugar Grove Seminary in 1883 and became professor of geology at Ohio State University.

From 1903 to 1917 he was State Zoologist and acquired a national reputation as an authority on zoology, geology and nature study.

Franklin and Marshall College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science upon him in 1908.

Dr. Surface was elected a Member of this House in 1930 and was reelected in 1932 and 1934. All of the Members here who had the good fortune to know Dr. Surface, will feel especially grieved at his passing.

He was professor of zoology at Pennsylvania State College for seven years, and at Cornell University for a considerable time and in 1930 became professor of nature study at Susquehanna University. He was not only preeminent as a scientist, but he was the author of many books on the fauna, flora and horticulture of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Surface did not restrict his studies or activities to the field of science. In public life he was ever active and devoted to the civic betterment of his fellow citizens. As a Member of this House his keen analytical mind was a source of inspiration to his fellow Legislators in their deliberations upon the difficult problems confronting the Commonwealth during the years 1931 to 1937 and his kindly and pleasing personality endeared him to his associates.

Dr. Surface is survived by a widow, Ida M. Surface and two daughters, Mrs. L. A. Cook of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Robert E. Gray of Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania.

The House of Representatives therefore pauses in its deliberations to pay this slight token of respect to the memory of this distinguished citizen of the Commonwealth, and directs the Chief Clerk of the House to mail a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased as an evidence of the respect in which he was held by the Members of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. Dr. Harvey A. Surface, a former member of the House of Representatives for three terms from Snyder County, died July 8, 1941. Funeral services will be held on Friday, July 11 at 2.00 p. m. at Fred K. Sutton's Funeral Home, North Market Street, Selingsgrove, Pennsylvania. The burial will be at Chestnut Hill Cemetery, Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, at 3.15 p. m. Friday. Legislative friends of the late Dr. Surface are invited by the family to attend.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. GATES, HELM and BOORSE offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

A grand old man was missing from the Kittanning scene today when on July 2, 1941, Harry C. Luker passed on to his Maker. He would have been 78 on Cctober 8th of this year.

Squire Luker as he was affectionately known by all of the citizens of this Community was the Justice of the Peace for more than seven years. During that time his handling of that post in the minor judiciary was preeminent in both the justice in which he rendered and the humorous manner in which he rendered it. He was also active in all the affairs of his community and devoted most of his time to the improvement and betterment of the lives of all about him.

He is survived by his wife, and his three children: Mrs. Sherwood E. Martin; Mrs. Blake Galfraith; and the Honorable Ben Luker, Assistant Building and Maintenance Superintendent.

Throughout his life he remained of a friendly disposition and his passing is mourned by persons of every walk of life, be it therefore

Resolved, that the House of Representatives notes with great sorrow of the passing of such a distinguished citizen of the community, and be it further

Resolved, that the Chief Clerk of this House mail a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased as a symbol of the House of Representatives' profound sympathy for them in their great bereavement.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Mr. ACHTERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1844, (Senate Bill No. 594), page 8, of today's Calendar, bill on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1844, (Senate Bill No. 594), entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Boards, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief board," as amended, by redefining assistance to include work relief providing for the establishment of a Board of Review and Appeal to supervise and regulate work relief projects authorizing the Department of Public Assistance with the approval of the Board of Review and Appeal to administer work relief projects subject to certain provisions and conditions making certain acts unlawful and imposing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. SHEPARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1539, on page 2 of today's Calendar, bill on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1539, entitled:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1008, (Senate Bill No. 377), as follows:

An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of counties cities boroughs school districts or other municipalities or incorporated districts had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred seventy-four (P. L. 65) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" and the amendments and supplements thereto and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections

Section 1 All proceedings and elections heretofore had and held by any county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district within this Commonwealth to increase its indebtedness under the method of procedure specified by the provisions of the act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred seventy-four (P. L. 65) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" and the acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto where the majority of votes cast at such election was in favor of the increase of indebtedness and where the purpose of the proposed increase of indebtedness is to provide for the construction of sanitary and surface sewers and the improvement of the public streets and alleys by the aid and assistance of labor and material furnished in whole or in part by the State or Federal governments and for the presecution carrying on and financing any projects receiving State or Federal approval by whatever name the local agency may be styled or denominated be and the same are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid notwithstanding the authorities of such county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district either did not or by separate and independent action did not prior to the ordinance or vote in pursuance of which notice of election was given to the electors signify their desire for such increase of indebtedness or did not in the words of the act and amendments and supplements aforesaid authorizing such increase signify their desire for such increase of indebtedness and notwithstanding the authorities of such county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district signified their desire for such increase of indebtedness by a resolution instead of by an ordinance as required by the act its amendments and supplements and notwithstanding such resolution or ordinance was not advertised as is required by law for the advertisement of ordinances and notwithstanding that the notice of such election stated the amount of the last assessed valuation of the taxable property in such county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district to have been the assessed valuation of another county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district which is coextensive therewith the assessed valuation in both such districts having been based upon the same or substantially the same taxable property and being the same or substantially the same in amount in both of such coextensive districts and notwithstanding failure to post such election notice as required by law and notwithstanding that a primary election had intervened between the date of the adoption by the proper authorities of the ordinance or resolution expressing the desire to increase the indebtedness and the date of the special election at which such increase of indebtedness was approved by the electors and notwithstanding the ordinance expressing such desire of the proper authorities of said county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district for the increase of indebtedness may have been advertised concurrently with the said notice of election though more than thirty days intervened between the date of the first advertisement and publication of said notice of election and the date of said election and notwithstanding the ballots used at said election were not certified by the county commissioners or did not bear their facsimile signature or did not contain a brief statement of the purpose of the proposed increase of indebtedness or were not printed on the official ballot after the list of candidates but were printed on separate ballots at a general election or were printed on a party ballot at a primary election and notwithstanding that the electors at any such election attached stickers to the ballots cast at said election on which stickers were written or printed preferences for sites of buildings or other matters and notwithstanding full complete and proper return of the votes was not made to the proper court or counted by the court and notwithstanding that a record showing the results was not made and certified by the clerk of said court to the proper authorities of such district or municipality and notwithstanding any defect informality or vagueness of expression in the language of the ordinance or resolution fixing the time for holding such election and notwithstanding any defect or informality in the manner of holding mode of conducting or giving notice of such election or in form of the ballot and notwithstanding any mistake in stating the amount or percentage of existing debt or the percentage of the proposed increase or the amount of the last preceding assessed valuation and notwithstanding any patent error of orthography or of numerical statement on any or all of the ballots and notwithstanding any discrepancy between the amount of the proposed increase of indebtedness as contained in the published and posted advertisements and in the printed ballots

All of the bonds securities and obligations issued or to be issued in pursuance of every such election are hereby made valid and binding obligations of every such county city borough township school district or other municipality of incorporated district Provided That all the other requirements of law concerning such procedure election and issue bonds have been complied with And provided further That the provisions of this act shall not apply in any instance where the validity of such election or any issue of bonds or other security based thereon has been made the subject of litigation in any court of the Commonwealth prior to the approval of this act nor to any litigation in any court of this Commonwealth instituted prior to the passage of this act and still pending and undetermined

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his question of information.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, is the order of business reports of committees?

The SPEAKER. It is.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Will the Speaker call that fact to the attention of the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman? Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman. I believe the gentleman from Monroe is endorsing bills.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Dauphin wish to interrogate me?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will proceed.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin would like to know whether the gentleman from Monroe is aware of the fact that we are now under the order of business of reports from committees.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. In due time, Mr. Speaker, we will come to the order of business of reports from committees.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether he now realizes that we are on that order of business?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. In due course of time I will make a report for the gentleman.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether he intends to report under this order of business the Tax Anticipation Note Bill.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, for the satisfaction of the gentleman I am about to report several other conference reports.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Under this order of business?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Under this order of business, Mr. Speaker.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILLS Nos. 230, 234 and 663

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to submit the reports of the Committee of Conference on House Bills 230, 234 and 663.

The SPEAKER. The reports will lie over for printing under the rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR

Mr. DENNISON asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1513, Printer's No. 1088, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three of the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. on page 10, of today's calendar, bill on final passage recalled from the Governor.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Jefferstrong, Mr. Dennison, vote on the final passage of this bill.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, at the end of the said title, by adding after the word "trustees" at the end of the last line of the said title, the following:

"exempting casualty insurance corporations not having capital stock imposing the tax upon personal property held and managed in this Commonwealth owned held or possessed by residents as trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact jointly with one or more trustees agents or attorneys-infact domiciled in another state and imposing the tax upon equitable interests of residents in personal property held and managed in another state where the legal title to such personal property is held by more than one trustee agent or attorney-in-fact one or more of whom are domiciled in another state and one or more of whom are domiciled within this Commonwealth."

Amend Sect. 1, page 2, line 26, by inserting after the words "attorney-in-fact" and before the word "or" the following:

"or by any resident as trustee agent or attorney-in-fact jointly with one or more trustees agents or attorneys-in-fact domiciled in another state where such personal property is held and managed in this Commonwealth."

Amend Sect. 1, page 3, line 11 after the word "state" and before the word "and" the following:

"or where the legal title to such personal property is vested in more than one trustee agent or attorney-in-fact one or more of whom are domiciled in another state and one or more of whom are domiciled within this Commonwealth and such personal property is held and managed in another state.

Amend Sec. 1, page 6, line 3, by inserting after the word "life" and before the word "or" the following: "casualty."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION NON-CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has non-concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 820, Printer's No. 1070, entitled "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the second day of may one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine (P. L. 184) entitled "An act to provide revenue by imposing a mercantile license tax on vendors of or dealers in goods wares and merchandise and providing for the colletion of said tax" as amended exempting from the mercantile license tax so much of the business of manufacturers and mechanics as comprises the vending of goods of their manufacture from their factories and workshops, be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 598 (HOUSE BILL No. 1984)

An Act to add section two thousand two and one-tenth to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administerd and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for cooperation of State Teachers Colleges at the request of the State Council of Defense with other agencies in furthering national defense programs and activities.

Referred to the Committee on State Government

AMENDED RESOLUTION RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced returned resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 20, 1941.

Whereas The Polish Army Veterans Association of America is an organization of veterans composed of the Polish Army who enlisted as volunteers in 1917 and 1918 from the United States for service with the Polish forces in France and in Poland and

Whereas By special permission of the State and War Departments and by proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson the Polish Military Commission was authorized to recruit from among the Poles in the United States volunteers for the army after this country entered as a participant in the World War on the side of the Allies and

Whereas In addition to the 250,000 soldiers of Polish extraction who served in the AEF the Poles contributed some 27,000 volunteers for service with the Polish Army in France who trained at Niagara-on-the-Lake Ontario and at Fort Niagara N Y and

Whereas Ninety per cent of these men saw service in France in 1918 and later in Poland in 1919 and 1920 and upon termination of hostilities between Poland and Soviet Russia they were returned to the United States under an agreement between this country and Poland and

Whereas In May 1921 the Polish Army Veterans Association of America was formed in Cleveland Ohio for the sole purpose of aiding the physically disabled and otherwise incapacitated veterans and

Whereas The task that lay before the founders and succeeding leaders of the organization was tremendous in as much as neither the American nor the Polish governments felt any responsibility for the care of these unfortunates for purely technical reasons and

Whereas With each succeeding year the need for aid for these disabled veterans has grown and

Whereas This association has found a method of raising funds by adopting the corn flower as its official flower and selling it on the highways in a manner similar to that in which poppies are now sold be it therefore

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Governor be requested to issue a proclamation setting aside May 3d 1942 and May 3d of all succeeding years as "Corn Flower Day" so that the corn flower may be sold by the Polish Army Veterans Association of America and the proceeds of such sales applied to the maintenance and upkeep of disabled Polish war veterans

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the Resolved Clause, page 2, at the end of line 2, by striking out "May 3rd" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "the second Sunday in June"; also in line 3 of the Resolved Clause by striking out "May 3d" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "the second Sunday in June".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker when a Conference Committee is appointed to determine the questions of difference between the bodies is it not proper for it to confine its consideration only to the matters which are in difference between the two Houses?

The SPEAKER. That is correct, under the rules of the House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the gentleman whether he heard my question and the answer of the Chair to it.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I did not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I realize that the gentleman was being engaged in conversation at the time and I will repeat the question.

I asked the Chair whether it was not proper for a Conference Committee to confine its considerations to the differences between the two Houses, and the answer of the Chair was that that was correct.

Mr. Speaker, we have as you know on page 16 of the calendar House Bill No. 1768, Printer's No. 1113, and when it was reached in the regular order of business the gentleman from Monroe made a motion to refer it to committee, I do not recall which one, but then at my request he permitted it to go over.

I understand the purpose of the gentleman in referring it to Committee was to kill the bill and that the gentleman intended, or suggested rather, that there would be inserted in the conference report on Senate Bill No. 80 a provision to take the place of this bill, is that correct?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I think it is Senate Bill 80, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Is that substantially correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Substantially, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, you have just advised the gentleman that that is an improper procedure. The gentleman also well knows that there are a number of items of considerable controversy in Senate Bill No. 80. I think the gentleman realizes very well the importance of this particular piece of legislation. Therefore, I am going to ask the gentleman if he will not withdraw his motion to refer this bill to committee to kill it and permit the bill to be passed so that it can be enacted into law during this session.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Monroe will state his question of information.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if we can be in accord with the amendments made in Senate Bill 80 and incorporate the desires of the gentleman in the bill that he is mentioning, can that not be included in the report of the conference committee when there is no dispute?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the rule relating to Conference Committees:

> "Rule 33. All conference committees shall be composed of members who vote in the majority on the point or points of difference, but the committee shall not have power or control over any part of the bill, resolution or order except the parts as to which a difference exists between the House and Senate."

The only difference which exists between the House and Senate is the amendments which the Senate presented.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a further question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Monroe will state his question of information.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that where particular sections are involved, that is, sections 602 and 603 of the act in this instance, the conference committee cannot then agree on them and make a report thereon.

The SPEAKER. Only as to the amendments that are in disagreement.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, can they not make a report on that on which they are in accord?

The SPEAKER. That which is in accord cannot be treated by a conference committee.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to have House Bill No. 1768 passed over until I can offer amendments on the floor of the House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman realizes if amendments are offered to this bill on the floor of this House and the bill goes over we will be unable to adjourn this week and enact the bill into law, does he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree to have inserted in the Senate the amendments that I would offer on the floor of this House?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Not without knowing what they are I would not agree.

The gentleman will get another chance at the bill that is sure when it comes back, because any amendments that are inserted in the Senate will certainly be back here for concurrence.

I will say this to the gentleman, however, I will agree to the insertion and am anxious to have inserted in this bill those amendments which will bring it in compliance with the telegram which was sent from the Executive Director of the Social Security Board, Oscar M. Powell, who is the official spokesman for the Board, addressed to Louis G. Hines, Secretary of Labor and Industry, dated June 26th, 1941, and which telegram is now in the hands of the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, and has been in his hands for a matter of some days. As a matter of fact, I also gave to him or sent to him amendments to the bill that will bring it in compliance with the telegram.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman would like to write the amendments that I propose to offer?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Surely, Mr. Speaker, I should like to do so.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I could not agree with that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that was the question the gentleman asked me.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to delay the passage of this particular legislation. There is some difference of opinion existing between the two Houses. House Bill 1768 managed to escape me on second reading. I had amendments at that time that I desired to offer. I assumed that we could dispose of the entire matter in the conference committee on Senate Bill No. 80. If we can be sure that the action of the conference committee for the purpose of discussing this bill will not interfere with the passage of the legislation, all right, but we certainly propose to express ourselves in relation to this particular legislation.

Mr. WOODSIDE. The Chair has very properly ruled on this question. I think the gentleman realizes that this is important, and the gentleman in fairness ought to permit the bill to be passed, fully realizing that any amendments which are made in the Senate must come back here for concurrence. The bill as it stands now is the only thing that complies with what the Social Security Board in Washington insists be written into the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It does not go as far as the Social Security Board has asked, we are anxious to put in those amendments. If it were not for the element of time I would gladly submit the amendments to the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, which were written by the Social Security Board in Washington and not by me or by anybody else on this side of the House, or by anybody in the administration, but the amendments were written by the Social Security Board in Washington as being necessary for this particular bill.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to state that House Bill 1768 will be amended in the Senate?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1768 will have to be amended in the Senate and I can assure the gentleman it will be amended in the Senate.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection because I am sure we can take this matter up in the conference committee.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am satisfied and I ask the gentleman whether he will permit the bill to be called up and passed.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1768, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. SNYDER offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

In the County of Tioga one week ago today occurred the death of Edward B. Dorsett a leader in agriculture in this Commonwealth for the past fifty years.

He received his education at Mansfield where he lived during his entire lifetime and served as sheriff of Tioga County.

He served as Master of the State Grange from 1928 to 1934 and in that capacity frequently appeared before Legislative Committees in behalf of agriculture.

For six years be edited the Grange News and staunchly and fearlessly promulgated Grange policies.

By reason of his interest and activity in behalf of the farmer Mr. Dorsett became well known throughout the Commonwealth; therefore be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives directs that this resolution be printed in the Journal and a copy thereof be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the widow of the deceased, Mrs. Kathryne Dorsett.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 8 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 892

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 10, 1941.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 892, Printer's No. 1049, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

ARTHUR H. JAMES

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Prosen. vote on the final passage of this bill

Mr. PROSEN. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 24 and 25, the following: "Section 4. The said commission shall remain in existence until January fifteenth, one thousand nine hundred forty-three, and shall make a full and complete report of its findings to the General Assembly with appropriate recommendations for legislative action by the General Assembly."

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 25, by striking out the figure "4" and inserting in lieu thereof: "5,"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. FALKENSTEIN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Public Utilities to meet during the session of the House.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. BONEY offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 7, 1941.

The House of Representatives learns, with sorrow, of the passing of Arthur Lyndon Turner who died at his home in Dallas, Pennsylvania on June 10, 1941.

Mr. Turner was born in Wilkes-Barre in 1877. He was admitted to the bar in 1901, practicing actively thereafter until a week before his death.

For forty successful years, Mr. Turner enjoyed the respect, confidence and admiration of the other members of the bar and the community in general, all of whom appreciated that his ethical standards were of the highest, his resourcefulness unbounded and his legal knowledge sound; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives mourns the passing of a true gentleman, a distinguished citizen and a member of the bar whose career would well serve as a model to others of the profession; therefore be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed by the Chief Clerk to his widow and the other members of the family of the deceased, as a token of the House of Representatives' sincere sympathy for them in their great bereavement.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOME

The Speaker. The Chair invites to the rostrum Mr. A. J. White Hutton. It is a pleasure to introduce to the Members of the House a former Member and the former floor-leader of the Republican party in the session of 1933, the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. A. J. White Hutton.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, it seems to be a long time since I occupied this rostrum, but this evening I happened to be in Harrisburg and greeted my old colleague, Speaker Turner. I had one of those nostalgic feelings, so to speak, and thought I would like to come up here. I am very glad to be here to look over the House again. I wish you Godspeed in your work and hope you will finish up your term sometime before Thanksgiving. I am very glad to be here with you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Speaker, I think it was a fine courtesy to invite the man whom we always knew as Doc Hutton to the rostrum to say something to the House. There are only a few Members who were with us in the 1931-1933 sessions, when Doc was a very prominent Member of this body. He gets his title, "Doc" not because he has anything to do with the medical profession, but because he happens to be a Ph.D. teaching law in Dickinson College. Doc was always a great one for military strategy. Living in Chambersburg, and being very close to the battlefield of Gettysburg, Doc was always talking to the membership of the Legislature in terms of military affairs.

I remember one story I think I can tell which Doc told and which I have remembered for a long time. He said at the time of the battle of Gettysburg, the home guards were ordered out in Chambersburg. They were told that the Confederates were coming down the road. A guard came running back to them stating that the Confederates were very close. The captain of the company called, "Halt" and told them to stop, "About face". They all about faced. He said, "Every man for himself, but don't you call me 'captain.'"

I think there was another bit of advice out of the experience of Doc Hutton that some of our members might assimilate. Doc Hutton came here when Milt Bergner was on that bench up there. He was at the time Resident Clerk of the House. The Democrats in 1935 abolished the office of Resident Clerk. He was an old-time politician and a very able man on the desk, and when I say a very able man, I mean just what I say. When Doc came here, he sat about where Malloy sits. Milt Bergner from his experience in the House said, "A man who came here for his first term should sit and listen and say nothing. Doc took that advice to heart by listening and keeping his mouth shut.

Mr. Speaker, it may seem funny but during my first session I sat here and kept my mouth shut.

The SPEAKER. Impossible.

Mr. TURNER. But I have made up for it a whole lot since. Nevertheless Doc sat there in his first session and in 1933 he became the floor leader of the Republican group and did all the parliamentary maneuvering on the floor of the House for the Republican group. Doc was a great strategist and a great military man. If you want to have a great treat and a good time have Doc take you over the battlefield of Gettysburg. I do not think I ever enjoyed myself any more than I did one afternoon on a visit to Gettysburg, because Doc knew all about the battlefield and knew all about what went on there. He has a store of knowledge. The fact of the matter is that when he retires from the practice of law I understand he is going to become a guide down at Gettysburg.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION PRINTED IN APPENDIX

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, some time ago the question was raised as to whether we should print the departmental reports of the Joint State Government Commission. At that time it was held in abeyance because we had a bill which called for an appropriation for the printing of these reports. In the present situation we do not know just exactly what is to happen to that bill. Therefore, in order that the report may be preserved, because it is a valuable report and deals entirely with statistical information and research with reference to the Departments, their functions and their duties, I ask that the reports be printed in the appendix to the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Report of the Joint State Government Commission will be printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal. The Chair hears none and the Report will be printed in the Appendix.

RESOLUTION

MAILING MEMBERS FILES

Mr. O'NEILL offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

Resolved, That the Bureau of Publications, through the Department of Property and Supplies, be directed to mail files of bills and journals on desks of Members desiring same to places designated by them, all files being received by them through the Office of the Chief Clerk.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inform the Members concerning the resolution just adopted. Members who wish to have their files sent home will have them delivered to the store room by the Pages. From this time on bills will be placed on the desks of the members as they are considered. The Members themselves will determine whether or not they desire to send their files home. Members who desire to do so will contact the Chief Clerk.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. BROWN, JEFFERSON and YOUNG offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

Whereas, A distinguished Member of the House today observes his forty-second birthday; and

Whereas, Forty-two years ago, in the Town of Oxford, North Carolina, there first saw the light of day a youngster who, even at that early age, gave promise of possessing remarkable talents; and

Whereas, Since that time he has devoted himself to leading the people of his congregation in the path of righteousness, and to leading the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its Representatives in the General Assembly into the path of true Christianity; and

Whereas, He is a foremost exponent of the fundamental principles underlying American democracy, with a firm belief that those stirring words in the Declaration of Independence, in those self-evident truths, namely, that all men are created equal, and that they are endowed by their Maker with certain inalienable rights, among those rights being life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and has devoted his lifetime towards a realization of these self-evident truths; and

Whereas, Together with this strong devotion to his ideal, he combines a most congenial, pleasant and wholesome friendly disposition; be it therefore

Resolved, That on this, the occasion of the Honorable Marshall L. Shepard's birthday, the House of Representatives congratulates him, and wishes him many happy returns of the day; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House forward a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Marshall L. Shepard.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I know the gentleman so well that I would rather have some of the other Members eulogize him on this occasion. Therefore, I yield at this time to some of the other members of the House who don't know the gentleman as well as I do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, knows the Rev. Mr. Shepard very well.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, and in particular, Honorable Marshall Shepard, I listened this afternoon with a great deal of interest to the debate that involved the subject of the honors tonight, by the ex-Speaker of this House, the Honorable Ellwood Turner. It seems to me in that debate the one thing and the only thing that was brought forth with any amount of pronouncement was the fact that both gentlemen have observed a lazy attitude toward all things pertaining to government.

It is sometimes hard to characterize a man like the Honorable Marshall Shepard, who like a diamond has so many sparkling facets, that to describe any one of them would beggar all others. However, in characterizing the Honorable Marshall Shepard I think along the lines of his profession, and a text comes to my mind that seems to me to be particularly appropriate, "Observe the lillies of the field, they toil not neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, in his own inimitable way the Honorable Marshall Shepard exemplifies the spirit and the meaning of that text exceedingly well. It is very definite that in his life and in his living he leans very heavily upon the Providence that clothes the lily even without toiling or spinning, in that he beggars and denies the words of the ancient Chinaman who so many years ago said, "One cannot plow a field by turning it over in his mind." That, however, I believe is a great and outstanding accomplishment of the Reverend Marshall Shepard.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I do thank the gentleman and the Members of the House for these words of tribute.

They do tell me I was born forty-two years ago down in North Carolina, in a little town called Oxford, not just in the town but a little way out of town, which was the place I got off the train. I appreciate this tribute. As I said sometime ago, my father was a slave and went through all of struggles we have had to get along in this country. This is the greatest democracy in America, especially a state like Pennsylvania, when even the son of a slave can be so generously considered in the Assembly Halls of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I admit that I do not like a whole lot of work and that is one of the reasons I can never become a Congressman. I just don't like to work. I hope I will never have to do a whole lot of it. I do not have any particular philosophy of life. I read sermons sometimes, and Mr. Speaker, I just happened to come across a little poem that appears on the walls of Chester Cathedral in England, which is as follows:

"Give me a mind that is not bored,
That does not whimper, whine or sigh,
Don't let me worry overmuch
About the fussy thing called I.
Give me a sense of humor, Lord,
To get some happiness from life
And pass it on to other folk".

I thank you Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to the Reverend Shepard in his remarks on his birthday, as I gathered it as I came into the House. I am reminded that the other day some one was telling an anecdote about him. He said that his boy and two other boys were discussing their fathers.

One of them said, "Well, my father writes articles and they pay him a lot of money for it."

The other boy said, "Well, my father is out on a lecture platform and they pay him a lot of money for that."

Young Shepard said, "that's nothing, heck, my old man preaches a sermon every Sunday and it takes five men to carry the money up the aisle."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. I was reminded as I got up of the poem that says, "There comes a pause in the day's occupation which is known as the 'children's hour'" I thought as I rose there comes a time in a legislative session which is known as the "eulogy Hour."

I have a lot of sympathy for you in that you must be up there and listen to what is going to be said about you. Having experienced the same painful experience, I can speak feelingly. However, it is fine that at the end of each session the Members of the House can get together and forget the bitterness, the hate and the heartaches of legislation and say something about the men who have borne the brunt of the legislative session, and particularly about the man who sits in the Chair and presides over our deliberations.

This is a great parliamentary body. It has to do with the lives and the well being of ten million people. It has to do with what is practically a nation, one that is greater than some nations that exist in many other parts of the world; a great country with its great natural resources, its great industries, its fine educational institutions, its great cultural institutions. We have to do here the things that affect human beings, yes, from the time before they are born until they pass on, and leave something perhaps for the tax collectors to gather and take away from their children.

Mr. Speaker, there have always been in this House, and I noted one of them this evening sitting near me, fortunately it seems to me for the people of Pennsylvania, men who are interested not only in legislation and in representing their constituents but who are interested in building the prestige, in building the efficiency and the effectiveness of the legislative body in which they sit.

I have had the pleasure and the privilege of sitting in this same seat, under a long line of Speakers, except during the session when I, also, was Speaker. They have been men of varying caliber; they have been men of varying attainments; they have been men of varying educational background; they have been men of varying experience. They have come from different parts of the State. Yet as each man has taken his place as Speaker it has seemed to me he has grown in stature, that he rose to the position which he held and to the opportunities which it gave him for service.

Each time as the session has closed the finest tribute we could pay to that line of men under whom I have sat, was that in every instance the House was able to say that they were fair, that they rose to their high duties, that they considered the obligations placed upon them and met the problems that were given to them, each in his own way, but each in a way that has brought satisfaction to the membership of the House.

I came here first in 1925. I have sat here under five diffrent Speakers and I know in each instance the remarks of members were not merely complimentary ones made for the occasion, nor that the men who were assembled in that particular Legislature were trying to say something polite and nice to the man in the Chair, but out of the hearts of those men who truly represent our democracy, this cross section of the people of our state, came a feeling of gratitude to the man who had sat in the Chair for the things he had done for the Commonwealth and for the things he had done for them.

I think I can say to you truthfully and honestly that I voice the sentiment of the other Members of the House when I say that you have upheld the fine traditions of the office which you occupy, that there has been a rising scale of sentiment in the House not only on your own party's sine, but on the minority side, for your sportsmanship, your fine humor, your wit, your splendid feeling towards the members, your desire to carry out the traditions of the House and to conduct the business of the House in an effort, if possible, to increase and raise the standard of efficiency and effectiveness of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. I know, and all the members know, that you have been a lifelong true sport. I think in our American way we can pay no greater tribute to a man than to say he is a true sport. We can also add to that, and a true gentleman, and in all your conduct of the affairs of this House you have epitomized the highest type of sportsmanship and gentleman.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, as we come toward the close of the session, I am sure the Members of this House wish you well, they wish you health and happiness, they wish for you further and higher honors, and above all they hope to have the opportunity of associating with you in the future, whether it be within the halls of this House or whether it be in some other capacity.

I like to think of the men in this world, not those great men whose statutes are placed upon the great public squares, in public parks and public buildings, not those men whose names are emblazoned across the portals of our great buildings or upon monuments or plaques, but I like to think of men who, as they go through life, contribute a little toward the building of the future of the country and the future of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I like to think of those who, in their small way, contribute their small atoms, which, when brought together, just like those small molecules that make up the limestone with which we erect our buildings, build something that is solid something that is firm and something that is enduring.

I am sure by your contribution here, no matter whether your name be emblazoned across the portals of a building in Pennsylvania, no matter whether grateful citizens and grateful friends erect a monument to you, that you have erected a monument because you have as an humble American citizen done your part. You will leave here with the well wishes of the Members because you have built in the hearts and in the minds and in the memories of these members of the Legislature something that will be more enduring than the marble of this hall or the bronze of any statute that they may build for you.

I desire to offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, to preside.

MR. TURNER IN THE CHAIR

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING SPEAKER

Mr. TURNER offered a privilege resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

The office of Speaker of the House of Representatives came as a signal honor to its present incumbent, in that he did not seek, but was sought for the place. And now, at the close of his first legislative session as presiding officer, the office is honored by the man who holds it.

The Honorable Elmer Kilroy of Philadelphia has brought to the speakership the attributes of a true leader— firmness; the ability to analyse situations, and, to anticipate and effectively meet actions, designed to hinder or delay the proceedings before the House; clarity and directness of thought; and above all, fairness and impartiality in all rulings, and in all his dealings with partisans and opponents alike.

Having never before presided over a deliberative body, large or small, he undertook the task assigned to him with great courage and a determination to do it well, to uphold the traditions of the speakership of this House, and to fix even higher than ever before the standards set for him by a line of worthy predecessors. How well he has succeeded, the proceedings of each day, of an extremely trying session, bears witness.

At each session of the present assembly, the exact hour set for reconvening has found our Speaker on the rostrum, gavel in hand, calling the House to order. Throughout each sitting, he has insisted on orderly proceedings, and upon each member having an opportunity to be heard, without having to contend against needless noise or confusion. Motions, parliamentary deliberations and debates have been orderly and strictly confined to the properties of each situation. The floor of the House has at all times, been kept free of those who trespass upon the rights and privileges, and interfere with the comfort of Members during sessions. The courage of the Speaker, in enforcing these principles impartially and without bias or favor, has not only won our deep respect and gratitude, but has made our work easier, by reducing disorder to a new minimum; therefore be it

Resolved, That as Members of the House of Representatives, who have so richly benefited by his leadership and guidance, we express in this manner, our sincere appreciation of his fairness at all times, and of his services to us, and to the Commonwealth; our gratitude for his help; and our admiration for his courageous straightforwardness.

We wish him health, long life and prosperity, and many more and greater honors as the years go by, fully confident that from each he will be able to gain life's most bountiful reward—the realization of a task well done; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and a copy thereof be forwarded to our Speaker, the Honorable Elmer Kilroy, by the Chief Clerk of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley.

Mr. BENTLEY. I too claim, with the men who have preceded me and those who will follow me, the high personal privilege of seconding the resolution and the sentiments just offered by my good friend, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

But in adding my hearty "aye" to all that has been said —a special lustre is imparted to the praise that has been and will be bestowed upon our Speaker, for I speak as a first termer in the Session of '41—and thus in a sense (as one of that class of '41), mine is the voice of all the first termers sounding their approval of a great Speaker.

Now, first termers, as a whole, and particularly we of the class of '41, are men endowed by our Maker with gifts not bestowed upon lesser mortals, such as second, third, fourth, or longer termers.

Consider, Mr. Speaker, the parliamentary knowledge brought to these august halls by us first sessioners! Ah, was there ever such a class?

There must have been times, Mr. Speaker, I am sure, when your Parliamentarian shuddered in awe at the profound and impressive—I might almost say awful—parliamentary ability of your first termers.

And then consider the caliber of the men comprising the first termers of '41.

As typical if you will recall that breadth of vision, that unerring approach and that simple greatness of men, who so viewed the public and political problems of our Session, that they felt impelled to sit in both the Democratic and Republican caucuses—and that can not be called a "Gross" error.

That was a first termer, Mr. Speaker, and where but in the ranks of the class of '41 would you look for such sheer genius.

Lastly—though I might go on for days, enumerating the greatness of the freshmen of '41,—we have been tempered by such a fire, both economic and otherwise, as runneth beyond the memory of man. Of the economic travail we have undergone, I need not speak—it is still with us, but history tells us, Mr. Speaker, that nearly half a century ago, the predecessor of this legislative hall, burned to the ground. That halocaust, must have produced a class, nearly the equal of we of '41—surviving and emerging as we have, bloody but unbowed from conferences and re-conferences—conferences on mental institutions and little W.P.A., on budgets and balances—on cabbages and kings, and all the rest.

And so it is I say, Mr. Speaker, that when we of the class of '41 look beyond our ranks and choose a man and of him say—there is a man who has done his job as well as we could have done it for him—we have said the ultimate—we have gilded the lily—we have added a special lustre. And that we say to you, Mr. Speaker—you're a great Speaker and a great guy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, words are such hollow mockery tossed out upon the waves and the skies when we stand in eulogy of a man whose actions have spoken for themselves. The sportsman-like back-ground of our great Speaker, Mr. Kilroy, needs no words of praise from the lips of the Members of this Assembly, for but a glance at the higher stature to which he has lifted the Speakership in these halls allows actions to speak for themselves.

Knowing the type of man that Elmer Kilroy is, I can well realize that by this time he is probably squirming in his seat and rubbing the leather from his chair, for a man of his type, who has always given so much and expected so little from the world does not expect men to stand in public tribute to him. I speak as the gentleman spoke before me, as a first termer, one who entered these halls filled with awe, filled with wonderment as to the true meaning of the representative form of government as carried forth in this General Assembly. These few words, that often defy the human vocabulary in attempting to describe a great genius, the great ability of our beloved Speaker, Elmer Kilroy, a truly great gentleman from the City of Philadelphia, leave us sometimes standing mute. When we first came into these halls, we found evidence of his great abilities at every turn. His understanding heart and his absolute impartiality impressed us with a firm lesson that has helped us to become better members as first termers in this session of 1941. He was never too busy in the great cares of his office to listen to our pleadings and our problems, and to guide us with his good counsel. He has been a great umpire in the game of government for the past seven months, not my umpire or yours, but our umpire, and as such I say very frankly and truthfully that Elmer Kilroy has called every pitch across the plate as he has seen it. He has been a very good counsellor and a foster father to all we first termers. I say to you, Elmer Kilroy, Speaker of the House of Representatives, the first termers of this House always stand ready at your behest to "play ball" with you as our umpire—"The House will come to order."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shepard.

Mr. SHEPARD. Mr. Speaker, nearly everything I planned to say in reference to our Speaker in tribute to him was said by someone else before I got up.

I am reminded of a class that I was conducting in church one day. A group of people were reciting Bible verses. I was asking them to make it snappy, depending upon their wit and their knowledge of the Bible. There was one lady sitting there very nervously and she only remembered one verse of the Bible, "Jesus wept." Just before her turn the lady next to her got up and said, "Jesus wept," and she got right up and said, "He sure did."

When the gentleman said our Speaker has been fair, when they said he was a great leader, when they said he was a great sportsman, I could only say, "He sure was".

I want to tell you one of the things that happened in the caucus in Philadelphia of the Members of the Legislature. I can not tell you all the things that went on in those caucuses, but this was a little personal item that I am very proud of and I hope you will pardon me for mentioning it. It was my pleasure and my privilege to nominate Elmer Kilroy as our choice for Speaker of the House of Representatives. I did so and I am proud of it. I am more proud of it now than at any other time as we come to the close of the great record he has made as Speaker of this House. The Speaker has been fair, and being fair is not just something that he has picked up while being Speaker, but is something that comes from a great tradition of the sportsmen, and in all our American life there is hardly a field of endeavor in which we find more real fair play and an honest-to-goodness equality than we do in the field of sports. Elmer Kilroy came up in that tradition and he is a fine exponent of all the best values that are to be found in that tradition of sport. He will go down in history as one of the great Speakers of this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We from Philadelphia are proud of him because he is a product of that great city of Brotherly Love, and may I add, of Sisterly Affection. I tell you now if the Democratic party of Philadelphia had done no more under the splendid leadership of Jack Kelly than to give to Pennsylvania Elmer Kilroy, if they had not done anything more than that, it would have justified all the sacrifices, all the work and all the endeavor that was put forth.

I am happy to second the resolution commending Elmer Kilroy for the splendid record he has made as Speaker of the House of Representatives in this 1941 Session of the Legislature.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, unaccustomed as I am to public speaking, and in view of all that has already been said in tribute to our great Speaker, I find myself experiencing an antipathetic feeling of horrendeous horrification which almost transmogrifies itself into a lingual paralysis.

However, I am glad to have this privilege in my humble way to add to the tribute to this great Speaker. Men do not achieve the high position in life that Elmer Kilroy has achieved unless they show great ability from youth up. In looking over his past history I heard an anecdote that proves how he came to possess such great ability. When he was quite a boy he went to the railroad station in Philadelphia on the day of an excursion, when the station was crowded. Seventeen people were in line trying to buy a ticket, and Elmer with his great modesty and with his speed rushed up past the crowd and laid fifty cents down on the ticket window and asked for a ticket to New York. The station agent, somewhat angered because he had rushed up ahead of the rest of the crowd said, "You know you can't go to New York for fifty cents." Elmer said, "Where can I go for fifty cents," and promptly seventeen other people told him.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, seriously speaking I find it a great privilege to briefly pay tribute to this great Speaker, and as I thought of some vehicle that I might use to pay this tribute, I could think of none better than to attempt to paraphrase Bruce Barton's "Tale of the Two Seas," in which he says:

There are two seas in Palestine, one is fresh and fish are in it, forests of green adorn its banks, trees spread their branches over it, and their thirsty roots stretch out to sip of its healing waters. On its shores little children play as children played when the great Master was there. He loved it. He could look across its smooth surface as He spoke his wonderful parables, and on a rolling plain not far away he fed five thousand people. The river Jordan, with sparkling water that flowed from the hills formed that sea, and it was a wonderful sea. The river Jordan was so wonderful that men built their houses on its shores, birds built their nests, and every form of life was happier because it was there. But the river Jordan went on South and formed another sea. There was no splash of fish; for want of trees no singing of birds and no children's laughter. Travelers avoided it, and unless it was urgently necessary they passed it by. The air hung heavy over its waters and neither man, nor beast, nor fowl would drink of it.

What was it that caused this mighty difference between these two neighboring seas? Not the river Jordan. It emptied the same good water into both of them. Not the soil in which they lay nor the country round about them. But this was the difference, gentlemen? The sea of Galilee received and gave. For every drop it received from the Jordan another drop flowed out of it. It received and gave in equal measure. But the other sea, seeking jealously to hoard its income, refused to be stirred by any generous impulses. It was called the Dead Sea, and the Dead Sea gave nothing, but the sea of Galilee gives and lives.

Yes, gentlemen, there are two seas in Palestine, and, thank God, just as there are two seas in Palestine, so there are two kinds of people in this world. In these days when man's inhumanity to man seems so prevalent, it certainly is a wonderful thing in this great democracy of ours to have the privilege of paying a tribute to a Speaker, to a gentleman like Elmer Kilroy. Some men achieve success politically; some men receive prominence by reason of their wealth and some by their social distinction, but as I go through life, I would much rather have it said of me, as it is said of Elmer Kilroy by every Member of this House, regardless of his political faith, "He is a man of generous impulse and of graciousness."

I know of no better way to close my brief remarks in tribute to my friend, Elmer Kilroy than to say to him in the beautiful words of Eugene Field:

"When a crony takes your hand
In parting to address you,
He drops all foreign lingo,
And he says, 'God bless you'".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it was not given to me to have had more than a passing acquaintance with the late Honorable Wilson Sarig, who I understand was a great former Speaker of this House. It was, however, my privilege to serve under Roy Furman as Speaker and under Ellwood Turner as Speaker, and in my opinion and in the opinion of those who knew them, they were also known and rated as great Speakers of the House of Representatives.

I state most emphatically that it is my opinion, and I am sure the opinion of the other Members of the House, that Elmer Kilroy has earned his place and should also be rated as one of Pennsylvania's great Speakers. He may not have been as learned a parliamentarian when he first took office as was Wilson Sarig and Ellwood Turner, who had had many years of experience in this body before they achieved that distinction, but I do not think that matters so much. I think what does matter is that the Speaker be fair and considerate, and those qualities Elmer Kilroy has to the last degree. In the years to come, Elmer Kilroy will not think so much about what we said here tonight, but he will think of the sincerity with which we said it, and the good-will which we bear towards him.

I deem it a distinct pleasure, Mr. Speaker, to second the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Melchiorre.

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I certainly want to take this opportunity to pay tribute to a great fellow, Elmer Kilroy, who is the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

An old sage once said that "I have many many times regretted words spoken, but never those unspoken."

I feel that I must at this time disagree with this old sage, for as I sit down after my few remarks, I am sure that I would regret many nice words that I could have spoken about my good friend and Speaker, Elmer Kilroy.

I have been closely allied with Mr. Kilroy ever since he became a Member of this House, and he has been honest and loyal to his friends, and as Speaker of this House, he has done honor, not only to the people of Philadelphia, but to the people of this great Commonwealth. You all know he has been a real Speaker in his presiding over the deliberations of this great body, and we feel proud, especially we from Philadelphia, to have as the Speaker of this House, Elmer Kilroy.

I have been a member of this House since 1932, my first session being in 1933. I have served, as Mr. Turner has, under many Speakers of this House, and I want to say to Mr. Kilroy and to the Members of this House, it has been a pleasure for me to be a Member of this House with such a great Speaker and loyal fellow as Elmer Kilroy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, to what has already been so eloquently said, I would like to add a la Reverend Shepard, amen.

In speaking to various organizations I have frequently made mention of an experience which happens on the floor of the House in every session. It seems that there always comes a day when the House gets into a turmoil, and everybody seems to become irritated and angry with everybody else. In my experience in this Legislature, I have never seen a session where that did not take very marked form on at least one day until this session of 1941. Although we have had our battles and we have differed, and we at times may have become more or less angry with each other, nevertheless, at no time did we get into a real parliamentary tangle which was initiated by harsh feelings between the members.

In my opinion, a lot of that is due to the very fine spirit and very fair method in which the Speaker of this House presided. Another thing that I noted during this session was the fact that wherever Elmer Kilroy went, no matter who was the honored guest, when Elmer Kilroy got up to speak, every Member of the House immediately stood up. It was a spontaneous rising which came from their respect, their admiration and their love for the Speaker. It was not due so much to respect of the office which Elmer Kilroy held as it was due to respect for the man himself, and that is one of the finest tributes that could be paid to any man.

So much has been said tonight, and so eloquently, that I seem unable to add anything to the very splendid remarks already made. However, I do consider it a privilege to second this resolution and to add my word of praise to the man who has so ably, so honestly and so fairly presided over this body. As minority floor leader, I, probably more than any body else, can appreciate his kindness, his courteous treatment and his fair methods during this session. I am sure every Member of this House, not only respects and admires Elmer Kilroy, but loves him as a man and as Speaker of this House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I know of no occasion in the years that I have served in this House that gave me more pleasure than the occasion this evening. We, of the House, of course know of the serious difficulties that are faced by any man who serves as Speaker of this House. We know of the dignity of the office, we know of the requirements on the time and energy of the man who serves in that position.

We know that that position is comparable in dignity and importance with that of the Governor of this State. We know that this body, the House, is perhaps more truly representative of the people of Pennsylvania than any other deliberative body in this State, and because of that fact, we know that the man who occupies the position of presiding officer of the House must of a certanity not only maintain dignity, but maintain impartiality over the proceedings of the House, so that, not only the respect, but the decorum of all is secured.

It goes without saying and it has been attested here by all those who have preceded me, that that dignity has been maintained by our present Speaker on the same high plane as it has been maintained in the years past. As a matter of fact, this session, the longest in the past hundred years, has been maintained in such an even manner that as a matter of fact, although our nerves at times have been frayed and perhaps our tempers short, and when, of course, the Speaker has with alacrity recognized a Member on this side of the House when we rose to speak, even though some of you men on the other side were seeking recognition, nevertheless, he did it in such an even and kind manner that you are attesting tonight to the impartiality with which he presided. And may I say, of course, in doing so, he always gave you the opportunity to be heard at length on any subject before the House.

May I add, Mr. Speaker, to the words of the other Members who have preceded me this evening, that it has been a pleasure to have had the opportunity of leading the majority members of this House under the guidance and under the direction of the man who has made a one hundred per cent perfect Speaker. May I say that it is with real pleasure that I join in seconding the resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair calls to the rostrum to preside the Chief Clerk.

THE CHIEF CLERK (Thomas J. Callahan) IN THE CHAIR

The CHIEF CLERK. The Chair now has the pleasure of calling to the rostrum the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER. Members, I now know what it means when they say "Embarrassing moments." For the past week I have been looking forward to this day with feelings of mingled joy and gloom; joyful because we can return to our respective homes and our work with the knowledge that we have done well for the citizens of Pennsylvania. Gloomy because the many friendships I have made in my daily contacts with you are to be servered, I trust only temporarily. But that is life, here today and gone tomorrow.

I am very happy, and I say so from the bottom of my heart. The past six months have been extremely pleasant; you have made my job as Speaker an easy one.

When I was inducted into my present office last January 7th, I said, if at the expiration of my term I could ring down the curtain with the knowledge that I had upheld the tradition of the office, I would be happy indeed. I trust I have fulfilled that promise. As I stand on this rostrum during these closing hours of this historic session, I see more than two hundred faces before me, faces that have radiated and expressed the desire to cooperate, and to make our common task one that had few headaches had plenty of good clean sportsmanship.

In front of me to my left sits a group referred to as the minority. As Speaker, I have never been in the minority insofar as having the kind wishes and unexcelled cooperation of the Republican or so called minority in this chamber. To you able, sincere and honest leader of that group, Robert E. Woodside, Jr., in the presence of the entire membership of this House, I want to thank you sincerely for the many courtesies you have shown me and for your fairness to the majority during the debates in these past weeks.

In front of my good friend Bob sits a rotund gentleman, the gentleman from Delaware, my predecessor, Ellwood J. Turner. To you, Ellwood, as I did at the opening of this session, I again express my thanks for the spacious quarters you furnished me. Incidently, the office is now air conditioned. Mr. Turner, to you I also express my appreciation for your kind counsel in the past months.

On my right is the gentleman from Monroe, the very capable majority leader, Leo A. Achterman; a rock of Gibralter to me and to the Democrats of this House. He has withstood the terrific bombardments of the minority and has even withstood the criticism of his Excellency the Governor of this Commonwealth. Leo, as I have told you on numerous occasions, I am more than appreciative of your kind assistance. You have also done a spendid job in directing the Committee Chairmen of this House.

To you Democrats, the majority group of the House, I say with deep feeling; thanks for helping to lighten the burden thrust upon me because of the position to which you so graciously elected me.

To the Chairmen, Vice Chairmen and Members of the various House Committees, the Chair expresses its gratitude for the courteous and broad minded consideration of the legislation that came before you.

No leave taking would be complete unless everyone's friend, our Parliamentarian, was given his well deserved praise. You, S. Edward Moore, are indispensible; never have you let me down, nor have you permitted me to flounder as might have been the case without your guidance.

Fortunately for me, I will have, God willing, a year and a half more in which I will be closely associated with you.

To the sergeant-at-arms and his assistants and to the alert and keen page boys the Chair also extends his thanks.

To the Chief Clerk, Thomas J. Callahan, and the Secretary, Dennis J. Mulvihill, and to their trained staffs, I offer my grateful appreciation.

Just because the session is about to adjourn I do not want the Members to take it as a signal to cease their contact with the Speaker's office. Remember, you will be Members of the House of Representatives until the last day of November, 1942. The Speaker's office is yours; there you will find my staff ever ready and willing to assist you in the many problems you may encounter in the Hill. Remember also that the latch string will be out.

Leave taking has me down. Ie reminds me of the song we hear wherever we go: "My Sister and I. But we won't talk about that." I want to close, not with the English "Cheerio" nor with the French "Au Revoir,' but as one American to another, "I'll be seeing you."

The Chair requests the gentleman from Delaware to preside.

Mr. TURNER IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, every army must have a general and every movement which has an object to attain must have a leader. The members on the majority side of the House feel that we have been exceedingly fortunate in being able to have during this 1941 session of the Legislature a man as able as Leo A. Achterman of Monroe County as our floor leader.

To us on this side of the House Leo has been a tower of strength; his wisdom and his tact have pulled us through many a trying circumstance, and he has led us, in our humble opinion, to what we consider a victorious attainment of our ends. Those of us who have come to know him well during this session and the prior sessions know the value of such magnetic personality and smile. Time after time we have seen him debate problems of great importance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on this floor, and sometimes in rather bitter debate, and shortly after that we have seen him on the other side of the House just as friendly as the day before. It takes a man like that to be a real floor-leader in this House of Representatives. If we had a man leading either side of this House who continually bore grudges against the person, who differed with him in opinion, we would not have a very good leadership, and all of us know what a trying position the floor-leader of this House holds. We have seen the traffic which moves in and about his seat daily; we have seen and we probably have participated in conversations with him at the very time he was trying to hear some one debate a question on the other side of the House.

The Democratic members are very proud of Leo Achterman; we are proud of what he has done during this session and we appreciate deeply the spirit with which he entered into and carried out his duties as our floor-leader. We know he has been industrious throughout the whole session; he is not solely a leader who can speak and speak without much knowledge of the subject, but through industry and research we believe he knows whereof he speaks. While the Members on the other side may have differed with him in opinion on many subjects, while perhaps some of our own Members have done so, we still appreciate that what he said was said after research and study.

Mr. Speaker, there are times in a mans life when he wishes he had a greater power of oratory to describe the feeling in his heart toward another person. However, we are all subject to certain limitations and without saying anything more about the man whom I consider to be a great floor-leader for the majority party during this session, I offer the following resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. READINGER offered a privileged resolution which was read considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

At this point in world affairs, when the future paths of the democracies are beset with many and unusual hazards, our welfare in the days to come depends in large part upon the character, integrity and ability of our leaders.

The necessity for confidence inspiring leadership is nowhere greater than in our various legislative halls, from whence come the basic rules guiding our conduct in almost every phase of life.

Without adequate leadership among the various members of any legislative body confusion would supplant efficiency and the proper consideration and enactment of legislation would be impossible.

The majority floor leader of the House of Representatives the Honorable Leo A. Achterman, through his diligent and unselfish devotion to duty, his unfailing willingness to assist and cooperate with his associates in the House, and his recognized character and integrity, has made an invaluable contribution during this session to the smooth operation of the legislative processes.

At this time when the many problems arising in connection with national defense, and when the divided political alignment of the General Assembly have complicated and aggravated the difficulties which always attend the activities of a Legislative body, the leadership of Leo A. Achterman has uniformly been such as to command the liking and respect of all his fellow members, regardless of their political affiliations; now therefore be it

Resolved, By the members of this House that we congratulate the Honorable Leo A. Achterman upon his very able diplomatic and efficient activities during this session as majority floor leader, and that we wish him all the future successes in life to which his unusual ability, his likeable personality and his fine character entitle him; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Leo A. Achterman by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to express my appreciation for the kind remarks of the gentleman from Berks, and also for the sentiment expressed in the Resolution. Above all, Mr. Speaker, I wish to express my thanks to the Chair and the Parliamentarian for the great assistance they have rendered me in my official duties before this House. I know that my way would have been far more burdensome had it not been for the cooperation as well as the aid they rendered.

I wish to extend to the minority-leader of this House my sincere feeling of complete happiness for the manner in which he carried on the debates which were a necessity on his part as well as mine in carrying out the wishes of our respective parties. He was always fair, always square and above-board, and made it possoble to carry-on a high plane and in a technical manner that make the task so much easier.

To the Chairmen of the Committees, I wish to extend my thanks for the manner in which they cooperated, the manner in which they fulfilled their duties, and of course, to the Speaker of the House who knows what that means and who realizes that without the cooperation of those Chairmen, then indeed our way would have been rough, and the majority Members of the House who were always willing and happy to sustain me in carrying out the pledges of my party. Mr. Speaker, I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the entire membership of this House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, every army has a general and the responsibility of generalship reposes upon the weak forces as well as upon the strong, upon those in the ascendency as well as those in the minority, and the great skill that is required very often of the general of the minority taxes the ability of a man.

It is my privilege tonight to rise and express these views and sentiments before the presentation of resolution in respect to the deference and honor we wish to pay to the leader of the minority in this House, Robert E. Woodside, Jr. It has been my observation throughout the years as a member of this body that the floor-leaders have been lawyers.

A lawyer once said to a doctor witness, "Doctors make mistakes, sometimes don't they?"

The witness replied, "Just as lawyers do, sometimes."

"But doctors' mistakes are buried six feet under ground" persisted the laywer.

"Yes," cried the doctor, "lawyers' mistakes often times swing six feet in the air."

We are here tonight forgetting the mistakes in words, in thoughts and in actions. We climb only by the recognition of our mistakes and by so doing we become greater and stronger in the affairs of mankind. I would like to think of Bob Woodside and I would like now that we might imagine the early years of this man, his place, his desires and his hopes. His experiences in this body, in these legislative halls, have gone back over a number of years from the days when he was trained as a Page. I would like to think of Bob Woodside in terms of a boy who answered an ad and presented himself at the office and the employer said, "What can you do."

The boy said, "I can do anything."

The employer said, "You can? Now, can you file smoke?"

"Yes, sir," said the boy, "if you will fasten it in a vise."

I would like to think of Bob Woodside as that sort of boy, with a ready answer, an answer that shows ability. Many words have been expressed tonight in deference to our Speaker and to the majority floor-leader, and these words that I am expressing to our minority floor-leader are simply a repetition on our part and yet the same kind of heart beats go out from all of us to each one of these men who have participated in the leadership of this House.

"Wealth comes out of the earth, they say—
The golden grain and the metals cold.
Out of the ground comes the toiler's pay.
Out of the ground comes the rich man's gold.
"Then whence come laughter and lilting song,
And whence come friendships for men to find?
Whence comes choice between right and wrong?
Out of the heart and out of the mind.

"Two real sources of wealth has man;
But over the earth may the tempest sweep
And the riches gathered by pick and pan
Are easier found than they are to keep.
"But that other wealth of the heart and mind
Which is coined in wisdom and mirth and song
And makes man friendly and makes him kind
Enriches him for his whole life long."

These words of Edgar Guest I would leave vibrate in your ears, and as we adjourn this session we may think of Robert Woodside in these terms of great friendliness. May God bless and continue him for many happy and successful years.

Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. STOCKHAM offered a privileged resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 10, 1941.

Under our two-party system of government it frequently happens that the majority party of yesterday is the minority party of today. As parties rise in power and wane, men change from members and leaders of the majority party to members and leaders of the minority. Some leaders fall with their party—others survive to lead minorities, where they before controlled the majority. To be an able leader in either place, and to display the same courage, energy and perseverance in directing the parliamentary battles of a party out of power as when leading the forces that have the assurance of enough votes to prevail on every party measure is the test of a successful floor leader.

The present minority standard bearer meets this test to the fullest extent. At the session now drawing to its close, to the same extent as at the session of 1939 when he led the majority, "Bob" Woodside has performed his duties with effective calm, determination, earnestness and sincerity; steadfastly refraining from indulging in personalities and quibbling, but in each instance striking boldly at the issue to be met; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That the members of all parties in the House for the moment forget all party differences, to join in congratulating the minority Floor Leader, on the most creditable manner in which he has acquitted himself of the duty of legislative watch dog and of making felt the continued existence of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania's House of Representatives; and to assure him of their warm and sincere frienship, respect and admiration; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, certified by the Chief Clerk, be transmitted to the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, Jr.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker that sounds like old times. It has just been called to my attention that one of the customs of the House has been violated. It has been the custom to send resolutions to the minority floor leader for inspection before submitting them to the desk. This resolution was not referred to the minority floor leader before being sent to the desk.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman who introduced the resolution, and I want to thank the minority of this House for their loyalty and their support. I want to thank the majority floor leader for his kindness, his courtesy and his fairness, as well as the majority Members.

I have already thanked the Speaker, the Parliamentarian and the Chief Clerk. All of the employes whom I have called upon many times for help which they have always graciously and efficiently rendered, I wish to thank. And while we are thanking I think that we might also thank the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their patience with us during this very long session.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is informed that the reason why the resolution was not submitted to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, was because in its original form it only contained one page and we are anxious to get out.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 1011, (HOUSE BILL No. 663), ADOPTED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the Report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 1011 (House Bill No. 663).

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The Report was read as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 663

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 663, entitled:

"An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

WELDON B. HEYBURN
FRANKLIN S. EDMONDS
HARRY SHAPIRO
(Committee on the Part of the Senate.)

LEO A. ACHTERMAN
ALBERT S. READINGER
EDWIN WINNER
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth to negotiate temporary emergency loans to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one evidenced by tax anticipation notes secured by and payable from current revenues levied assessed collectible and accruing during such two fiscal years defining the powers and duties of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto providing for the payment of interest on and the repayment of such loans and making an appropriation

Whereas The present session of the General Assembly has provided revenues of the Commonwealth amounting to at least three hundred seventy-three million dollars ($373,000,000) for general purposes for the biennial fiscal period beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and

Whereas Such revenues though levied and assessed will not be available in large part for the current and other expenses of the State government until the later part of the two fiscal years respectively of the said biennial fiscal period and the collectible revenues will not be sufficient to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the earlier parts of such fiscal years respectively and

Whereas In order that the obligations of the Commonwealth may be met promptly and in order that the State government might not fail through lack of funds it is necessary temporarily to obtain funds to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during the fiscal period aforesaid until the revenues that are subsequently accruing to the State Treasury during said fiscal period are available for this purpose

Section 1 The Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are hereby authorized and directed during the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one from time to time to borrow on the credit of the current revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania such sum or sums of money not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred seventy-five million dollars ($175,000,000) as may be necessary to defray the current and other expenses of the State government during such fiscal years

Section 2 (a) Such loans shall be evidenced by notes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania All of said notes shall mature not later than the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three Such notes are hereby declared to be tax anticipation notes Such notes or renewals thereof shall be issued from time to time for such total amounts in such sums and subject to such terms and conditions rates of interest not in excess of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum and time of payment of interest as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall determine and direct

(b) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall bear either the signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or the facsimile signatures of the Governor the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in which latter event such notes shall be countersigned by two officers of the Philadelphia National Bank (Loan and Transfer Agent of the Commonwealth) All such notes shall bear a facsimile of the great seal of the Commonwealth

(c) All notes issued under the authority of this act shall have the qualities and incidents of negotiable instruments under the Negotiable Instruments Law of the Commonwealth

(d) The current revenues of the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one are pledged for the payment of principal and interest of such notes which shall be payable in lawful money of the United States All notes issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation for State and local purposes

Section 3 The proceeds derived from the negotiation of loans under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury and shall be used for the payment of appropriations made from such fund to defray the current and other expenses of the State government for the biennial fiscal period beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Section 4 Any loans negotiated under the provisions of this act shall be secured by the current revenues levied and assessed for revenue purposes of every kind or character accruing to the General Fund of the State Treasury during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and shall be paid out of such revenues and so much of such revenues as may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of such loans are hereby specifically appropriated The Department of Revenue shall allocate such revenues to said payments

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are held unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

Mr. EALY. I desire to say just a word with respect to this report.

The Senator from Allegheny has moved for the adoption of the Conference Report on House Bill 663, authorizing the issuance of tax anticipation notes. I shall vote for this bill for it is the only means we have at this time for raising the money long past due the schools and hospitals, under our previous appropriations and for continuing the functions of our government.

I have already indicated my opposition to this form of financing and I cannot vote without again expressing myself briefly on the subject.

Senator Edmonds delivered a splendid address yesterday, pointing out some of the evils in the present methods of financing. I agree with him and trust that it may be possible for the next Governor to begin at least to abate the need for tax anticipation notes, which I may say will require, according to the budget, about $1,200,000 merely for interest charges for the next biennium.

A day or so ago one of the Senators remarked that as a general thing taxes had not decreased in our various municipalities. I think that is generally true. In fact, taxes have increased, and the reason is that in public affairs and in private living we have forgotten apparently that mortgages must be paid or bankruptcy, both of state and individually, will result.

It seems to me that it is high time for all those leaders in government to express in no uncertain terms that the time has come when the joyride being taken on the proceeds obtained from the obligations, incurred for our children and grandchildren to pay, must stop, and that henceforth government must live within its means.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to take just one minute, not exactly in reply to Senator Ealy, but in order to reply to the remarks of Senator Edmonds yesterday, I clipped the following from my favorite newspaper—the Philadelphia Record—this morning. The heading is "Fish and Game Area Purchased by State." The article reads in part as follows: "The State yesterday purchased a 3800 acre tract in the heart of the best hunting and fishing area in Northeastern Pennsylvania. The amount was not disclosed."

I simply read this at this time to emphasize what I said yesterday, that every special fund is an insult to our intelligence. When we give up our power over the purse strings we certainly give up nearly the whole works, and I am putting this into evidence to show that we were not consulted and the amount was not disclosed, because the Game Commission has a special fund.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the Report?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:
